New Castle Police Capture Man Who Admits Slayings

TREATY AIM IS TO SHOW IF WE CAN WRITE, SAYS WILL

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—These so-called peace treaties are a funny thing.

The Democrats had one years ago, but nobody wanted peace just because the Democrats suggested it.

We have had ten years of peace . . . of treaty, but now the Republicans want to make it even more peaceful.

You ask em. "Does it prevent war?" "No."

"Does it prevent peace?" "No."

"Is it for anything?" "No."

Is it against anything?" "No."

I think the whole thing is just to find out if we can write.

Yours,

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

The way they catalogue material in the New Castle library is the stuff. Pa Newc wanted a book. Now he knew not the title or the name of the author yet the file promptly gave the name of the book and all after Pa Newc meagerly described the content of the book.

Every report of the New Castle library for each month shows a jump in circulation. Indications are that people are using the library more and more every month which all in all is a good sign in these boogey days.

This morning there was less of the "editorial comment" concerning balky motors and leaky radiators. The moderated weather this morning was a relief to all concerned.

The local government building should be a pleasing sight to many of the patriots now. A fine new flag has been raised on the pole on top of the building, replacing one that was badly tattered and soiled.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week representatives from all civic music associations in the United States will meet in Chicago for their annual convention. At this time there will be round tables, discussions and concerts. All artists on the circuit will be discussed by the associations, and woe betide the unlucky one who in some way does not measure up. The final event of the convention will be a concert Friday evening, when the finest talent obtainable will perform. Herbert Peairs, president of the local Civic Music association, will be the New Castle delegate.

Of late Pa Newc has been bothered to quite a degree by some people of the city—important news sources—who refuse to let their names appear in the public prints. While the action is admirable, yet it is uncalled for, thinks Pa Newc, because no one in public life should be afraid to let

"Question Mark" Can Be Repaired Cheaply, To Make Trip East

Cost Of Repairing Famous Army Plane Is But $75; Will Fly To Washington

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 9.—After inspecting the Question Mark, the army monoplane which shattered all records for sustained flight by remaining in the air for more than 150 hours, experts today asserted the plane could be put back into flying condition almost immediately and at a cost of only $75.

The tri-motored plane, manned by a crew of five, was forced to land because of lack of oil on two rocker arms, it was announced following an official examination of the ship.

Completely refreshed after a good rest, the crew of the Question Mark is expected to fly the plane back to San Diego today. There the ship will be formally inspected. Later it may be flown to Washington.

ROAD PROBLEMS ARE DISCUSSED

Need Of Better Roads In All County Districts Stressed In Session

Township roads hold the center of the stage today in the Lawrence county court house. The Lawrence County Road Supervisor's Association is holding its fifteenth annual convention in court room number two and the matter of improvement of the roads, more aid from the state and methods to be used in maintenance of the roads are being discussed.

The meeting convened at 10 o'clock with President R. R. McGeorge presiding and Secretary Norman A. Craig at the secretary's desk. Following the invocation by Rev. George M. Neill, pastor of Bethel church, Mayor William H. Gillespie welcomed the delegates to the convention.

Knows Bad Roads

"I know what bad roads are," said the mayor. "As a boy I worked on a farm and I know what it means to be hub deep in mud on a country road in the spring. You men are charged with a heavy responsibility in the matter of maintenance of the township roads in this country and you are to be congratulated upon the work you have done and are doing. As the mayor of New Castle it is a pleasure to welcome you to the city

Mellon Likely To Retain Post

Believe Treasury Head Will Remain In Cabinet Under Hoover

NO ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE, HOWEVER

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Herbert Hoover apparently has made at least one definite decision as to his cabinet. It is that Andrew W. Mellon, the grizzled, taciturn financier from Pittsburgh will remain as Secretary of the Treasury after March 4.

Mr. Hoover has made no announcement: neither has Mr. Mellon. None likely will be made for some time. But among those in a position to know, the retention of Mr. Mellon is regarded as a settled thing indications are that it was finally settled during the two hours that the two men faced each other across the luncheon table yesterday.

The reasons for not announcing Mr. Mellon's retention are various for one thing, there is lots of time between now and March 4 and much may happen; for another, to announce it at this time would draw down on the head of the president-elect the imprecations of the little anti-Mellon "progressive" group in congress who have been bombarding Mr. Hoover with appeals not to retain Mr. Mellon.

No secretary of the treasury in recent times has been so idolized or so opposed in congress as Mr. Mellon. The feeling is extreme on both sides. The mid-western progressive farm bloc, composed of such men as Norris of Nebraska, Brookhart, of Iowa, La-Follette of Wisconsin, and others, are

Franklin Express Money Box Found; Cash Is Missing

(International News Service)

FRANKLIN, Pa., Jan. 9.—With the $2,000 in cash which it had contained missing, a strong box stolen from an American Express company truck here was found today along the bank of the Allegheny river four miles north of here.

John Hepler of Franklin, who found the box, said the box had been broken open, the cash taken and only checks and empty money bags left. Police are without definite clues in the case.

Hearing Two Women Claim Him As Husband Man Falls Long Way

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 9.—Falling from a 20-story building into crowded Peachtree street, Ralph S. Hedrick, construction worker, has complicated a matrimonial jam involving an indignant young woman and a frightened 13-year-old girl.

Hedrick was blissfully at work filled with happy thoughts of his young bride at home when a fellow worker told him a woman from Knoxville, Tenn., had appeared below, claiming she was his wife and was waiting for him.

He became so excited he toppled off his pearch. At the hospital where he was taken it was said he was near death.

Reporters rushed to the home of the Atlanta Mrs. Hedrick, but she wasn't there. She had been taken to a detention home to await settlement of the mixup.

The news men and photographers speeded to the home of the Knoxville Mrs. Hedrick only to find she had gone into seclusion after declaring that she was the first and only wife of Hedrick.

At the hospital Hedrick made a statement.

"Inez," (she's the 13-year-old Atlanta wife) he said, "is my only wife."

Meanwhile police wished someone would come along to solve the tangle for them.

Second Report Of Result Of City Visitation Made Tuesday Evening

Enthusiasm Shown By Workers At Response Being Made In City

Seven hundred and twenty two people of New Castle have signed the Christian decision cards thus far in the visitation evangelism campaign conducted by the churches of New Castle and led by the Rev. A. Earl Kernahan, a man with wide experience in this sort of Christian work, was the report made by some 400 workers when they again assembled at the Highland United Presbyterian church Tuesday evening for the second meeting of the campaign.

Again assigned new cards and territories by the pastors of their churches, these same workers went out in an attempt to win more of the 7,000 citizens who had expressed no church preference, in the recent survey. The workers will report at 6:15 this evening at a supper meeting to take place at the Highland United Presbyterian church.

Success Stories

The Rev. Dr. Kernahan's address was prefaced by stories of the success thus far in the campaign, which were given by Earl Book of the Second United Presbyterian church, Miss E. Nicklin of the Croton Methodist church, C. W. Hermann Heess of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, and Mrs. Ruth Gibson of the Third United Presbyterian church.

Pittsburgh Lawyer Is Reported As Missing

Attorney W. F. Daniels, Who Defended Sam Jaworski, Missing Over Month

Gets Telegram From Brother In New York, Leaves Pittsburgh In Motor Car

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9.—Attorney W. F. Daniels, who defended Sam Jaworski, brother of Pennsylvania's arch-killer, Paul Jaworski, in his recent trial here for jail-breaking, was reported to police today as missing from his home since Thanksgiving Day.

According to Mrs. Daniels and legal associates, Daniels has not been seen here since he left Thanksgiving Day to visit a brother in New York. His friends were of the opinion that his nerves had broken under the strain of the constant work in the Jaworski case.

They could advance no other reason for the attorney's disappearance from here as many of his clients are awaiting trial of their cases in court.

It was learned that Daniels had purchased two automobiles prior to leaving on the New York trip. He is said to have taken both automobiles, a friend driving one of the cars. The machines were reported seen in Cleveland last week.

Mrs. Daniels, reluctant to speak of her husband's disappearance, said she inquired into the report of his being seen in Cleveland and of his rumored visit to his mother in McConnellsburg, Pa.

Thanksgiving Day, she said, he received a telegram from his brother in New York asking him to come immediately. He left upon receipts of the telegram.

Reports from other sources stated that the attorney had gone to McConnellsburg and later to Cleveland, renting a room in the latter city.

Big Ice Gorge At Kittanning

Body Of Man Is Identified As That Of John N. Mackey

Identification Is Made By Bruce Burdette At Boyd Funeral Home

Identification of the man found frozen to death in a barn at McConnell's Mills yesterday was made at the R. L. Boyd funeral home last night by Bruce Burdette, who identified the man as John N. Mackey, aged about 64 years.

Mr. Mackey, it was found, has roomed at the W. C. Stuart home, 414 Whippo street, for the past two years or more. Mrs. Stuart says that Mackey left her home last Wednesday, but did not tell her where he was going.

He formerly lived or had friends in the vicinity of Rose Point and often went out in that neighborhood during the summer. He has a brother, James H. Mackey, residing on Hamilton street, this city, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Smith, of Kansas City, Mo.

His wife and daughter, Emma, are said to be living in Youngstown. He has not lived with his wife for a number of years. Letters from his daughter Emma were found among his effects. He also has several half-sisters living in this county.

A picture in a case which was found in his pocket was that of his mother, Mary M. Turner, a sister of George Turner of Harlansburg. The picture, according to friends, was likely taken over 50 years ago.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Mayor Pleased With Murderer's Capture

Mayor Pleased With Work Done Here Toward Kaltenbaugh Arrest

Mayor William H. Gillespie today stated that he was pleased with the efficient manner in which city police went about the search and subsequent capture of Ed. Kaltenbaugh, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. John Oser Saturday at Canal Fulton.

Not one, but half a dozen city police worked hard on the case and the mayor felt elated over the speedy capture near Grove City.

FARM HAND DECLARES HE KILLED OHIO COUPLE TO SECURE THEIR AUTO

TRACED THROUGH DISTRICT TUESDAY

Captured At Home Near Grove City Shortly Before Midnight

Edward Kaltenbaugh, aged 21, of near Grove City, accused of the murder of John Oser and his wife, Bertha Oser, at their home at Canal Fulton, Stark county, O., on last Saturday evening, apparently a weak-minded individual, is now in the Stark county jail at Canton, O., awaiting the action of the courts of justice as a result of the activity of the New Castle police force.

Makes Confession Here

Arrested last night about 11 o'clock as he crouched in a closet formed by an offset under the steep roof of the story-and-a-half home near Grove City, partially hidden by the coat of the employer he shot, by New Castle and Stark county, O., officers, he was rushed to this city and taken to the central police station, where, according to the police authorities, he made a complete confession, admitting the crime.

According to a statement attributed to Kaltenbaugh since his arrival in Canton, he committed the double crime because "I wanted their automobile to take my girl for a ride."

Local Girl Rides in Auto in Case

This statement is partially borne out in the new statement secured from the "girl", Gladys Espy, aged 18, this city, made at the police station about six o'clock this morning in the presence of Sergeant Grover C. Syling, Officer M. J. Young and other members of the police department, in which she somewhat amplifies her former statement and tells of the ride in a big car driven here late the night of the murder with

(Special To The News)

CANTON, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Edward Kaltenbaugh, 21 year old self confessed slayer of John and Bertha Oser of Canal Fulton, O., may never go to the electric chair for his heinous crime. In the opinion of Sheriff Gibson of Stark county, Kaltenbaugh is a mental defective.

Apparently unconcerned over the enormity of his crime, grinning foolishly when questions are addressed to him, and talking freely whenever asked, Kaltenbaugh sits in his cell here, unaware that at Canal Fulton, Ohio, eighteen miles north-west of Canton, public feeling is aroused to the straining point.

Kept In Canton Jail.

Because of this intense feeling against the confessed slayer, and because they fear for his safety if he were taken to Canal Fulton, the authorities of Stark county have decided to keep him in the Stark county jail under guard.

Early next week the case will go before the grand jury now in session on other matters. A true bill is expected and the case should go to trial within a short time, unless a commission is appointed in the mean-

GLEE SOCIETY WILL MEET ON SUNDAY

A meeting of the New Castle Glee society has been called for Sunday afternoon January 13 at 2 o'clock sharp in the First Congregational church by H. T. Jones, president, Dan Hughes, secretary and Dave Lewis, treasurer.

Business of vital importance to the organization will be taken up including the disposal of the surplus in the treasury. Every member of the organization is expected to be present.

In the good old days back in '92 when winters were winters my lad the youngsters enjoyed many pleasures then, and long was the fun they had. When the winter snows piled the roads bank full, and the hills were a streak of glass, it was then that the sleds came from out the shed, vehicles of every class. The old bob sled with his long pine plank, and the toothpick that whizzed right by and the high old box car that often upset and left you there high and dry. Now those were the days when the winter was real, and the streets had no autos then, but I'll bet you the lads who enjoyed those days, wouldn't go back again. For there were no radios, not a one, and pleasures were simple you see, and the sled is replaced by the limousine, the weather is forty-three.

Pittsburgh Lawyer Is Reported As Missing

Gets Telegram From Brother In New York, Leaves Pittsburgh In Motor Car

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9.—Attorney W. F. Daniels, who defended Sam Jaworski, brother of Pennsylvania's arch-killer, Paul Jaworski, in his recent trial here for jail-breaking, was reported to police today as missing from his home since Thanksgiving Day.

According to Mrs. Daniels and legal associates, Daniels has not been seen here since he left Thanksgiving Day to visit a brother in New York. His friends were of the opinion that his nerves had broken under the strain of the constant work in the Jaworski case.

They could advance no other reason for the attorney's disappearance from here as many of his clients are awaiting trial of their cases in court.

Mrs. Daniels, reluctant to speak of her husband's disappearance, said she inquired into the report of his being seen in Cleveland and of his rumored visit to his mother in McConnellsburg, Pa.

Thanksgiving Day, she said, he received a telegram from his brother in New York asking him to come immediately. He left upon receipts of the telegram.

Reports from other sources stated that the attorney had gone to McConnellsburg and later to Cleveland, renting a room in the latter city.

Big Ice Gorge At Kittanning

(International News Service)

KITTANNING, Pa., Jan. 9.—A gigantic ice gorge, stretching eight or nine miles in length in the Allegheny river has swept over the road between Kittanning and Templeton and several river islands today are buried under the pack.

The huge pack has spread rapidly during the past few days. Great quantities of slush ice coming down stream have frozen to the pack, stretching the gigantic gorge for many miles.

Body Of Man Is Identified As That Of John N. Mackey

Identification Is Made By Bruce Burdette At Boyd Funeral Home

Identification of the man found frozen to death in a barn at McConnell's Mills yesterday was made at the R. L. Boyd funeral home last night by Bruce Burdette, who identified the man as John N. Mackey, aged about 64 years.

Mr. Mackey, it was found, has roomed at the W. C. Stuart home, 414 Whippo street, for the past two years or more. Mrs. Stuart says that Mackey left her home last Wednesday, but did not tell her where he was going.

He formerly lived or had friends in the vicinity of Rose Point and often went out in that neighborhood during the summer. He has a brother, James H. Mackey, residing on Hamilton street, this city, and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Smith, of Kansas City, Mo.

His wife and daughter, Emma, are said to be living in Youngstown. He has not lived with his wife for a number of years. Letters from his daughter Emma were found among his effects. He also has several half-sisters living in this county.

A picture in a case which was found in his pocket was that of his mother, Mary M. Turner, a sister of George Turner of Harlansburg. The picture, according to friends, was likely taken over 50 years ago.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Mayor Pleased With Work Done Here Toward Kaltenbaugh Arrest

Mayor William H. Gillespie today stated that he was pleased with the efficient manner in which city police went about the search and subsequent capture of Ed. Kaltenbaugh, charged with the murder of Mr. and Mrs. John Oser Saturday at Canal Fulton.

Not one, but half a dozen city police worked hard on the case and the mayor felt elated over the speedy capture near Grove City.

TRACED THROUGH DISTRICT TUESDAY

Captured At Home Near Grove City Shortly Before Midnight

Edward Kaltenbaugh, aged 21, of near Grove City, accused of the murder of John Oser and his wife, Bertha Oser, at their home at Canal Fulton, Stark county, O., on last Saturday evening, apparently a weak-minded individual, is now in the Stark county jail at Canton, O., awaiting the action of the courts of justice as a result of the activity of the New Castle police force.

Makes Confession Here

Arrested last night about 11 o'clock as he crouched in a closet formed by an offset under the steep roof of the story-and-a-half home near Grove City, partially hidden by the coat of the employer he shot, by New Castle and Stark county, O., officers, he was rushed to this city and taken to the central police station, where, according to the police authorities, he made a complete confession, admitting the crime.

According to a statement attributed to Kaltenbaugh since his arrival in Canton, he committed the double crime because "I wanted their automobile to take my girl for a ride."

Local Girl Rides in Auto in Case

This statement is partially borne out in the new statement secured from the "girl", Gladys Espy, aged 18, this city, made at the police station about six o'clock this morning in the presence of Sergeant Grover C. Syling, Officer M. J. Young and other members of the police department, in which she somewhat amplifies her former statement and tells of the ride in a big car driven here late the night of the murder with

(Special To The News)

CANTON, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Edward Kaltenbaugh, 21 year old self confessed slayer of John and Bertha Oser of Canal Fulton, O., may never go to the electric chair for his heinous crime. In the opinion of Sheriff Gibson of Stark county, Kaltenbaugh is a mental defective.

Apparently unconcerned over the enormity of his crime, grinning foolishly when questions are addressed to him, and talking freely whenever asked, Kaltenbaugh sits in his cell here, unaware that at Canal Fulton, Ohio, eighteen miles north-west of Canton, public feeling is aroused to the straining point.

Kept In Canton Jail.

Because of this intense feeling against the confessed slayer, and because they fear for his safety if he were taken to Canal Fulton, the authorities of Stark county have decided to keep him in the Stark county jail under guard.

Early next week the case will go before the grand jury now in session on other matters. A true bill is expected and the case should go to trial within a short time, unless a commission is appointed in the mean-

GLEE SOCIETY WILL MEET ON SUNDAY

A meeting of the New Castle Glee society has been called for Sunday afternoon January 13 at 2 o'clock sharp in the First Congregational church by H. T. Jones, president, Dan Hughes, secretary and Dave Lewis, treasurer.

Business of vital importance to the organization will be taken up including the disposal of the surplus in the treasury. Every member of the organization is expected to be present.

In the good old days back in '92 when winters were winters my lad the youngsters enjoyed many pleasures then, and long was the fun they had. When the winter snows piled the roads bank full, and the hills were a streak of glass, it was then that the sleds came from out the shed, vehicles of every class. The old bob sled with his long pine plank, and the toothpick that whizzed right by and the high old box car that often upset and left you there high and dry. Now those were the days when the winter was real, and the streets had no autos then, but I'll bet you the lads who enjoyed those days wouldn't go back again. For there were no radios, not a one, and pleasures were simple you see, and the sled is replaced by the limousine, the weather is forty-three.

"Tex" Rickard Buried Today

Thousands In New York City Jam Madison Square Garden To View Body In State

FAMOUS PROMOTER IS LAID TO REST

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Tex Rickard will be buried this afternoon.

The funeral services will be conducted in his own Madison Square Garden, where the veteran showman lies in state, in an atmosphere of mourning unnatural to the arena of sports.

Literally thousands paid tribute to the dead master promoter today. During the night, thousands more had filed past the 15,000 casket to cast one last glance toward the man whose life was such a part of New York.

Immediately following the ceremony to be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Moore the funeral cortege will set out for Woodlawn cemetery, where a private service will be conducted at the burial plot.

Services At 2 O'Clock.

The services in the Garden were to begin at 2 o'clock this afternoon, after additional thousands have filed past the bier. On the floor of the arena, where many a prizefighter scored a knockout to the hoarse yells of the populace, 1,000 "ringsiders" will silently sit through the promoter's last show. They will be the relatives, friends, business associates, reporters and honorary pallbearers.

Meanwhile the other guests at this strange funeral, the general public, will file quietly into the mezzanine and galleries from which they so frequently cheered six-day bike riders whirling around the pine boards and speeding hockey players stick-handling a puck down the Garden rink.

More than 1,000 policemen were on duty last night keeping the immense crowds in order as they waited for an instant in the cold before it was their turn to enter the garden and view the body of the premier fight promoter who had staged so many spectacles for their benefit. More than 15,000 persons filed past the bier between 5 and 9 p. m.

All Classes of People.

People of all classes were in the crowd, including the mere curious. There were battered pugilists, giggling girls, silk-hatted gentlemen, women in evening dress, clerks, soldiers of fortune, westerners in ten-gallon hats and representatives of every branch of sport.

Jack Dempsey ordered the doors of the Garden unbarred at 6 o'clock when a long line of shivering men and women had gathered outside the hall. They quickly entered, gazed at the bronze casket in the middle of the arena, and passed on out of the Garden.

Although many cried, there were no hysterical scenes such as marked the funeral of Rudolph Valentino.

When the gates opened this morning they began filing past the $15,000 bronze casket in the centre of the arena at the rate of two a second.

At 11 o'clock the jam at both huge entrances was getting so bad that the line of policemen kept telling the mourners to walk faster.

At least one out of every ten in the mourning line was a woman.

Shortly before noon, there were 5,000 persons in the upper tiers. Some had brought sandwiches with them.

SENATOR JOHNSON HOLDS UP ACTION ON KELLOGG PACT

senatorial wars over the League of Nations and world court, held out for some official action by the Senate setting forth the American terms of adherence to the treaty. He insisted upon a statement to the world that America will never permit foreign interference with the Monroe Doctrine and that approval of the Kellogg compact does not mean American endorsement of the League nor the world court.

Night Sessions

Administration leaders, led by Senators Watson (R) of Indiana and Borah (R) of Idaho, sought an amicable settlement of the treaty row. If an agreement is not reached within a day or two, it was evident, they will seek to force a decision by keeping the Senate in session all night. Thus far both sides have arbitrated their differences, but objections from Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg destroyed each tentative agreement until Johnson refused to make any further concession.

The Secretary of State demanded unconditional ratification by the Senate. Johnson demanded some action informing the world that America would not enter the treaty blindly and depending upon the interpretations of foreign nations.

To File Report.

The tentative agreements, thus far discussed, have revolved around a plan to have the senate foreign relations committee file a report stating the American terms of adherance. This was acceptable to both sides but the irreconcilables insisted at first that the senate adopt the report.

Man Is Horribly Mangled By Blast; Two Are Injured

Giant Still Near Hagerstown, Maryland, Explodes; One Man Instantly Killed

International News Service.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan. 9.—One man was killed and two other persons were probably fatally injured in the explosion of a giant still at Eagles Cross Roads near here shortly after midnight.

Lloyd Cauliflower, 48, was instantly killed, his body being horribly mangled in the blast, which completely demolished the stone springhouse which housed the still.

The injured were Fred White, 36, and his son, Thomas, 16, both of whom were badly burned. At the Washington County hospital here where the blast victims were taken, little hope was held out for the elder man's recovery. The boy, it was said, may recover. A skin grafting operation will be undertaken today in an effort to save his life, physicians said.

Deputy sheriffs investigating the explosion were unable to learn just how it occurred since the victims were too badly injured to give any account of the accident. From the appearance of the wreckage, the still is believed to have been of about 100 gallon capacity.

ROAD SUPERVISORS IN ANNUAL SESSION AT COURTHOUSE

and I trust that you will go back to your work with new ideas you have gathered from this exchanging of ideas you will get here."

Following the reading of the minutes by Secretary Craig, Attorney William McElwee, Jr., a member of the Board of Viewers spoke on the "Vacation of Roads by the Court of Quarter Sessions." Mr. McElwee told of the work necessary to get a road vacated, how a petition is presented to the Court of Quarter Sessions and a board of viewers appointed. After viewing the road and hearing testimony in the case the board can then recommend the vacation of a road, providing it is either useless, inconvenient or burdensome.

He explained that a road might be in bad shape due to negligence but that it was not useless and could not be classed as burdensome if it required some money to repair it. It might have been neglected in years previous, he said. Mr. McElwee's address was carefully prepared and well delivered and gave the supervisors a new insight into the methods and reasons for the vacation of roads.

Recalls Early Days

David M. Stewart of Big Beaver township was the next speaker and in a humorous way recalled some of the roads of his boyhood days. While his address was short it was entertaining and in closing he said, "we must have patience in the matter of roads. It took thirty years to get a road out in my district, but now we have it, it is a good one."

Rev. George M. Neill, pastor of the Bethel church in North Beaver township followed Mr. Stewart. Rev. Neill have travelled extensively and spoke briefly upon the highways of England, France, Italy and other continental countries.

Coming down to Lawrence county he said, "you men who are supervisors have a task that has been given you, just as I have one in the ministry. We need better roads in the country districts to keep our young people there, we need supervisors who will expend the money honestly and efficiently, and I know that in this county we have supervisors who are on the job." Rev. Neill is one of the younger pastors of the county but is a speaker of more than usual ability.

The two representatives in the General Assembly, M. A. Bickett and Bart Richards were the last speakers on the program this morning. Mr. Bicket touched upon township reward money for the supervisors and said that he hoped that it would be possible to increase the amount in the coming session. Mr. Richards spoke upon the possibility of the state taking over the bridges on primary systems in the near future.

Roll call and the appointment of committees finished the morning session and the delegates adjourned for lunch.

KALTENBAUGH IN CANTON JAIL

time to pass upon Kaltenbaugh's sanity.

John and Bertha Oser, victims of the man who "killed them just so he could take his girl for a ride" are being buried today. The little town of Canal Fulton is in mourning for the two respected citizens who met death at the hands of the youth; but while the village is bowed in sorrow at the fate of the two, the sorrow is transformed to hate whenever Kaltenbaugh is mentioned.

"Mugged And Fingerprinted."

Kaltenbaugh was photographed in the county jail this morning and his finger prints taken. His confession is in the hands of the county prosecutor and nothing will be done now until the grand jury passes upon the case early next week.

The highest praise for the Pennsylvania state police and the New Castle officers was given today by Sheriff Gibson. "They did remarkable work" he said. "It was unusual cooperation and only because they were keenly alive to their job was the capture of Kaltenbaugh possible."

Kaltenbaugh has added nothing to the confession he signed in New Castle early this morning. He admits the murder of the two, and holds to his story that he did it just to take his girl for a ride.

And as he makes the statements which convict him of the most heinous murder in Stark county in years, a silly, imbecilic smile steals over his face.

Kaltenbaugh is one of 12 children of a widowed mother, Mrs. Sarah Kaltenbaugh. In 1926 he was convicted in Mercer county of forgery, for having illegally cashed a draft on an insurance company at a Grove City bank. He was sent to the Pennsylvania training school for boys, at Morganza under an indeterminate sentence and was released from the institution only few months ago.

Stark county Prosecutor Henry Harter, Jr., expects to move immediately to have Kaltenbaugh indicted for murder by the grand jury, which is now in session.

Harter said he would ask the death penalty, and Kaltenbaugh, when heard of the prosecutor's intention was reported to have said that he "probably would get the electric chair.

MELLON LIKELY TO RETAIN POST

bitter and unyielding in their opposition to him. The Republican stalwarts of the East proclaim him "the greatest secretary of the treasury since Hamilton." There isn't much middle ground.

Senator "Jim" Couzens (R) of Michigan is another bitter opponent of Mr. Mellon. The richest man in congress, and a warm supporter of Mr. Hoover in the campaign, it is said that Couzens offered to quadruple his contribution to the Hoover campaign if he were assured that Mr. Mellon would not be reappointed. The Republican management was eager for the money, but was not in a position to give the required assurance.

There has been much speculation since the election as to Mr. Mellon's future, for it is no secret in Washington that he and Mr. Hoover have not always seen eye to eye on administration policies. They differed quite materially on some of the war debt agreements, notably on the French. But the matter apparently has been settled now. Mr. Mellon is to stay.

The decision with regard to Mr. Mellon brought to the fore today the question of how many, if any, others of the present cabinet will be asked to retain their portfolios. The expectation in Washington today is that they won't be numerous.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine's friends expect that he will be asked to stay on, although they admit that it is only an expectation. Mr. Jardine and Mr. Hoover are credited with having been Mr. Coolidge's chief advisers on agricultural policies, particularly in his two vetoes of the McNary-Haugen bill. Similarly, they collaborated in the writing of the so-called Jardine plan which the administration tried to substitute for the McNary-Haugen bill only to meet defeat in congress.

Mr. Mellon thus far has been the only member of the cabinet to call on the president-elect in his twelve-room "White House" at the Mayflower Hotel. He went by invitation.

Today found another member of the cabinet on the engagement list, Secretary of War Dwight W. Davis. It is understood that Secretary Davis is "available" for duty in the new administration, but indications are that if his services are accepted it will be in something outside the cabinet. Secretary Davis is independently wealthy and socially prominent, two of the customary requisites for a diplomatic appointment.

Deaths of the Day

Mr. Clark Buried.

Funeral services for the late William H. Clark were conducted from his residence on the Ellwood-New Castle road, this afternoon at 1:30. Rev. Baker of the Trinity Lutheran church of Ellwood was in charge of the services. Burial was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Although many cried, there were no hysterical scenes such as marked the funeral of Rudolph Valentino.

When the gates opened this morning they began filing past the $15,000 bronze casket in the centre of the arena at the rate of two a second.

At 11 o'clock the jam at both huge entrances was getting so bad that the line of policemen kept telling the mourners to walk faster.

At least one out of every ten in the mourning line was a woman.

Shortly before noon, there were 5,000 persons in the upper tiers. Some had brought sandwiches with them.

SENATOR JOHNSON HOLDS UP ACTION ON KELLOGG PACT

senatorial wars over the League of Nations and world court, held out for some official action by the Senate setting forth the American terms of adherence to the treaty. He insisted upon a statement to the world that America will never permit foreign interference with the Monroe Doctrine and that approval of the Kellogg compact does not mean American endorsement of the League nor the world court.

Night Sessions

Administration leaders, led by Senators Watson (R) of Indiana and Borah (R) of Idaho, sought an amicable settlement of the treaty row. If an agreement is not reached within a day or two, it was evident, they will seek to force a decision by keeping the Senate in session all night. Thus far both sides have arbitrated their differences, but objections from Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg destroyed each tentative agreement until Johnson refused to make any further concession.

The Secretary of State demanded unconditional ratification by the Senate. Johnson demanded some action informing the world that America would not enter the treaty blindly and depending upon the interpretations of foreign nations.

To File Report.

The tentative agreements, thus far discussed, have revolved around a plan to have the senate foreign relations committee file a report, stating the American terms of adherence. This was acceptable to both sides but the irreconcilables insisted at first that the senate adopt the report.

Man Is Horribly Mangled By Blast; Two Are Injured

Giant Still Near Hagerstown, Maryland, Explodes; One Man Instantly Killed

International News Service.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Jan 9.—One man was killed and two other persons were probably fatally injured in the explosion of a giant still at Eagles Cross Roads near here shortly after midnight.

Lloyd Cauliflower, 48, was instantly killed, his body being horribly mangled in the blast, which completely demolished the stone springhouse which housed the still.

The injured were Fred White, 36, and his son, Thomas, 16, both of whom were badly burned. At the Washington County hospital here where the blast victims were taken, little hope was held out for the elder man's recovery. The boy, it was said, may recover. A skin grafting operation will be undertaken today in an effort to save his life, physicians said.

Deputy sheriffs investigating the explosion were unable to learn just how it occurred since the victims were too badly injured to give any account of the accident. From the appearance of the wreckage, the still is believed to have been of about 100 gallon capacity.

and I trust that you will go back to your work with new ideas you have gathered from this exchanging of ideas you will get here."

Following the reading of the minutes by Secretary Craig, Attorney William McElwee, Jr., a member of the Board of Viewers spoke on the "Vacation of Roads by the Court of Quarter Sessions." Mr. McElwee told of the work necessary to get a road vacated, how a petition is presented to the Court of Quarter Sessions and a board of viewers appointed. After viewing the road and hearing testimony in the case the board can then recommend the vacation of a road providing it is either useless, inconvenient or burdensome.

He explained that a road might be in bad shape due to negligence but that it was not useless and could not be classed as burdensome if it required some money to repair it. It might have been neglected in years previous, he said. Mr. McElwee's address was carefully prepared and well delivered and gave the supervisors a new insight into the methods and reasons for the vacation of roads.

Recalls Early Days

David M. Stewart of Big Beaver township was the next speaker and in a humorous way recalled some of the roads of his boyhood days. While his address was short it was entertaining and in closing he said, "we must have patience in the matter of roads. It took thirty years to get a road out in my district, but now we have it, it is a good one."

Rev. George M. Neill, pastor of the Bethel church in North Beaver township followed Mr. Stewart. Rev. Neill have travelled extensively and spoke briefly upon the highways of England, France, Italy and other continental countries.

Coming down to Lawrence county he said, "you men who are supervisors have a task that has been given you, just as I have one in the ministry. We need better roads in the country districts to keep our young people there, we need supervisors who will expend the money honestly and efficiently, and I know that in this county we have supervisors who are on the job." Rev. Neill is one of the younger pastors of the county but is a speaker of more than usual ability.

The two representatives in the General Assembly, M. A. Bickett and Bart Richards were the last speakers on the program this morning. Mr. Bicket touched upon township reward money for the supervisors and said that he hoped that it would be possible to increase the amount in the coming session. Mr. Richards spoke upon the possibility of the state taking over the bridges on primary systems in the near future.

Roll call and the appointment of committees finished the morning session and the delegates adjourned for lunch.

time to pass upon Kaltenbaugh's sanity.

John and Bertha Oser, victims of the man who "killed them just so he could take his girl for a ride" are being buried today. The little town of Canal Fulton is in mourning for the two respected citizens who met death at the hands of the youth, but while the village is bowed in sorrow at the fate of the two, the sorrow is transformed to hate whenever Kaltenbaugh is mentioned.

"Mugged And Fingerprinted."

Kaltenbaugh was photographed in the county jail this morning and his finger prints taken. His confession is in the hands of the county prosecutor and nothing will be done now until the grand jury passes upon the case early next week.

The highest praise for the Pennsylvania state police and the New Castle officers was given today by Sheriff Gibson. "They did remarkable work" he said. "It was unusual cooperation and only because they were keenly alive to their job was the capture of Kaltenbaugh possible."

Kaltenbaugh has added nothing to the confession he signed in New Castle early this morning. He admits the murder of the two, and holds to his story that he did it just to take his girl for a ride.

And as he makes the statements which convict him of the most heinous murder in Stark county in years, a silly, imbecilic smile steals over his face.

Kaltenbaugh is one of 12 children of a widowed mother, Mrs. Sarah Kaltenbaugh. In 1926 he was convicted in Mercer county of forgery, for having illegally cashed a draft on an insurance company at a Grove City bank. He was sent to the Pennsylvania training school for boys, at Morganza under an indeterminate sentence and was released from the institution only few months ago.

Stark county Prosecutor Henry Harter, Jr., expects to move immediately to have Kaltenbaugh indicted for murder by the grand jury, which is now in session.

Harter said he would ask the death penalty, and Kaltenbaugh, when heard of the prosecutor's intention was reported to have said that he "probably would get the electric chair."

MELLON LIKELY TO RETAIN POST

bitter and unyielding in their opposition to him. The Republican stalwarts of the East proclaim him "the greatest secretary of the treasury since Hamilton." There isn't much middle ground.

Senator "Jim" Couzens (R) of Michigan is another bitter opponent of Mr. Mellon. The richest man in congress, and a warm supporter of Mr. Hoover in the campaign, it is said that Couzens offered to quadruple his contribution to the Hoover campaign if he were assured that Mr. Mellon would not be reappointed. The Republican management was eager for the money, but was not in a position to give the required assurance.

There has been much speculation since the election as to Mr. Mellon's future, for it is no secret in Washington that he and Mr. Hoover have not always seen eye to eye on administration policies. They differed quite materially on some of the war debt agreements, notably on the French. But the matter apparently has been settled now. Mr. Mellon is to stay.

The decision with regard to Mr. Mellon brought to the fore today the question of how many, if any, others of the present cabinet will be asked to retain their portfolios. The expectation in Washington today is that they won't be numerous.

Secretary of Agriculture Jardine's friends expect that he will be asked to stay on, although they admit that it is only an expectation. Mr. Jardine and Mr. Hoover are credited with having been Mr. Coolidge's chief advisers on agricultural policies, particularly in his two vetoes of the McNary-Haugen bill. Similarly, they collaborated in the writing of the so-called Jardine plan which the administration tried to substitute for the McNary-Haugen bill only to meet defeat in congress.

Mr. Mellon thus far has been the only member of the cabinet to call on the president-elect in his twelve-room "White House" at the Mayflower Hotel. He went by invitation.

Today found another member of the cabinet on the engagement list, Secretary of War Dwight W. Davis. It is understood that Secretary Davis is "available" for duty in the new administration, but indications are that it his services are accepted it will be in something outside the cabinet. Secretary Davis is independently wealthy and socially prominent, two of the customary requisites for a diplomatic appointment.

Later the hostess served delicious refreshments.

Announcement of the next meeting will be made later.

THE RIGHT WAY TO BANISH FAT

Combat a cause which modern research has discovered. Turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. Supply a natural element which your system lacks. That is the method embodied in Marmola prescription tablets.

People have used Marmola for 20 years—millions of boxes of it. They have told others the results. Now, in almost every circle, you can see the results in new beauty and new vim. Why not learn the way to attain them?

A book in each box of Marmola tells you the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know why the effects come, and why they are beneficial. Go ask your druggist—in fairness to yourself—for a $1 box of Marmola.

THE RIGHT WAY TO BANISH FAT

Combat a cause which modern research has discovered. Turn food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat. Supply a natural element which your system lacks. That is the method embodied in Marmola prescription tablets.

People have used Marmola for 20 years—millions of boxes of it. They have told others the results. Now, in almost every circle, you can see the results in new beauty and new vim. Why not learn the way to attain them?

A book in each box of Marmola tells you the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know why the effects come, and why they are beneficial. Go ask your druggist—in fairness to yourself—for a $1 box of Marmola.

Hi-Y Club Will Fete Instructors

The men teachers of the George Washington Junior High school will be the guests of the Hi-Y club of the school at a picnic banquet which will take place February 1 at the Y. M. C. A. building, according to the decision of the boys at the regular weekly meeting which took place Tuesday evening.

At this same meeting, officers for the club during this year were named and the election will occur at the meeting which will take place on next Tuesday.

Ben Franklin Hi-Y Will Meet Tonight

Members of the Ben Franklin Junior High school will meet this evening at the local Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock, states William Thomas, advisor to the club.

There will be a marshmallow toast in connection with the regular business and social hour of the club meeting.

AN AGE OF MAKE-BELIEVE

WHERE is the "land of make-believe?" On the stage, in the movies, childhood, good reading? Yes, in all of these, but not in them alone. This is the "make-believe" age.

Ancient Spanish architecture is being copied in New American homes even to the imitation of the cracked masonry and stone exposed by fallen stucco. And along fine boulevards one can see the new and modern homes of the rich with roofs of humble thatch and sagging eaves, not less picturesque though much sturdier and more permanent than their prototypes. Carpenters and masons with the guidance of architects are building the atmosphere of age in the modern home that this generation may enjoy all that is good in both antiquity and modernity.

Then there is the imitation in dress. Grandmothers are successfully adapting to themselves the wardrobes of their granddaughters and their granddaughters are affecting the modes of their brothers.

Factories here and abroad are producing "antiques" as fast as thousands of shops can sell them to curio-seekers and collectors. One now orders, instead of searches, for examples of early American furniture.

And who will gainsay that a good imitation and the right amount of imagination are equal to a genuine original?

REFORM IN GIRLS' ATHLETICS

THE National Amateur Athletic Federation, which was organized five years ago on the initiative of Mrs. Herbert Hoover to study the athletic problem for women, has been in session in New York. Ratification will be given to plans formulated by experts which sharply distinguish the athletic program desirable for women from that now prevailing for men.

Already the new policy and standards have been accepted by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction as the result of replies to questionnaires submitted nearly a year ago to various schools in this state. Last November a summary and report were sent to high school principals and county superintendents.

The essence of the new code is its fitness for the needs of young women entirely apart from any attempt to copy or accept the traditions of male sports. It is indeed 100 per cent feminism with a vengeance. Men coaches are ruled out and even male officials are banished. Contests are restricted in number, frequently and itinerary.

Apparently the whole thought has been to confine sports to the primary purpose of furnishing fun for the participants and promoting their health. Both these objectives are defeated when school athletics enter the realm if big business and take on the character of a Roman spectacle. College, football, for instance, has gone to that extreme today. Star players testify that it has lost for them its recreation value and has become hard work with a long period of rigid training. It has become a quest for glamour, not relaxation.

It has been equally subversive of attaining the health ideal, as attested frequently by statistical studies, the latest being an insurance company report delivered before a student health convention in New Orleans. Longevity may be impaired by an excess of physical exercise no less than by an excess indulgence in other diversions.

What effect these conclusions may have on the feminine Olympiad in California in 1932 remains to be seen. Meanwhile it is instructive to note that the women intend, if possible, to avoid the evils from which their brothers have suffered in providing an entertainment for the public at the sacrifice of their own enjoyment of life.

A DOLLAR DOWN

WIDESPREAD attention has been attracted to the recent survey giving general approval to installment selling as economically sound when properly carried on. The conclusion arrived at has been referred to in the stock market as a bull argument. This may prove unfortunate because if there is anything consumer credit does not need it is incitement to splurge.

Those who made the survey do not ignore the dangers of high-pressure salesmanship, of over-persuading the consumer, or of unwise credit extension in the competitive drive for business. The fact is not dismissed that in installment selling responsibility of the buyer is given no such thorough investigation as is ordinarily exercised in producer and bank credits.

Intelligently handled the system is an important contribution to industrial progress, stabilizing output, increasing production, lowering costs and working for improved standards of living. The plan is abused, just as the cash and thirty-days credit plans were abused, but the abuses are gradually being eliminated.

The partial payment plan has demonstrated that most people are honest even to the extent of paying their bills and that there are not enough who buy beyond their incomes to make the system unprofitable for merchant and manufacturer.

However, the success of the system and the latest study of its workings should not prompt those who are financing this vast volume of credit to relax vigilance or neglect precautions which the very nature of the business demands.

A Prohibition Incident.
Rickard Knew Men.
Signing the Pledge.
Trimming Elijah.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

A woman in Newark, 37 years old, tells the police she has killed Julius Brennen, 55 years old. He brought whisky and cocaine to her house. She took both and killed him. That is all she remembers. Interesting incident for those that consider prohibition a success!

"Tex" Rickard is dead, and distinguished citizens speak in praise of him.

He once ran a gambling house in the West, but found more nearly "a sure thing" when he organized on a paying basis, incorporated and listed on the stock exchange, the intense desire of certain prosperous gentlemen to see SOMEBODY ELSE knocked down, and knocked out.

"Tex" Rickard understood human nature. He knew, through and through, the fighters that he put in the ring, and the crowds that he drew to see them.

And he didn't think much of either.

If you don't believe in the Kellogg pact, it will comfort you to know that, thanks to Senator Reed, of Missouri, there will be plain talk in the Senate before the pact goes through.

The pact is a sort of solemn promise by Uncle Sam, never to attack anybody, wantonly.

Who has he EVER attacked wantonly?.

A drunkard needs to sign a pledge, a temperance man does not.

Why should Uncle Sam sign a peace pact, merely because European nations insist on fighting each other?

The Question Mark was landed Monday afternoon after more than 150 hours of continuous flight.

All non-stop flying records are broken. That machines, in flight, can take fuel and supplies from smaller, swifter planes, has been abundantly proved.

The interesting question now is: How long can American airplane engines continue working?"

The Question Mark might have flown from Los Angeles to China and back again, without landing, so far as endurance is concerned.

F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war in charge of aviation wired from Washington to the fliers above Los Angeles, "Let's trim Elijah."

Elijah, you remember, went to heaven in a chariot of fire. Exactly where heaven is, or how long it took Elijah to go there, is not known.

But so far as this earth is concerned, Elijah has been "trimmed" by the Question Mark. Young Mr. Davison is the right man for his job. He flies constantly, although badly, smashed up at the start of his flying in war time.

Miami's new municipal airport, Chapman field, was opened Monday, with 100 airplanes roaring overhead.

"Stunt" exhibitions, races, bomb dropping with cash prizes for precision, and other features, reminded the crowd that Miami was up with the times and a little ahead.

Those who think a couple of tornadoes, plus a crowd of real estate sharks from the outside, can permanently injure a state like Florida, don't know much about Florida, or about Americans generally.

Wall Street did not welcome Herbert Hoover's return as cheerfully as it might have done. Stocks went off, although money for speculation cost "only" 7 per cent."

Wall Street and Mr. Hoover knows it well, was none too enthusiastic about his election. Perhaps the street thinks Mr. Hoover will be "an independent" president. The street does not like that kind.

Chinese authorities in Canton have forbidden the "Ben Hur" picture, calling it "Christian propaganda decoying the people to superstition."

To hear Christianity called superstition will surprise many of us.

In any case "Ben Hur" cannot be called Christian propaganda. It is, if anything, "Jewish propaganda," since the hero is a fine young Jew. His sister and mother, admirable characters, both Jewesses.

Henry Ford is said to have sent an offer to build 155 miles of first-class high roads to suit the Egyptian government, if that government would remove the duty from Ford cars. Egypt might accept. No cars are manufactured in Egypt, no competition with home industry.

Owners of Egyption camels and donkeys that carry tourists to the pyramids would not like it.

Mohammed told his followers that when he rode to heaven on his white horse, he saw angels with eyes many miles apart. Each eye would be bigger than a big lake. That was exaggeration.

Modern astronomers travel farther, in reality, than Mohammed ever traveled in imagination. They have built "an eye" made of polished glass. A lens, 200 inches in diameter. It will reveal what Mohammed could not imagine.

HE DON'T LIKE IT!
New Castle, Pa.,
Jan. 8, 1929.

The News,
Hints and Dints Editor.
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Hints and Dints:

It was with severe disappointment that I recently learned of the closing of the Cathedral auditorium because of lack of patronage. Surely there are sufficient local theatergoers and patrons of first-class entertainment to have supported the management to the extent of making the house pay. To my mind there are few, if any, auditoriums in any city the size of New Castle that could even favorably compare with that of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. This, in itself, should be reason aplenty as to why it should have been patronized. Not only that, but the management endeavored to present to the populace of New Castle the very best pictures and theatrical productions available. But the unappreciative attitude of the locals, as shown by their delinquency in attendance, has wrought havoc to the management. Therefore, I would suggest that the Cathedral management offer some sort of prize for the best idea or suggestion which would enable them to continue their theatrical presentations on a paying basis.

Yours for better entertainment.
A CATHEDRAL BOOSTER.

One of the most earnest and conscientious workers we have ever known was the president of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, Ira Ramsey. We have known this chap since he was a little boy and he has always been a real citizen. He is always busy with Chamber of Commerce work and we are not going to wait until he dies before letting him know that we appreciate his efforts to help New Castle.

There are a great many men who start out in life with no asset except courage and many of them make good on it, and with nothing else to help them.

During 1928 four hundred and sixty-three million automobiles were made in America. It is said that the cheaper makes of cars are making the higher-priced cars harder to sell. Maybe it will make the higher-priced cars cheaper, also.

Business men in Grove City held a banquet and decided to keep their stores closed on Sundays. We always thought Grove City was a place where the lights went out at eight o'clock at night and Sunday was a church day for all. We hope New Wilmington will not have to hold a meeting and banquet for that purpose.

It seems to us that any human who is vicious enough to most brutally murder another should have nerve enough to suffer the penalty without putting up a most pitiful squawk for mercy he did not even think of giving his victim. We are against murderers and their sympathizers and we don't care who knows it.

A Texas congressman in a feverish communication declared that the Democratic party will disappear if the situation and forces who nominated Gov. Smith and controlled his campaign continue to dominate the party. That congressman has been reading and taking seriously some Republican newspapers. He has it doped out about right, at that. We are not going to wear any dark bands on our sleeve about that.

GUARD YOUR TONGUE.

In the olden days a peasant confessed to a monk that he had slandered an innocent friend. The monk said to him:

"For your peace do this now: Take a bag of chicken feathers go to every yard in the town and drop one feather into each garden. Do not miss one yard and when you have finished, return to me."

The sinner believed his punishment was light. With his bag of feathers he made the circuit of the town and carefully dropped one into each garden. Then he reported to the monk saying: "I have done my penance."

"No, my son," replied old Abbe: "You will not have done your penance until you take the bag, go again on your rounds, collect every feather you have dropped and bring it here to me."

The gossip protested that it would be impossible. He could not find the bits of down in a life-time. Many of them had blown away.

"So it is with gossip" replied the old monk. "It is easily dropped; but never again, no matter how hard you try, can you gather back the words you have so thoughtlessly scattered.

Government experts recommend honey as an economical anti-freeze solution for automobile radiators. Why not have a flock of bees roost in the radiator. They would make it hot for thieves besides. We are some suggestors. Oh, wham de doodle wham!

Marriage for undergraduate students at W. & J. College at Washington, Pa., has been banned. Among other reasons the president gives for this action is that frequently students burden themselves with wives when it is all they can do to maintain themselves properly in college. It seems to us a college or school is a place where one's mind should be on school work. Oh, row-de-dow-dow!

THE GREATEST WONDER OF THE WORLD.

History has recorded the seven wonders of the ancient world all of which had been dwarfed by modern discoveries and inventions. The outstanding and least understood wonder of all times is the human body. Regarded from a merely mechanical standpoint the human body is so infinitely complex, so exquisitively responsive, so strangely perfect that by comparison it dwarfs all other things known to man and stands alone as the wonder of the world. In all mechanics and architecture in all machines and inventions of man there is not to be discovered one single device that is not found in the human body. The arch, the lever, the inclined plane; a pump, a grist mill, a camera, a stringed instrument; hinges, pulleys, ball and socket joints—all these and a score of other man-made inventions are merely crude copies of the same devices found in his own body. The lungs through tehir 600,000,000 tiny openings have a surface equal to the floor space of a room 40 feet square. The body contains 2,000 miles of tubing, through which half a barrel of fluid is constantly pouring. The blood travels 168 miles a day. Truly we are "fearfully and wonderfully made."

Cornstalk Paper May Prove Boon To Farmer And Forests

Great Possibilities Seen In Middle Western Experiment Designed To Use Material Heretofore Wasted By The Corn Grower

Far reaching possibilities are seen by the newspapers in the use of paper made of cornstalks in the publication of daily papers and a farm journal for the corn farmer and also to the forest conservation movement.

A belief that "this new industry promises not only to add a vast amount of new wealth to the country and provide new employment for much labor, but also to help in a large measure to solve one of the outstanding problems of agriculture—that of utilizing a farm waste and the largest single item of waste where corn is the principal crop," is held by the FORT WAYNE NEWS-SENTINAL, which adds that "it offers the larger promise of giving our American forests a chance to catch up with the demand that is being laid on them." The News-Sentinel also observes that the government printing office has shown practical interest in the new type of paper, and sees hope that "the work of the conservationists may be made much easier in the immediate future."

Commenting on the exhibition of a book on farm products made from this same kind of paper, the NASHVILLE BANNER says: "As was pointed out at the time this cornstalk-paper book was presented, the outstanding need of the agricultural interests in this country is to find some method of using for profit the tremendous quantities of material that is and has been going to waste on our farms incidental to the growing of many of our chief crops. * * * Science is at work figuring out means whereby these so-called waste products of agriculture may be made valuable, and it has already accomplished a great deal. That way lie many possibilities of farm relief, incidentally."

"The first paper," recalls the TERRE HAUTE STAR, "was made from a tall weed not unlike a cornstalk and known as papyrus—hence the name. Perhaps we are merely closing one of those circles which are among the interesting phenomena of history, in now discovering a modern papyrus in corn." While conceding that "it is, of course, too soon to say what cornstalks might be expected to yield to the grower," The Star continues: "Scientists have been at work for years, experimenting with processes for utilizing cornstalks. They have progressed to the point where that article of waste on the farm seems about to become a very valuable by-product of crop raising. Not only can paper be made from the cornstalks, but other industries using cellulose are expected to become intensive purchasers of a product that has been a nuisance to the tiller of the soil in the Corn Belt."

Another phase of the matter as related to the Corn Belt is taken up by the DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT, which quotes from a government report on the subject and makes the statement: "In this report it is recognized that a profitable method for the disposal of cornstalks that would insure their complete disintegration would obviously be one of the most effective weapons in fighting the corn borer. Industrial utilization of cornstalks for the manufacture of paper and wallboard is the most promising outlet thus far suggested. Because of conditions brought about by the corn borer, this outlet for this most troublesome and cumbersome of farm wastes is well worth continued investigation." The Democrat recognizes that "the difficulty heretofore has been to make money in this way," but concludes that "it is obvious that with the decreasing supply of any raw material and its increasing cost, other raw material will receive more consideration, and that as the wood supply decreases and its cost increases there will come a time when another raw material for paper-making will be practicable."

One of the newspapers involved in the experimental publication, the DANVILLE COMMERCIAL NEWS, expresses the belief that the new method will be of special concern to "the farmers of the great Corn Belt of the central west, whose annual crop of cornstalks, running into millions of tons, has heretofore rotted in the fields."

"If ever the time should come again when corn is so cheap that the farmer uses it for fuel, as was the case a few years ago," remarks the SALT LAKE DESERT NEWS, "he need not even then despair of his crop and decide to quit raising it. He may still, if he will, burn the grain on the cob, yet at the same time make his farm pay by selling the stalks to the paper mill or other factory." The PORT ARTHUR NEWS directs attention to a bill introduced by Senator Schall of Minnesota, authorizing an appropriation "for demonstrating plans in the utilization of waste products from the land," and suggests provision for cotton growers as well as those interested in corn. "There are millions of tons of cotton stalks that go to waste under southern skies. What provision has Senator Schall made for a demonstrating plant in a commonwealth where the fleecy staple grows?" asks The News.

"The newspaper world for some years," according to the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL, "has been somewhat apprehensive of the time when the supply of wood pulp from which news print is made will be inadequate to the demands upon it. The feat of the Danville paper in successfully publishing a 100-page edition shows that the cornstalk pulp has practical possibilities. It suggests, too, that in the despised cornstalk lies another way out for the American farmer."

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

MILLIONS FOR AN IDEA

Have you checked over your mental possessions lately to find whether you have an idea that is worth eight and a quarter million dollars? Twenty-five years ago John R. Roney, of Chicago, produced an idea. He started a grocery store and then another and soon had ten chain stores. He reached out of Chicago and into other towns. Lately he discovered he had 300 stores and he sold out everything, including his big baking and coffee roasting plants, to the Kroger company for $8,250,000. Roney had two things; and idea and the nerve to go ahead with it.

IS THIS BUSINESS?

"Business is but a relationship between human beings. Human beings must work and live, but above all things they want to be happy and it is the duty of every one of us to seek to make those around us as happy as we can."

Thus speaks a famous business man—Charles M. Schwab. It is not hard to understand why so many little business men are little. They have not the intelligence of the imagination to see business as a great human relationship for purposes above and beyond profit.

OUR OWN FAULT

Don't blame the other fellow if he looks down on you. If you are not big enough he does not respect you, or your position or your title or your executive authority. He is not to be blamed. It is your own fault. If a man fails to dominate, it is because of a certain softness in his makeup. He is weak, timid; lacks courage and character. Don't blame the men who look down on you. If we aren't strong enough to command respect, then we have humiliation coming to us.

AUTHORITY

Speaking of title and authority, some men try to preserve their executive dignity by a private office and an upstage manner. They fool nobody. You either are somebody or you are not. The trappings of title don't make you a wonderful fellow any more than they make the carriage starter a general.

THE RICHER LIFE

You who mourn his passing on
Know you not where he has gone?
Doubt ye that he knows the truth
That has baffled age and youth?

You who weep for him today
Who from earth has gone away
Know you not that he has found
Footing on a surer ground?

Would you weep for one who rose
Victor over mighty foes?
Would you mourn for him today
High promotion called away?

He is done with care and pain.
Failure cannot strike again.
God has called him out of strife
To a cleaner, ampler life.

To a richer world than ours.
Clearer sight and wider powers.
To a life that knows no scorn
He has gone for whom you mourn.

SOME ESCAPE.

It is said that there are more than twenty million motor vehicles driven upon the streets and highways of these United States. Some of these are driven carefully and some are driven by those who continue to live simply because the Creator protects them.

The passengers of a big automobile owned and driven by one of God's Fools was speeding toward a railroad crossing one day not long ago. They were arguing whether or not they could beat the train.

"Don't get excited," said the driver. "I can easily make it."

"And I say you can't," shouted the front-seat passenger. "The train will beat us by twenty seconds."

"Gwan!" said the driver, who kept increasing his speed while the argument continued.

Finally a passenger in the rear seat who had said nothing so far, remarked as he clutched the sides of the rushing car:

"For my part, I don't care a hang who wins this race, but I hope it won't be a tie."

THE National Amateur Athletic Federation, which was organized five years ago on the initiative of Mrs. Herbert Hoover to study the athletic problem for women, has been in session in New York. Ratification will be given to plans formulated by experts which sharply distinguish the athletic program desirable for women from that now prevailing for men.

Already the new policy and standards have been accepted by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction as the result of replies to questionnaires submitted nearly a year ago to various schools in this state. Last November a summary and report were sent to high school principals and county superintendents.

The essence of the new code is its fitness for the needs of young women entirely apart from any attempt to copy or accept the traditions of male sports. It is indeed 100 per cent feminism with a vengeance. Men coaches are ruled out and even male officials are banished. Contests are restricted in number, frequently and itinerary.

Apparently the whole thought has been to confine sports to the primary purpose of furnishing fun for the participants and promoting their health. Both these objectives are defeated when school athletics enter the realm if big business and take on the character of a Roman spectacle. College, football, for instance, has gone to that extreme today. Star players testify that it has lost for them its recreation value and has become hard work with a long period of rigid training. It has become a quest for glamour, not relaxation.

It has been equally subversive of attaining the health ideal, as attested frequently by statistical studies, the latest being an insurance company report delivered before a student health convention in New Orleans. Longevity may be impaired by an excess of physical exercise no less than by an excess indulgence in other diversions.

What effect these conclusions may have on the feminine Olympiad in California in 1932 remains to be seen. Meanwhile it is instructive to note that the women intend, if possible, to avoid the evils from which their brothers have suffered in providing an entertainment for the public at the sacrifice of their own enjoyment of life.

A DOLLAR DOWN

WIDESPREAD attention has been attracted to the recent survey giving general approval to installment selling as economically sound when properly carried on. The conclusion arrived at has been referred to in the stock market as a bull argument. This may prove unfortunate because if there is anything consumer credit does not need it is incitement to splurge.

Those who made the survey do not ignore the dangers of high-pressure salesmanship, of over-persuading the consumer, or of unwise credit extension in the competitive drive for business. The fact is not dismissed that in installment selling responsibility of the buyer is given no such thorough investigation as is ordinarily exercised in producer and bank credits.

Intelligently handled the system is an important contribution to industrial progress, stabilizing output, increasing production, lowering costs and working for improved standards of living. The plan is abused, just as the cash and thirty-days credit plans were abused, but the abuses are gradually being eliminated.

The partial payment plan has demonstrated that most people are honest even to the extent of paying their bills and that there are not enough who buy beyond their incomes to make the system unprofitable for merchant and manufacturer.

However, the success of the system and the latest study of its workings should not prompt those who are financing this vast volume of credit to relax vigilance or neglect precautions which the very nature of the business demands.

A Prohibition Incident.
Rickard Knew Men.
Signing the Pledge.
Trimming Elijah.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

A woman in Newark, 37 years old, tells the police she has killed Julius Brennen, 56 years old. He brought whisky and cocaine to her house. She took both and killed him. That is all she remembers. Interesting incident for those that consider prohibition a success!

"Tex" Rickard is dead, and distinguished citizens speak in praise of him.

He once ran a gambling house in the West, but found more nearly "a sure thing" when he organized on a paying basis, incorporated and listed on the stock exchange, the intense desire of certain prosperous gentlemen to see SOMEBODY ELSE knocked down, and knocked out.

"Tex" Rickard understood human nature. He know, through and through, the fighters that he put in the ring, and the crowds that he drew to see them.

And he didn't think much of either.

If you don't believe in the Kellogg pact, it will comfort you to know that, thanks to Senator Reed, of Missouri, there will be plain talk in the Senate before the pact goes through.

The pact is a sort of solemn promise by Uncle Sam, never to attack anybody, wantonly.

Who has he EVER attacked wantonly?

A drunkard needs to sign a pledge, a temperance man does not.

Why should Uncle Sam sign a peace pact, merely because European nations insist on fighting each other?

The Question Mark was landed Monday afternoon after more than 150 hours of continuous flight.

All non-stop flying records are broken. That machines, in flight, can take fuel and supplies from smaller, swifter planes, has been abundantly proved.

The interesting question now is: How long can American airplane engines continue working?"

The Question Mark might have flown from Los Angeles to China and back again, without landing, so far as endurance is concerned.

F. Trubee Davison, assistant secretary of war in charge of aviation wired from Washington to the fliers above Los Angeles, "Let's trim Elijah."

Elijah, you remember, went to heaven in a chariot of fire. Exactly where heaven is, or how long it took Elijah to go there, is not known.

But so far as this earth is concerned, Elijah has been "trimmed" by the Question Mark. Young Mr. Davison is the right man for his job. He flies constantly, although badly smashed up at the start of his flying in war time.

Miami's new municipal airport, Chapman field, was opened Monday, with 100 airplanes roaring overhead. "Stunt" exhibitions, races, bomb dropping with cash prizes for precision, and other features, reminded the crowd that Miami was up with the times and a little ahead.

Those who think a couple of tornadoes, plus a crowd of real estate sharks from the outside, can permanently injure a state like Florida, don't know much about Florida, or about Americans generally.

Wall Street did not welcome Herbert Hoover's return as cheerfully as it might have done. Stocks went off, although money for speculation cost "only" 7 per cent."

Wall Street and Mr. Hoover knows it well, was none too enthusiastic about his election. Perhaps the street thinks Mr. Hoover will be "an independent" president. The street does not like that kind.

Chinese authorities in Canton have forbidden the "Ben Hur" picture, calling it "Christian propaganda decoying the people to superstition."

To hear Christianity called superstition will surprise many of us.

In any case "Ben Hur" cannot be called Christian propaganda. It is, if anything, "Jewish propaganda," since the hero is a fine young Jew. His sister and mother, admirable characters, both Jewesses.

Henry Ford is said to have sent an offer to build 155 miles of first-class high roads to suit the Egyptian government, if that government would remove the duty from Ford cars. Egypt might accept. No cars are manufactured in Egypt, no competition with home industry.

Owners of Egyption camels and donkeys that carry tourists to the pyramids would not like it.

Mohammed told his followers that when he rode to heaven on his white horse, he saw angels with eyes many miles apart. Each eye would be bigger than a big lake. That was exaggeration.

Modern astronomers travel farther, in reality, than Mohammed ever traveled in imagination. They have built "an eye" made of polished glass. A lens, 200 inches in diameter. It will reveal what Mohammed could not imagine.

HE DON'T LIKE IT!
New Castle, Pa.,
Jan. 8, 1929.

The News,
Hints and Dints Editor,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Hints and Dints:

It was with severe disappointment that I recently learned of the closing of the Cathedral auditorium because of lack of patronage. Surely there are sufficient local theatergoers and patrons of first-class entertainment to have supported the management to the extent of making the house pay. To my mind there are few, if any, auditoriums in any city the size of New Castle that could even favorably compare with that of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. This, in itself, should be reason aplenty as to why it should have been patronized. Not only that, but the management endeavored to present to the populace of New Castle the very best pictures and theatrical productions available. But the unappreciative attitude of the locals, as shown by their delinquency in attendance, has wrought havoc to the management. Therefore, I would suggest that the Cathedral management offer some sort of prize for the best idea or suggestion which would enable them to continue their theatrical presentations on a paying basis.

Yours for better entertainment,
A CATHEDRAL BOOSTER.

One of the most earnest and conscientious workers we have ever known was the president of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, Ira Ramsey. We have known this chap since he was a little boy and he has always been a real citizen. He is always busy with Chamber of Commerce work and we are not going to wait until he dies before letting him know that we appreciate his efforts to help New Castle.

There are a great many men who start out in life with no asset except courage and many of them make good on it, and with nothing else to help them.

During 1928 four hundred and sixty-three million automobiles were made in America. It is said that the cheaper makes of cars are making the higher-priced cars harder to sell. Maybe it will make the higher-priced cars cheaper, also.

Business men in Grove City held a banquet and decided to keep their stores closed on Sundays. We always thought Grove City was a place where the lights went out at eight o'clock at night and Sunday was a church day for all. We hope New Wilmington will not have to hold a meeting and banquet for that purpose.

It seems to us that any human who is vicious enough to most brutally murder another should have nerve enough to suffer the penalty without putting up a most pitiful squawk for mercy he did not even think of giving his victim. We are against murderers and their sympathizers and we don't care who knows it.

A Texas congressman in a feverish communication declared that the Democratic party will disappear if the situation and forces who nominated Gov. Smith and controlled his campaign continue to dominate the party. That congressman has been reading and taking seriously some Republican newspapers. He has it doped out about right, at that. We are not going to wear any dark bands on our sleeve about that.

GUARD YOUR TONGUE.

In the olden days a peasant confessed to a monk that he had slandered an innocent friend. The monk said to him:

"For your peace do this now: Take a bag of chicken feathers go to every yard in the town and drop one feather into each garden. Do not miss one yard and when you have finished, return to me."

The sinner believed his punishment was light. With his bag of feathers he made the circuit of the town and carefully dropped one into each garden. Then he reported to the monk saying: "I have done my penance."

"No, my son," replied old Abbe: "You will not have done your penance until you take the bag, go again on your rounds, collect every feather you have dropped and bring it here to me."

The gossip protested that it would be impossible. He could not find the bits of down in a life-time. Many of them had blown away.

"So it is with gossip" replied the old monk. "It is easily dropped; but never again, no matter how hard you try, can you gather back the words you have so thoughtlessly scattered."

Government experts recommend honey as an economical anti-freeze solution for automobile radiators. Why not have a flock of bees roost in the radiator. They would make it hot for thieves besides. We are some suggestors. Oh, wham de doodle wham!

Marriage for undergraduate students at W. & J. College at Washington, Pa., has been banned. Among other reasons the president gives for this action is that frequently students burden themselves with wives when it is all they can do to maintain themselves properly in college. It seems to us a college or school is a place where one's mind should be on school work. Oh, row-de-dow-dow!

THE GREATEST WONDER OF THE WORLD.

History has recorded the seven wonders of the ancient world all of which had been dwarfed by modern discoveries and inventions. The outstanding and least understood wonder of all times is the human body. Regarded from a merely mechanical standpoint the human body is so infinitely complex, so exquisitively responsive, so strangely perfect that by comparison it dwarfs all other things known to man and stands alone as the wonder of the world. In all mechanics and architecture in all machines and inventions of man there is not to be discovered one single device that is not found in the human body. The arch, the lever, the inclined plane; a pump, a grist mill, a camera, a stringed instrument; hinges, pulleys, ball and socket joints—all these and a score of other man-made inventions are merely crude copies of the same devices found in his own body. The lungs tehir 600,000,000 tiny openings have a surface equal to the floor space of a room 40 feet square. The body contains 2,000 miles of tubing, through which half a barrel of fluid is constantly pouring. The blood travels 163 miles a day. Truly we are "fearfully and wonderfully made."

Cornstalk Paper May Prove Boon To Farmer And Forests

Great Possibilities Seen In Middle Western Experiment Designed To Use Material Heretofore Wasted By The Corn Grower

Far reaching possibilities are seen by the newspapers in the use of paper made of cornstalks in the publication of daily papers and a farm journal for the corn farmer and also to the forest conservation movement.

A belief that "this new industry promises not only to add a vast amount of new wealth to the country and provide new employment for much labor, but also to help in a large measure to solve one of the outstanding problems of agriculture—that of utilizing a farm waste and the largest single item of waste where corn is the principal crop," is held by the FORT WAYNE NEWS-SENTINAL, which adds that "it offers the larger promise of giving our American forests a chance to catch up with the demand that is being laid on them." The News-Sentinel also observes that the government printing office has shown practical interest in the new type of paper, and sees hope that "the work of the conservationists may be made much easier in the immediate future."

Commenting on the exhibition of a book on farm products made from this same kind of paper, the NASHVILLE BANNER says: "As was pointed out at the time this cornstalk-paper book was presented, the outstanding need of the agricultural interests in this country is to find some method of using for profit the tremendous quantities of material that is and has been going to waste on our farms incidental to the growing of many of our chief crops. * * * Science is at work figuring out means whereby these so-called waste products of agriculture may be made valuable, and it has already accomplished a great deal. That way lie many possibilities of farm relief, incidentally."

"The first paper," recalls the TERRE HAUTE STAR, "was made from a tall weed not unlike a cornstalk and known as papyrus—hence the name. Perhaps we are merely closing one of those circles which are among the interesting phenomena of history, in now discovering a modern papyrus in corn." While conceding that "it is, of course, too soon to say what cornstalks might be expected to yield to the grower," The Star continues: "Scientists have been at work for years, experimenting with processes for utilizing cornstalks. They have progressed to the point where that article of waste on the farm seems about to become a very valuable by-product of crop raising. Not only can paper be made from the cornstalks, but other industries using cellulose are expected to become intensive purchasers of a product that has been a nuisance to the tiller of the soil in the Corn Belt."

Another phase of the matter as related to the Corn Belt is taken up by the DAVENPORT DEMOCRAT, which quotes from a government report on the subject and makes the statement: "In this report it is recognized that a profitable method for the disposal of cornstalks that would insure their complete disintegration would obviously be one of the most effective weapons in fighting the corn borer. Industrial utilization of cornstalks for the manufacture of paper and wallboard is the most promising outlet thus far suggested. Because of conditions brought about by the corn borer, this outlet for this most troublesome and cumbersome of farm wastes is well worth continued investigation." The Democrat recognizes that "the difficulty heretofore has been to make money in this way," but concludes that "it is obvious that with the decreasing supply of any raw material and its increasing cost, other raw material will receive more consideration, and that as the wood supply decreases and its cost increases there will come a time when another raw material for paper-making will be practicable."

One of the newspapers involved in the experimental publication, the DANVILLE COMMERCIAL NEWS, expresses the belief that the new method will be of special concern to "the farmers of the great Corn Belt of the central west, whose annual crop of cornstalks, running into millions of tons, has heretofore rotted in the fields."

"If ever the time should come again when corn is so cheap that the farmer uses it for fuel, as was the case a few years ago," remarks the SALT LAKE DESERT NEWS, "he need not even then despair of his crop and decide to quit raising it. He may still, if he will, burn the grain on the cob, yet at the same time make his farm pay by selling the stalks to the paper mill or other factory." The PORT ARTHUR NEWS directs attention to a bill introduced by Senator Schall of Minnesota, authorizing an appropriation "for demonstrating plans in the utilization of waste products from the land," and suggests provision for cotton growers as well as those interested in corn. "There are millions of tons of cotton stalks that go to waste under southern skies. What provision has Senator Schall made for a demonstrating plant in a commonwealth where the fleecy staple grows?" asks The News.

MILLIONS FOR AN IDEA

Have you checked over your mental possessions lately to find whether you have an idea that is worth eight and a quarter million dollars? Twenty-five years ago John R. Roney, of Chicago, produced an idea. He started a grocery store and then another and soon had ten chain stores. He reached out of Chicago and into other towns. Lately he discovered he had 300 stores and he sold out everything, including his big baking and coffee roasting plants, to the Kroger company for $8,250,000. Roney had two things; and idea and the nerve to go ahead with it.

IS THIS BUSINESS?

"Business is but a relationship between human beings. Human beings must work and live, but above all things they want to be happy and it is the duty of every one of us to seek to make those around us as happy as we can."

Thus speaks a famous business man—Charles M. Schwab. It is not hard to understand why so many little business men are little. They have not the intelligence of the imagination to see business as a great human relationship for purposes above and beyond profit.

OUR OWN FAULT

Don't blame the other fellow if he looks down on you. If you are not big enough he does not respect you, or your position or your title or your executive authority. He is not to be blamed. It is your own fault. If a man fails to dominate, it is because of a certain softness in his makeup. He is weak, timid; lacks courage and character. Don't blame the men who look down on you. If we aren't strong enough to command respect, then we have humiliation coming to us.

AUTHORITY

Speaking of title and authority, some men try to preserve their executive dignity by a private office and an upstage manner. They fool nobody. You either are somebody or you are not. The trappings of title don't make you a wonderful fellow any more than they make the carriage starter a general.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SOME ESCAPE.

It is said that there are more than twenty million motor vehicles driven upon the streets and highways of these United States. Some of these are driven carefully and some are driven by those who continue to live simply because the Creator protects them.

The passengers of a big automobile owned and driven by one of God's Fools was speeding toward a railroad crossing one day not long ago. They were arguing whether or not they could beat the train.

"Don't get excited," said the driver, "I can easily make it."

"And I say you can't," shouted the front-seat passenger. "The train will beat us by twenty seconds."

"Gwan!" said the driver, who kept increasing his speed while the argument continued.

Finally a passenger in the rear seat who had said nothing so far, remarked as he clutched the sides of the rushing car:

"For my part, I don't care a hang who wins this race, but I hope it won't be a tie."

THE RICHER LIFE

You who mourn his passing on
Know you not where he has gone?
Doubt ye that he knows the truth
That has baffled age and youth?

You who weep for him today
Who from earth has gone away
Know you not that he has found
Footing on a surer ground?

Would you weep for one who rose
Victor over mighty foes?
Would you mourn for him today
High promotion called away?

He is done with care and pain,
Failure cannot strike again.
God has called him out of strife
To a cleaner, ampler life.

To a richer world than ours,
Clearer sight and wider powers,
To a life that knows no scorn
He has gone for whom you mourn.

Steel Industry On Firm Basis

Steel Output For January Already Outstrips Mark Set In December, 1928

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC HAS NOT HINDERED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9.—Steel output for January already has outstripped the high rate established in December, the Iron Age will say in its weekly summary of iron and steel markets tomorrow.

Despite the inroads on working personnel inflicted by the flu epidemic, Chicago ingot production has gone up two points to 87 per cent of capacity, and at Buffalo a similar rate is reported. Operations in the Youngstown and Pittsburgh districts will range from 80 to 85 per cent, according to the summary, while the average for the steel corporation subsidiaries is estimated at 86 per cent.

Mills Well Booked.

"In sheets, hot-rolled strip, tin plate and wire products, which were advanced for the current quarter, mills were well booked, in some cases through this month and into February. The stimulation of specifying in these products last month, however, is reflected in less liberal releases now," the summary says.

"The outlook for steel production is particularly promising if the course of the scrap market can be accepted as a trustworthy augury," the Iron Age will say. "Rising another 25c a ton to 19, heavy melting steel at Pittsburgh has reached the highest level since January, 1926.

The technical position of pig iron is regarded as strong in view of the high price of old material, while current demand for pig iron is light. Rail business on mill books is equivalent to more than four months production.

DEFENSE TO PROVE BLYMYER VERY LOW AS TO MENTALITY

Blymyer saw a mental photograph of the man he killed. There the vision was, every time he opened his fist, worrying him and affecting his mind and health.

This remarkable testimony was given on on the witness stand today by Dr. Julius Comroe, of York, formerly connected with the Philadelphia hospital, an expert in mental diseases. The doctor had examined Blymyer six times since January 23, 1923, the last time last night.

"Blymyer had a fixed idea he was being persecuted," Dr. Comroe said "he thought someone was pursuing him. He couldn't eat or sleep, and it affected his health."

The defense claims Blymyer believed he was "hexed." That is that he was convinced that Rehmeyer, a sixty-year-old farmer, was a "witch" and had cast an evil spell over him, and others. And, on the night of Nov. 27 last, Blymyer and two companions, Wilbert Hess and John Curry, went to the Rehmeyer farm house and bludgeoned the "witch" into insensibility and burned him to death.

Picture Blymyer as his counsel seeks to paint him in the minds eye of the jurors. A peculiar, shy, reserved man, making few friends and given to fortune telling, communing with the spirits and other queer goings-on. A man whose untrained brain grappled with the mysterious and involved teachings contained in such black arts manuals as "The Sixth and Seventh Books of Moses," the book called "The Long Lost Friend," and the ancient "Himmelsbrief," or "Heavenly Letter," a powerful prayer of great appeal to the superstitious.

Imagine John Blymyer's puny mentality wrestling with such a subject as "The Astrological Influence Upon Man" as contained in the black arts Bible.

There it is stated that the cosmos constitutes an organic whole, and that man, "as the highest individuality on earth, which served the ancients as the center of the universe, reflects in his being as a microcosm, the macrocosm."

But, in this "Sixth and Seventh Books of Moses Magical Spirit Art," there are teachings much easier to grasp, this writer observed upon perusal of its pages. The book is replete with black and white drawings of charts and seals. The use and efficacy of the psalms is described in detail. Should one be exposed to danger in a storm at sea, and his life threatened, he should recite "Psalm 3" without delay and with becoming reverence and think respectfully of the Holiest name contained therein, namely, Schaddei, (which means, mighty God). This Psalm, the book says, "is also an effectual remedy against a raging headache."

It was just the type of book to appeal to a mind of Blymyer's superstitious tendencies. And Blymyer was superstitious to a marked degree, those who knew him agree.

Held Strong Belief.

"I intend to show today," Attorney Cohen told International News Service, "that Blymyer held such a strong belief in the powers of witchcraft that it colored his conceptions of right and wrong. I will show further that he is insane, has been practically all his life and that his mentality is that of a child."

The district attorney, Amos W. Herrmann, contends that witchcraft had nothing to do with the killing. Every now and then he checks the defense counsel with the remark:

"Hexing is not on trial."

But it is, according to the defense, and Blymyer's aggressive attorney is determined to dangle the witchcraft phase of the case before the jurors as long as the trial lasts. He also plans to put on the stand several doctors, and perhaps a physychiatrist or two, to bring out the mental turmoil that exists in the mind of the strange defendant.

The unconcerned Blymyer sits in the prisoner's dock, meanwhile, manifesting no more interest in the case than the most casual spectator.

Holiday Season Is Much Enjoyed At Neighborhood House

Scholars Of The Sunday School And Week Day Classes Are Entertained

The holiday season was one of joy and entertainment to the boys and girls who attend the Sunday school and week-day classes at the Neighborhood House on Scioto street, according to the reports given of Christmas week Tuesday afternoon at the January meeting of the New Castle Americanization Society.

One of the best parties of the week was when the Girl Reserves chaperoned 48 of the little children, ranging in age from five to seven years, to the Senior High school, where they were entertained and given toys and candy.

Through the efforts of the Naomi Circle, First Baptist Missionary Society, and Epworth M. E. Missionary Society the Embroidery Circle were entertained and given a treat; also the class in English and the Woman's Bible class were treated. The boys' classes, which are under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A. secretary, enjoyed a social evening during the week.

About 117 boxes of candy and popcorn balls were distributed to the pupils of the Sunday school through the kindness of several merchants of the city, which was very much appreciated by the executive committee of the society.

Toys and candy were also donated by Sorosis, First Presbyterian Sunday school. The Reading Circle, Mrs. Frank Andrews, K. E. Butler and J. A. Butler.

Miss Christine Butler, worker in charge, reported that she had made 80 calls during the month, and 715 books were exchanged in the library.

Now that the campaign is over, Democrats who ridiculed the idea of prosperity can go ahead and get a new car.

Westfield Grange Officers Installed

David Byler Installed As New Head Of Westfield Grange

Officers of the Westfield grange for the present year were installed Monday evening at a special meeting. A. H. Bessemer Faculty Meets On Tuesday

Business And Social Meetings For Bessemer Teachers Made Permanent Affair

Members of the Bessemer borough schools faculty had a group meeting in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening. H. J. Colton, supervising principal, was in charge of the meeting.

It was decided at this time to make the meetings regular affairs, which will take place the second and third Tuesdays of each month. They will be partly business and social affairs.

Miss Frances Keyes was appointed chairman of the committee, who will have charge of the first program, while Miss Mary McLaughlin was named permanent head of the food committee for the various business and social meetings.

Negro Held For Shooting Fray; Two Are Wounded

Negro Attempts To Kill Young Man, Is Shot Himself, And Later Captured

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 9.—Charged with having shot Dominick Christopher, 19, at Daisytown last night when the youth warned him to stay away from the Christopher home, Ellis Humphrey, 29, negro, of Red Hill, today was held in $2,000 bail in county jail to await the outcome of the youth's wounds.

Christopher was shot in the left side, dangerously near the heart, as he leaned from an upstairs window of his home. As his assailant fired, a younger brother, Joe Christopher, 17, seized a shotgun and shot Humphrey in the leg, then reached for a rifle and shot the negro again, this time in the hand.

County detectives and state police followed a trail of blood to Red Hill, where they said they found Humphrey hiding under the bed, bleeding from his wounds. Taken to Washington, he was given a hearing today and held for court.

According to the Christophers' story, the negro came to their house to warm himself after his car stalled on the road. He left, but later the brothers saw him trying to enter the cellar door, they said. He spied the brothers in an upper window and fired.

EXPECT COMMISSION WILL NOT CONVENE

Due to the illness of James B. Foster, chairman of the New Castle traffic commission, it is thought that no meeting will take place during this week.

The meetings of the official and unofficial traffic bodies were to have met this week at the call of Chairman Foster but due to his illness the meeting will within all probabilities be postponed until next week.

GIRL LOCATED.

Ralph Frengel, R. D. No. 7, reported to the police last night that his sister Alice Frengel, aged 18 had left home on Tuesday morning and had not been heard of since. Today the police were informed that the missing girl had been located in Cleveland and was with friends and all right.

Steel Industry On Firm Basis

Steel Output For January Already Outstrips Mark Set In December, 1928

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC HAS NOT HINDERED

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 9.—Steel output for January already has outstripped the high rate established in December, the Iron Age will say in its weekly summary of iron and steel markets tomorrow.

Despite the inroads on working personnel inflicted by the flu epidemic, Chicago ingot production has gone up two points to 87 per cent of capacity, and at Buffalo a similar rate is reported. Operations in the Youngstown and Pittsburgh districts will range from 80 to 85 per cent, according to the summary, while the average for the steel corporation subsidiaries is estimated at 86 per cent.

Mills Well Booked.

"In sheets, hot-rolled strip, tin plate and wire products, which were advanced for the current quarter, mills were well booked, in some cases through this month and into February. The stimulation of specifying in these products last month, however, is reflected in less liberal releases now," the summary says.

"The outlook for steel production is particularly promising if the course of the scrap market can be accepted as a trustworthy augury," the Iron Age will say. "Rising another 25c a ton to 19, heavy melting steel at Pittsburgh has reached the highest level since January, 1926.

The technical position of pig iron is regarded as strong in view of the hign price of old material, while current demand for pig iron is light. Rail business on mill books is equivalent to more than four months production.

DEFENSE TO PROVE BLYMYER VERY LOW AS TO MENTALITY

Blymyer saw a mental photograph of the man he killed. There the vision was, every time he opened his fist, worrying him and affecting his mind and health.

This remarkable testimony was given on the witness stand today by Dr. Julius Comroe, of York, formerly connected with the Philadelphia hospital, an expert in mental diseases. The doctor had examined Blymyer six times since January 23, 1923, the last time last night.

"Blymyer had a fixed idea he was being persecuted," Dr. Comroe said "he thought someone was pursuing him. He couldn't eat or sleep, and it affected his health."

The defense claims Blymyer believed he was "hexed." That is that he was convinced that Rehmeyer, a sixty-year-old farmer, was a "witch" and had cast an evil spell over him, and others. And, on the night of Nov. 27 last, Blymyer and two companions, Wilbert Hess and John Curry, went to the Rehmeyer farm house and bludgeoned the "witch" into insensibility and burned him to death.

Picture Blymyer as his counsel seeks to paint him in the minds eye of the jurors. A peculiar, shy, reserved man, making few friends and given to fortune telling, communing with the spirits and other queer goings-on. A man whose untrained brain grappled with the mysterious and involved teachings contained in such black arts manuals as "The Sixth and Seventh Books of Moses," the book called "The Long Lost Friend," and the ancient "Himmelsbrief," or "Heavenly Letter," a powerful prayer of great appeal to the superstitious.

Imagine John Blymyer's puny mentality wrestling with such a subject as "The Astrological Influence Upon Man" as contained in the black arts Bible.

There it is stated that the cosmos constitutes an organic whole, and that man, "as the highest individuality on earth, which served the ancients as the center of the universe, reflects in his being as a microcosm, the macrocosm."

But, in this "Sixth and Seventh Books of Moses Magical Spirit Art," there are teachings much easier to grasp, this writer observed upon perusal of its pages. The book is replete with black and white drawings of charts and seals. The use and efficacy of the psalms is described in detail. Should one be exposed to danger in a storm at sea, and his life threatened, he should recite "Psalm 3" without delay and with becoming reverence and think respectfully of the Holiest name contained therein, namely, Schaddei, (which means, mighty God). This Psalm, the book says, "is also an effectual remedy against a raging headache."

It was just the type of book to appeal to a mind of Blymyer's superstitious tendencies. And Blymyer was superstitious to a marked degree, those who knew him agree.

Held Strong Belief.

"I intend to show today," Attorney Cohen told International News Service, "that Blymyer held such a strong belief in the powers of witchcraft that it colored his conceptions of right and wrong. I will show further that he is insane, has been practically all his life and that his mentality is that of a child."

The district attorney, Amos W. Herrmann, contends that witchcraft had nothing to do with the killing. Every now and then he checks the defense counsel with the remark:

"Hexing is not on trial."

But it is, according to the defense, and Blymyer's aggressive attorney is determined to dangle the witchcraft phase of the case before the jurors as long as the trial lasts. He also plans to put on the stand several doctors, and perhaps a physychiatrist or two, to bring out the mental turmoil that exists in the mind of the strange defendant.

The unconcerned Blymyer sits in the prisoner's dock, meanwhile, manifesting no more interest in the case than the most casual spectator.

Scholars Of The Sunday School And Week Day Classes Are Entertained

The holiday season was one of joy and entertainment to the boys and girls who attend the Sunday school and week-day classes at the Neighborhood House on Scioto street, according to the reports given of Christmas week Tuesday afternoon at the January meeting of the New Castle Americanization Society.

One of the best parties of the week was when the Girl Reserves chaperoned 48 of the little children, ranging in age from five to seven years, to the Senior High school, where they were entertained and given toys and candy.

Through the efforts of the Naomi Circle, First Baptist Missionary Society, and Epworth M. E. Missionary Society the Embroidery Circle were entertained and given a treat; also the class in English and the Woman's Bible class were treated. The boys' classes, which are under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A. secretary, enjoyed a social evening during the week.

About 117 boxes of candy and popcorn balls were distributed to the pupils of the Sunday school through the kindness of several merchants of the city, which was very much appreciated by the executive committee of the society.

Toys and candy were also donated by Sorosis, First Presbyterian Sunday school, The Reading Circle, Mrs. Frank Andrews, K. E. Butler and J. A. Butler.

Miss Christine Butler, worker in charge, reported that she had made 80 calls during the month, and 715 books were exchanged in the library.

Now that the campaign is over, Democrats who ridiculed the idea of prosperity can go ahead and get a new car.

Six Hundred Books Added To Library

Six hundred sixty-five new books were added to the shelves of the New Castle public library during the month of December, according to the statement of the library officials.

Of this number 632 were purchased, two by subscription and 31 were donated. There were 61 books discarded on account of their condition.

Avoid colds or "flu" by doing two easy things

Keep your system in good condition—protect your nose and throat

THERE is no use worrying all winter for fear you will catch cold or get "flu". Do the following two things and forget it: First, keep your system in good condition, and, second, keep your nose and throat well protected. The chances are you will avoid contagion.

As a first precaution, many doctors are prescribing Nujol. It is not a laxative or cathartic but a pure, natural substance that helps your system function at all times the way nature intended it to. Like pure water, it is harmless. Physicians agree that, particularly in times of epidemic, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable.

Many doctors are now prescribing Nujol, as in no case does it cause exhausting or weakening of the system in any way. Take it every night; it will keep you in first class condition. You will have a far better chance to resist colds or "flu" or any diseases that are going the rounds.

As a second safety measure, use Mistol, as it protects the nose and throat against the germs of influenza. Use it every morning, the first thing, before you go out. Again, when you come home at night. Don't be afraid to use it freely; it will do no harm.

Never has colds

Just tilt your head back and apply Mistol with the special dropper which comes with every package, until you feel it trickling down your throat. It will clear your head wonderfully, relieve any inflammation; it will help dry up a running nose. It has a soothing effect on the throat too. Gargle it for a sore throat or a little irritating cough.

The combination treatment of Nujol and Mistol is a double safeguard against colds and influenza. Start this wise twofold precaution now. Put worry out of your mind. Nujol and Mistol are on sale at all druggists.

Shorten Visit Of Commander

National Commander Of Legion Not To Arrive Until Evening February 12

LOCAL PLANS TO BE ALTERED SOME

National Commander Paul V. McNutt's visit with the local post of the American Legion will not be as lengthy as was at first anticipated, to the latest information that has been received here from state headquarters. It was first thought that Commander McNutt would be the guest of the city for at least a half day.

In the letter that Pat J. Dempsey, general chairman for the National Commander's banquet, received today from departmental headquarters, it is stated that the national American Legion chief will not likely arrive in New Castle until about 5 p. m. on the day for which the mammoth banquet is being planned, February 12. He will come here direct from Erie.

The letter continues that the Rogers Israel Legion post of Erie has scheduled the commander for a luncheon of legionnaires in that city at noon of that day. Immediately after he will leaves for this city.

According to General Chairman Dempsey, it was originally planned to have the Legion chief appear before a joint meeting of the service clubs of the city at noon, and then before the students of the senior and junior high schools sometime during the afternoon. However, it appears that these tentative plans must be eliminated since the commander will not be able to come to the city before evening.

The banquet in honor of the national commander and the state commander, Charles A. Gebert, in the evening will afford legionnaires of this district the sole opportunity of seeing and hearing their leaders. Both will probably speak at the banquet.

The committee in charge of the tickets here is busy striving to win the support of as many New Castle residents as possible. H. H. Rosenthal is chairman of this group selling the tickets locally.

Oratory Contest Starts February 1

Tri State District Finals To Be Held At Pittsburgh April 19

Seven South American trips, similar in many ways to the good-will tour of President-elect Herbert Hoover, in addition to many local awards, are announced for the boys and girls of American high schools in the sixth national oratorical contest in 1929, sponsored by more than 50 newspapers of the United States cooperating to support this enterprise for the study and understanding of the constitution.

In 1928 more than 2,000,000 students participated. This year there are more than 20 nations competing in the preliminaries for the six coveted places in the fourth international oratorical contest which will be held in Washington, D. C., on October 26. In each country orations will be written on themes relating to the basic principles of their governments.

The contest in this district starts February 1, or at the beginning of the second semester, when the participants prepare and submit orations. The best of these is selected by a competition within the school conducted in whatever manner deemed advisable by the school head. The author of the winning oration is the school champion.

School champions will meet for the county championship and the right to represent the county in the regional meet. Tri-state finals will take place at Pittsburgh on April 19. The tri-state champion will go to Harrisburg to compete for his zone title and the right to compete for the national title. On May 25 the zone winners will meet in Washington, D. C., for the national final and the winner will compete in the international final in the fall.

Coolidge Plans Quail Hunting

President Coolidge Will Go Quail Hunting In State Of Maryland

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The hunting fever has taken a firm hold on President Coolidge.

Not satisfied with his experiences in Virginia and Georgia, the president has secured a Maryland hunting license and during the next week will make several sorties into nearby Maryland counties after quail.

His companions will be Col. Edward Starling of the secret service and Col. Osmun Latrobe, his military aide. Starling is now looking up favorable locales for the presidential shooting.

Accidents Fatal To Three Miners

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 9. — Mine accidents claimed three lives Tuesday.

William J. Lawler, 24, nephew of Burgess M. J. Lawler of Jessup, died soon after being crushed between two mine cars. Alexander Lupinsky, 48, was killed in an explosion in the Pine Brook mine while Albert Pierce, 44 of Carbondale, lost his life under a fall of roof.

You can't get people on their knees in an age when they even resent being on their feet.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

FLYING WITH THE CURRENT

Drowsily, for by now Carrier Pigeon was almost asleep, the bird continued his explanations.

"You see, not all pigeons are alike. We each know what course suits us best and the two-legs who train us soon find out and let us follow our own wishes as far as they are able.

"But none of us is foolish enough to try to fly against the current. Oh, no. The wind would make short work of our strength. We would wear ourselves out and get nowhere.

"There, now, I have told you almost as much about my race as I know myself, and I can go to sleep in comfort. If you knew what was good for you, you would take a nap yourself. The day never seems so long when one has had a doze or two."

Before the boy could thank him, or even say good-bye, Carrier Pigeon was half way to Dreamland, so there was nothing for the boy to do but to go on about his business. Peter chuckled as he turned away for the second time.

"I thought the insects were the most all-of-a-sudden folks I had ever met, but these birds are every bit as bad. You have got to make the most of them while they are awake and with you. There is never any telling when they will feel like going to sleep or flying away. Make them talk as fast as they can while they are at it.

"Just see how much I have learned about Birdland—things that I never even imagined before."

Peter must have spoken out loud, for a cross voice replied to his last words.

"I dare say, I dare say! Lots of us find out things when we take the trouble to. But there is a great deal you could have discovered about us birds for yourself.

"Shame on you for having to be told everything! That is what you get for not considering the farmyard birds of any account. You meet us every day in the week, and yet what notice do you take of us? Not a bit!

"And let me tell you, young man, there are lots of interesting folks to know in the Poultry family."

Next—"Big Bird and Little Boy."

"HEY, WAIT A MINUTE BOY," CRIED THE BIRD.

City Annex Is Standing Idle

City Hall Attaches Say No Offers Made For Treasury Room Rental

Councilmen have not yet made any plans for the disposition of the building which formerly housed central fire department in East street, and it is probable that it may stand vacant for some time.

Today one councilman stated that unless the city can see some revenue coming in, nothing toward remodeling the annex will be done.

It had been anticipated that several business men would desire the treasury room for storeroom purposes, but so far no offer has been made.

Council had anticipated that the revenue from the rental would pay for the remodeling of the East street building.

It is probable that city equipment and automobiles may be stored in the building vacated by the central fire department apparatus and employes.

State Leads In Candy Making

Another Line Is Added To Leadership Of Keystone State

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—While Pennsylvania is far-famed for its coal mines and its steel mills—and for its contested senatorial election—it remained for the department of commerce to add one more line to Pennsylvania's biography in the hall of fame by announcing today that the Keystone state ranks first in the country in the number of establishments engaged primarily in the manufacture of confections.

According to the statement made public today by the department of commerce, a total of 222 establishments are located in Pennsylvania engaged primarily in the manufacture of candy, confections, cake ornaments, popcorn balls or cakes, salted nuts, stuffed dates and related products not including chewing gum, the manufacture of which is treated as a separate industry.

New York ranks second in United States in this industry with 194 such factories.

Last year the confection factories manufactured products valued at $370,751,150, according to the department report. These products were composed of 375,757,849 pounds of chocolates, 346,680,325 pounds of bars, 223,480,707 pounds of hard candy, 102,259,130 pounds of carmels and chewing candy, 83,181,461 pounds of gum work, 72,990,157 pounds of panwork, 54,497,630 pounds of marshmallows and 23,724,609 pounds of lozenges.

School Aquarium Draws Interest

New Feature At Senior High School Being Developed

The aquarium at the Senior High school with the many fish and the plants which are growing fast in the water is making a neat appearance to visitors.

The aquarium was made up by the Biology department supervisors, Mr. Black and Mr. Cassillo.

When the two instructors returned to teach in the new department their first thought was to build an aquarium. This was done. The aquarium has a layer of washed gravel at the bottom. The reason for the washed gravel is to not cause the water to be muddy when disturbed by the fish. Above the gravel is a layer of white builder's sandstone taken from a local stream. Some beautiful shaped stones are placed in the aquarium making a resting place for the fish.

Two plants were planted in the aquarium namely the alodium plant and the water poppy plant. These plants are used by some of the fish as resting places. The aquarium duplicates conditions of local stream. The interesting part is that it is made up of fish, stones, and gravel which were taken out from local streams.

The aquarium contains about six varieties of local fish namely: sunfish, snails, suckers, miller's thumb, crabs, and catfish.

Avoid colds or "flu" by doing two easy things

Keep your system in good condition—protect your nose and throat

THERE is no use worrying all winter for fear you will catch cold or get "flu". Do the following two things and forget it: First, keep your system in good condition, and, second, keep your nose and throat well protected. The chances are you will avoid contagion.

As a first precaution, many doctors are prescribing Nujol. It is not a laxative or cathartic but a pure, natural substance that helps your system function at all times the way nature intended it to. Like pure water, it is harmless. Physicians agree that, particularly in times of epidemic, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable.

Many doctors are now prescribing Nujol, as in no case does it cause exhaustion or weakening of the system in any way. Take it every night; it will keep you in first class condition. You will have a far better chance to resist colds or "flu" or any diseases that are going the rounds.

As a second safety measure, use Mistol, as it protects the nose and throat against the germs of influenza. Use it every morning, the first thing, before you go out. Again, when you come home at night. Don't be afraid to use it freely; it will do no harm.

Never has colds

Just tilt your head back and apply Mistol with the special dropper which comes with every package, until you feel it trickling down your throat. It will clear your head wonderfully, relieve any inflammation; it will help dry up a running nose. It has a soothing effect on the throat too. Gargle it for a sore throat or a little irritating cough.

The combination treatment of Nujol and Mistol is a double safeguard against colds and influenza. Start this wise twofold precaution now. Put worry out of your mind. Nujol and Mistol are on sale at all druggists.

Shorten Visit Of Commander

LOCAL PLANS TO BE ALTERED SOME

National Commander Paul V. McNutt's visit with the local post of the American Legion will not be as lengthy as was at first anticipated, to the latest information that has been received here from state headquarters. It was first thought that Commander McNutt would be the guest of the city for at least a half day.

In the letter that Pat J. Dempsey, general chairman for the National Commander's banquet, received today from departmental headquarters, it is stated that the national American Legion chief will not likely arrive in New Castle until about 5 p. m. on the day for which the mammoth banquet is being planned, February 12. He will come here direct from Erie.

The letter continues that the Rogers Israel Legion post of Erie has scheduled the commander for a luncheon of legionnaires in that city at noon of that day. Immediately after he will leaves for this city.

According to General Chairman Dempsey, it was originally planned to have the Legion chief appear before a joint meeting of the service clubs of the city at noon, and then before the students of the senior and junior high schools sometime during the afternoon. However, it appears that these tentative plans must be eliminated since the commander will not be able to come to the city before evening.

The banquet in honor of the national commander and the state commander, Charles A. Gebert, in the evening will afford legionnaires of this district the sole opportunity of seeing and hearing their leaders. Both will probably speak at the banquet.

The committee in charge of the tickets here is busy striving to win the support of as many New Castle residents as possible. H. H. Rosenthal is chairman of this group selling the tickets locally.

Oratory Contest Starts February 1

Tri State District Finals To Be Held At Pittsburgh April 19

Seven South American trips, similar in many ways to the good-will tour of President-elect Herbert Hoover, in addition to many local awards, are announced for the boys and girls of American high schools in the sixth national oratorical contest in 1929, sponsored by more than 50 newspapers of the United States cooperating to support this enterprise for the study and understanding of the constitution.

In 1928 more than 2,000,000 students participated. This year there are more than 20 nations competing in the preliminaries for the six coveted places in the fourth international oratorical contest which will be held in Washington, D. C., on October 26. In each country orations will be written on themes relating to the basic principles of their governments.

The contest in this district starts February 1, or at the beginning of the second semester, when the participants prepare and submit orations. The best of these is selected by a competition within the school conducted in whatever manner deemed advisable by the school head. The author of the winning oration is the school champion.

School champions will meet for the county championship and the right to represent the county in the regional meet. Tri-state finals will take place at Pittsburgh on April 19. The tri-state champion will go to Harrisburg to compete for his zone title and the right to compete for the national title. On May 25 the zone winners will meet in Washington, D. C., for the national final and the winner will compete in the international final in the fall.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

FLYING WITH THE CURRENT

Drowsily, for by now Carrier Pigeon was almost asleep, the bird continued his explanations.

"You see, not all pigeons are alike. We each know what course suits us best and the two-legs who train us soon find out and let us follow our own wishes as far as they are able.

"But none of us is foolish enough to try to fly against the current. Oh, no. The wind would make short work of our strength. We would wear ourselves out and get nowhere.

"There, now, I have told you almost as much about my race as I know myself, and I can go to sleep in comfort. If you knew what was good for you, you would take a nap yourself. The day never seems so long when one has had a doze or two."

Before the boy could thank him, or even say good-bye, Carrier Pigeon was half way to Dreamland, so there was nothing for the boy to do but to go on about his business. Peter chuckled as he turned away for the second time.

"I thought the insects were the most all-of-a-sudden folks I had ever met, but these birds are every bit as bad. You have got to make the most of them while they are awake and with you. There is never any telling when they will feel like going to sleep or flying away. Make them talk as fast as they can while they are at it.

"Just see how much I have learned about Birdland—things that I never even imagined before."

Peter must have spoken out loud, for a cross voice replied to his last words.

"I dare say, I dare say! Lots of us find out things when we take the trouble to. But there is a great deal you could have discovered about us birds for yourself.

"Shame on you for having to be told everything! That is what you get for not considering the farmyard birds of any account. You meet us every day in the week, and yet what notice do you take of us? Not a bit!

"And let me tell you, young man, there are lots of interesting folks to know in the Poultry family."

City Annex Is Standing Idle

City Hall Attaches Say No Offers Made For Treasury Room Rental

Councilmen have not yet made any plans for the disposition of the building which formerly housed central fire department in East street, and it is probable that it may stand vacant for some time.

Today one councilman stated that unless the city can see some revenue coming in, nothing toward remodeling the annex will be done.

It had been anticipated that several business men would desire the treasury room for storeroom purposes, but so far no offer has been made.

Council had anticipated that the revenue from the rental would pay for the remodeling of the East street building.

It is probable that city equipment and automobiles may be stored in the building vacated by the central fire department apparatus and employes.

State Teacher's College Graduates To Be Named In Elementary Grades

Graduates of other colleges than the State Teachers' colleges will find it next to impossible to be placed in the elementary grades of the New Castle schools in the future, according to Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent.

The state department of public instruction has passed a ruling that where it is possible to get State Teacher college graduates for elementary work, they are to be placed ahead of college graduates for the reason that the college graduate is certificated to teach in the junior or senior high schools and not in the elementary schools.

"It means about $350 for every college graduate we have in the elementary schools," said Dr. Green, "for the appropriation is cut about that much for every college graduate we have in the elementary schools."

The college graduate is trained for junior and senior high school work, according to Dr. Green. The State Teacher college graduate has been given elementary work throughout her course and is therefore better fitted for such work. In the future, insofar as it is possible, the rule will be followed in New Castle schools.

Bank Directors Are Re-Elected

Annual Meeting Of Stockholders Of Banks Held Tuesday

Annual meetings of the Home Trust company, the Citizen's National bank and the Union National bank were held on Tuesday afternoon when directors and officers were elected for the coming year.

The stockholders of the Home Trust company met and re-elected the following board of directors: O. P. Brown, F. A. Schultz, Thomas H. Hartman, E. E. McGill and George T. Weingartner. The directors of the bank did not organize and elect officers but when this is done will probably re-elect the following: President, Thomas H. Hartman; vice-president, O. P. Brown; vice-president, F. A. Schultz; secretary-treasurer, J. C. Miner; trust officer, Wylie McCaslin.

Citizens National Bank

The stockholders of the Citizens National bank re-elected the following board of directors: John H. Lamb, Charles H. Andrews, George R. Balph, P. J. Flaherty, William B. Howe, H. G. Preston, Frank S. Hoyt, John P. Lockhart, Fred L. Rentz, E. J. McCreery, Ben D. Phillips. The officers re-elected are: President, John H. Lamb; vice-president, Ben D. Phillips; cashier, George R. Leave To Attend State Meeting

Weingartner And Bickett To Attend State Committee Meeting At Philadelphia

Senator George T. Weingartner of this district, a member of the senate slate committee, and Representative M. A. Bickett of Ellwood City, a member of the house slate committee will leave New Castle Thursday night for Philadelphia where on Friday they will attend the meeting of the slate committee.

These committees are not legislative committees although they control the appointments for the next session of the General Assembly. They are party committees and because the Republican members of the senate and house far exceed those of the Democratic party, the recommendations of the slate committee meeting in Philadelphia will be adopted by the two branches at the meeting of next Monday night.

In the house a member of the slate committee is chosen from each congressional district. In the senate there are but seven, these seven being Senator John G. Homsher of Lancaster county, chairman; Senator Frank Baldwin of Potter county, Senator C. L. Buckman of Bucks county, Senator Horace B. Schantz of Lehigh county, Senator Max G. Leslie of Allegheny county, Senator George T. Weingartner of Lawrence county, and Senator Samuel Salus of Philadelphia.

Mt. Jackson Church Has Congregational Meeting On Tuesday

Some 100 Persons Attend Dinner And Annual Meeting Of U. P. Church

Despite the fact that the attendance was somewhat stinted due to illness of a great number in the various families, more than 100 persons attended the annual congregational meeting of the Mt. Jackson United Presbyterian church which took place Tuesday evening at the church.

Following a dinner which was served early in the evening the annual business meeting occurred. The meeting was in charge of Charles F. Wallace chairman of the congregation.

There was no further action taken at the meeting with regards to the building of an addition to the church. A special committee is to be named by the church trustees to draft by-laws and to look up the constitution of the church.

At the election of officers John Miller was named chairman of the congregation for the ensuing year; Mrs. Ruth Bradley, secretary and David Byler treasurer. Clarence McFate, William Taylor and Joseph Gilmore were named as auditors.

The dinner meeting of the North Beaver congregation is an annual affair each January.

VISITATION CAMPAIGN WORKERS SECURE 722 NEW CHURCH MEMBERS

sion. In one hour, she said, they had gotten two decisions and one church membership transfer from another city. Mr. Hess told how his team received eight Christian decisions and three transfer letters within one hour.

No Hopeless Cases

"Do not take what the first workers write on the cards as final when they are re-assigned to you," cautioned the Rev. Dr. Kernahan. "In many cases, the work of one man or one team is not quite the type to fit the individual case. Where the former worker wrote 'hopeless,' you can, in many cases, win a Christian decision. Never, under any circumstances, become discouraged at the notations which you find on the re-assigned cards.

"Then, when you are seeing a prospect who has been re-assigned to you, never refer to the first call, for if the first call was successful in any measure, the prospect himself will refer to it. And do not let yourself be come befogged in irrelevant issues. Get to the point quickly: mince no words, take no unnecessary time.

Dynamic Campaign

"This is a dynamic campaign, and we mean to win all the people that we can. Business men should make luncheon engagements with other business men: in this way much good work has been done in other cities, and there is no reason why the same good work cannot be done in New Castle.

"Women, when they find their household duties do not interfere, should make calls in the morning. Of course, these morning calls must be made tactfully, but there is no reason why they should not be singularly successful. If everyone throws his and her whole soul in the work, there is no reason why this campaign cannot be the biggest thing in a religious way that ever came to New Castle.

"The workers should also be careful that the whole family of a prospect is won to the church. If the people have no denominational preference, a definite arrangement should be made. If he is interested in any one church, but professes to know nothing about it, he should be urged to investigate and make a decision at the earliest possible time.

"If not one single person was won for Christ, and the workers still made discoveries about themselves and their churches, this campaign would be worth while," continued Dr. Kernahan. "If there were no other result from visitation evangelism other than the reaction upon the workers, every church in the world would be justified in undertaking such an enterprise. Laymen grow spiritually in this work.

Three Discoveries

"There are three discoveries that a layman makes in this work. First, he discovers himself. There are comparatively few people who live their own lives. Most people live as they do because of sectarianism, partisanship and custom. Only now and then do we find a person who has courage enough to discover what he has that is peculiar to his own personality and then contribute that with a beautiful self abandon to some high and holy end. This is true in all walks of life. It is true in religion. The man who engages in visitation evangelism goes out into the community with the realization that his success depends entirely upon him and Christ. When he sits down to talk to some neighbor he realizes that the issue of the conversation depends, to a large extent, upon what presuasive abilities he may have to place at the disposal of the Holy Spirit in that interview. Straightway he is driven upon his own resources. Very soon he discovers that he has persuasive abilities in his work that he never dreamed that he possessed. He always has had an ambition to win somebody to the Christian life. His ambition has been realized. He comes back to the church with a yearning for further conquests, a contagious anticipation of success, and a modest self confidence which makes him very much like Jesus. Every campaign of this kind leaves in the church a number of laymen who have been transformed in the midst of their work.

"In the second place, he discovers an opportunity for service that he knew nothing about. As a matter of fact, the only way for a church to know a community is to know it through the home. The only way to know what people are aspiring to, what weights of discouragement and sorrow have been holding their spirits down, and the spontaneous response there is to the spiritual challenge everywhere is to talk to them in the intimacy of their homes.

New Christ

"The third discovery that a worker makes in this campaign is a new Christ. If we were to take the conception that we sometimes have of Jesus and stand it up along side of our Saviour, we would cover our faces with shame. We have kept Jesus' quarters altogether too narrow. If a person is to have a robust, conquering Christ, he must see Him out in the community where the biggest things of the Kingdom of God must be done. When one sees Jesus conquer a man who has been selling himself for greed and transform him into an obedient, sympathetic, Christian gentleman—then his conception of Jesus grows. When the worker sees Jesus draw a youth into the dispiritual goal, then his conception of Jesus assumes more appropriate proportions. When he sees Jesus redeem someone who is badly lost, then his conception of Jesus is magnified and his confidence in Him is secured. These are the priceless reactions that come in the mind and the heart of any person who sincerely and enthusiastically enters into the work of visitation evangelism."

After his address, the Rev. Dr. Kernahan announced that to date, 722 people had made the Christian decision. Following the meeting at the Highland church, the evangelist went to the Elm street community center, where a similar meeting among the colored people of the city took place.

Valedictorian is Editor.

Mr. McGoun, the valedictorian, is as present editing the mid-year number of the Ne-Ca-Hi, senior class book, while but a short time before he was the editor-in-chief of the former school paper, The Monitor. Within the past year he went out for class track, basketball and other sports that interested him. He was a member of the school's student council during his junior year and held a membership in the student representatives his sophomore and senior years. His gym work of late was such that qualified him for the rank of squad leader, which he has held during this past year.

Mr. McGoun was somewhat interested in dramatics, too, for in the Hi-Y play of this past year he was a member of the cast of "Let's All Get Married." Likewise, he was in the cast of "A Lucky Break." He was also a member of the Hi-Y club thruout his three years there, and was secretary of this organization the first year he belonged. His activities have been many, and although much time was required of him by these very things he has managed to do his studying and class work in a most congratulatory manner all during high school.

Attendance Record, Too.

The winner of the salutatory, Miss Edna Sheaffer, has likewise held many activities to her credit during high school in addition to her regular daily class work. For the past two years her attendance record has not been marred by absence. She is the secretary of the graduating class, having been elected last September. She was a member of the Senatus Romanus, Latin organization, this past year also. Like Mr. McGoun, Miss Sheaffer held a place in the student representatives her senior year.

Miss Sheaffer's outside time is occupied with teaching of piano. She states that this requires the greater portion of her spare time. As a member of the school's Girl Reserves, Miss Sheaffer was eligible to compete for a part in a play that the organization presented at Christmas time last year, and won for herself one of the leading parts in the production. In her sophomore year she participated in the May Day festival that was given here.

Mr. McGoun and Miss Sheaffer will give their addresses at the commencement exercises of the January class to be held on Friday evening, January 25. The senior high school auditorium will be utilized.

Mrs. E. J. Suber Is Given Fine Tribute

At the meeting of the auxiliary to Daniel Leasure Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, held last evening in the Legion Home, Mrs. E. J. Suber, the retiring president, was paid a fitting tribute for her excellent work in behalf of the auxiliary during the past year.

The tribute was in the nature of a paper read in which it was stated the great amount of work that she had done and especially in planning and carrying out 20 social events during the year.

Following the tribute she was presented with a gold ring bearing the emblem of the auxiliary as a mark of esteem and appreciation on the part of the membership.

It had been planned that the recently elected officers be installed, but owing to the number of officers sick, this was postponed until Tuesday of next week.

The pleasant occasion was brought to a close by the serving of refreshments by a committee consisting of Mrs. Kate Magee, Mrs. Orville Vanhorn and Mrs. E. J. Suber.

Alex Thomas, of Washington D. C., who has been spending several days with friends here, will return to Washington on Thursday.

Motor Club Will Elect Officers

Board Of Governors Will Meet Friday Afternoon To Elect

Officers of the New Castle Motor Club will be elected at the meeting of the board of governors which will take place January 11, at 4 p. m., in the office of Frank S. Hoyt, of the Union Trust building, president of the club.

The activities of the club for the past year will be presented and budget plans for the ensuing year will be made in addition to the election of officers.

Bernard Hanlon, present manager of the club, is making a special effort to have all of the governing board members present at this important meeting.

Members of the board are Alex Crawford Hoyt, H. G. Miller, Fred L. Rentz, George T. Weingartner, Charles G. Martin, Frank S. Hoyt and James P. Cope.

Prisoners Taken To Penitentiary

John Malinowski and Blair Hooks were taken to the western penitentiary this morning by Deputy Sheriff Kenneth Musser and S. J. Chambers. Malinowski was sentenced to serve from three to six years for breaking and entering the Norman jewelry store on North Mill street, and Blair Hooks was sentenced to serve from one to four years for attempting to assault a young woman whom he had picked up in his automobile.

Caps And Gowns For Senior Class

More than a hundred members of the January graduating class at the Senior High school were measured for their commencement caps and gowns on Tuesday afternoon. Invitations and name cards were also being sold at the school yesterday.

According to an announcement by faculty supervisors of the senior class year book, the Ne-Ca-Hi, the book went to press yesterday afternoon. It will appear for the first time on class night which will be observed on January 24.

Plans for the presentation of "The Brat", senior class play, are now being completed, it is announced.

State Teacher's College Graduates To Be Named In Elementary Grades

Graduates of other colleges than the State Teachers' colleges will find it next to impossible to be placed in the elementary grades of the New Castle schools in the future, according to Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent.

The state department of public instruction has passed a ruling that where it is possible to get State Teacher college graduates for elementary work, they are to be placed ahead of college graduates for the reason that the college graduate is certificated to teach in the junior or senior high schools and not in the elementary schools.

"It means about $350 for every college graduate we have in the elementary schools," said Dr. Green, "for the appropriation is cut about that much for every college graduate we have in the elementary schools."

The college graduate is trained for junior and senior high school work, according to Dr. Green. The State Teacher college graduate has been given elementary work throughout her course and is therefore better fitted for such work. In the future, insofar as it is possible, the rule will be followed in New Castle schools.

Bank Directors Are Re-Elected

Annual Meeting Of Stockholders Of Banks Held Tuesday

Annual meetings of the Home Trust company, the Citizen's National bank and the Union National bank were held on Tuesday afternoon when directors and officers were elected for the coming year.

The stockholders of the Home Trust company met and re-elected the following board of directors: O. P. Brown, F. A. Schultz, Thomas H. Hartman, E. E. McGill and George T. Weingartner. The directors of the bank did not organize and elect officers but when this is done will probably re-elect the following: President, Thomas H. Hartman; vice-president, O. P. Brown; vice-president, F. A. Schultz; secretary-treasurer, J. C. Miner; trust officer, Wylie McCaslin.

Citizens National Bank

Union National Bank

The Union National bank re-elected the following board of directors: L. M. Buchanan, Attorney Walter S. Reynolds, Jere Blucher, J. M. Burton, H. R. Huston, James A. George, W. G. Eckles, Attorney Wylie McCaslin, Dr. Charles F. Flannery, Vane B. Johns and E. B. Hawkins. The officers re-elected are: President, L. M. Buchanan; vice-president, Attorney Walter S. Reynolds; cashier, E. B. Hawkins; assistant cashier, Vane B. Johns.

Leave To Attend State Meeting

Weingartner And Bickett To Attend State Committee Meeting At Philadelphia

Senator George T. Weingartner of this district, a member of the senate slate committee, and Representative M. A. Bickett of Ellwood City, a member of the house slate committee will leave New Castle Thursday night for Philadelphia where on Friday they will attend the meeting of the slate committee.

These committees are not legislative committees although they control the appointments for the next session of the General Assembly. They are party committees and because the Republican members of the senate and house far exceed those of the Democratic party, the recommendations of the slate committee meeting in Philadelphia will be adopted by the two branches at the meeting of next Monday night.

In the house a member of the slate committee is chosen from each congressional district. In the senate there are but seven, these seven being Senator John G. Homsher of Lancaster county, chairman; Senator Frank Baldwin of Potter county, Senator C. L. Buckman of Bucks county, Senator Horace B. Schantz of Lehigh county, Senator Max G. Leslie of Allegheny county, Senator George T. Weingartner of Lawrence county, and Senator Samuel Salus of Philadelphia.

Mt. Jackson Church Has Congregational Meeting On Tuesday

Some 100 Persons Attend Dinner And Annual Meeting Of U. P. Church

Despite the fact that the attendance was somewhat stinted due to illness of a great number in the various families, more than 100 persons attended the annual congregational meeting of the Mt. Jackson United Presbyterian church which took place Tuesday evening at the church.

Following a dinner which was served early in the evening the annual business meeting occurred. The meeting was in charge of Charles F. Wallace chairman of the congregation.

There was no further action taken at the meeting with regards to the building of an addition to the church. A special committee is to be named by the church trustees to draft by-laws and to look up the constitution of the church.

At the election of officers John Miller was named chairman of the congregation for the ensuing year; Mrs. Ruth Bradley, secretary and David Byler treasurer. Clarence McFate, William Taylor and Joseph Gilmore were named as auditors.

The dinner meeting of the North Beaver congregation is an annual affair each January.

sion. In one hour, she said, they had gotten two decisions and one church membership transfer from another city. Mr. Hess told how his team received eight Christian decisions and three transfer letters within one hour.

No Hopeless Cases

"Do not take what the first workers write on the cards as final when they are re-assigned to you," cautioned the Rev. Dr. Kernahan. "In many cases, the work of one man or one team is not quite the type to fit the individual case. Where the former worker wrote 'hopeless,' you can, in many cases, win a Christian decision. Never, under any circumstances, become discouraged at the notations which you find on the re-assigned cards.

"Then, when you are seeing a prospect who has been re-assigned to you, never refer to the first call, for if the first call was successful in any measure, the prospect himself will refer to it. And do not let yourself be come befogged in irrelevant issues. Get to the point quickly: mince no words, take no unnecessary time.

Dynamic Campaign

"This is a dynamic campaign, and we mean to win all the people that we can. Business men should make luncheon engagements with other business men: in this way much good work has been done in other cities, and there is no reason why the same good work cannot be done in New Castle.

"Women, when they find their household duties do not interfere, should make calls in the morning. Of course, these morning calls must be made tactfully, but there is no reason why they should not be singularly successful. If everyone throws his and her whole soul in the work, there is no reason why this campaign cannot be the biggest thing in a religious way that ever came to New Castle.

"The workers should also be careful that the whole family of a prospect is won to the church. If the people have no denominational preference, a definite arrangement should be made. Many Walks Of Life Are Represented In Halls Of Assembly

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9.—Many and varied are the occupations and professions of members of the General Assembly of 1929. The legal profession leads all others in both chambers, with seventeen attorneys in the Senate and thirty-five in the House.

Solons who are listed as manufacturers are also well represented. There are six designated as such in the upper chamber. Among the Senators are four physicians, one banker, one investment broker, two undertakers, three realtors, two merchants, one iron master, two editors and publishers, one theatrical manager, two coal operators, one farmer, one general manager, one printer, two insurance men, one teacher, one lumber merchant and one contractor.

In the House of Representatives the merchants press the attorneys hard for first honors, there being twenty- four listed in this category. The five women members are all listed as housewives. When Speaker Hess pounds his gavel for the opening of the session he will find also assembled, four contractors, five teachers, three managers, fourteen clerks, one telegraph operator, one coal operator, one sampler, one supervisor, one editor, one auditor, one lumber merchant, one interior decorator, one barber, one civil engineer, one fireman, one draftsman, one automobile dealer, one certified public accountant, one fitter, one mine superintendent, one artist, one justice of the peace, one minister, two bankers, one deputy sheriff, eleven brokers, insurance and real estate; one locomotive engineer, two miners, one motion picture operator, one theatrical manager, one carpenter, one machinist, two printers, one treasurer, three publishers, one dealer, four salesmen, two members listed as presidents of business concerns; one coal dealer, one coal merchant, one veterinarian, two pharmacists, two dentists, one ice merchant, two secretaries, one check weighman, one investigator, one notary public, one alderman, three conductors, three physicians, one assistant secretary and treasurer, three plumbers, nine farmers, one agent, one bond salesman, one electrician, fifteen manufacturers, one car builder, one farm manager, one buyer, one bookkeeper, one engineer, one jeweler, and one well driller.

Bart Richards of New Castle is the only bonafide newspaper reporter in the House. He is employed on The New Castle News, New Castle, Lawrence County.

William H. Voltz, 2022 North Fifteenth street, Philadelphia, has listed himself as a journalist. He is identified with German publications and is a veteran member of the House.

Three members of the House have listed themselves as retired. Of this number is Frederick P. Behm, of Reading, whose occupation is given as yoeman. This "occupation" occasioned some mystification until it was learned that the term "yoeman" in Berks County means a gentleman who has retired from active work.

W. C. McGregor of Kittanning is another of the trio who gives his occupation as "retired."

The third is John Reilly of 1256 South 28th street, a new member and a Democrat from the 36th Ward, Philadelphia. For 35 years, Mr. Reilly was employed at the oil works at Point Breeze.

Radio Commission May Be Empowered As To Censorship

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Congress may be asked to empower the federal radio commission to exercise a limited form of censorship over radio broadcasting, it was indicated Tuesday at hearings before the House merchant marine committee on radio legislation.

The intimation came from Ira E. Robinson, commission chairman, who related how the commission has been deluged with requests for censorship of programs. Robinson suggested the commission desired authority to correct certain broadcasting abuses that have arisen because censorship is not now permitted.

He said the commission had been urged to prohibit jazz music on Sundays, to prevent stations broadcasting religious hatred, and told of reports charging that stations had advertised fraudulent securities over the radio and stations owned by business concerns had urged listeners to boycott their business rivals.

He urged passage of the White bill extending the life of the commission for one year, because the recent reallocation of stations has not been completed. A number of complaints have been received from Ohio, Indiana and Iowa.

State Congressmen Will Remain At 36

Fenn Measure Will Continue To Give State Same Number In House

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 9.—The Pennsylvania delegation in the House of Representatives will remain at thirty-six if the Fenn reapportionment measure now before the House is passed by Congress and signed by the President.

The Fenn reapportionment bill embodies the principle of apportioning Representatives under the so-called plan of major fractions, and according to this method Pennsylvania would continue to be represented in the House by 36 Congressmen on the estimated results of the 1930 census.

Two methods of reapportionment were considered by the Fenn census committee before the committee reported the reapportionment bill to the House. One of these methods, that known as equal proportions, would have allocated to Pennsylvania only 35 Representatives. The bill as reported to the House, would continue to give to the Keystone 36 members in the House.

The reapportionment bill will be taken up for consideration by the House on Thursday morning.

Local Minister Claims It Ended 15 Years' Misery

Publicly Recommends Ten Herbs Because It Relieved His Health Troubles.

"For the last 15 years I had suffered with pains in my stomach," was the recent statement of the Rev. Walter W. Alston, 222 Grove Street, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine to crowds of men and women of all ages and walks in life. "I spent a great deal of money trying to get relief, but without success, until I tried Ten Herbs," the Rev. Alston continued.

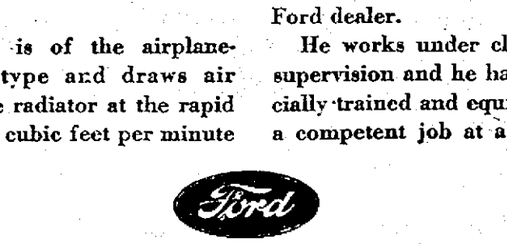
"There was always a feeling of distress at the pit of my stomach. Everything I ate filled me with gas and brought pain—could not eat the lightest kind of food without having indigestion. I was exceedingly nervous, and would become dizzy at times. My liver did not seem to work as it should, and I had intense headaches. My back ached, and my rest was disturbed by having to arise several times during the night. I was badly run-down in general.

"A number of friends, who had been benefited by Ten Herbs, recommended your medicine to me. I started using it and have been given wonderful relief. My appetite has improved, and I can eat anything without fear of pains afterwards—no more gas or retching. Headaches and dizziness have been overcome. The pains in my back and loins have been relieved, and my liver is functioning as it should. I get proper rest at night, and when morning comes I feel fit for a day's work. I am pleased to recommend Ten Herbs to anyone suffering with stomach trouble."

Every day the Ten Herbs Man receives encouraging reports from former sufferers in this locality. Since using this great natural medicine, they no longer suffer with such health troubles as indigestion, gas, bloating, biliousness, dizziness, headaches, constipation, nervousness, pains and aches across the back, rheumatism, neuritis, or a general weak, run-down condition. Get a bottle of Ten Herbs today and see how much better it makes you feel.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Simplicity of cooling system is a feature of the new Ford



A COMPLETE water plant is a part of every automobile as it is a part of every modern city.

The purpose of this water plant is to keep the engine cooled to a temperature that will make it efficient in operation. If it were not for this, the cylinder walls would overheat and the pistons would refuse to operate.

The cooling system of the new Ford is particularly interesting because it is so simple and reliable.

When the radiator is full of water, the engine of the new Ford will not overheat under the hardest driving. Yet the action of the water is so regulated that it will not impair engine operation by running too cold in winter.

The cooling surface of the Ford radiator is large and there are four rows of tubes, set in staggered position so that each receives the full benefit of the incoming air.

The fan is of the airplane-propeller type and draws air through the radiator at the rapid rate of 850 cubic feet per minute at 1000 revolutions per minute of the motor.

The hot water around the cylinder head is drawn to the radiator to be cooled by a centrifugal water pump of new design.

The entire cooling system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little attention.

The radiator should be kept full of water, of course, and drained once each month so that sediment will not collect and retard the free passage of water. In cold weather a reliable anti-freeze solution should be added.

As owner and manager of this important water plant, you should also see that the water pump and fan shaft are properly lubricated and the packing around the pump shaft kept in adjustment.

The hose connections may also need replacement after long, continuous service. For those little adjustments, it pays to call on the Ford dealer.

He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to do a competent job at a fair price.

The hot water around the cylinder head is drawn to the radiator to be cooled by a centrifugal water pump of new design.

The entire cooling system of the new Ford is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires very little attention.

The radiator should be kept full of water, of course, and drained once each month so that sediment will not collect and retard the free passage of water. In cold weather a reliable anti-freeze solution should be added.

As owner and manager of this important water plant, you should also see that the water pump and fan shaft are properly lubricated and the packing around the pump shaft kept in adjustment.

The hose connections may also need replacement after long, continuous service. For those little adjustments, it pays to call on the Ford dealer.

He works under close factory supervision and he has been specially trained and equipped to do a competent job at a fair price.

SORE THROAT

because powerful against germs

SORE throat, and its sequel, a cold, are caused by germs.

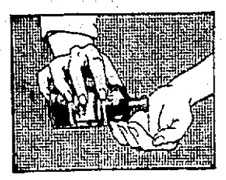
You can often escape them by using Listerine full strength at the first symptom. Millions employ it as first aid.

Because, full strength, Listerine is powerful against germs. It kills even the stubborn B. Typhosus (typhoid) germ, for example in 15 seconds. Repeated tests show it. Yet Listerine is so safe you can use it in any body cavity.

When sore throat doesn't yield quickly to Listerine, it is a matter for your doctor to treat.

Write for our great free book, "Personal Hygiene." Address Dept. S. 58, Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo.

Avoid COLDS this way



Countless colds start when germs are carried to the mouth on food. By using Listerine on the hands before every meal, you attack such germs and lessen the risk of cold. Remember this, mothers, when handling baby's food.

State President Addresses S. A. R.

Annual Banquet Of Local Chapter Is Held Tuesday Evening

ELECT OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

Times of the Revolutionary war period were recalled somewhat when the members of the New Castle chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution assembled in the dining room of the Elks' club for their yearly banquet and election of officers on Tuesday night. Due to sickness, several members were prevented from attending the annual affair with the result that the anticipated attendance had decreased considerably when the time for it came around last night.

The members with their honor guests for the evening, John L. Walker, president of the Pennsylvania S. A. R. Council and Major Weaver H. Rogers, president of the S. A. R. chapter of Pittsburgh, met in the dining room promptly at seven o'clock. There were 18 members and one guest present, besides the special guests from out of town. Compatriot James E. Duff returned thanks preceding the bountiful dinner.

At the conclusion of the dinner, President Jos. S. Rice called for order and the customary short business session proceeded. Attorney Homer Drake, registrar of the chapter for the past year, gave his report first. It included the reading of the minutes of the annual meeting in January of 1928. Treasurer Dr. W. Fulton Jackson was then asked for a financial report of the organization. His statistical resume showed that numerous worthy objects were supported during the past year, and that a fairly large cash balance still remains on the chapter books. Among other things related in Mr. Jackson's report was the award of $10 in gold that the chapter offered for the best chemistry prize written by a student of the senior high school last spring. The prize will be given again this year.

Name Officers.

This marked the close of the officers' reports and President Rice announced that nominees for the chapter's offices for the ensuing year would be received. Compatriot Drake immediately arose and read a prepared "slate." On the motion of one of the members the secretary was authorized to cast a vote for the officers that Mr. Drake had read out, and the following were elected:—

Herb D. McGoun was chosen as the new president for 1929, to succeed Mr. Rice; James E. Duff was named vice-president; E. F. G. Harper, secretary; Dr. W. F. Jackson, treasurer; Mrs. Frances G. Simonton, historian; Rev. Phillip C. Pearson, chaplain, and Homer C. Drake, registrar. Their term of office commenced last night.

Following the selection of the 1929 officers, President Rice named a committee, consisting of H. K. Gregory, chairman, Homer Drake and James E. Duff, to draw up a tribute for the late A. D. Mornes, who was a member of the local chapter. It was announced that Mr. Mornes was the only member that the chapter lost by death during 1928.

Compatriot Welty O. Rugh, in behalf of Compatriot H. K. Gregory read a report of the findings of a special committee named by the chapter some time ago to investigate the report that George Washington once passed through this territory. After a thorough study and hours of research work the committee, H. K. Gregory and Rev. P. C. Pearson, came to a conclusion that Washington did pass through this neighborhood once, and presented evidence that gave them reason to believe such. The lengthy report was interesting and will likely be run in The News later. Mr. Gregory was present last evening, but was suffering from a severe cold and was unable to speak.

Mrs. Simonton Reports.

Mrs. Frances Simonton, honorary member of the Sons of the American Revolution here, gave a report on the findings that have been made by her and her co-workers of the D. A. R. during the past year. She reported the condition of country cemeteries in the surrounding districts and recommended that efforts be made to have them improved. Most of her report deals with data and epitaphs that had been checked of on the gravestones in certain country cemeteries. She also announced that the local D. A. R. had secured the state convention for New Castle this year which will come sometime in October. She asked for the wholehearted support of the sons in this matter, and it was assured her.

Compatriot E. F. G. Harper then called upon one of the honor guests of the evening, Major Weaver Rogers, president of the Pittsburgh chapter. After urging greater effort from each member of the chapter to attain the positions which have fallen upon them from their noble ancestors and instilling them with the spirit of greater service, Maj. Rogers outlined the work of the newly formed Pittsburgh chapter. The S. A. R. there was organized about six months ago, he said. Mr. Rogers outlined the program of the S. A. R. there and urged the local chapter to assume some definite service.

State President Speaks.

Following Major Rogers' splendid talk, Compatriot Harper introduced the speaker and the principal guest of the evening, John L. Walker, of Pittsburgh, president of the state council responded. He again impressed upon the chapter the need for taking up definite work, and asked the chapter here to launch a program somewhat similar to that recently carried out and outlined last night by the Pittsburgh president. The S. A. R. leader was desirous that the local chapter observe certain appropriate holidays throughout the year, and to stress it's membership work during the coming months. In general, President Walker's address had to do with the business and management of an S. A. R. His talk and visit, like that of Major Rogers', were highly enjoyed by the chapter and it was with a great deal of regret that the officers here were obliged to let them leave so soon. Thy returned to Pittsburgh last night.

Members of the local chapter in attendance last night, asides from the honor guests, were Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Simontin, and Compatriots Jos. S. Rice, retiring president; E. F. G. Harper, Homer Drake, I. W. McKee, Ralph C. McGoun, W. J. Caldwell, Dr. W. Fulton Jackson, Earl Kyle, Norman McClelland, Dr. H. C. Harper, William H. McCombs, Welty O. Rugh, H. K. Gregory, Harry L. Dunlap, J. Ed Duff and Homer Drake. A. Bruce Ewing, reporter for The News, was also present.

The visit of President Walker of the state organization last night marked the third time he has met with the members of the local S. A. R. It was Major Rogers' first visit.

New Castle Operators Win Safety Contest On Penn-Ohio System

New Castle street car and bus operators have added another outstanding victory to their long and notable record for safe operation. They have won the championship for 1928 of the Penn-Ohio System by taking the fourth and final quarterly accident prevention contest, ended December 31, setting up in that period the remarkable feat of operating 117,663 miles per chargeable accident.

This record of safe operation comes on the heels of the announcement that the Penn-Ohio System had won the highest safety award open to electric railway organizations, the Brady gold medal, from the American Museum of Safety.

Banquets Planned

Banquets are being arranged to celebrate both of these safety achievements at which all the New Castle men and their wives will meet with officials of the company and others to mark the fine work of the New Castle operators.

The contest that New Castle has won by the feat of operating 353,046 miles with city and interurban cars and city busses in the months of October, November and December with only three chargeable accidents, began on January 1, 1928. The three divisions of the P-O. were pitted against one another in the friendly, but none the less spirited race. New Castle got off to a bad start and came in second in the first quarter of the year and third in the second quarter, the Sharon division winning in the first period and Trumbull division in the second.

Set Up Record

When the third quarterly contest started July 1, "Chris" Coulthard and his men settled down to redeem themselves and did so by setting up the splendid record of operating 59,138 miles per chargeable accident, the best record of the year to that time.

When the fourth and final contest opened October 1 each of the three divisions had a victory to its credit and the rivalry was keen. Again the New Castle men showed their mettle and took the lead from the first, never being in serious danger of losing to either of the other divisions. The result was that they operated their cars and busses the equivalent of more than fourteen times around the earth with only three accidents against them.

At the banquets which will celebrate the victory the New Castle division will be awarded a handsome trophy by B. C. Wood, general claim agent of the system. This will be the second such trophy the division has won, being victorious also in the contest which was carried on between the three divisions in 1926.

Colored Churches Doing Good Work

Almost 100 Make Christian Decision In Visitation Campaign

Because workers from his church have gathered a total of 98 Christian decisions for the church in the visitation evangelism campaign, together with five hopeful prospects and eight people for baptism, the Rev. W. W. Nelson, pastor of the Second Baptist church, colored, and the members of his congregation are highly elated at the success of the campaign, now being directed in New Castle by the Rev. Dr. A. Earl Kernahan.

The report was given at a supper meeting which took place Tuesday evening at the Elm street Y. W. C. A. A committee of ladies from the Second Baptist church, colored, with Mrs. M. P. Nelson, as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ellen Coles, Mrs. Ella Watson, Mrs. Julia Woodson, Mrs. Julia Toney and Mrs. H. Reeves served a very substantial meal free.

On Monday evening, January 7, the luncheon was served by a committee from the St. Paul's Baptist church, colored. This evening the Bethel A. M. E. church will be in charge of the program.

HOME WATCHMEN TO INSTALL OFFICERS

Fort Eureka No. 45, American Home Watchmen will have installation of officers elected at the late meeting, this evening at 8 o'clock in their hall in the city building.

Dr. Sanburn of Muncie, Pa., will be present as the installing officer. Following the exercises there will be a social time and refreshments will be served.

Well Baby Clinic To Meet Thursday

Purpose Of Clinic Is To Keep Well Babies Well; No Ill Admitted

Following a hiatus of almost a month, the well baby clinic will meet on the third floor of the New Castle Dry Goods company's store Thursday morning from 10 to 12 o'clock, it is announced this morning at the headquarters of the Associated Charities.

Mothers are requested to remember that the purpose of the clinic is to keep well babies well, and that sick children should not be brought to the clinic.

First Christian Scout Troop Meets

First Christian Scouts Pass Tests At Meeting Tuesday Evening

The First Christian church Boy Scout troop, No. 15, held its regular weekly meeting in the First Christian church Tuesday, Jan. 8, at 7:30 p. m. The meeting was in charge of Scoutmaster Sidney Smith and Assistant Scoutmaster George McCracken. There was a large attendance. John Daggart a visitor and Troop Committeemen Young Rodgers and Dr. Gilmore were also present.

The meeting was called to order by Troop Bugler Howard Hart playing assembly. The Scouts gave the Scout oath good turns and dues. The following boys passed tests: Joseph Proctor, oath and law; Junior Phares, oath and law, history of the flag and knots. The following boys represented the troop at the board of review held Monday evening, Jan. 7, at seven o'clock at Scout headquarters; John Phillips, firemanship; Fulton Cook, bookbinding; Ralph Montgomery, woodwork, cooking, firemanship and handicraft, and Roy Patton, second class. The patrols went into session at eight p. m. and adjourned at nine p. m. While the patrols were in session the officials held a meeting and appointed a new assistant Scoutmaster, Richard Sheets, to this troop. Questions about dues were discussed.

As the patrols came out of session each patrol gave a patrol stunt demonstration. The Chipmunk gave a first aid exhibition by demonstrating how to remove a man who is in contact with an electric wire. The Pine Tree patrol gave an exhibition in signaling. The Eagle patrol gave a first aid demonstration on how to carry injured persons by building a pyramid. The meeting was adjourned by the troop pledging allegiance to the flag and Troop Bugler Howard Hart playing taps. Arthur McEwn and William Leivo were registered as members of the troop.

Wives And Sweethearts Beware Of Kissing While "Flu" Epidemic Prevails

Wives and sweethearts should go unkissed during the present waves of colds and influenza, according to a local physician.

Although the physician may not know it, it is claimed on good authority that there are a lot of New Castle wives who go unkissed even when there are no germs floating around in the air. Next to the unkissed wives there are said to be a lot who receive what might be termed merely formal kisses. The formal kiss is one that the kisser feels that it is his bounden duty to bestow. It may be merely a "peck" on the mouth or a "dab" on the cheek, and is about as near a real kiss as sauerkraut is to cabbage.

There is not much danger in catching even the "flu" from one of these formal kisses. They do not last long enough. The husband grabs them off as he leaves home, at the same time reaching for his hat and pulling out his watch. No, it is not that kind of a kiss that spreads the "flu". It wouldn't spread a sneeze. It is the long, tender, soulful kiss in whose depths the danger lurks. Wives who are getting those kinds of kisses have really something to be alarmed about. But then, so has the husband. Men are not the only purveyors of kissing germs. Sometimes they come from the other side of the house. At any rate, married couples should be careful with their kissing. If you don't particularly feel the urge to kiss, it's a good time to break the habit during a flu epidemic.

It is in the kissing of sweethearts that the greater danger lies. Lacking experience, they are liable to linger longer on the job, thereby giving the nimble "flu" germ a chance to change habitations. "Flu" germs are said to fatten on paint and powder. 'Nuf sed. The wise young man will take due precautions. One of the best ways to avoid catching the "flu" in a time like this is to forego kissing, but it is realized that this advice is too technical for the average young mind to comprehend. The next best thing, if you must kiss, is to do it through a screen. A sheet of clean white paper makes a very good preventative. Cardboard is also sometimes used, but it is really too cumbersome, and besides is not always available when the opportunity for kissing presents.

Kissing during an epidemic of this kind is particularly dangerous, because the virus of influenza enters and leaves the body in the secretions from the mouth and nose. It is a highly communicable disease, as is evidenced by the great number of cases in this city and throughout the country.

There is danger in crowded buildings, the use of common drinking cups, towels, spoons and any objects touched by the mouth, but above all, beware of kissing. It is believed that if the above suggestions are carefully carried out they will assist materially in stopping the progress of the disease.

DEATH OF WOMAN CAUSED BY BURNS

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 9.—Mrs. Jacob Snow, 45, living near Fruin, died at noon in the Butler hospital from burns received yesterday when her clothing caught fire from an open coal stove.

Mrs. Snow was standing beside the stove in a room upstairs when her clothing caught fire. She ran downstairs and rushed out into the yard, and put the fire out by rolling on the grass.

When she was brought to the hospital it was found that she had been burned badly from the hips down, and it is believed she inhaled flames from the fire.

Announce Library Donors For December

Thirty-one books were donated to the New Castle public library during the month of December, according to the report which has just been made by Alice M. Sterling, librarian. One of the gifts was from an anonymous source.

Donors to the library during this period were P. L. Craig, Mrs. Charles Johnson, Charles Miller, Miriam Cosel, Baldwin Locomotive Works, the American Telephone & Telegraph company and the anonymous giver.

BROTHER OF NEW CASTLE WOMAN DEAD

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 9.—D. L. Aiken, 72, for 45 years a resident of Butler and for a number of years owner of a grocery in Center avenue died today of heart attack.

He was a charter member of the Zeigler lodge I. O. O. F. of Butler, Knights of Pythias and the First United Presbyterian church. He is survived by his widow Mrs. Netta Krause Aiken, two sons, J. C. of Butler and Robert Aiken of Washington, Pa., and a daughter Miss Pearl Aiken of Washington, D. C. and two sisters Mrs. Lawrence Mersimer and Mrs. Agnes Rhodes of New Castle.

BODY IS FOUND HANGING TO TREE

DONORA, Pa., Jan. 9.—It took a lot of courage for Adolph Sherman, 60 of Monongahela, to commit suicide, for his frozen body found hanging to a small sapling near the Monongahela speedway gave evidence of the will power that must have been needed to accomplish the killing.

Sherman who was only a little over five feet tall was discovered with his feet drawn up against the body to keep them from touching the ground.

He had tied himself to a five foot limb and was forced to hold himself in this position while he died.

COLLISION OF TRUCK IS FATAL TO DRIVER

approved method of using Vicks for FLU

1. AS A PREVENTIVE

Several times a day, insert Vicks up the nostrils. Also melt a little night and morning in a bowl of boiling water and inhale the steaming medicated vapors. This helps to ward off germ-infection.

2. IF A COLD STARTS

If possible, go home and go to bed. Take a laxative and a hot lemonade. Apply hot, wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is throughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread on thickly and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bedcovering loose, so that the vapors, released by the body-warmth, may be freely inhaled. At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice.

Repeat this treatment every four hours, eat lightly, and stay in bed until the cold is broken. Complete rest helps the body throw off the cold more quickly.

3. AFTER A FLU ATTACK

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds, attacking the weakened system, may lead to bronchitis, sinus-trouble or pneumonia. This is especially true of children or old folks.

Heed even the slightest cold as a danger signal. Vicks is especially valuable here, because it is applied externally, and so can be used freely, as often as needed, without upsetting delicate digestions, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do.

Wives And Sweethearts Beware Of Kissing While "Flu" Epidemic Prevails

Wives and sweethearts should go unkissed during the present waves of colds and influenza, according to a local physician.

Although the physician may not know it, it is claimed on good authority that there are a lot of New Castle wives who go unkissed even when there are no germs floating around in the air. Next to the unkissed wives there are said to be a lot who receive what might be termed merely formal kisses. The formal kiss is one that the kisser feels that it is his bounden duty to bestow. It may be merely a "peck" on the mouth or a "dab" on the cheek, and is about as near a real kiss as sauerkraut is to cabbage.

There is not much danger in catching even the "flu" from one of these formal kisses. They do not last long enough. The husband grabs them off as he leaves home, at the same time reaching for his hat and pulling out his watch. No, it is not that kind of a kiss that spreads the "flu". It wouldn't spread a sneeze. It is the long, tender, soulful kiss in whose depths the danger lurks. Wives who are getting those kinds of kisses have really something to be alarmed about. But then, so has the husband. Men are not the only purveyors of kissing germs. Sometimes they come from the other side of the house. At any rate, married couples should be careful with their kissing. If you don't particularly feel the urge to kiss, it's a good time to break the habit during a flu epidemic.

It is in the kissing of sweethearts that the greater danger lies. Lacking experience, they are liable to linger longer on the job, thereby giving the nimble "flu" germ a chance to change habitations. "Flu" germs are said to fatten on paint and powder. 'Nuf sed. The wise young man will take due precautions. One of the best ways to avoid catching the "flu" in a time like this is to forego kissing, but it is realized that this advice is too technical for the average young mind to comprehend. The next best thing, if you must kiss, is to do it through a screen. A sheet of clean white paper makes a very good preventative. Cardboard is also sometimes used, but it is really too cumbersome, and besides is not always available when the opportunity for kissing presents.

Kissing during an epidemic of this kind is particularly dangerous, because the virus of influenza enters and leaves the body in the secretions from the mouth and nose. It is a highly communicable disease, as is evidenced by the great number of cases in this city and throughout the country.

There is danger in crowded buildings, the use of common drinking cups, towels, spoons and any objects touched by the mouth, but above all, beware of kissing. It is believed that if the above suggestions are carefully carried out they will assist materially in stopping the progress of the disease.

Ku Klux Klan Not To Stage Demonstration During Inauguration

President-Elect Hoover Very Much Relieved To Learn Of Klan Plans For March 4th

Leaders Were Of Belief That Klan Demonstration Would Rekindle Flame

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The Ku Klux Klan annouced officially today it will stage no demonstration here during President-elect Hoover's inauguration March 4.

Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard, made the announcement. He said:

"The klan plans no demonstration in Washington at the present."

Perhaps no other utterance by Evans was awaited by so many persons of prominence and influence. Mr. Hoover himself is said to have been anxious to learn what the secret organization planned to do on March 4. Absence of such information, some politicians believed, prompted the early taboo of a "regular and old-fashioned" inauguration, with its pomp and elaborate ceremony.

There was little doubt that the klan gave Mr. Hoover much concern. Rumors filtered through the city the klan was preparing to stage a monster celebration on inauguration day. High Republicans, those closely associated with Mr. Hoover, evidenced their fear.

The klan vigorously opposed Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic presidential candidate. The Republicans believed a K. K. K. parade would rekindle the religious hatred that flared intermittently during the campaign.

Today the imperial wizard spoke. His ten words allayed the fears that have been uppermost in the minds of Washington's Republicans for many months.

Defective Flue Cause Of Blaze

A defective flue was the cause of the fire alarm at 10:20 Tuesday evening which called No. 2 fire department and truck B from the central fire department to the home of William G. Andrews of 1103 Highland avenue.

A grate was closed with lath and plaster, but a hole had been left going into the flue. Sparks from the flue set this lathing on fire, states the report of Assistant Fire Chief R. G. Craig. Damage amounting to $50 was done. Both trucks were back in service again at 10:40.

Recent Probe In Philadelphia Brings To Light Income Tax Evaders

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 9.—Federal action in connection with the racket investigation here came to light today with the filing by internal revenue representatives of suits from four men who have been mentioned by District Attorney John Managhan's probe.

Income tax liens were filed in the U. S. district court against Harry Roth, Arthur Lipschitz, Nathan Klawansky and Harry Shiekman. The men were linked with the "mystery accounts" totalling more than $12,000,000 in the Union Bank and Trust company in the grand jury investigation.

It is understood that further steps against income tax evaders is to be taken.

Miss Bergland, a member of the sophomore class, is one of seven New Castle girls in the production. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Nancarrow Is Given Promotion

Master Mechanic Of Pennsylvania Goes To Baltimore; Successor From Wheeling

Announcement of the promotion of H. L. Nancarrow of this city, master mechanic of the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania railroad for the past eight months, to the position of master mechanic of the Southern Grand division of the company with headquarters at Baltimore, Md., was made at divisional headquarters of the Pennsylvania railroad here today.

Although the promotion of the local man to the new capacity came suddenly it did not come unexpectedly, for Mr. Nancarrow's service on the E. and A. during the short time he has been here was known to be such that would warrant a move of this kind soon. While his location here has not extended over a very long period of time, Mr. Nancarrow has endeared himself to the many employes of the company and others with whom he has been associated. Their well wishes and hopes for his continued success will go with him when he leaves the city. He will take over his new position in Baltimore on Thursday.

Mr. Nancarrow came to this city from the Akron division of the Pennsylvania, where he was assistant master mechanic prior to his promotion to the position with the E. and A. here. He assumed the work in this city on May 16, 1928 and since that time has been serving the company both faithfully and efficiently.

Mr. and Mrs. Nancarrow resided at 409 East Lincoln avenue during the time they have been located here. It was but a short time ago that a baby son was added to the family. The Nancarrows were well known throughout the city and it will be with interest that the new promotion will be learned by their many friends. They expect to leave for Baltimore at once.

It will also be of interest to many to know that in his new master mechanic's position, Mr. Nancarrow will serve under W. M. Wardrop, former superintendent of the E. and A. division and now superintendent of the Pennsylvania's Grand Southern division.

Mr. Nancarrow will be succeeded here by James S. Richards who comes from the company's Wheeling division. Mr. Richards, with his wife and two children, will move to New Castle just as soon as quarters can be secured. His new appointment takes effect tomorrow also.

Highland Scouts Meet At "Caves"

Scoutmaster Jack Dunfee Gives Talk On Stamp Collecting

The Highland Church Boy Scout Troop No. 18, on Tuesday evening, January 8th, held a very interesting meeting in the "Highland Caves." Scoutmaster Ralph F. Davis presided and was assisted by Assistant Scoutmaster Howard Bott, and Junior Assistant Scoutmaster Howard Gates. There was a large attendance. Committeeman T. C. Boston was present. Scoutmaster Dunfee from St. Paul's Troop No. 21 was a special guest.

The opening exercises were in charge of Assistant Scoutmaster Bott. Committeeman T. C. Boston received the good turns. The following new members were added to the troop: James Herbold, Emil Rodgers, Edwin Harper, Bud Jones, by voting them in and initiating them. Scoutmaster Davis showed the displays which scouts had made from Christmas trees. A Totem Pole, Indian war club and a picture frame were a few of the displays. At the next meeting, no scouts in the troop will be admitted who do not bring Christmas trees with the branches cut off. This is the means of getting enough Christmas trees to make rustic furniture for the Caves.

Scoutmaster Dunfee gave a very interesting talk on "Stamp Collecting" and the boys responded by getting enthused over the project of collecting stamps.

The troop will have a First Aid Booth at the Exhibition in February in conjunction with the Red Cross and will have a five-man team present. As preparation for this, at the next meeting the troop will be instructed in First Aid by an authority on the subject.

The meeting was adjourned by the formal closing exercises.

Local Man Sustains Injuries To Back

Erwin E. Bigley, Hutchison street, brakeman for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Youngstown, O., sustained severe injuries to his back Monday afternoon when he slipped and fell backwards while boarding the train in the Youngstown yards. The train was not in motion, which saved Mr. Bigley from being thrown a greater distance.

No bones were broken, but his injuries are of such a nature that it was necessary for him to be removed to his home, where he will be confined for some time.

Will Stop Speeding On Broad Highways

Members Of Motor Patrol Will Break Up Practice On Wide Roads

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9. — Officers of the Highway Motor Patrol have found it necessary to direct that special attention be paid to reckless driving on a number of boulevards close to large cities.

When heavily traveled roads were first widened from the eighteen-foot standard it was believed that marked reduction in accidents would follow. Instead, an inclination on the part of motorists to use the wider roads for speedways have developed in many cases.

Members of the patrol have been instructed to break up the practice.

Public Utility Stocks To Be Leaders In 1929

Believe Utility Stocks Best Suited To Lead Upward Stock Trend In 1929

Motor And Aeroplane Stocks Had Big Year In 1928; Coppers And Oil Prominent

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor
Copyright, 1929, International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—What group of stocks is best suited to lead the upward movement in the market of 1929?

The motor shares had their day in 1927 and 1928; the chain store and mercantile stocks, with the high-priced aeroplane stocks, skimmed close to the clouds last year, the coppers and oils breaking into the headlines in the final quarter of the year. Wherein lies the best opportunity for safe investment and conservative profit in 1929?

Utility Stocks to Lead

"The public utility stocks will take the lead in the upward movement this year" said Herbert B. Smithers, partner and head of the stock sale department of Eastman, Dillon and company, to International News Service today. Smithers based his forecast upon the enormous expansion in public utility enterprises that will naturally follow the electrification of railroads and other consumers of power; the expanding use of electric light in American homes; and the harnessing up of big natural developments like waterfalls, etc., to supply cheaper power to the prominent lighting and power companies in the centers of population.

"Unlike the railroads which are still fighting for the right to earn a fair return upon their investments, the Public Utility Companies have been assured by the highest court in the land an equitable income on their actual investment, as well as a reasonable residue for facilities and the replacement of worn-out machinery," said Smithers. For this reason he declared, the utility companies were in a position to maintain a proper balance between stocks and bonds in their capital structures.

Customer Ownership

"The enormous growth of American Industrial Enterprise in recent years had broadened the market for the power as supplied by the utility companies" said Smithers. "Bankers, moneyed interests and industrial heads are looking for greater favors upon the well-developed utility concerns, most of which need only capital to render them capable of supplying larger and larger quantities of hydro and electro power. It is not necessary to develop new agencies for the purpose, since most of the well known power companies are in a position to add directly to their producing facilities through the addition of new units or expansion of their plants.

"Customer ownership has become such an important factor in public utility service that there is a growing tendency to exploit the power, water and lighting companies for the benefit of consumers and stockholders."

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts If You Feel Backachy Or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excite and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them like you relieve the bowels, removing acids, waste and poison, else you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, the stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, obliging one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders. By all means, drink lots of good water every day.

Weather Slows Bridge Project

Footing Completed But Cold Weather Delays Pouring Of Concrete

Progress on various projects has been interrupted considerably by cold weather and among the jobs slowed down is the construction of the bridge across the Neshannock river.

The John Byers company has constructed the middle pier and the footing for the Croton avenue abuttment has been made. As soon as a break in the weather permits concrete will be poured for the abuttment.

Death and other causes will make it necessary to report the new beneficiary to the bureau. Some vets are dying without the change being made and the money is being paid to those who are not rightfully entitled to it.

"When the vet marries it would be necessary to change the beneficiary, if the right party were to get the money on the death of the soldier," Dempsey concluded.

He urged that those who should change the beneficiary with regard to their compensation do so immediately. It is best to have the correct name of the person to whom the money should be paid, in case of death, in the bureau's records always.

Plan Year Book For Union High

Considerable effort is now being concentrated on the year book that the 1929 class of the Union high school expects to issue sometime the middle of next May. The name "Utopian" has been selected and members of the staff are hard at work endeavoring to produce an annual that has never been equaled by any graduating class there.

Edwin Hill is the editor-in-chief of the 96-page book while Miss Elizabeth Taylor is the associate editor.

Believe Utility Stocks Best Suited To Lead Upward Stock Trend In 1929

Motor And Aeroplane Stocks Had Big Year In 1928; Coppers And Oil Prominent

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor
Copyright, 1929, International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—What group of stocks is best suited to lead the upward movement in the market of 1929?

The motor shares had their day in 1927 and 1928; the chain store and mercantile stocks, with the high-priced aeroplane stocks, skimmed close to the clouds last year, the coppers and oils breaking into the headlines in the final quarter of the year. Wherein lies the best opportunity for safe investment and conservative profit in 1929?

Utility Stocks to Lead

"The public utility stocks will take the lead in the upward movement this year" said Herbert B. Smithers, partner and head of the stock sale department of Eastman, Dillon and company, to International News Service today. Smithers based his forecast upon the enormous expansion in public utility enterprises that will naturally follow the electrification of railroads and other consumers of power; the expanding use of electric light in American homes; and the harnessing up of big natural developments like waterfalls, etc., to supply cheaper power to the prominent lighting and power companies in the centers of population.

"Unlike the railroads which are still fighting for the right to earn a fair return upon their investments, the Public Utility Companies have been assured by the highest court in the land an equitable income on their actual investment, as well as a reasonable residue for facilities and the replacement of worn-out machinery," said Smithers. For this reason he declared, the utility companies were in a position to maintain a proper balance between stocks and bonds in their capital structures.

Customer Ownership

"The enormous growth of American Industrial Enterprise in recent years had broadened the market for the power as supplied by the utility companies" said Smithers. Complete Selections Of Legislative Committees

State Leaders Draft Final Form Of List Of Memberships In State Body

Tentative Drafts Will Be Submitted To Leaders For Qualifications

By E. L. RAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—The preliminary work of listing the preferences of the many Republican politicians of the state for the various committees of the state legislature completed directing heads of both houses proceeded today to draft the final form of the list of memberships.

The tentative drafts will be submitted to W. L. Mellon, Pittsburgh, leader, Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, and representatives of Senator-elect William S. Vare at a conference here tomorrow. All factions in the state have responded generously to the request for a list of their preferences for the various committees and the final decisions are expected to be received favorably by all leaders, committee members said. The 200 odd jobs are expected to be filled by Friday but the announcement of the various assignments will not be made public in all probability until the Monday night session of the two houses on January 14.

Today conferences on the tentative selections for the committees was attended by State Senator Horace Schantz, of Allentown, president pro tem of the senate, State Treasurer Edward Martin, State Republican Committee Chairman, Aaron B. Hess, of Lancaster, Speaker of the House, A. Boyd Hamilton, Secretary of the Senate and a number of lesser workers.

Effort at Harmony

In an effort to keep harmony in the forthcoming session of the assembly it is said, plans for a steering committee in both houses, instead of administrator leader, will be submitted to the leaders for their approval or rejection. This scheme is somewhat different from the methods used in the past session. If the committee assignments are satisfactory to all parties concerned, then harmony will be maintained more easily by steering committees, it is believed all efforts are being made by the leaders to carefully distribute the assignments both as to political power and as to the geography of the state.

The upstate sections which rolled up such a large majority for Hoover will not be forgotten along with the interests of the Mellon, Grundy and Vare factions, in awarding the committee assignments, the leaders explained. For the most part, however, it was said the old committee heads will be retained.

Position on the powerful appropriations, apportionment and patronage committees, are the most sought posts. Rumors current in some sections that a new chairman would be selected for the appropriation committee post, could not find confirmation at the conferences here. Committee members professed never to have heard of the report.

There are 42 committees of the house and 33 regular standing committees of the senate to be filled.

Would you call it a peace treaty between Smith and Brown if they agreed to fight only with brass knuckles hereafter?

Kaltenbaugh. She reiterates her former statement that she knew nothing of the crime. The new statement was made several hours after the departure of the Stark county authorities and the prisoner for Canton.

Says Robbery Motive

In the confession made here immediately following his return with the arresting officers from his home near Grove City, and before Sheriff Edward Gibson of Stark county, O., and a number of local police officers, he confessed to the double crime and gave robbery as the only motive.

He secured but $20, according to his statement, as a result of committing the double murder. He was also positively identified, the police say, on his arrival here at the police station by John Blasko, aged 18, of Bergholtz, O., his predecessor as an employe at the Oser dairy farm.

Actions of Kaltenbaugh in police station here following his arrest was that of a person ill at ease, stupid and of little general intelligence. But his tendency was to smile and even laugh at intervals, especially when there was no occasion for such a demonstration.

Waves Extradition.

His confession made and also an affidavit to the effect that he waived all rights under the extradition law, he was taken by Sheriff Gibson and local officers to the home of Mayor William H. Gillespie, Rhodes Place, where he acknowledged the two statements as his and made of his own free will.

The mayor then with proper legal formality declared that he was subject to the authority of the state of Ohio and turned him over to Sheriff Gibson.

Statement made this morning after the departure of the Stark county authorities with the prisoner for Canton, O., by Gladys Espy, a local friend of Kaltenbaugh, brings forth some features of the affair in a clearer manner, the police authorities state.

She said, the police state, among other things that she "knew Kaltenbaugh previous to his trip into Ohio in search of work.

Came on Night of Murder.

"He came to her home here on the night of the murder, January 5, 1929, about 11:30 o'clock in a big car. She and the rest of the family were in bed.

"She got up and went riding with him in the car. He said he wanted to go to see his mother and the others at home. They went as far as Slippery Rock, when suddenly he looked at his watch and remarked that it was too late to go on to his mother's, as they would all be in bed.

"They came back to New Castle. It was probably about 1 o'clock Sunday morning when they arrived at her home. Edward went in and shaved, she stated, then remarking that he must get the car back to Ohio, left her home.

"He came back early the same morning without the car and asked her to go with him to the 8:20 a. m. P. & L. E. train for Pittsburgh. They arrived too late for that train.

"He then urged her to go with him to Pittsburgh. They took the 10:20 train and on their arrival in Pittsburgh, just walked around here and there.

Spent Night Here.

"They returned here at 6 o'clock Sunday evening, getting off at the Gardner avenue stop instead of going to the uptown station.

"She thought he was extremely nervous and this made her suspect that something might not be just right with him. He spent Sunday night at her home.

"He left about 8 o'clock Monday morning but returned at 2 p. m. and remained there until about 5 p. m., when he left, saying he must get back to Canton. That was the last time she saw him.

"She met Kaltenbaugh in New Wilmington, near here, while employed at the Overlook Sanitarium. His sister worked there also and it was through their acquaintanceship that she met Kaltenbaugh.

"Their intention was to be married, she declared. She never before saw him wearing the overcoat that he had on when he came to her home Saturday evening. It was the first and last time that she ever saw the car that he was driving that Saturday night."

According to Sheriff Gibson, all he had to work on, was the fact that the murderer's name was "Eddie" and that he had a girl in New Castle about whom he was "crazy."

Follow Trail Here.

With this little thread of circumstantial evidence, Sheriff Gibson came direct here following the discovery of the murder and presented the facts to the local police department.

It was the work of the New Castle police department, which resulted in establishing the identity of the girl here and his final arrest Tuesday night.

Sheriff Edward Gibson, of Stark County, Ohio, in a statement to the representative of The News, early this morning, said that the $1,000 reward offered by Stark county Tuesday morning for the arrest and conviction of the Oser murderer, would go to the New Castle police department.

Identity of the murderer, unknown to any person, except possibly the dead people and himself, was established Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Get First Clues.

About six o'clock Monday night, when Sergeant James P. Steiner received a call from a Mrs. S. L. Festoso, of 12 Cass street, a short distance from the Cascade Park stop of the Harmony line to the effect that there had been a man, whom she believed to answer the description of the man wanted for the Canal Fulton, Ohio, murder, at her home. He had asked when the next car went to Ellwood City, and had also made some calls on the telephone.

Detective John Young and Officer Letera were detailed on the call. They found that the man had made three telephone calls to people in the city. Mrs. Festoso had not heard the numbers but had heard him mention Gladys Espy in the course of a conversation. She thought he was talking to this girl, as he stated he would be in Ellwood City as soon as the car would take him there and for the person called to be at some drug store about nine o'clock, where he would call him.

Girl Is Questioned.

Sergeant G. C. Syling and Officer M. J. Young went to the home of this girl, near Clifton Flats, about six o'clock Tuesday morning and interviewed the young lady, who is eighteen years of age.

Asked if she had been going with any youth, she stated that she had been "going" with a young man named Edward Kaltenbaugh, who lived with his mother near Grove City. This was the first inkling that any person had as to the possibly identity of the man sought as the murderer of the Oser's.

She told of having been going with him for about three months. She said he had been at her home with her about an hour on Sunday night. Questioned closely, it was evident to the officers that she did not know that Kaltenbaugh was wanted for any crime.

Sheriff Gibson was notified Tuesday morning, and before starting to this city, went to the commissioners of Stark county, Ohio, and had a reward of $1,000 posted.

The sheriff and his deputy, Al Ball, also John Blasko, who was the only person available to identify the farm hand that followed him, in the Oser employ, rushed to this city.

On his arrival here, plans were laid for the apprehension of Kaltenbaugh.

Officers Go To Home.

Early Tuesday evening, Lieutenant of Police Peter Hillers and Detective John Young of the local police force, Constable A. S. Leslie of this city and Deputy Sheriff Al Ball of Canton, left in the police car for the home of Kaltenbaugh, it being figured that he was going to his home.

The address secured was Grove City, R. D. No. 11, which proved to be about four miles west of Grove City. They arrived there shortly before 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

They found that his mother was a widow with a number of other children. On the arrival of the officers, the mother denied that he was there. Some of the officers noticed a hat believed to be his.

The search of the house, Detective John Young and Deputy Sheriff Al Ball of Canton, going to the second floor and Constable A. S. Leslie to the cellar. Lieutenant Hillers was on the first floor questioning the mother and the others.

Under the sharp steep roof of the story and a half Kaltenbaugh home, Officers Young and Ball discovered a small door leading into what proved to be a closet formed in an offset in the roof.

Found In Hiding

The door catch was not working properly and it was necessary for them to lift the door to open it. They flashed their lights and in a corner crouched down under the roof, they discovered a man, partially hidden by a long overcoat.

Pulling their guns and taking no chances, not knowing whether the man was armed or not, the officers called out to him to put up his hands and come out.

Finally with a "silly" smile the man, who proved to be Kaltenbaugh came out and was immediately handcuffed by Officer Young, while officers closed in on the scene. The start was then made at once for this city.

Here his confession was secured, being taken down as given, by Sergeant James P. Steiner.

Tells Of Crime.

In his confession he stated that the murder occurred between 7:30 and 8 p. m. on Saturday evening, January 5, 1929. He first went to the window of the Oser milk shed where he saw Mr. Oser at work.

He then returned to the kitchen of the Oser home and secured Mr. Oser's own thirty-two calibre rifle from behind the door of that room, walked out to the milk shed and shot Mr. Oser through the window.

He then went to the side of the house and as he did so Mrs. Oser came out the rear of the house. He shot her down at a point in the rear of the garage, next to the milk shed.

He left her there. Both victims were shot through the head.

He then went into the house, secured his clothing and took the Oser auto from the garage. He took the cover from the spare tire to prevent identification of the car.

Then he went to the Oser bedroom and took $20 in one dollar bills, from the dresser.

He started in the car for Youngstown. He stopped at a gasoline station just outside of Canton and asked the man in charge how to get to Youngstown. The man told him to go by way of Route 19.

He stopped at Youngstown almost all that night. He abandoned the car between one and two a. m. and then went uptown in Youngstown.

Here Sunday Night.

He took the New York Central train for Pittsburgh at six o'clock Sunday morning, the sixth. Sunday evening he came to this city and went to see his girl here. He was with her about an hour. He then went uptown in New Castle where he stayed all night.

Monday morning he went to Butler. He returned here about 3 p. m. Monday. He took the Harmony car at six o'clock Monday evening for Ellwood City. He stayed there all night. He then went on to Butler again Tuesday morning, going from there to his home near Grove City, where he was arrested by Lieutenant Hillers, Detective Young, Constable Leslie and Deputy Al Ball.

When arrested, he had in his possession the overcoat of the murdered man, which he wore to this city and had been wearing previous to his capture, according to Sheriff Gibson. In the pocket of the coat were the gloves of the murdered man, a bottle of liniment and another patent medicine preparation.

The sheriff, his deputy, John Blasko, and the prisoner left about 3:30 o'clock this morning for Canton, expecting to arrive there about daylight.

In the room of the Oser home where he secured the twenty dollars, were Harold, aged 7, and Carl, aged 11 months, the children of the murdered couple. He did not disturb them as they lay there sleeping.

Harold woke up about 8:30 a. m. Sunday went out to seek his parents and found the dead body of his father in the [illegible] house. He secured his pony [illegible] to a neighbor named Edwa[illegible] told what had happened.

The [illegible] was spread and the sheriff[illegible]ed and the hunt for the murderer started.

The man under arrest is tall, fair haired, wears a continual "silly" smile. He had on a brownish gray colored suit.

If his feet and hands annoy him in society, he finds comfort in the thought that he is a red-blooded he-man.

The virtue for which man gives himself sole credit usually is the result of a steady job.

State Leaders Draft Final Form Of List Of Memberships In State Body

Tentative Drafts Will Be Submitted To Leaders For Qualifications

By E. L. RAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—The preliminary work of listing the preferences of the many Republican politicians of the state for the various committees of the state legislature completed directing heads of both houses proceeded today to draft the final form of the list of memberships.

The tentative drafts will be submitted to W. L. Mellon, Pittsburgh, leader, Joseph R. Grundy, of Bristol, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, and representatives of Senator-elect William S. Vare at a conference here tomorrow. All factions in the state have responded generously to the request for a list of their preferences for the various committees and the final decisions are expected to be received favorably by all leaders, committee members said. The 200 odd jobs are expected to be filled by Friday but the announcement of the various assignments will not be made public in all probability until the Monday night session of the two houses on January 14.

Today conferences on the tentative selections for the committees was attended by State Senator Horace Schantz, of Allentown, president pro tem of the senate, State Treasurer Edward Martin, State Republican Committee Chairman, Aaron B. Hess, of Lancaster, Speaker of the House, A. Boyd Hamilton, Secretary of the Senate and a number of lesser workers.

Effort at Harmony

In an effort to keep harmony in the forthcoming session of the assembly it is said, plans for a steering committee in both houses, instead of administrator leader, will be submitted to the leaders for their approval or rejection. This scheme is somewhat different from the methods used in the past session. If the committee assignments are satisfactory to all parties concerned, then harmony will be maintained more easily by steering committees, it is believed all efforts are being made by the leaders to carefully distribute the assignments both as to political power and as to the geography of the state.

The upstate sections which rolled up such a large majority for Hoover will not be forgotten along with the interests of the Mellon, Grundy and Vare factions, in awarding the committee assignments, the leaders explained. For the most part, however, it was said the old committee heads will be retained.

Position on the powerful appropriations, apportionment and patronage committees, are the most sought posts. Rumors current in some sections that a new chairman would be selected for the appropriation committee post, could not find confirmation at the conferences here. Committee members professed never to have heard of the report.

There are 42 committees of the house and 33 regular standing committees of the senate to be filled.

Red Cross Reports 41 Cases Cared For During December

REPORT IS MADE OF LOCAL SERVICE

In the home service department report of the Lawrence county American Red Cross chapter just forwarded to national headquarters at Washington, D. C., it is related that 41 new and reopened cases were cared for by the local chapter during December of 1928. This, it is said, is the highest number of Red Cross home service cases during any month within the past year.

Services rendered by the Red Cross in December included the filing of ex-soldiers' claims for compensation with the veterans' bureau, matters of insurance, hospitalization, securing loans on soldiers' bonus, financial assistance, guardianship in cases of minors or incompetence, appointment of administrators, investigating home conditions of those reported to the chapter by governmental military and naval bureaus, securing headstones for deceased ex-soldiers' graves, furnishing transportation where necessary, furnishing and repairing clothing for transients and numerous others that fall under this department, the report shows.

Figures in connection with the home service report showed that 31 cases were closed during December and the total number of cases receiving attention were 61. Visits to homes were made in six cases. Office interviews in connection with this home service work numbered 121.

The report in part gave the following statistics:

Letters coming in, 80; letters sent out, 122; telegrams coming in, 1; sent out, 3; trangients assisted, 1; new compensation claims filed, 2; adjusted compensation claims filed, 3; claims for ex-soldiers' burial expenses filed, 12, with a total amount of money, $1,284 paid for this work.

Hospitalization secured in veterans' bureau hospital, 2; in civilian hospitals, 1; loans on adjusted compensation, 16, with approximately $2,000 paid; cases of death where assistance was given, 2; took entire charge of one funeral; cases referred to other relief agencies because matter was not under Red Cross jurisdiction, 9; grocery orders given, 6; medicine furnished in one case; one trangient's trip to Youngstown paid for, and shoes repaired for two trangients.

The Red Cross service during the past month did not involve such a great financial expenditure, the report shows, but did require much personal service. This moreso than others is the object of the Red Cross, Mr. Dempsey states.

Numerous complicated cases arose in the chapter's work during December, but were cared for promptly and carefully. Sometimes it takes years to furnish evidence in regard to matters that come under the organization's home service department, Mr. Dempsey says, but in time all cases are smoothly ironed out and the individuals interested served as well as possible.

Beck Is Given Seat In House

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The house Tuesday formally decided that Rep. James M. Beck (R) of Pennsylvania, ex-solicitor general, was entitled to his seat.

Democrats had fought Beck on the grounds he was not a legal resident of Philadelphia when elected to the house to succeed Senator-elect William S. Vare.

The motion to seat Beck was carried without a vote after a previous motion to deny him a seat was rejected, 247 to 78.

Graduating Class Presents "The Brat"

Class To Receive Diplomas This Month To Give Play On January 18

The mid-year commencement is approaching for senior high school students and their friends. The first calendar event for the week of activities that closes with the presentation of sheep-skins to New Castle's second group of graduates to complete their high school course in January is the senior play.

The dramatic stars from the class are hard at work with Miss Hartsuff on their rehearsals. They are, however, thoroughly enjoying their strenuous schedule; they believe they have one of the best comedies that has been presented at the senior high school for several years and they are going to do full justice to its dramatic opportunities.

The mid-year graduates now take occasion to announce to their friends that Friday evening, January 18, they will produce at the senior high school that exceedingly popular modern play "The Brat". The author, Maude Fulton, is an American playwright. This comedy in three acts is of great literary and dramatic merit, as is attested by the long runs it has enjoyed in both New York and London. It is the story of an author of high social standing who elects to write about the life of the lower classes. In order to make the characters in his writings life-like he visits the night police courts of the slums and in this way he comes upon an odd, half-starved but honest little waif, "the brat", who interests him so much as literary material that he takes her to his mother's home so that he may study her at his leisure. The Macmillan atmosphere of culture and refinement does not overwhelm the girl. For their part, the Macmillans much to their surprise discover that "the brat" is a human being. By and by the author's book is completed and the girl is turned adrift again. Meanwhile, a very delightful love affair has begun. It is not the author——

This is the play for the general public. There is humor or tenderness or both in every line, and action from beginning to end. It is a play about young people for young people of every age and it is going to be produced by as delightful a cast as ever made their bow to the public from the New Castle senior high school stage. An advance announcement of part of the dramatis personae is as follows: Martha McGoun, Mildred Sneckenberger, Sherwood Johns and Joe Pearson.

The performance of "The Brat" serves a double purpose: there is a financial reason back of the efforts that are being expended in its production. Seniors have heavy class expenses and they cannot meet them entirely by the payment of dues. Besides routine graduating expenses they like to make a gift to the school to perpetuate their name and fame if possible, which requires a sum of money. Hence, the senior play. But quite aside from financial considerations, the footlights, a comedy to call forth laughter and tears, clever acting and an enthusiastic audience together furnish the formula for a delightful social occasion during commencement week. The January commencement week begins with "The Brat" to be presented one week from Friday.

What Shall I Do for Gray Hair?

By ALICE STRAWN

I am often asked for a good way to restore gray, faded or streaked hair. While there are many preparations on the market for the purpose, I know of nothing better than a mixture of good old sage tea and sulphur. You can either prepare the mixture at home yourself, or as most women prefer, buy it already prepared and ready to use.

The correct recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, may be had in Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur Compound. All druggists carry it and since the cost is only 75c a bottle, there is really no need for any woman to go to the bother of preparing it herself. You would be surprised if you knew the number of men and women who employ Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur because its use is undetectable.

You simply moisten a comb or a soft brush with it and draw it through your hair, one small strand at a time. By morning the gray disappears and another application or two sees your hair beautifully and evenly restored to its full original color. There is no suggestion of that hard, dyed look that repels fastidious women. I advise any woman—or man—whose hair is turning gray to try Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur.

Sothern Relates His Experiences

Says Shakespeare Has Survived All Experiments Of 300 Years

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 9.—"Despite the experiments in producing, costuming and acting that William Shakespeare has been submitted to these 300 years, he has survived them all," says E. H. Sothern, who is scheduled to give a dramatic recital at Westminster college tomorrow night.

"When I acted my first important role in Shakespeare, Hamlet, in 1900, and when with Julia Marlow I produced eight other of his plays, the method employed was more or less the traditional one of so-called realistic scenery. Our productions strove to imitate nature. When a bridge was required, we had a bridge, with every brick and every bit of mortar cunningly contrived to simulate reality. Then came reaction from stages set in this manner. Gordon Craig put before the world his ideas of stagecraft and Max Reinhardt was quick to translate these into practical usage in his theater. I recall that at the time I said that one box tree could never represent a forest to my eye.

"In 1919, Julia Marlow and I used something of a combination of Shakespeare's own stage and modern continental ideas of stage settings for our productions. It was the most expansive venture of our careers, but it proved entirely satisfactory and I note with interest when I go to the theater in New York nowadays that several innovations we introduced that year are permanent features of present-day settings.

"A few years ago came the idea of 'modern dress' Shakespeare. Of course the idea was not new, for the plays were done in modern dress when Shakespeare staged them; that is, the dress modern at the time, and Garrick used the modern dress of his generation when he acted the dramas. In our presentations, however, we always endeavored to costume the plays in the period to which the plays belonged.

"Yet Shakespeare has withstood the modern dress craze and the modern scenic craze and somehow or other he manages to 'come through' even the distortions of his verse and lines and characters that he is subjected to by the Germans and even by some American producers. There is only one thing Shakespeare seems to tremble before, and that is bad acting. Even so, he may transcend that and hold his audience."

Mr. Sothern will give readings and interpretations from two of Shakespeare's plays, "Hamlet" and "Othello" as well as from "Lord Dundreary" and "If I Were King."

Coolidge Opines 1929 Business To Continue Healthy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Prospects for continued general business prosperity are good, in the opinion of President Coolidge.

He based his optimism on a report submitted to the cabinet Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Whiting. Whiting reported the business conditions for the last six months of 1928 were better than for the first six months of the year and were close to the high standard set in 1927.

The president also took occasion to admonish congress again to hold the purse strings tight on new appropriations until the exact financial condition of the treasury can be determined with the receipt of the March tax returns.

When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Secretary of the Treasury A. W. Mellon, who, it is generally expected, is to retain his portfolio in the Hoover cabinet, had lunch with President-elect Hoover Tuesday. How to Escape FLU

1. Avoid so far as possible the places where flu germs are most apt to be; crowded cars, public meeting places, warm, stuffy rooms.

2. Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers. Breathe through the nose.

3. Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrous fruits. Keep the bowels open. Take every precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.

4. Above all, avoid catching cold. Any cold may be the forerunner of flu. Take Bayer Aspirin at the first sign of a cold and you can ward it off. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at first sign of sore throat as this will remove the infection.

5. If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor.

Home Service Is Rendered

Red Cross Reports 41 Cases Cared For During December

REPORT IS MADE OF LOCAL SERVICE

In the home service department report of the Lawrence county American Red Cross chapter just forwarded to national headquarters at Washington, D. C., it is related that 41 new and reopened cases were cared for by the local chapter during December of 1928. This, it is said, is the highest number of Red Cross home service cases during any month within the past year.

Services rendered by the Red Cross in December included the filing of ex-soldiers' claims for compensation with the veterans' bureau, matters of insurance, hospitalization, securing loans on soldiers' bonus, financial assistance, guardianship in cases of minors or incompetence, appointment of administrators, investigating home conditions of those reported to the chapter by governmental military and naval bureaus, securing headstones for deceased ex-soldiers' graves, furnishing transportation where necessary, furnishing and repairing clothing for transients and numerous others that fall under this department, the report shows.

Figures in connection with the home service report showed that 31 cases were closed during December and the total number of cases receiving attention were 61. Visits to homes were made in six cases. Office interviews in connection with this home service work numbered 121.

The report in part gave the following statistics:

Letters coming in, 80; letters sent out, 122; telegrams coming in, 1; sent out, 3; trangients assisted, 1; new compensation claims filed, 2; adjusted compensation claims filed, 3; claims for ex-soldiers' burial expenses filed, 12, with a total amount of money, $1,284 paid for this work.

Hospitalization secured in veterans' bureau hospital, 2; in civilian hospitals, 1; loans on adjusted compensation, 16, with approximately $2,000 paid; cases of death where assistance was given, 2; took entire charge of one funeral; cases referred to other relief agencies because matter was not under Red Cross jurisdiction, 9; grocery orders given, 6; medicine furnished in one case; one trangient's trip to Youngstown paid for, and shoes repaired for two trangients.

The Red Cross service during the past month did not involve such a great financial expenditure, the report shows, but did require much personal service. This moreso than others is the object of the Red Cross, Mr. Dempsey states.

Numerous complicated cases arose in the chapter's work during December, but were cared for promptly and carefully. Sometimes it takes years to furnish evidence in regard to matters that come under the organization's home service department, Mr. Dempsey says, but in time all cases are smoothly ironed out and the individuals interested served as well as possible.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Prospects for continued general business prosperity are good, in the opinion of President Coolidge.

He based his optimism on a report submitted to the cabinet Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Whiting. Whiting reported the business conditions for the last six months of 1928 were better than for the first six months of the year and were close to the high standard set in 1927.

The president also took occasion to admonish congress again to hold the purse strings tight on new appropriations until the exact financial condition of the treasury can be determined with the receipt of the March tax returns.

How to Escape FLU

1 Avoid so far as possible the places where flu germs are most apt to be; crowded cars, public meeting places, warm, stuffy rooms.

2 Be careful of close contact with others and beware of all coughers and sneezers. Breathe through the nose.

3 Get lots of rest. Eat plenty of citrous fruits. Keep the bowels open. Take every precaution to keep in good physical condition, so your system will have high resistance against germs.

4 Above all, avoid catching cold. Any cold may be the forerunner of flu. Take Bayer Aspirin at the first sign of a cold and you can ward it off. Gargle with Bayer Aspirin at first sign of sore throat as this will remove the infection.

5 If you have any reason to suspect even a touch of flu, call your doctor.

Alumni Quintet Tops Ellwood High 27-21

Fast Game In Lincoln Gym Last Night Goes To Ex-High Stars Over Lee Quintet

Ray Labate Gives Victory To Alumni In Final Quarter By Sensational Work

By "TONY PASTA"

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—Ray Labate and a crew of alumni basketeers staged a rally in the last few minutes of play to defeat Ellwood City High quintet at the Lincoln gym last night by the score of 27 to 21. Victory seemed certain for Lee's quintet, but the play was reversed when Labate scored three consecutive baskets to cinch the contest.

Victory Is Surprising

This was a surprise to the blue and white, as it has been a long time since the alumni has won over the high school team. The game was rather slow and uninteresting until the final period, when the Lee men lost the lead. Up until this time the Tubers had maintained the top berth.

Ellwood's cagers got off to a good start, as the first period ended 4-0 in their favor, with Dunn starting the scoring. The alumni fared much better in the next quarter, when they rang up five and the Lee men six as the half ended with the count 10-5.

High School Leads

Eight more points were secured by Lee's quintet in the first part of the last half, while seven were registered by the opponent. With the score 18 to 12 the blue and white looked good enough to win, but were swept off their feet in the final chapter of the contest as Ray Labate tore loose and sank three pretty shots, putting his mates ahead. Only three points were added by Ellwood High and 15 by the alumni.

Labate Is Star

A strong attack was led by Labate, Jim MacMurdo and Jim Fitzgerald. The former was the outstanding performer of the contest, caging six field goals and tossing in two from the foul line. MacMurdo sank three from the court and Fitzgerald two. Clyde also played a fine game for the alumni.

Bill King, Freidoff and Dunn starred for the losers. King caged three pointers and dropped two in from the line. Dunn and Freidoff collected two field goals apiece. The former also secured one tally via the foul route. Segedi, who went in for Justine, obtained the other field goal.

Alumni Impressive

Ellwood did look like the aggregation that won a decisive victory over New Castle less than a week ago, but the alumni presented a strong lineup, many of them being members of the Shelby basketball league. They played a hard and fast game and only a final spurt enabled them to forge ahead.

In the prelim to last night's game the sophomore A.'s defeated the seniors, 28 to 11, giving them the lead in the inter-class contests. Zeigler and Rossman featured for the winners.

Butler Friday Night

On Friday night the Tubers will face one of the strongest contenders for section III of the W. P. I. A. L. when Butler comes here. Coach McGoun's sextet will be idle, as the Butler county school does not have a girls' team.

Line-up:

Ellwood 21		Alumni 27
King	F	Clyde
Freidoff	F	R. Labate
Ursu	C	Aiken
Dunn	G	J. MacMurdo
Justine	G	J. Fitzgerald

Substitutions: Jones, Regedi, Kimes, Johnston. Referee: Lewis.

Score by periods:

Ellwood	4	6	8	3—21
Alumni	0	5	7	15—27

Field goals: Dunn 2, Freidoff 2, Segedi, King 3, Labate 6, MacMurdo 3, Clyde, Fitzgerald 2. Fouls: Ursu 2-5, Jones 0-3, Freidoff 0-3. Dunn 1-1, MacMurdo 0-1, Fitzgerald 0-4, Labate 2-3, Clyde 1-2.

Forceful Sermon At Church Here

Evangelist Walker Continues To Attract Large Crowds In Spite Of Weather

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—There was a big attendance last night at the evangelistic service in the First Christian church when Rev. W. G. Walker, well known evangelist, gave a forceful talk on "Two Laws of Pardon". His explanation of the topic was that there was a law of pardon for the alien sinner and one law of pardon for the sinning Christian.

Features of the musical portion of the evening program were a selection by the chorus choir and a tenor solo by Ted Jones entitled "My Savior's Love." At the close of the sermon there were several decisions.

Tonight Rev. Walker will preach on "Faith That Saves" and at 7 o'clock Ted Jones will show stereopticon views on "Via Dolorosa." The pictures of Moses by Mt. Sinai were greatly enjoyed last evening.

Sunday afternoon the evangelist will give a sermon for men only entitled "Wanted a Man."

Mrs. Myrtle Osborne Entertains Class

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Myrtle Osborne of Fourth street entertained the members of the Isabella Thoburn class of the Methodist church Tuesday evening at her home. There were 14 present and a social evening was enjoyed.

Later a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. George Royes.

"Talkies" Predicted For Educational Use At Meeting

"Talkies" For Educational Purposes In Schools May Not Be Far Ahead Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—At the regular monthly meeting of the board of education which took place Tuesday evening in the Lincoln school the discussion centered about sound in educational work when the board discussed the completion of the Lincoln school auditorium.

Much attention was given to the advisability of installing a sound motion picture apparatus. The board does not contemplate the placing of such an instrument at present, and possibly not for several years, but they do intend to see that the matter is taken up with the manufacturers so that if any special construction is required on the stage of the auditorium for such a machine, its installing preliminaries can be taken care of before the auditorium is completed.

They also passed a resolution authorizing the secertary to get in touch with architects to have plans and specifications gone over so that bids could be asked for the latter part of March, or April of this year. It is estimated that the completed structure, including installation, seats, curtains, etc., will cast approximately $50,000.

Board members felt that it was folly to have their funds tied up in the auditorium which cannot be used at present because it is incomplete, and there are many uses it could be put to when finished. At the assurance of Secretary Ray Mattocks that there would be a balance in the treasury of about $34,000 at the end of the school year, J. W. Offutt, chairman of the finance committee, made the recommendation that the work of completing the auditorium proceed.

Mrs. Harold Seidel Entertains Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—Mrs. Harold Seidel of Fifth street entertained the members of the Inter-City Bridge club and several special guests at her home Tuesday afternoon with a 1 o'clock luncheon.

The guests enjoyed a delicious menu at small tables centered with pink rose buds. Aides were Mrs. Bruce Hunter and Mrs. Ray Patterson. The afternoon hours passed pleasantly at a series of bridge games with Mrs. J. H. Cline of Oklahoma, capturing the guest favor while Mrs. Fred Swanson emerged high score winner for the club.

Special guests present were Mesdames J. H. Cline, Howell Jenkins, B. J. Bell, Roland Haines, Wellington J. Ramsey, Raymond Patterson, Ray Aylesworth, R. C. Stiefel, Bruce Hunter and Miss Marguerite Kegel.

Pupils May Attend School Saturdays

Board Of Education Hesitating Between Saturday Classes Or Longer School Term

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—At the monthly meeting of the board of education which took place Tuesday evening in the Lincolnn school building it was suggested that the local school pupils attend school on Saturdays in the near future provided the teachers agree to the plan for making up lost time during the influenza epidemic.

The plan was suggested by Supt. Ray Smith with a statement that seven school days had been lost and that much class work would have to be done over owing to the fact that so many students were out of school on account of illness. The only other alternative was to extend the school term one week until June 7 instead of the customary May 31.

It was shown that there might be some objection to the Saturday classes on the part of students who work on that day but this would probably be offset by the greater convenience for the teachers who would be relieved in the summer to attend college.

The matter has been presented at a general teachers meeting today and the action of the staff will largely determine the further decision of the board in the matter. It was decided to extend the present semester one week regardless of the final decision in the matter.

Girl Scouts Have Fine Program For Womens Club Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—The Girl Scouts of Ellwood City took over the program for the monthly meeting of the Women's club Tuesday evening in the study hall of the Lincoln school and put on a pleasant evening's entertainment.

Members of the Bobolink troop were hostesses and welcomed the members into the room, and later served light refreshments. The Nightingale troop, a group of bright looking girls, demonstrated the interesting scout laws. "The Rubbish," a little clean-up skit, was presented enthusiastically by clever little members of the Knox troop.

The impressive and educational program fittingly concluded with the singing of "Taps" by the scouts.

Legion Auxiliary To Award Medals

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Auxiliary of the American Legion which took place Tuesday evening in the Legion rooms on Sixth street the members went on record as approving the awarding of medals during the February semester graduations as well as June. As the local schools will have no graduations this February the awarding will be deferred until June.

Mrs. Harry Brown the new president, presided and the treasurer reported that $100 had been spent on Christmas baskets. The ladies also voted favorably upon the proposed taking of the honor students to the commanders dinner in New Castle February 12.

A new member Mrs. James Baxter was admitted to the auxiliary. Mrs. Lewis Nickum was appointed delegate to attend the four county council luncheon in Sharon on January 23. It was announced that members of the December committee had made a donation of plates to the auxiliary.

Last night's meeting concluded with the serving of delicious refreshments. Members of the committee were Mrs. Howard Jones, Mrs. Clifton Jones, Mrs. Harry Donaldson, Mrs. Cliff McDanel, Mrs. Ralph Conner, Mrs. Geo. Wilson and Miss Alberta McDanel.

Blaine Hancher Is Elected On Board

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—Blaine Hancher was elected on the library board to succeed J. W. Offutt whose term as a representative of the school board on the library body expired.

The selection took place at the regular monthly meeting of the board of education in the Lincoln school Tuesday evening on the recommendation of J. J. Dunn president of the library board.

Others suggested for the office were Dr. H. E. Hefling, Dwight Conner and Mr. Offutt.

It was decided to follow the request of the library board in making the appointment. Mr. Hancher served as secretary of the library board at one time.

TARGETS - - - - - - - - - By Laird

A picture without words? Almost—for this is the universal experiece of young girlhood, the time when she must place herself against the target of Love to await the dart that determines her destiny.

She can allow herself to be struck by the first of the arrows from Cupid's quiver, or she can delay the event, enjoying the pleasure of the occasion. And it is she, not Cupid, who chooses the arrow that wounds. By her woman's intelligence she directs his aim at her.

Her proper attitude on this occasion is to face the marksman gaily and with full confidence of her own ability to make a choice. Somewhere in the quiver lies the arrow with her life lover's name engraved upon it. She must be clever enough to know when it is drawn and when the bow is snapped.

She makes herself even more attractive for the test. Her girlish figure and laughing eyes make her a tempting morsel as she stands against the target, the wind breaking fresh on her parted lips.

But she must not tarry there long, for others await their turn.

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fairhaven, Mass.—"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life. When I feel nervous and run-down my husband gets me a bottle right away. It is a great help to me and I think that if other people would only take it when they feel all run-down and take it as the directions say, they would find it a great benefit. My worst symptoms were nervousness and tired feelings. I could not sleep nights and I was so nervous I would cry if anyone looked at me."—Mrs. Ada Besse, 190 Washington Street, Fairhaven, Mass.

Miss Ruby was the recipient of a number of beautiful gifts. Those enjoying the event were: Misses Hazel Welman, Goldie Smiley, Delta Fetterman, Frances Nye, Fay Gallaher, Mildred Keisling, Marcaret Cogley, Lila Vogler, Leota Hayden, Clara Brady, Ethel Cogley, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wehman, Messrs. Elton Fo:, Fred Wehman, Ross Nye, Chas. Wehman, Floyd Cogley, Glenn Gallaher, Paul Shafer, Edward Steed, Charles Frazier, Chas. Wehman.

Blaine Hancher Is Elected On Board

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 9.—Blaine Hancher was elected on the library board to succeed J. W. Offutt whose term as a representative of the school board on the library body expired.

The selection took place at the regular monthly meeting of the board of education in the Lincoln school Tuesday evening on the recommendation of J. J. Dunn president of the library board.

Others suggested for the office were Dr. H. E. Helling, Dwight Conner and Mr. Offutt.

It was decided to follow the request of the library board in making the appointment. Mr. Hancher served as secretary of the library board at one time.

TARGETS - - - - - - - - - By Laird

A picture without words? Almost—for this is the universal experiece of young girlhood, the time when she must place herself against the target of Love to await the dart that determines her destiny.

She can allow herself to be struck by the first of the arrows from Cupid's quiver, or she can delay the event, enjoying the pleasure of the occasion. And it is she, not Cupid, who chooses the arrow that wounds. By her woman's intelligence she directs his aim at her.

Her proper attitude on this occasion is to face the marksman gaily and with full confidence of her own ability to make a choice. Somewhere in the quiver lies the arrow with her life lover's name engraved upon it. She must be clever enoufh to know when it is drawn and when the bow is snapped.

She makes herself even more attractive for the test. Her girlish figure and laughing eyes make her a tempting morsel as she stands against the target, the wind breaking fresh on her parted lips.

But she must not tarry there long, for others await their turn.

Penn State To Show Lambs At Harrisburg

Children From Washington County Will Exhibit At Farm Show

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan 4.—Sixty-one lambs are being groomed for the State Farm Products show which will be held at Harrisburg late this month according to W. B. Connell, sheep extension specialist of the Pennsylvania State College and secretary of the Pennsylvania Sheep and Wool Growers Association.

Connell said that the lambs that will be exhibited are under the care of boys and girls of 4-H clubs in Centre and Washington counties. Forty-three of the lambs will be shown by Centre county children while the remaining 18 will come from Washington county.

The lambs will be judged by P. C. MacKenzie, superintendent of livestock at the Pennsylvania State College on Wednesday January 23 and then sold at auction on Thursday.

Block Is Burned At Sherrodsville

(International News Service)

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Jan. 9.—Fire starting in a hardware store owned by Mayor John B. Williams wiped out an entire block in the village of Sherrodsville, near here, today, causing damage estimated at $35,000. The Independent Telephone company exchange, located above the hardware store, was destroyed and the town was unable to summon assistance from nearby communities. Most of the buildings destroyed were old frame structures.

COULD NOT SLEEP NIGHTS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fairhaven, Mass.—"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during the Change of Life. When I feel nervous and run-down my husband gets me a bottle right away. It is a great help to me and I think that if other people would only take it when they feel all run-down and take it as the directions say, they would find it a great benefit. My worst symptoms were nervousness and tired feelings. I could not sleep nights and I was so nervous I would cry if anyone looked at me."—Mrs. Ada Besse, 190 Washington Street, Fairhaven, Mass.

ALL THE PEOPLE OF THE ZONE, CANAL EMPLOYEES AND NATIVE PANAMANIANS ALIKE, WERE ENLISTED IN A GREAT CRUSADE AGAINST THE MOSQUITO. ALL LIVING QUARTERS WERE FUMIGATED AND SCREENED, AND IT WAS CONSIDERED AN OFFENSE TO HAVE STANDING WATER ANYWHERE ON THE PREMISES.

IT WAS JOKINGLY SAID THAT THE APPEARANCE OF A MOSQUITO IN THE HOUSE CAUSED AS MUCH EXCITEMENT AS A BURGLAR, AND A HUNT WENT ON UNTIL THE INTRUDER WAS KILLED. BUT SUCH EXTREME MEASURES WON THE DAY. New Castle High Defeats Aliquippa 23-15

Locals Display Excellent Form

CUBA-ALEXANDER LEADING SCORERS

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Showing a complete reversal in form over last week, the New Castle High school basketball team snapped out of their "coma" and defeated Aliquippa High at Senior High gymnasium last night by a score of 23 to 15. It was a vastly different red and black team that outplayed and outfought the Aliquippa quintet from the one that lost to Ellwood City recently.

Aliquippa High had the lead only for a few minutes last night. In the first few seconds of play Jones went down the floor, streaked under the basket and caged a field goal that gave the invaders a lead, but Johnny Johnson soon caged the ball for New Castle with a heave from about mid-court and the count was deadlocked. From this period until the finish the Bridenbaugh combination simply ran themselves ragged and were plainly superior to the team that only recently handed them a 23 to 17 beating.

Locals Much Improved

New Castle High had a basketball team on the court last night that would have given any team in this district a real tussle. The red and black artists played a snappy brand of ball during the entire game. Paul Cuba and Bruce Alexander were in a scoring mood and caged seven baskets between them. Johnny Johnson accounted for two field markers and Captain Tony Ostrosky had one basket to his credit. Arthur Sillman didn't score, but the big blonde Finn was in the game up to his ears and his defensive work was airtight. Sillman played so hard, in fact, that he was ejected in the third quarter via four personal fouls, and Merle "Red" McIntosh was sent in. McIntosh showed enough to warrant serious consideration for the vacant guard post when Sillman has taken his sheepskin and departed.

At the end of the first quarter the New Castle team was ahead, 9 to 3. Cuba and Johnson accounted for two field goals apiece and Sillman shot a foul for the other point. For Aliquippa Jones had a basket and Miller was credited with a foul.

Show Defensive Strength

The New Castle boys played a real defensive game in the second quarter. Aliquippa was held to one point, a foul by Lippe, near the end of the period. New Castle tallied four points in the second quarter, with big Bruce Alexander dropping two through the hoops. At the end of the first half New Castle led, 13 to 4. The Lippe coached quintet tried desperately to locate the hoops effectively, but they were not successful. The New Castle defense was functioning perfectly. The zone defense played by the locals was almost impregnable.

It was a hard fighting Aliquippa team that returned to the court for the third stanza. Coach Nate Lippe must have injected them with lightning or something equally as fast, because the visitors opened up with an attack that almost bewildered the locals, and before long had crept up dangerously close to New Castle. Lippe shot a foul for Aliquippa, Johnson retaliated with a foul for New Castle. Cuba caged a field goal and New Castle led, 16 to 4. Jones caged one for the invaders, and at this point Sillman made his exit in favor of McIntosh.

Harden annexed a foul for the visitors and this sent the score to 16 to 7. Miller shot a foul and Lippe followed with a field goal that gave Aliquippa 10 points. Harden caged a basket for the visitors, and with but 15 seconds left of the quarter New Castle took time out. The New Castle team led, 16 to 12, at the end of the third period, but were outplayed, 8 to 3, by Aliquippa, with Harden and Lippe doing the best playing.

Alexander in Feature Play

New Castle High team shot into "high gear" again as the fourth and final quarter got under way. Paul Cuba annexed a basket from the side of the court and brought the score to 16 to 12. Alexander caged a foul and Miller a few seconds later dropped a basket through the hoops for the Lippe outfit. Lippe caged a foul and Aliquippa again crept up on New Castle, the count being 19 to 15. Bruce Alexander staged the thriller of the evening on a jump ball near the basket when the big, tall, rangy New Castle center leaped high in the air and batted the spheriod through the hoops. This play is very rarely pulled in basketball, but it came at an opportune time for New Castle and gave the locals the lead at 21 to 15. Captain Tony Ostrosky made the final two points for New Castle on a one-handed shot from the side of the floor. The final tally was 23 to 15. Both teams were playing a fast, hard game when the whistle ended the battle.

It was announced last night that New Brighton High would be the opponents for the New Castle teams here on Friday night. The New Brighton Reserves will play the New Castle Reserves in the preliminary game and the New Castle-New Brighton varsity game will follow. On Saturday night Altoona High will play a return engagement here.

The summary:

New Castle 23		Aliquippa 15
Cuba	F	Jones
Johnson	F	Harden
Alexander	C	Miller
Ostrosky	G	Rebich
Sillman	G	Lippe

Subs.: McIntosh for Sillman, Murphy for Rebich, Rebich for Jones.

Field goals: Cuba 4, Johnson 3, Alexander 3, Ostrosky, Jones, Harden, Miller, Lippe.

Fouls: New Castle, 3 out of 4; Aliquippa, 7 out of 12.

Franklin High To Play Alumni Five

Ben Franklin High Quintet To Meet 1928 Team At Franklin Floor Today

The Ben Franklin Varsity will open its floor season today in a game with the 1928 team from Franklin school.

The team representing Franklin last year was composed of forwards: Ruha, Lascola, Rowe, center; Williams, Deep, guards; Leonhardt and McKissick. This team won the Junior championship of the city, playing a total of 15 games meeting defeat only once at the hands of Shenango H. S. by a score of 14 to 13. The indications are that the team of this year will have its hands full.

The Franklin squad of twenty boys is unusually strong this year, although the reserve squad is composed entirely of eighth graders. These boys are not eligible to compete in the league games but the coaching and practice aids materially in developing a strong team for next year.

The personnel of the team follows: Forwards, Cooper, George, Abraham, Wiltenen, Sanders, Gramines [illegible] ney, Maki. Guards: Fabian, Ostrosky, Hibbard, Sesko, Maki, A. Allen, Williams, Pegnato. Center: Watson, Regan, Jones, Gregor. Student manager, Paul Eagan. Assistant managers, Jack Hitchens and Burdelle Riley.

Nothing is perfect. Where life is too easy, one's surplus earnings are needed to buy fat reducers.

Junior Girls Win In Class League

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 9.—Winning the last and hardest game of the season from the freshman coed team by a 19-18 score, the junior class won the girls' inter-class basketball championship at Westminster for the year. This makes the third consecutive championship for the girls of the 1930 class with a record of 26 victories in 27 contests over a three-year period.

Coached by Ruth Lewis of New Castle, who also stars as a guard on the team, captained by Jean Boyd of New Wilmington, the juniors won eight and lost one this season. Others on the team include Lillie Braham, New Wilmington; Betty Tebay, Butler; Marie Harry, New Bedford; Catherine McClure, Bleiksville; and Elinor Wilson, New Wilmington.

The summary of the season:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Juniors	8	1	.889
Freshmen	6	3	.666
Sophomores	4	5	.445
Seniors	0	9	.000

Chet Smallwood To Box U. S. Carpentier

Good Semi-Final Booked For Monday Night At Bowl, When Johnny Mason, Who Stopped Jack Dillon, Meets Ted Estabrook; Young Vivio Battles Larry Madge, Good Cleveland Boy; Tommy Harris Mixes With Jack Ward And Lloyd Tretino Will Make Debut Against George Lawson

Fistic fans who witnessed Jack Dillon and his cross-arm defense and wading tactics when he fought Henry Firpo on two different occasions here will get an opportunity to see Johnny Mason, who knocked out Dillon in action when the Scranton coal miner battles the rugged Ted Estabrook in a 10-round bout at Jolly Bowl Monday night.

According to accounts of the fight between Dillon and Mason, which was staged last fall in Louisville, Dillon took a severe beating until Mason, called the "Dutch Windmill", put over the lethal potion that converted Dillon from an animated being into a prostrate, quivering anatomy. Whether Mason can do the same to Ted remains to be seen, as Estabrook's flesh hangs heavy over his jowl.

Smallwood Well Liked

Accounts of writers who have witnessed Mason in action declare him something of a "perpetual machine". He starts fighting, with the bell and stops only when the round is over. Estabrook, a tall, rangy chap with a knockout punch in either hand, recently distributed a beating to Chet Thomas at Erie and will be in the acme of physical condition for the battle of sluggers here.

U. S. Carpentier, a favorite, will step out against another favorite, one Chet Smallwood, of Akron. They will fight at 130 pounds and the winner will later be matched with Chuck Feldman, who recently defeated Frankie Rio at Toledo. Carpentier has a good right uppercut which will bear him in good stead when he battles the southpaw who feathered Frankie Moran here last fall.

Introducing Jack Ward

The semi-final will go six rounds, as will the battle between Young Vivio of Pittsburgh and Lawrence Madge of Cleveland, who are 147-pounders. Vivio fought several fairly good boys here, but Madge has not appeared here. However, in Cleveland a few nights ago he staged a wonderful bout and the bowl feels fortunate in having been able to book him for a preliminary against Vivio.

Another stranger, Jack Ward, of Pittsburgh, will take on Tommy Harris, who has a big following around Butler, Pa. The 144-pounders will clash in a four-round bout and are a little more classy than the usual run of four-rounders who have been appearing here. There'll be lots of action, Jolly states.

Two New Castle Boys

Lloyd Trettino of Neal street will make his pugilistic debut with Georgie Lawson, the long-haired colored boy who overstepped himself with Tom Farrow. George, who lives in West Falls street, declared he was willing to take on any beginner who would toss punches with him, and Lloyd appeared on the scene.

Promoter Jolly had planned to use Elmo the Mighty against Nick Polis in the final bout between the two 170-pounders, but Paddy Grimes telephoned from Aliquippa that Nick would not be ready for another bout until a week from Monday. As a result Elmo will have plenty of time to get in good physical shape.

Michigan-Purdue Leading Big Ten

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Michigan and Purdue, each with two wins and no defeats, today were tied for first place in the newly launched Big Ten basketball marathon.

The Boilermakers pulled up with Michigan last night when they beat Chicago, 38 to 26. Down at Champaign, Ill., Illinois beat Indiana, 20 to 16.

Schalk-Niehoff To Train "Kids"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Ray Schalk and Bert Niehoff, the new coaches of the New York Giants, who sent in their signed contracts yesterday, will be in charge of the battery men and rookies scheduled to assemble in San Antonio, Tex., on Feb. 15. Schalk also will be eligible to catch during the season, if the "Cracker" feels spry enough. He formerly managed the Chicago White Sox while Niehoff piloted the Atlanta club.

Shenango Wins Three Battles On Home Floor

Shenango Varsity Triumphs Over Business College In Extra Period 23-21

Shenango township high school crashed into the spotlight in county basketball realms Tuesday evening when the varsity, the varsity second string and the girl reserve team each won their own respective battles.

The varsity squad took the strong Business College team for a drop in an extra period game. The score stood 23-21 in favor of the Shenangoites.

The boys' second team defeated the Harlansburg high school tossers by a 22-9 score. Body was high scorer for Shenango while Cunningham played well for the visitors.

A preliminary game between the Harlansburg girls' team and the Shenango reserves was won by Shenango 26-5. Moser led the scoring with eight field goals.

Returning to the main event of the evening, the Business College team was the strongest which has visited the Shenango floor this year. The game was fast and furious and at the end of the fourth quarter there was a 21-21 deadlock. Lawrence shot the winning basket for Shenango during the extra period. The lineup:

Shenango		Business College
Shaftic	F	Goodhart
Collins	F	Drake
Baldwin	C	Spencer
Smith	G	Baboonsky
Lawrence	G	DeNuccio

Field goals—Baboonsky 5, Drake, Smith, Lawrence 3, Shaftic, Pilner 2, Goodhart.

Sub—Pilner.

Referee—Waddington.

Scorer—Long.

State Reaps Nice Tax From Boxing

Gets $74,280 In Taxation And $104,497 In Fees And Fines

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Boxing had its best year in the Keystone state, according to statistics for the past year released today by Bob Young, secretary of the Pennsylvania athletic commission. More than $1,000,000 was taken in gate receipts. The total paid admissions amounted to $1,458,619.

The state's treasury thus profited by $74,280 in taxes, while an added amount of fees and fines was given as $104,497.

The figures reveal:

Two thousand and ninety-six boxers secured licenses paying $20,475 in fees.

Total license fees amounted to $27,925.

Seconds, 610—$3,050.

Managers, 250—$6,250.

Wrestlers, 175—$875.

Matchmakers, 27—$275.

Fifty-two Referees.

Promoters (first class, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia), 10—$2,500.

Promoters, (second class, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre), 3—$300.

Promoters (third class, other cities), 51—$1,275.

Judges, 121—$605.

Referee, 52—$1,300.

Timekeepers—$265.

Announcers, 55—$275.

Physicians, 48—$480.

The largest attendance took place at the contest here between Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion of the world, and Jack Groos, Jewish heavyweight, but the tiff between Benny Bass and Harry Blitman here for the state featherweight title showed the biggest gate receipts of the year.

Jack Hulme Invents New Indoor Game

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 9.—Jack Hulme, popular athletic director at Westminster, has invented a new indoor games for the co-eds of the college. The new method of keeping slim is a combination of tennis and volley ball. As yet, Hulme has not decided what to call the game.

Small wooden paddles 10 inches long are used with which to bat a sponge rubber ball over the volley ball net. The game differs from volley ball in that the ball is allowed to bounce on the floor before it is returned over the net. Service is underhand rather than in the accepted tennis fashion.

One advantage of the new game is that it is somewhat of a mass contest. Each side may consist of eight or 10 girls. In this way, a large group of co-eds may get recreation and exercise at one time. Rules governing the game will be formulated within a short time. The fact that the two teams will be separated by a net eliminates the necessity for foul rules. Thus the new games will be a simple sort of contest with plenty of action and excitement.

Westminster Reserves To Play Here Tonight

Westminster Reserve Team Coming Here To Play Rick Motors Quintet

By "BUGS"

Tonight at the Y. M. C. A. floor the basketball fans of New Castle will get their first peek at a college quintet in action. The Westminster College Reserve team will battle the Rick Motors of the City League. The Acmes and Indians of the Boy's League will play the preliminary game. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

"The Westminster Reserves will be a strong outfit," said Graduate Manager Andy McDonald. Included in our lineup tonight will be such well known stars as Kocheran and Rice, former Duquesne High artists, Witherspoon, Fisher and Hamas. The Collegians are bent on taking the measure of the locals tonight, and a good game is expected.

The Rick Motors will present a powerful team to battle the Westminster crew, with Andy Hartman, "Fiz" Fraser, Nocera, Nolte, Volesko, Coen and Genkinger. The Rick Motors have held several practice sessions lately and are confident of making a good showing against the New Wilmington quintet.

The Westminster Alumni in this city will have a chance tonight to see their favorites in action, and to get a line on what Coach Lawther has in the way of reserve strength for Westminster.

New Castle High Maidens Defeat Blue Triangles

Miss Anne Ponion And Miss Ruth Patton Again Go On Scoring Spree, 43-10

New Castle high school girls basketball team, won their second straight game of the year at Senior High gym on Tuesday night, by defeating the Blue Triangle girls team of the Y. W. C. A. by a score of 43 to 10. The game was played as a preliminary to the boys game.

The New Castle High sextet was plainly superior to the Triangles throughout the entire game and Coach Ruth Boyd used practically all of her reserve players during the game. Scoring honors went to Miss Anne Ponion and Miss Ruth Patton with a total of 13 field goals between them. The score at the end of the first quarter favored New Castle High 21 to 1. The score at half time stood 34 to 3 in favor of the red and black lassies.

The Triangles with Jennie Wygonowski former New Castle High captain in the lineup the second half played better basketball and tallied seven points. The score at the end of the third quarter was 40 to 6. The Triangles outscored a complete substitute team in the final quarter 4 to 3. The final tally was 43 to 10. The work of Miss Hill and Miss Cowmeadow at the guards for New Castle was good. Miss Reck, Miss Wygonowski and Miss Hurst played the best basketball for the Blue Triangles.

The summary:

New Castle High.		Blue Triangles.
Ponion	F	Rech
Patton	F	Perry
Carson	C	Hughes
Craig	S.C.	Hurst
Hill	G	Druschel

New Castle High Defeats Aliquippa 23-15

CUBA-ALEXANDER LEADING SCORERS

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Showing a complete reversal in form over last week, the New Castle High school basketball team snapped out of their "coma" and defeated Aliquippa High at Senior High gymnasium last night by a score of 23 to 15. It was a vastly different red and black team that outplayed and outfought the Aliquippa quintet from the one that lost to Ellwood City recently.

Aliquippa High had the lead only for a few minutes last night. In the first few seconds of play Jones went down the floor, streaked under the basket and caged a field goal that gave the invaders a lead, but Johnny Johnson soon caged the ball for New Castle with a heave from about mid-court and the count was deadlocked. From this period until the finish the Bridenbaugh combination simply ran themselves ragged and were plainly superior to the team that only recently handed them a 23 to 17 beating.

Locals Much Improved

New Castle High had a basketball team on the court last night that would have given any team in this district a real tussle. The red and black artists played a snappy brand of ball during the entire game. Paul Cuba and Bruce Alexander were in a scoring mood and caged seven baskets between them. Johnny Johnson accounted for two field markers and Captain Tony Ostrosky had one basket to his credit. Arthur Sillman didn't score, but the big blonde Finn was in the game up to his ears and his defensive work was airtight. Sillman played so hard, in fact, that he was ejected in the third quarter via four personal fouls, and Merle "Red" McIntosh was sent in. McIntosh showed enough to warrant serious consideration for the vacant guard post when Sillman has taken his sheepskin and departed.

At the end of the first quarter the New Castle team was ahead, 9 to 3. Cuba and Johnson accounted for two field goals apiece and Sillman shot a foul for the other point. For Aliquippa Jones had a basket and Miller was credited with a foul.

Show Defensive Strength

The New Castle boys played a real defensive game in the second quarter. Aliquippa was held to one point, a foul by Lippe, near the end of the period. New Castle tallied four points in the second quarter, with big Bruce Alexander dropping two through the hoops. At the end of the first half New Castle led, 13 to 4. The Lippe coached quintet tried desperately to locate the hoops effectively, but they were not successful. The New Castle defense was functioning perfectly The zone defense played by the locals was almost impregnable.

It was a hard fighting Aliquippa team that returned to the court for the third stanza. Coach Nate Lippe must have injected them with lightning or something equally as fast, because the visitors opened up with an attack that almost bewildered the locals, and before long had crept up dangerously close to New Castle. Lippe shot a foul for Aliquippa, Johnson retaliated with a foul for New Castle. Cuba caged a field goal and New Castle led, 16 to 4. Jones caged one for the invaders, and at this point Sillman made his exit in favor of McIntosh.

Harden annexed a foul for the visitors and this sent the score to 16 to 7. Miller shot a foul and Lippe followed with a field goal that gave Aliquippa 10 points. Harden caged a basket for the visitors, and with but 15 seconds left of the quarter New Castle took time out. The New Castle team led, 16 to 12, at the end of the third period, but were outplayed, 8 to 3, by Aliquippa, with Harden and Lippe doing the best playing.

Alexander in Feature Play

New Castle High team shot into "high gear" again as the fourth and final quarter got under way. Paul Cuba annexed a basket from the side of the court and brought the score to 18 to 12. Alexander caged a foul and Miller a few seconds later dropped a basket through the hoops for the Lippe outfit. Lippe caged a foul and Aliquippa again crept up on New Castle, the count being 19 to 15. Bruce Alexander staged the thriller of the evening on a jump ball near the basket when the big, tall, rangy New Castle center leaped high in the air and batted the spheriod through the hoops. This play is very rarely pulled in basketball, but it came at an opportune time for New Castle and gave the locals the lead at 21 to 15. Captain Tony Ostrosky made the final two points for New Castle on a one-handed shot from the side of the floor. The final tally was 23 to 15. Both teams were playing a fast, hard game when the whistle ended the battle.

It was announced last night that New Brighton High would be the opponents for the New Castle teams here on Friday night. The New Brighton Reserves will play the New Castle Reserves in the preliminary game and the New Castle-New Brighton varsity game will follow. On Saturday night Altoona High will play a return engagement here.

The summary:

New Castle 23		Aliquippa 15
Cuba	F	Jones
Johnson	F	Harden
Alexander	C	Miller
Ostrosky	G	Rebich
Sillman	G	Lippe

Subs.: McIntosh for Sillman, Murphy for Rebich, Rebich for Jones.

Field goals: Cuba 4, Johnson 2, Alexander 3, Ostrosky, Jones, Harden, Miller, Lippe.

Fouls: New Castle, 3 out of 4; Aliquippa, 7 out of 12.

Ben Franklin High Quintet To Meet 1928 Team At Franklin Floor Today

The Ben Franklin Varsity will open its floor season today in a game with the 1928 team from Franklin school.

The team representing Franklin last year was composed of forwards: Ruha, Lascola, Rowe, center: Williams, Deep, guards: Leonhardt and McKissick. This team won the Junior championship of the city, playing a total of 15 games meeting defeat only once at the hands of Shenango H. S. by a score of 14 to 13. The indications are that the team of this year will have its hands full.

The Franklin squad of twenty boys is unusually strong this year, although the reserve squad is composed entirely of eighth graders. These boys are not eligible to compete in the league games but the coaching and practice aids materially in developing a strong team for next year.

The personnel of the team follows: Forwards, Cooper, George, Abraham, Wiitenen, Sanders, Gromlies, Mooney, Maki. Guards: Fabian, Ostrosky, Hibbard, Sesko, Maki, A. Allen, Williams, Pegnato. Center: Watson, Regan, Jones, Gregor. Student manager, Paul Eagan. Assistant managers, Jack Hitchens and Burdelle Riley.

Nothing is perfect. Where life is too easy, one's surplus earnings are needed to buy fat reducers.

Junior Girls Win In Class League

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 9.—Winning the last and hardest game of the season from the freshman co-ed team by a 19-18 score, the junior class won the girls' inter-class basketball championship at Westminster for the year. This makes the third consecutive championship for the girls of the 1930 class with a record of 26 victories in 27 contests over a three-year period.

Coached by Ruth Lewis of New Castle, who also stars as a guard on the team, captained by Jean Boyd of New Wilmington, the juniors won eight and lost one this season. Others on the team include Lillie Braham, New Wilmington; Betty Tebay, Butler; Marie Harry, New Bedford; Catherine McClure, Blairsville; and Elinor Wilson, New Wilmington.

The summary of the season:

Chet Smallwood To Box U. S. Carpentier

Good Semi-Final Booked For Monday Night At Bowl, When Johnny Mason, Who Stopped Jack Dillon, Meets Ted Estabrook; Young Vivio Battles Larry Madge, Good Cleveland Boy; Tommy Harris Mixes With Jack Ward And Lloyd Tretino Will Make Debut Against George Lawson

Fistic fans who witnessed Jack Dillon and his cross-arm defense and wading tactics when he fought Henry Firpo on two different occasions here will get an opportunity to see Johnny Mason, who knocked out Dillon in action when the Scranton coal miner battles the rugged Ted Estabrook in a 10-round bout at Jolly Bowl Monday night.

According to accounts of the fight between Dillon and Mason, which was staged last fall in Louisville, Dillon took a severe beating until Mason, called the "Dutch Windmill", put over the lethal potion that converted Dillon from an animated being into a prostrate, quivering anatomy. Whether Mason can do the same to Ted remains to be seen, as Estabrook's flesh hangs heavy over his jowl.

Smallwood Well Liked

Accounts of writers who have witnessed Mason in action declare him something of a "perpetual machine". He starts fighting with the bell and stops only when the round is over. Estabrook, a tall, rangy chap with a knockout punch in either hand, recently distributed a beating to Chet Thomas at Erie and will be in the acme of physical condition for the battle of sluggers here.

U. S. Carpentier, a favorite, will step out against another favorite, one Chet Smallwood, of Akron. They will fight at 130 pounds and the winner will later be matched with Chuck Feldman, who recently defeated Frankie Rio at Toledo. Carpentier has a good right uppercut which will bear him in good stead when he battles the southpaw who leathered Frankie Moran here last fall.

Introducing Jack Ward

The semi-final will go six rounds, as will the battle between Young Vivio of Pittsburgh and Lawrence Madge of Cleveland, who are 147-pounders. Vivio fought several fairly good boys here, but Madge has not appeared here. However, in Cleveland a few nights ago he staged a wonderful bout and the bowl feels fortunate in having been able to book him for a preliminary against Vivio.

Another stranger, Jack Ward, of Pittsburgh, will take on Tommy Harris, who has a big following around Butler, Pa. The 144-pounders will clash in a four-round bout and are a little more classy than the usual run of four-rounders who have been appearing here. There'll be lots of action, Jolly states.

Two New Castle Boys

Lloyd Trettino of Neal street will make his pugilistic debut with Georgie Lawson, the long-haired colored boy who overstepped himself with Tom Farrow. George, who lives in West Falls street, declared he was willing to take on any beginner who would toss punches with him, and Lloyd appeared on the scene.

Promoter Jolly had planned to use Elmo the Mighty against Nick Polis in the final bout between the two 170-pounders, but Paddy Grimes telephoned from Aliquippa that Nick would not be ready for another bout until a week from Monday. As a result Elmo will have plenty of time to get in good physical shape.

Michigan-Purdue Leading Big Ten

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Michigan and Purdue, each with two wins and no defeats, today were tied for first place in the newly launched Big Ten basketball marathon.

The Boilermakers pulled up with Michigan last night when they beat Chicago, 38 to 26. Down at Champaign, Ill., Illinois beat Indiana, 20 to 16.

Schalk-Niehoff To Train "Kids"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Ray Schalk and Bert Niehoff, the new coaches of the New York Giants, who sent in their signed contracts yesterday, will be in charge of the battery men and rookies scheduled to assemble in San Antonio, Tex., on Feb. 15. Schalk also will be eligible to catch during the season, if the "Cracker" feels spry enough. He formerly managed the Chicago White Sox while Niehoff piloted the Atlanta club.

Shenango Wins Three Battles On Home Floor

Shenango Varsity Triumphs Over Business College In Extra Period 23-21

Shenango township high school crashed into the spotlight in county basketball realms Tuesday evening when the varsity, the varsity second string and the girl reserve team each won their own respective battles.

The varsity squad took the strong Business College team for a drop in an extra period game. The score stood 23-21 in favor of the Shenangoites.

The boys' second team defeated the Harlansburg high school tossers by a 22-9 score. Body was high scorer for Shenango while Cunningham played well for the visitors.

A preliminary game between the Harlansburg girls' team and the Shenango reserves was won by Shenango 26-5. Moser led the scoring with eight field goals.

Returning to the main event of the evening, the Business College team was the strongest which has visited the Shenango floor this year. The game was fast and furious and at the end of the fourth quarter there was a 21-21 deadlock. Lawrence shot the winning basket for Shenango during the extra period. The lineup:

Shenango		Business College
Shaftic	F	Goodhart
Collins	F	Drake
Baldwin	C	Spencer
Smith	G	Baboonsky
Lawrence	G	DeNuccio

Field goals—Baboonsky 5, Drake Smith, Lawrence 3, Shaftic, Pilner 2, Goodhart.

Sub—Pilner.

State Reaps Nice Tax From Boxing

Gets $74,280 In Taxation And $104,497 In Fees And Fines

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—Boxing had its best year in the Keystone state, according to statistics for the past year released today by Bob Young, secretary of the Pennsylvania athletic commission. More than $1,000,000 was taken in gate receipts. The total paid admissions amounted to $1,458,619.

The state's treasury thus profited by $74,280 in taxes, while an added amount of fees and fines was given as $104,497.

The figures reveal:

Two thousand and ninety-six boxers secured licenses paying $20,475 in fees.

Total license fees amounted to $27,925.

Seconds, 610—$3,050.

Managers, 250—$6,250.

Wrestlers, 175—$375.

Matchmakers, 27—$275.

Fifty-two Referees.

Promoters (first class, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia), 10—$2,500.

Promoters, (second class, Scranton, Wilkes-Barre), 3—$300.

Promoters (third class, other cities), 51—$1,275.

Judges, 121—$605.

Referee, 52—$1,300.

Timekeepers—$265.

Announcers, 55—$275.

Physicians, 48—$480.

The largest attendance took place at the contest here between Tommy Loughran, light heavyweight champion of the world, and Jack Groos, Jewish heavyweight, but the tiff between Benny Bass and Harry Blitman here for the state featherweight title showed the biggest gate receipts of the year.

Jack Hulme Invents New Indoor Game

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 9.—Jack Hulme, popular athletic director at Westminster, has invented a new indoor games for the co-eds of the college. The new method of keeping slim is a combination of tennis and volley ball. As yet, Hulme has not decided what to call the game.

Small wooden paddles 10 inches long are used with which to bat a sponge rubber ball over the volley ball net. The game differs from volley ball in that the ball is allowed to bounce on the floor before it is returned over the net. Service is underhand rather than in the accepted tennis fashion.

One advantage of the new game is that it is somewhat of a mass contest. Each side may consist of eight or 10 girls. In this way, a large group of co-eds may get recreation and exercise at one time. Rules governing the game will be formulated within a short time. The fact that the two teams will be separated by a net eliminates the necessity for foul rules. Thus the new games will be a simple sort of contest with plenty of action and excitement.

Westminster Reserves To Play Here Tonight

Westminster Reserve Team Coming Here To Play Rick Motors Quintet

By "BUGS"

Tonight at the Y. M. C. A. floor the basketball fans of New Castle will get their first peek at a college quintet in action. The Westminster College Reserve team will battle the Rick Motors of the City League. The Acmes and Indians of the Boy's League will play the preliminary game. The first game will start at 8 o'clock.

"The Westminster Reserves will be a strong outfit," said Graduate Manager Andy McDonald. Included in our lineup tonight will be such well known stars as Kocheran and Rice, former Duquesne High artists, Witherspoon, Fisher and Hamas. The Collegians are bent on taking the measure of the locals tonight, and a good game is expected.

The Rick Motors will present a powerful team to battle the Westminster crew, with Andy Hartman, "Fiz" Fraser, Nocera, Nolte, Volesko, Coen and Genkinger. The Rick Motors have held several practice sessions lately and are confident of making a good showing against the New Wilmington quintet.

The Westminster Alumni in this city will have a chance tonight to see their favorites in action, and to get a line on what Coach Lawther has in the way of reserve strength for Westminster.

New Castle High Maidens Defeat Blue Triangles

Miss Anne Ponion And Miss Ruth Patton Again Go On Scoring Spree, 43-10

New Castle high school girls basketball team, won their second straight game of the year at Senior High gym on Tuesday night, by defeating the Blue Triangle girls team of the Y. W. C. A. by a score of 43 to 10. The game was played as a preliminary to the boys game.

The New Castle High sextet was plainly superior to the Triangles throughout the entire game and Coach Ruth Boyd used practically all of her reserve players during the game Scoring honors went to Miss Anne Ponion and Miss Ruth Patton with a total of 13 field goals between them. The score at the end of the first quarter favored New Castle High 21 to 1. The score at half time stood 34 to 3 in favor of the red and black lassies.

The Triangles with Jennie Wygonowski former New Castle High captain in the lineup the second half played better basketball and tallied seven points .The score at the end of the third quarter was 40 to 6. The Triangles outscored a complete substitute team in the final quarter 4 to 3. The final tally was 43 to 10. The work of Miss Hill and Miss Cowmeadow at the guards for New Castle was good. Miss Reck, Miss Wygonowski and Miss Hurst played the best basketball for the Blue Triangles.

The summary:

Late Tex Rickard Is Said To Have Offered Dempsey Half Million

Whether Or Not Jack Dempsey Will Fight Again Depends On Money Matters

Garden Directors To Confer With Ex-Champion Regarding Future Status

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—It isn't unlikely that Jack Dempsey will fight again if the Madison Square Garden Corporation stands behind the bid of more than $500,000 offered by its late president, Tex Rickard, shortly before his death, the writer definitely learned today. Dempsey is the prey of indecision as he walks with the chief mourners in the cortege to the promoter's final resting place and not without reason. He not only isn't certain that he wants to fight, now that Rickard is dead; he also isn't certain that it will pay him to fight.

"Much more than $500,000", was an authoritative estimate today of Rickard's bid that had won Dempsey back to boxing. It was one of those word-of-mouth offers and it was tendered quite without the knowledge of the corporation's directorate, as was Rickard's custom. A most informal man, he simply made his decisions and then told the board that he had made them.

To Hold Conference.

Dempsey, therefore, hasn't the slightest idea whether anybody wants to pay off on this promise and he won't know definitely until he has conferred with W. F. Carey or James I. Bush or some other qualified spokesman of the corporation. The conference in question will be held as shortly after today's funeral as these men of money can decently arrange it. They know that Dempsey, the fighter—not Dempsey the promoter—is the only thing that can save boxing from a very impressive flop this year. Their anxiety on this score should prove to be a break for Dempsey. He then can gracefully mention the matter of Rickard's offer and see what happens.

Carey, who probably will be elevated to the presidency of the corporation in due season, may not care for the terms Rickard quoted. He, in fact, was an avowed opponent of the promoter's liberalism in matters of finance and may see no reason to alter his prejudices at this late date.

Needs Powerful Figure.

Heavyweight championship fighting might attain some medicum of success in 1929 without Rickard. It might survive, too, without Dempsey. But without both it will be lost.

Some chumps have been talking Dempsey up as a promoter. In the event that he doesn't fight himself, what I would like to know is what he is going to promote? Sharkey, Stribling, Paulino, Loughran and several others are qualified contenders. But all the fighting they will do among themselves will not make them anything else.

To make a heavyweight elimination mean anything, there must be some man in the background, preferably a champion, waiting for the qualified survivor. Matters didn't progress so well last year; yet they always had a chance because Tunney and an official championship fight was the goal of the tournament winner. This year, with Rickard still alive and Dempsey ready for the grand finale, the business was a tip-over.

But with Rickard dead, they either must go with Dempsey or perpare to make no money at a most alarming rate with the rest of the heavyweight program. There is one consideration in this connection that should have a distinct appeal to a man of Carey's vision. If Dempsey is waiting for the winner, every match in the heavyweight program will have a meaning that it might otherwise lack.

In this way, the mortgage on Dempsey will start to pay itself off long before the boys handle a nickel of the money a Dempsey fight will get them. Its receipts ought to make an awful fool out of a million dollars, as a matter of fact, which is fairly convincing money, even to the jaded financial eye.

Dempsey Stalling.

Dempsey, stalling for a break, has said that he will not commit himself on his present plans for some days. He adds that he will make a definite statement upon his return to Miami Beach. If he will guarantee to do that, I will guarantee to call the turn for him. He obviously will issue no statement from Miami Beach that will be inimical to the best interests of the Sharkey-Stribling fight.

However, it all goes back to the Garden directors, in the final analysis. I make no claim that, if he decides against a return to the ring after Rickard's posthumous announcement of his return, it will be partly or wholly due to the fact that the Garden's board has not been able to see eye to eye with Rickard on the real value of Dempsey at the box office.

CHURCH LEAGUE

The Croton M. E. bowlers took their ninth straight game in the church bowling league Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. alleys when they took three straight games from the Central Christian team. The Croton team, though getting off to a poor start in the league, have apparently found their stride and are bowling their way to the front.

SORDS POINTS

Ace Hudkins, "Nebraska Wildcat", Visions A Triple Crown

Boxing has never experienced the odd situation of having a triple champion, and chances are it never will. But that should not stop Ace Hudkins, the "Nebraska Wildcat," from focusing his eyes on such a distinction.

Hudkins, just fresh from a victory over Rene De Vos, Belgian middleweight champion, and a serious contender for world's title, was offered a crack at Joe Dundee's welterweight crown. Ace could easily make the 147-pound limit without impairing his strength, and would be a favorite in such a battle. A year ago Hudkins was matched with Dundee at Los Angeles only to have the champion run out on the night of the fight.

By virtue of his win over DeVos, the Nebraskan also earned the right to meet Mickey Walker for the middleweight title. The two met over the 10-round route in Chicago last June, and although Walker was given the edge, Huckins claims to have won in eight of the rounds. Efforts are now being made to bring them together again, this time in a 15-round argument.

Should Lady Luck favor the "Wildcat" in these divisions he would automatically become a problem for the light heavyweights, especially if Tommy Loughran decides to permanently abandon the class in favor of the heavies.

Hudkins seems blessed with the ability to fight at various weights. He can train himself down to the last ounce and still be stronger than his opponent at the finish. Or, as was the case in his battle with De Vos, can build up and lose none of his characteristic windmill speed.

Griffiths Kayoes Philly Fighter

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City heavyweight, had another knockout victory to his credit today following a lively four-round session with George Gemas of Philadelphia, here last night.

The bout was scheduled for ten rounds, but the Iowa slugger had his man stretched on the canvas for the full count after one minute and ten seconds of the fourth stanza. Gemas was floored 11 times before he collapsed for keeps.

It was Griffiths' first heavyweight showing in Chicago. Heretofore he has boxed in the next lighter division. In meeting Gemas, the Sioux City mauler gave away 12 pounds. Tuffy weighs only 175, Gemas 187.

Emanuel-Loughran Signed For Bout

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 9.—Armand Emanuel, San Francisco lawyer-fighter left here Tuesday for Minneapolis after signing articles to fight Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight boxing champion, at the Olympic Club in Los Angeles on Feb. 12.

It will be a non-title affair, both boxers entering the ring over the 175 pound limit.

Emanuel lost a decision to Loughran in New York a year ago. In Minneapolis Emanuel is to meet Harry Dillon, Canadian on Jan. 18.

Westminster Athletes Are Given Awards

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 9.—Athletic awards for the 1928 football and cross country season were given to 20 Westminster College athletes at the regular chapel service Tuesday morning. These awards, the gifts of the college to the men who won varsity letters in the two fall sports, were presented to the athletes in the chapel ceremony.

The following members of the football team who have played their last game for the blue and white were presented with blue blankets bearing a large felt "W": Captain Joseph Furno, James McQuiston, Stephen Havrilla, James Lauder, Charles Ayers, and Emmanuel Krueger.

Silver loving cups for participation in varsity football for four years were given James Lauder and Stephen Havrilla. Gold footballs, for three years on the varsity, were awarded James McQuiston, Gerry Sweet, and Joseph Dombrowski.

Sweaters bearing two stripes, indicative of two years on the varsity, were given Captain-elect Russell Boone, and Emmett Tweedy. Sweaters for first-year awards were given to Joseph Pipoly, Richard Fuller, Fred Palmer, Emmanuel Krueger, Harold Forsha, and student manager William Lewis.

In cross country, two-year sweaters were awarded Captain Byers King, Robert Wallace, and Elmer Myers. Sweaters for first-year participation were given Andrew Perrine, James Smalley, and Ross Ellis.

Late Tex Rickard Is Said To Have Offered Dempsey Half Million

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—It isn't unlikely that Jack Dempsey will fight again if the Madison Square Garden Corporation stands behind the bid of more than $500,000 offered by its late president, Tex Rickard, shortly before his death, the writer definitely learned today. Dempsey is the prey of indecision as he walks with the chief mourners in the cortege to the promoter's final resting place and not without reason. He not only isn't certain that he wants to fight, now that Rickard is dead; he also isn't certain that it will pay him to fight.

"Much more than $500,000", was an authoritative estimate today of Rickard's bid that had won Dempsey back to boxing. It was one of those word-of-mouth offers and it was tendered quite without the knowledge of the corporation's directorate, as was Rickard's custom. A most informal man, he simply made his decisions and then told the board that he had made them.

To Hold Conference.

Dempsey, therefore, hasn't the slightest idea whether anybody wants to pay off on this promise and he won't know definitely until he has conferred with W. F. Carey or James I. Bush or some other qualified spokesman of the corporation. The conference in question will be held as shortly after today's funeral as these men of money can decently arrange it. They know that Dempsey, the fighter—not Dempsey the promoter—is the only thing that can save boxing from a very impressive flop this year. Their anxiety on this score should prove to be a break for Dempsey. He then can gracefully mention the matter of Rickard's offer and see what happens.

Carey, who probably will be elevated to the presidency of the corporation in due season, may not care for the terms Rickard quoted. He, in fact, was an avowed opponent of the promoter's liberalism in matters of finance and may see no reason to alter his prejudices at this late date.

Needs Powerful Figure.

Heavyweight championship fighting might attain some medicum of success in 1929 without Rickard. It might survive, too, without Dempsey. But without both it will be lost.

Some chumps have been talking Dempsey up as a promoter. In the event that he doesn't fight himself, what I would like to know is what he is going to promote? Sharkey, Stribling, Paulino, Loughran and several others are qualified contenders. But all the fighting they will do among themselves will not make them anything else.

To make a heavyweight elimination mean anything, there must be some man in the background, preferably a champion, waiting for the qualified survivor. Matters didn't progress so well last year; yet they always had a chance because Tunney and an official championship fight was the goal of the tournament winner. This year, with Rickard still alive and Dempsey ready for the grand finale, the business was a tip-over.

But with Rickard dead, they either must go with Dempsey or perpare to make no money at a most alarming rate with the rest of the heavyweight program. There is one consideration in this connection that should have a distinct appeal to a man of Carey's vision. If Dempsey is waiting for the winner, every match in the heavyweight program will have a meaning that it might otherwise lack.

In this way, the mortgage on Dempsey will start to pay itself off long before the boys handle a nickel of the money a Dempsey fight will get them. Its receipts ought to make an awful fool out of a million dollars, as a matter of fact, which is fairly convincing money, even to the jaded financial eye.

Dempsey Stalling.

Dempsey, stalling for a break, has said that he will not commit himself on his present plans for some days. He adds that he will make a definite statement upon his return to Miami Beach. If he will guarantee to do that, I will guarantee to call the turn for him. He obviously will issue no statement from Miami Beach that will be inimical to the best interests of the Sharkey-Stribling fight.

However, it all goes back to the Garden directors, in the final analysis. I make no claim that, if he decides against a return to the ring after Rickard's posthumous announcement of his return, it will be partly or wholly due to the fact that the Garden's board has not been able to see eye to eye with Rickard on the real value of Dempsey at the box office.

Ace Hudkins, "Nebraska Wildcat", Visions A Triple Crown

Boxing has never experienced the odd situation of having a triple champion, and chances are it never will. But that should not stop Ace Hudkins, the "Nebraska Wildcat," from focusing his eyes on such a distinction.

Hudkins, just fresh from a victory over Rene De Vos, Belgian middleweight champion, and a serious contender for world's title, was offered a crack at Joe Dundee's welterweight crown. Ace could easily make the 147-pound limit without impairing his strength, and would be a favorite in such a battle. A year ago Hudkins was matched with Dundee at Los Angeles only to have the champion run out on the night of the fight.

By virtue of his win over DeVos, the Nebraskan also earned the right to meet Mickey Walker for the middleweight title. The two met over the 10-round route in Chicago last June, and although Walker was given the edge, Hudkins claims to have won in eight of the rounds. Efforts are now being made to bring them together again, this time in a 15-round argument.

Should Lady Luck favor the "Wildcat" in these divisions he would automatically become a problem for the light heavyweights, especially if Tommy Loughran decides to permanently abandon the class in favor of the heavies.

Hudkins seems blessed with the ability to fight at various weights. He can train himself down to the last ounce and still be stronger than his opponent at the finish. Or, as was the case in his battle with De Vos, can build up and lose none of his characteristic windmill speed.

In Algiers—
People Cry Their Wares

IN ALGIERS the people who have something to sell cry their wares from a little stall in the market place. And those who buy saunter from stall to stall making their purchases. But in Lawrence County we arrange things somewhat better. The purchaser can review every offer from his easy-chair, simply by reading the brief, pointed descriptions in The News Want Ad Columns.

In Algiers— People Cry Their Wares

IN ALGIERS the people who have something to sell cry their wares from a little stall in the market place. And those who buy saunter from stall to stall making their purchases. But in Lawrence County we arrange things somewhat better. The purchaser can review every offer from his easy-chair, simply by reading the brief, pointed descriptions in The News Want Ad Columns.

Slayer Of Infant May Not Pay Full Penalty For Crime

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 9.—Judge R. H. Koch was today consulting with Judges R. P. Hicks and Henry Houck as to whether Mrs. Eva Berger of St. Clair, shall be sent to the electric chair for the smothering of her infant child to death.

It appeared certain that Mrs. Berger will not be given the extreme punishment and it has been indicated by the prosecution that a second degree verdict will be satisfactory.

Mrs. Berger is the first person in 20 years to throw themselves on the mercy of the court by pleading guilty of murder.

Joseph Christock left the verdict in his case to the court 20 years ago and the judges ordered him executed. The sentence was carried out.

"What do you suggest for a campaign issue?

"Relativity," answered Senator Sorghum.

"But so very few people understand it."

"True. But they are willing to admit the fact and go on about their business."—Washington Star.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Traces of yesterday's nervousness were still in evidence in the stock market this morning and the active industrial stocks wabbled unsteadily over a broken course, with about as many declines as advances. A few of the specialties jumped up 1 to 7 points at the start, Radio taking the limit at 366, and General Electric selling 3 points higher. Studebaker carried the palm for the motor stocks, moving up more than 3 points.

The motor stocks, the coppers and the railroad shares, with a few of the specialties, were the first to throw off the effect of speculative selling and to move up into the higher price levels. Studebaker got back to 84½ in a rapid turnover, Chrysler was boosted 2½ points to 124¾, Hupp and Hudson were fairly strong. International Nickel, in the metal stocks, equalled its best price of 55½, and Anaconda Copper was a favorite above 199.

The Standard Oils led a mild rally in the oil list, with Mariand, Phillips and Sinclair tagging along for a point or two.

Van C. McCrory Accidentally Shot; Former Resident

Managed Store In New Castle About Nine Years Ago; Mother Known Here

Van C. McCrory, 34, of Ridgewood, N. J., the son of John C. McCrory, five and ten-cent store magnate, who was accidentally shot late Tuesday afternoon while hunting near his father's ranch at Orlando, Fla., was quite well known in New Castle, having managed one of the local five and ten-cent stores here about nine years ago, states Robert M. Hainer.

Mr. McCrory's mother was also well known in New Castle, being the daughter of the Rev. Cearing Peters, pastor of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church in the 1880's.

Cook County Jail Ready This Month

New Criminal Courts And Jail Building Cost County $7,500,000

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The new Cook county, Chicago, $7,500,000 criminal courts building and jail will be ready for occupancy this month it was announced by President Anton Germak of the county board.

The jail units have been praised highly by penologists for their modern efatures which include unbreakable glass through which prisoners may speak with visitors, central control locks and direct connections with court roofs, precluding possibility of escape.

WAGES OF AN ARBITRATOR

"Dick and Dennis were quarreling over which should have the bigger half of an apple," announced Mary, "but I soon settled it."

"That's a good girl," said her mother. "Whose part did you take?"

"I took both parts," was the answer. "It was a lovely apple."

MEETING MAN'S NEED

"You have made some wonderful explorations of ancient tombs."

"I have," the eminent archeologist said, "and I am inclined to think that the ancients would have contributed more to progress if they had paid less attention to private monuments and more to skyscrapers."—Washington Star.

BEATING BABE INTO SHAPE AGAIN

Watchman Gone; Police Attempt To Solve Mystery

Stanley Rzecknik, aged 41, Smithfield street, extension, Union township, second trick man on the guard gates at the Grant street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad, has been missing, according to the police since shortly before eleven o'clock last night, his quitting time and all efforts to locate him have been without result.

His hat and coat were found in the watchman's shanty. The fact that he was missing did not become known until two o'clock this morning when two of his children came to the crossing hunting him. They were Fred and Walter Rzecknik, sons of the missing man, who had not turned up.

Officers Dukes and Crisswell were detailed on the case and found that Mr. Rzecknik, was a man of good habits and no reason is known as to the cause of his disappearance. He has a wife and five children.

Kaiser's Boyhood Playmate Is Killed

Dies From Fractured Skull After Being In Automobile Accident

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, Ind., Jan. 9.—A boyhood playmate of former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany died here when Paul H. Rieloff, 79, was the victim of an automobile accident.

Rieloff died from a fractured skull after being run down by an automobile.

The father of Rieloff was the hostler of Frederick II, emperor of Germany and the father of the famous refugee of Doorn. Reiloff and Kaiser Wilhelm played together when they were children and wrote to each other for many years but had no correspondence since the outbreak of the World War. Rieloff fought for Prussia in the Franco-Prusian war.

Nine Hundred Million Due America As Result Of Trade In Year 1928

United States Sold Five Billion Worth Of Goods To Europe During 1928

Recovery Of China As Market For American Goods Is Bright Feature Of Year

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The United States sold $5,000,000,000 worth of goods to the outside world, and bought more than $4,000,000,000 worth in 1928, according to the complete and accurate tally sheet made by O. K. Davis, secretary of the foreign trade council.

This leaves a balance of about $900,000,000 due to America, after settling up for the goods bought from foreign customers, for a part of which we may have to take long term promises to pay, but a good share of which is tossed around the European hotels and pleasure resorts by the care-free and liberal-spending American tourists and pleasure seekers.

This is generally referred to as the makings of the invisible trade balance, in which class also appears the thousands of dollars sent over by our industrious foreign residents to their relatives on the other side.

"The high proportion of manufactured goods among American exports over 70 per cent of the total in 1928, adds a stabilizing factor to our trade," said Davis, in his summary. "This is corroborated in large measure by the American makers of automobiles, sewing machines, farming implements steel ingots and copper in various forms.

China Has Recovered.

"The recovery of China as a market for American goods was one of the features of the year. Importations from the United States increased 50 per cent over the preceding year. They are now estimated to reach $130,000,000 for the entire year 1928, against an average 3-year exportation to China of about $115,000,000.

"Export trade with South America increased 7½ per cent last year with Argentina leading as a purchaser of American goods, with an estimated total of $150,000,000 almost 10 per cent better than the previous year. There was also a normal gain of about 7 per cent in American exports through Central America."

Canada Good Customers.

Last year we sold Canada $800,000,000 worth of goods, a record which kept that country in the front line as our best foreign customer.

The European markets took $2,300,000,000 worth of our goods, or 43 per cent of the total. Before the war we sold 60 per cent of our total exportation to Europe and the decline is evidence a plenty of the reduced buying power of the people in the countries ravaged by the war. Last year we sold Russia $80,000,000 worth of raw and manufactured materials, foodstuffs, etc. or twice as much as in the last year before the great war.

The staples on our foreign sales counters are grain and cotton, manufactured goods and machinery, to say nothing of yellow gold which we are always ready to send over the ocean if conditions warrant.

The person who contributes something to "help fill the paper" should call around and take a look at the waste basket.

The worm can turn if it wants to. They are now making artificial silk that cannot be told from the real thing.

Slayer Of Infant May Not Pay Full Penalty For Crime

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 9.—Judge R. H. Koch was today consulting with Judges R. P. Hicks and Henry Houck as to whether Mrs. Eva Berger of St. Clair, shall be sent to the electric chair for the smothering of her infant child to death.

It appeared certain that Mrs. Berger will not be given the extreme punishment and it has been indicated by the prosecution that a second degree verdict will be satisfactory.

Mrs. Berger is the first person in 20 years to throw themselves on the mercy of the court by pleading guilty of murder.

Joseph Christock left the verdict in his case to the court 20 years ago and the judges ordered him executed. The sentence was carried out.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Traces of yesterday's nervousness were still in evidence in the stock market this morning and the active industrial stocks wabbled unsteadily over a broken course, with about as many declines as advances. A few of the specialties jumped up 1 to 7 points at the start, Radio taking the limit at 366, and General Electric selling 3 points higher. Studebaker carried the palm for the motor stocks, moving up more than 3 points.

The motor stocks, the coppers and the railroad shares, with a few of the specialties, were the first to throw off the effect of speculative selling and to move up into the higher price levels. Studebaker got back to 84½ in a rapid turnover, Chrysler was boosted 2½ points to 124¾, Hupp and Hudson were fairly strong. International Nickel, in the metal stocks, equalled its best price of 55½, and Anaconda Copper was a favorite above 199.

The Standard Oils led a mild rally in the oil list, with Marland, Phillips and Sinclair tagging along for a point or two.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 9.—With receipts for the registration of motor vehicles about stabilized in Pennsylvania proponents of good roads will use that as a argument to the present legislature for increasing revenues. In 1928 the receipts for the bureau of motor vehicles was approximately $27,210,000 or 4.6 per cent above the totals for the corresponding year.

The percentage gain in revenue for 1922 from registration fees was the lowest since 1912 when it was 3.1 per cent. In 1925, 1926 and 1927 the gain was approximately 8.7 per cent each year. Between the years 1912 and 1924 the gain in income ranged from 12 to 65 per cent.

There are approximately 4500 miles of unpaved road on the state system. The governor proposes having the department take over county bridges and also maintain city streets that are parts of the system. This added expense when added to the increasing maintenance costs leaves little for new construction department officials say.

Since the defeat of the last $50,000,000 road loan there have been frequent rumors of a proposal to increase the tax on gasoline another cent or more. The revenue from the gas tax is increasing each quarter but not enough to meet the demands for new roads.

While the governor in his message did not favor any additional milage being added to the state system that will not prevent the members from introducing bills providing for new state highways. If there is any decided increase in the revenues of the highway department it is felt sure that an omnibus road bill will be passed. The milage will not be nearly as large as the one last session, however.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Perhaps this slim hip fad we hear about is the bunk, or perhaps the young ladies in question didn't care. Neither one of the three was what one could honestly term thin. Well put together if you get what I mean. Comfortable might be the better adjective.

Yet in spite of this slim hip fad, or whatever it is called there they were sitting in a restaurant eating their dessert. One of them eating chocolate pie, the second eating peach pie a la mode and the third with a yard of chocolate cake.

Fattening? Of course that kind of dessert is fattening, but the fair young things didn't seem to mind it a bit. They wanted their dessert and they had it.

New Wilmington seems to be taking the play for the next two nights. E. H. Sothern on Thursday evening and Duquesne basketball team on Friday evening. You can get drama or battle whichever you wish, and which ever you choose will be of the best.

Wonder what has happened to the January thaw? About this time every year the Old Settler begins talking about the annual January thaw, and the merchants begin getting their goods off the basement floor. But this year there isn't anything to thaw. All of which means that we will probably get that freezing weather in March or April and when we should be combing stones and debris out of a pansy bed we'll be combing icicles out of our whiskers.

You and I appreciate the vastness of the Cathedral on Lincoln avenue but it's an interesting study to see the reaction of outsiders to it. Two gentlemen from out of the city got their first look at the Cathedral Tuesday and they weren't pleased, they were amazed.

Dr. Charles R. Foster and Dr. J. Herbert Kelly were the two and after getting one look at the lobby and the auditorium they approved New Castle as the convention site for 1929 for the P. S. E. A.

Dr. Kelly's reaction was particularly interesting. It's just my idea that he hadn't made up his mind whether he would like New Castle as a convention site or not. But the Cathedral did the trick and after going through it he was more enthusiastic than a Florida land salesman.

Dr. Green, superintendent of schools has already about 1500 room reservations for the convention but it will take twice that. It's up to all of us to get back of this convention and show the educators of the state that no mistake has been made.

Later on in the year, something should be done in the way of arranging decorations for the downtown district, a big Glad Hand Committee should be formed and a lot of work done towards "selling" New Castle to the visitors. Any time a city can get delegates from every county in the state here, it's a smart idea to send them away with the idea that they were in one of the best cities in the state.

Fumigation Service Available, Hoon Says

Sanitary Policeman Louis Hoon today stated that fumigation for scarlet fever is not compulsory but persons desiring homes fumigated can secure the service.

The sanitary police go to the home and light a fumigation candle, generally in the room where the patient has been confined. This candle is free.

Some persons desire other portions of the home fumigated and in such cases 50 cents extra for each candle is charged. The money goes to the city treasury as a refund for the price of the candle.

Sothern Makes Reservations Here

Students and others interested in the drama who have anticipated hearing E. H. Sothern, noted Shakespearian actor, who is to speak at Westminster college Thursday evening of this week, will not be disappointed.

CAPTURE FARM HAND FOR DOUBLE MURDER

MAN ARRESTED NEAR GROVE CITY BY NEW CASTLE POLICE CONFESSES TO DOUBLE MURDER IN OHIO

Brought To New Castle Police Station After Being Apprehended—Makes Confession To Crime Before Local Officers And Sheriff Of Stark County, Ohio—Asserts Robbery Motive Of Killing Of Farmer And Wife On Last Saturday Night—Prisoner Says He Is Edward Kaltenbaugh, Aged 21 Years.

NEW CASTLE POLICE OFFICERS AFFECT CAPTURE NEAR MIDNIGHT

Through clues secured by the New Castle police department, Edward Kaltenbaugh, aged 21, of near Grove City, Pa., accused as murderer of John Oser and his wife, Bertha Oser, at their home in Canal Fulton, Stark County, Ohio, last Saturday night, was arrested at eleven o'clock Tuesday night, in an attic closet of his home, by New Castle and Stark county officers. He made a complete confession of the crime, officers announce.

Immediately following his apprehension, he was brought to this city, where at the office of Chief of Police C. C. Horner, in the presence of Sheriff Edward Gibson, of Stark County, Ohio, and a number of local police officers, he made a confession of the double crime, and was also positively identified by John Blasko, aged 18, of Bergholz, Ohio, his predecessor at the Oser farm, as the man, who succeeded him as farm hand on that farm, police report.

Declare Robbery Is Motive.

Robbery, according to his signed confession, was his only motive in killing these two well known residents of Canal Fulton, Ohio. He secured but twenty dollars.

His actions since arrest indicate that he may be weak minded, police says. Apparently he is unaware of the terrible crime that he committed, they relate.

After making his confession and also an affidavit to the effect that he would waive all rights of extradition and return to Canton, Ohio, of his own free will, he was taken to the home of Mayor William H. Gillespie, Rhodes Place, where he signed the confession and affidavit and the mayor in accordance with the legal formalities gave him a hearing, then turned him over to Sheriff Gibson.

According to Sheriff Gibson, all he had to work on, was the fact that the murderer's name was "Eddie" and that he had a girl in New Castle about whom he was "crazy."

Follow Trail Here.

With this little thread of circumstantial evidence, Sheriff Gibson came direct here following the discovery of the murder and presented the facts to the local police department.

It was the work of the New Castle police department, which resulted in establishing the identity of the girl here and his final arrest Tuesday night.

Sheriff Edward Gibson, of Stark County, Ohio, in a statement to the representative of The News, early this morning, said that the $1,000 reward offered by Stark county Tuesday morning for the arrest and conviction of the Oser murderer, would go to the New Castle police department.

Identity of the murderer, unknown to any person, except possibly the dead people and himself, was established Monday night and Tuesday morning.

Get First Clues.

About six o'clock Monday night, when Sergeant James P. Steiner received a call from a Mrs. S. L. Festoso, of 12 Cass street, a short distance from the Cascade Park stop of the Harmony line to the effect that there had been a man, whom she believed to answer the description of the man wanted for the Canal Fulton, Ohio, murder, at her home. He had asked when the next car went to Ellwood City, and had also made some calls on the telephone.

Detective John Young and Officer Letera were detailed on the call. They found that the man had made three telephone calls to people in the city. Mrs. Fastoso had not heard the numbers but had heard him mention Gladys Espy in the course of a conversation. She thought he was talking to this girl, as he stated he would be in Ellwood City as soon as the car would take him there and for the person called to be at some drug store about nine o'clock, where he would call him.

Girl Is Questioned.

Sergeant G. C. Syling and Officer M. J. Young went to the home of this girl, near Clifton Flats, about six o'clock Tuesday morning and interviewed the young lady, who is eighteen years of age.

Asked if she had been going with any youth, she stated that she had been "going" with a young man named Edward Kaltenbaugh, who lived with his mother near Grove City. This was the first inkling that any person had as to the possibly identity of the man sought as the murderer of the Oser's.

She told of having been going with him for about three months. She said he had been at her home with her about an hour on Sunday night. Questioned closely, it was evident to the officers that she did not know that Kaltenbaugh was wanted for any crime.

Sheriff Gibson was notified Tuesday morning, and before starting to this city, went to the commissioners of Stark county, Ohio, and had a reward of $1,000 posted.

The sheriff and his deputy, Al Ball, also John Blasko, who was the only person available to identify the farm hand that followed him, in the Oser employ, rushed to this city.

On his arrival here, plans were laid for the apprehension of Kaltenbaugh.

Officers Go To Home.

Early Tuesday evening, Lieutenant of Police Peter Hillers and Detective John Young of the local police force, Constable A. S. Leslie of this city and Deputy Sheriff Al Ball of Canton, left in the police car for the home of Kaltenbaugh, it being figured that he was going to his home.

The address secured was Grove City, R. D. No. 11, which proved to be about four miles west of Grove City. They arrived there shortly before 11 o'clock Tuesday night.

They found that his mother was a widow with some ten or eleven other children. On the arrival of the officers, the mother denied that he was there. Some of the officers noticed a hat believed to be his.

The search of the house was made, Detective Young and Deputy Sheriff Ball going to the attic. There under the eves of the roof, they discovered a door leading into what proved to be a closet.

Found In Hiding.

They lifted up the door, it being necessary to open it, flashed their lights and discovered Kaltenbaugh crouched away back in one corner under a long overcoat. He was ordered out of his place, the officers pulling their gun and taking no chances, not knowing whether he was armed or not. Finally with a "silly" smile on his face he came out and was immediately handcuffed by Officer Young.

The other officers of the party were searching other parts of the home. The start to this city was made immediately with the prisoner.

Here his confession was secured, being taken down as given, by Sergeant James P. Steiner.

Tells Of Crime.

In his confession he stated that the murder occurred between 7:30 and 8 p. m. on Saturday evening, January 5, 1929. He first went to the window of the Oser milk shed where he saw Mr. Oser at work.

He then returned to the kitchen of the Oser home and secured Mr. Oser's own thirty-two calibre rifle from behind the door of that room, walked out to the milk shed and shot Mr. Oser through the window.

He then went to the side of the house and as he did so Mrs. Oser came out the rear of the house. He shot her down at a point in the rear of the garage, next to the milk shed.

He left her there. Both victims were shot through the head.

He then went into the house, secured his clothing and took the Oser auto from the garage. He took the cover from the spare tire to prevent identification of the car.

Then he went to the Oser bedroom and took $20 in one dollar bills, from the dresser.

He started in the car for Youngstown. He stopped at a gasoline station just outside of Canton and asked the man in charge how to get to Youngstown. The man told him to go by way of Route 19.

He stopped at Youngstown almost all that night. He abandoned the car between one and two a. m. and then went uptown in Youngstown.

Here Sunday Night.

He took the New York Central train for Pittsburgh at six o'clock Sunday morning, the sixth. Sunday evening he came to this city and went to see his girl here. He was with her about an hour. He then went uptown in New Castle where he stayed all night.

Monday morning he went to Butler. He returned here about 3 p. m. Monday. He took the Harmony car at six o'clock Monday evening for Ellwood City. He stayed there all night. He then went on to Butler again Tuesday morning, going from there to his home near Grove City, where he was arrested by Lieutenant Hillers, Detective Young, Constable Leslie and Deputy Al Ball.

When arrested, he had in his possession the overcoat of the murdered man, which he wore to this city and had been wearing previous to his capture, according to Sheriff Gibson. In the pocket of the coat were the gloves of the murdered man, a bottle of liniment and another patent medicine preparation.

The sheriff, his deputy, John Blasko, and the prisoner left about 3:30 o'clock this morning for Canton, expecting to arrive there about daylight.

In the room of the Oser home where he secured the twenty dollars, were Harold, aged 7, and Carl, aged 11 months, the children of the murdered couple. He did not disturb them as they lay there sleeping.

Harold woke up about 8:30 a. m. Sunday went out to seek his parents and found the dead body of his father in the milk house. He secured his pony and rode to a neighbor named Edwards and told what had happened.

The alarm was spread and the sheriff notified and the hunt for the murderer started.

The man under arrest is tall, fair haired, wears a continual "silly" smile. He had on a brownish gray colored suit.

New York Mourns Death Of Rickard; Burial Wednesday

Many Warm Friends Of Late Famous Fight Promoter Meet Body At Station Today

Body Of Late "Tex" Rickard Will Lie In State In New Madison Square Garden

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—New York's hard heart skipped a beat today as the sporting world mourned the sad homecoming of George L. (Tex) Rickard, the master showman who made the metropolis the boxing center of the universe.

Many of the thousands who knew the promoter along the great white way gathered at Pennsylvania station this morning for a glimpse of the massive bronze casket bearing the body.

After being taken in its $15,000 coffin from the station to Campbell's funeral parlors, later the body was to be taken to the new Madison Square Garden, "the house that Tex built."

Body to Lie in State

In the grand temple of fistiania where the maker of champions saw the rise and fall of so many champions, the body was to lie in state this afternoon and tomorrow. Scheduled sports events were called off so that the coffin might be placed in the center of the arena. Close friends of Rickard, including the 600 millionaires in the Madison Square Garden Corporation, were to be the first to visit the Garden. The general public will not be admitted until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon the doors will be closed to the public and the Six above was the lowest reading in Oil City and three above was the official reading at Franklin.

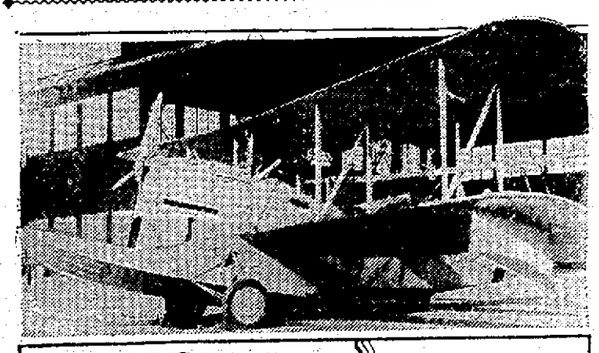
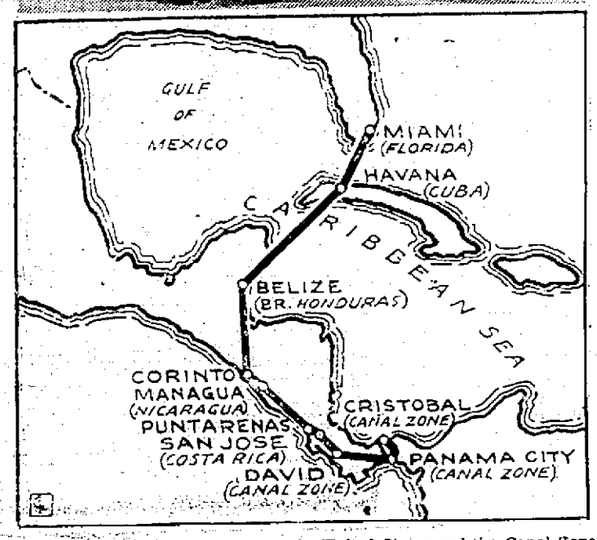
AIR MAIL LINKS U. S. AND PANAMA





With air mail service between the United States and the Canal Zone a reality, on January 11, it becomes possible to send a letter by air from Florida to Panama in 19 hours, whereas seven days are required for a steamer to make the trip. Distance requiring 20 days by steamer will be traversed by planes in 36 hours. Above is an amphibian plane used on a link in the new line, which the map indicates extends from Miami, Fla., to Cristobal, Panama, a distance of 2,600 miles.

CREW OF ARMY PLANE IN 150 HOUR FLIGHT RECUPERATES FROM GRIND

Motors Give Out And Force Huge Plane To End Record Flight

Plane In Air Nearly Seven Days; Far Eclipses All Former Records

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 8.—Aviation enthusiasts were speculating today on just what official record would be allowed the army plane Question Mark following her epic endurance test which terminated late yesterday after more than 150 hours of continuous flying.

The giant brown and gold plane was forced to give up the monotonous grind of nearly seven days after one of her three motors went "cold" and another began to sputter. It glided to a safe landing, touching Metropolitan air field at 2:07 p. m. after being in the air 150 hours, 40 minutes and 15 seconds.

The crew of five men smiled triumphantly. They appeared to be in good physical condition, though tired and half deaf from the roar of the motors.

Although the Question Mark unofficially has wiped every endurance mark for all type of aircraft from the skies, it was pointed out that the record flight of 65 hours and 25 minutes, established by two Germans without refueling, probably would stand unimpaired in the official records.

The Question Mark remained aloft more than twice as long, but did so by refueling in the air. The former refueling record of 60 hours and seven minutes, held by two Belgians, of course, yielded to the sensational feat of the army plane.

The Question Mark rolled up the stupendous estimated total of 10,550 miles in her famous six-and-a-half-day cruise. Only part of this mileage, however, will be taken into official consideration, since the great army plane was forced to fly in circles for

See Extra Session Call For Congress As Near Certainty

President-Elect Hoover Apparently To Be Forced To Call Extra Session

Hoover Will Likely Be Required To Curtail Proposed Caribbean Trip

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Confronted by an apparently inevitable extra session of Congress in early spring, President-elect Hoover faced the necessity today of sharply curtailing his projected Caribbean tour next month.

As he resumed his conferences with congressional leaders at his hotel headquarters today, Hoover's chief interest centered upon a date for the assembling of the new Congress. Assured that the congestion in the present session precludes all possibility of comprehensive agricultural legislation before March 4, the President-elect is reconciled to the task of accommodating his own pre-inaugural program to the added preparatory work involved in the special session. To this end he likely will be compelled to reduce the proposed Caribbean tour to a mere week-end visit to Havana. His tentative program contemplated stops in Santo Domingo, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Although Hoover has remained si-

Find Frozen Body Under Straw Stack During Morning

Discovery Made By "Mose" Wharton At McConnell's Mills Barn

MAN ABOUT SEVENTY YEARS OLD, BELIEF

Officials Making Effort To Identify Remains; Believed Local Man

The frozen body of a man was found under the straw in a barn at McConnell's Mills this morning on a farm now owned by Thomas Hartman of this city. The body was uncovered by "Mose" Wharton, who is employed by Mr. Hartman, and who has been a well-known character at McConnell's Mills for over a quarter of a century.

"Mose" kept a cow in the barn, which is located at the top of the hill, a short distance north of the mill. This morning he went up into the haymow to throw down some straw. The tang of his pitchfork struck some hard object. Pulling away the straw "Mose" uncovered the

Relief Coming From Cold Wave

Mercury Rising In Chicago; Conditions Clearing In West

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—Relief from Chicago's record cold wave will come today, according to the local forecast bureau. From an unofficial low mark of 5 degrees under zero, reached at 2 o'clock this morning. The mercury was expected to rise to 25 above by late afternoon.

The death toll in Chicago as a direct result of the present sub zero wave reached four today when the body of an unidentified man was found in a doorway, where he had apparently sought shelter from the cold.

Conditions west of Chicago were reported clearing today. Trains were maintaining better shedules, although traffic conditions along the highways were reported about the same. Heavy snows which preceded the drop in temperature have lain unmelted, holding many stalled automobiles in their frigid embrace.

She stood on the corner, a lonesome lass, her cheeks were blue with the winter chill, she waited there for a car to pass, the minutes passed and she stood there, still. A lad drew up in a motor car, he knew her not, but his heart was right and he stopped the car for the lonesome lass, he wanted to help in her chilly plight. "Will you ride with me" asked the lad of her, but she held her head with a saucy tilt, and she threw a look that was rather dark, a look designed to completely wilt. So the lad drove on, and his car was warm, but the lady still stood on the corner there, and the lad kept muttering to himself, "well if she freezes, why I don't care". For she wouldn't accept of his kindly works, though the lass was chilled to the very core, so he left her there on the chilly curb, the weather is chilly, twenty-four.

Influenza In City Fails To Warrant Red Cross Action

Neither City Or County Health Authorities Ask For Assistance

CHAPTER STANDS READY TO SERVE

So far it has not been necessary for the Lawrence county chapter of the American Red Cross to take action in regard to the influenza situation in New Castle and the county districts, according to Executive Secretary Pat J. Dempsey, who had charge of the chapter arrangements here.

"Health authorities tell us that the flu is on the wane in the county," said Mr. Dempsey—"and we certainly hope it is. However, the chapter still remains ready for an unexpected emergency that might possibly arise. It is always best to be prepared.

"Immediately after the outbreak of the epidemic a month or so ago, Red Cross headquarters in Washington advised us on what preventative channels we should proceed in. They instructed us to get ready for any emergency, and to stand ready to assist public health authorities at a moment's notice. This was done, but so far it has not been necessary for the chapter to act."

lent since his return to Washington Sunday, his conferences with house and Senate leaders have substantiated reports that farm relief and tariff revision will be linked in the special session. Should this program be approved by Hoover, the new administration would be set off to the tune of one of the most important sessions since the Harding post-war Congress of 1921. Here, for the first time since the war, the clash of the "protected East—with its cry for high tariff barriers—and the agricultural West—with its demand for economic equality—would be decided or compromised in a legislative arena unencumbered by the myriad sub-plots of the usual regular session.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho was on the list of callers at Hoover headquarters today, as were Rep. Walter Newton of Minnesota, Robinson of Kentucky and Free of California, and Senor F. Gurgel do Amaral, the Brazilian ambassador.

Flu Crisis Over At Union High

"The 'flu' situation here is over as far as we are concerned," said Principal Ray F. Conway of the Union High school, Scotland Lane, this morning. The present absentee cases are about one or two per cent over normal there at the present time.

According to Mr. Conway, the decrease in the number of absentees came with the resumption of school immediately after the holidays.

BEAUTIFUL DUET SUNDAY EVENING

Featuring the services Sunday evening at the Emmanuel Baptist church when Rev. H. R. Hughes of Youngstown, O., delivered the sermon, was the vocal duet rendered by Mrs. R. T. Mrs. Morris has long been known as one of the city's sweetest singers, while Mrs. Clements, a recent arrival in this city with her husband from Wales, is a singer of rare ability. the many outside electrical decorations that it sponsored. While some of the trees that were utilized to adorn their respective neighborhoods during the holidays have not been brought down as yet, steps to remove them at once will be made shortly, Pa Newc believes, like many others, that the trees serve the city well during the holiday season but should be brought down immediately after.

Old time resident of New Castle remarked to young Pa Newc this morning that the frozen Neshannock creek today presents quite a contrast to that of years ago. Said he: "Up on the ice at the place where the Rural avenue hill, the dug out, comes down to the Neshannock there used to be hundreds of skaters all day long and in the evening enjoying the great outdoor sport on the ice. Every day there would be flocks of skaters there." But now the man laments that even one skater is seldom seen in that place. There are some along other places in the course of the stream perhaps, but Pa Newc doubts that there are very many.

Never before in the history of Pa Newc fils stay in New Castle have the street cars been as crowded as they were this morning. Usually, on the North Hill at least, there are seats until the car gets to Park or Boyles avenue, but this morning commuters who got on the cars at Garfield avenue found that they had to stand. And then, there were the usual number of gentlemen who offered ladies their seats. And that number, on one car, was just one.

If enthusiasm is a criterion of success, the visitation evangelism campaign now going on in the city will be a marked success. Everyone was pleased last night at the Highland United Presbyterian church when the Rev. Dr. A. Earl Kernahan announced that 428 had made the Christian decision. And the workers went from the meeting resolved to report just as many if not more decisions this evening.

Street car men report that there was a difference of five or six degrees in the temperature down town this morning, and on the outskirts of the city. It was around zero on the outskirts, while down town it was six to eight above.

And by the way, quite a number of the persons who are in a habit of driving down town in their auto, each morning, came down on the street cars today. Difficulty in starting the autos was ascribed as a cause for the change in plans.

New Castle street department employes are busy hauling ashes to some of the streets where the weather conditions of the past month have resulted in traffic "breaking through." The roads are all frozen now, but when another thaw sets in, the improvement will be quite noticeable.

Won't be long now until Groundhog day, and then spring is just over the horizon.

Lawrence county will have a site of unusual interest to tourists going through the district when the new game propogation farm near Harlansburg gets into full swing. This will be one of two state preserves of the kind, and it is anticipated will develop into quite an interesting place in a few years. Birds and game for restocking the Western Pennsylvania section of the state will be raised here. As a tribute to State Secretary of Agriculture Dr. Charles G. Jordan, who was largely responsible for the preserve being located in Lawrence county, the farm will be named the Charles G. Jordan farm, it is announced.

Pa Newc noticed this morning a prominentresident and banker enroute to his daily work, wearing an old fashioned, honest to goodness pair of ear lugs, that kind that hooks up over the ears and down under the chin.

Pa Newc can imagine the nice warm language that was spilled around the vicinity of the postoffice early this morning when the owner of a small coupe, of a new type, appeared to drive the car and discovered that the right front wheel was flat. Changing a tire with the temperature around zero, is most pleasant—nit.

long periods instead of traveling from point to point in straight flights.

The five authors of the latest chapter of aviation pioneering are Maj. Carl Spatz, commander; Capt. Ira C. Eaker, chief pilot; Lieuts. Harry A. Halverson and Elwood R. Quesada and Sergt. Roy Hooe.

Rested and relaxed, Capt. Eaker today told of the engine trouble that forced the army plane down.

"We made our last two refueling contacts on only two motors," he said. "That left engine had let us down. Sergt. Hooe clambered out in the cold wind to see if he could get it going again. It couldn't be repaired.

"We gradually started going down, and then the right motor started to sputter. Hooe was out on the catwalk trying to do what he could, but I realized then that the fight was about to end.

"Things happened quickly then. I told Halverson to watch the field—I didn't want to overshoot it. We came down in a long glide and that was that."

Cold Intense

Members of the crew, according to Capt. Eaker, spent their worst night over the Imperial valley.

"We simply could not fight the right air currents," he continued. "We would fight for altitude and then lose it in a few minutes. And the cold was intense."

The hearing of all was affected by the constant roar of the motors.

The crew today were recovering from the effects of their arduous flight by relaxing at a beach resort.

East Liverpool and Chester, W. Va., battle the blaze in near-zero weather, Mayor Fogo fell on an icy sidewalk, fracturing his leg. Firemen Orland Cunningham and Oscar Powers suffered injuries of the back in falls. Fireman Alfred Wandyne was overcome by the smoke. Mrs. Etta Kennedy, who fled with four families from an apartment, was stricken with a heart attack and is in a serious condition.

The fire destroyed the Buckeye Lumber & Building company's two-story frame plant, the Smith Hardware company's three-story frame warehouse, the Ervin Machine company's shop and two houses owned by D. F. Nellis and Mrs. O. D. Nice. The Smith company's apartment building adjoining the warehouse and other houses owned by Mrs. Nice and Mrs. Ella Bradfield were damaged.

First M. E. Chimes Ringing At Noon

Ringing of the chimes in the tower of the First Methodist church, North Jefferson and North streets, today, at the noon hour, caused a number of people to pause and wonder why the chimes were ringing at this time of the day as they usually ring on Sunday morning preceding the church service and before the Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

It was learned from the pastor, Dr. H. C. Weaver, that the chimes would ring each day this week, beginning at 12 o'clock and would continue for about fifteen minutes. They possibly will ring at this hour each day for an indefinite period.

The bells rang unusually clear today owing to the keen wintry air. It is believed that people leaving the shops and offices at this time will have their thoughts uplifted by the hearing of the gospel hymns.

Mr. Taylor, the church organist, is at the church at noon each day and play the chimes.

ceiving the call. The place being outside the jurisdiction of the city, he at once notified the office of the sheriff.

There being no person available there to send out on the call, the state police were notified by the sheriff's office and members of the force went on the call. After securing all possible information, they sought the sedan and its occupants, but were unable to come in contact with them.

The evident purpose of the men in the sedan was the abandonment of the little baby at some home where it would receive the proper care.

"I know an easy way to keep from getting fat..... Light a Lucky instead of eating sweets."

Nazimova
Famous Stage Star

THE modern way to diet! Light a Lucky when fattening sweets tempt you. That's what thousands of lovely women are doing—successfully. The delicately toasted flavor of Luckies makes them a delightful alternative for fattening sweets. Toasting does it. Toasting removes the impurities and improves the flavor of the finest tobacco. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Men who pride themselves on keeping fit discovered this long ago. They know that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition—many prominent athletes have testified to this fact. They discovered, too, that Luckies don't irritate the throat—a fact subscribed to by 20,679 physicians.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

HOOVER BACK IN WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT-ELECT HERBERT HOOVER is back in Washington, after completing his good will tour of South American countries. His return was accomplished with quiet dignity that was impressive. Mr. Hoover in the few weeks that he has been away has accomplished a great deal for the United States it is believed. He has accomplished a mission of state of the utmost importance in the international relations of the United States in the New World. The president-elect has given a definite forecast of a constructive and progressive foreign policy during his administration and has apparently laid for a long time to come the ghost of American imperialism, raised by so many misguided demagogues in the republics of Central and South America.

Mr. Hoover is in Washington for the purpose of putting in order his plans for his inauguration and for the formation of his cabinet. It is very likely that citizens will get another demonstration of calm efficiency and speed in the disposal of the myriad problems that have accumulated for his action. The visit of the president-elect to Washington will probably last but a few days after which he will go south for a rest. The definite destination has not been given out, but it is indicated that Mr. Hoover will elude the hordes of office and job seekers for a number of weeks longer, prior to actually taking up his residence in Washington as president of the United States.

It is probable that his tour of Mexico and the nations of the Carribean may be accomplished before March 4. Mr. Hoover is breaking a number of traditional programs followed by presidents-elect, which give every assurrance that when he takes the oath of office, he will be an aggressive and outstanding president.

THE CONTEST FOR A SAFER AIRPLANE

THE announcement of the Daniel Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics, that a dozen airplane manufacturers in this country and abroad have entered the competition for the development of an airplane which will compare favorably with the motor car in ease and safety of operation, is full notice of an early development which may have a most important effect upon the future of aviation. The first prize is $100,000, with five lesser prizes of $10,000 each. The contest will close next October. The basic requirements are amazingly difficult. They include landings at slow speed, stopping after a short roll over the ground and stability under all sorts of weather conditions and stresses. The ideal is a plane which will be safe even in the hands of an inexpert operator, and designs now being worked out in the United States, though surrounded with great secrecy, would indicate that very considerable progress has been made toward this objective. It is significant that one of the foreign entries is the Cierva Auto-Gyro, a combination of the plane and helicopter idea which was operated successfully abroad and is now being demonstrated in this country.

The extraordinary safety records attained in the commercial air services in the past few years have emphasized the fact that the danger of operation of thoroughly inspected and efficiently manned modern planes is rapidly diminishing to a point where this form of aviation is comparable with other public transportation services. The greatest number of accidents occur now in the naval and military branches, in experimental work and in "stunting," either for good reasons or recklessly. That sort of thing cannot, of course, be held as a count against the safety of the national airways, nor will it be in the minds of intelligent citizens.

At the same time the vision of a fool-proof airplane has been quite beyond the horizon of most persons. To discover that a dozen manufacturers are now entered in a prize competition for its attainment is welcome news indeed.

STATE HOME FOR TEACHERS

AT A meeting of state educators in Reading lately one speaker predicted a movement would soon be started to provide a home for retired school teachers. The idea is something of an innovation; for modern welfare has been little directed toward this problem. Development of a pension plan had been thought to anticipate the needs of public servants in their later years, while institutional care has largely been left to private enterprise for the aged in all walks of life. Soldiers and sailors constitute an exception for whom the government has sought to create a shelter in addition to such maintenance as available during their active careers.

In fact, social service experts have looked askance at community schemes for housing the superannuated. Under a consolidation plan affecting counties, alms-houses will become fewer rather than more numerous in Pennsylvania. The mothers' assistance plan helps by preserving the family as an economic unit. The old "workhouse" has an unsavory fame in America no less than in the land of Dickens. This principle which has been favored for the poor applies no less to those in more independent circumstances. For that reason one may seriously doubt whether many school teachers would desire a public haven in their declining years.

Today their lot is vastly different from a generation ago. Their profession, no longer precluding the prospect of marriage, often proves an apprenticeship for family responsibility. Old world cultures fostered a notion of class consciousness which kept the teacher apart from ordinary social intercourse. In the United States these caste barriers could not successfully resist a pressure probably greater on the outside than within. But if some still prefer the dormitory mode of living the teachers themselves have only to make their wants manifest. The initiative rests with them. —Philadelphia Inquirer.

Foolish Repelling.
Who Drives Fat Oxen.

Britain threatens a combination of automobile companies "to repel the American invasion."

That means General Motors increasing shipments to all Europe with big assembly plants.

It means also Henry Ford's "Ford Limited" $35,000,000 European company promising to build 200,000 Ford cars a year in England alone and right away.

Great Britain will not find it easy to "repel" that invasion. You can't beat champions with cripples no matter how many cripples you assemble. American manufacturers will show Britain how to use British labor and materials profitably. Britain should be grateful instead of talking "invasion."

Scientists say the "misuse of leisure by the masses" will make necessary the creation of a special governing class that will compel the masses to work more earnestly, use their leisure more intelligently.

It is a little too soon to judge the masses and their "misuse of leisure." They haven't much leisure now. Until recently they didn't have any, except on Sundays.

Those that really misuse leisure and opportunity are not the poor amusing themselves in tehir own way but the rich that have power and lack intelligence or ambition to make good of it.

Dr. Elliott of New York's Ethical Culture school says those that teach ethics to children should have "a sense of sin." The teacher says the learned doctor "should first convict himself of sin."

Just how convincing yourself of sin would help your pupils is not clear. Abelard was a good teacher but otherwise imperfect.

More important than a sense of sin is knowledge of evolution including the fact that children if normal, all pass through a state of savagery, even of animalism.

Emotions appear in human babies in the same order as in the animal ranks. first fear, then anger., then jealousy. The Apache's cruelty is born in them, and the Arab's pilfering.

Whoever expects children to be angels forgets his own childhood.

Dr. Johnson did not like the saying "Who rules o'er freemen must himself be free." He said "You might as well say, 'Who drives fat oxen, must himself be fat.' "

A teacher needs knowledge and common sense kindness.

When this was written Sunday evening te army monoplane Question Mark had almost reached 130 hours of continuous flight surpassing by many hours all records for all kinds of machines, lighter than air included.

That is an honor of our army, our airplane and the engine manufacturers, and it is important to future flying for various reasons.

One difficulty in ocean flight has been the great weight of enough gasoline to make the distance.

All remember the difficulty that ocean fliers have had getting off the ground.

Lindbergh shortly after his return told the writer "The sensible route to Europe is via the Azores with a stop there to take on fuel, starting out with a lighter load."

Question Mark proves that no stop is necessary. One or several planes could fly up from the Azores, taking fuel to a trans-Atlantic flier.

Midocean stations might answer the same purpose.

Air mail will be able to go straight through from coast to coast, refueling in full flight, and passengers should soon make the ocean-to-ocean trip inside or 24 hours. Eventually more powerful and less weight, or wireless power, will solve the problem.

When iron boats run by steam were first suggested for trans-Atlantic work, serious engineers said that even if they could cross the ocean they could not possibly carry enough coal for the trip.

Rabbi Feinburg says science and religion should unite, not quarrel. "Humanity needs a more scientific religion and a more religious science" says the rabbi.

The wise Greek told the tyrant that the world would become happy when kings became philosophers or philosophers became kings. The tyrant did not like the suggestion.

Religionn resents any suggestion of changes or modification and quite naturally, since modification is confession of an earthly origin.

The rabbi remembers how the great synagogue in Spain excommunicated Maimonides with many curses because the wise "Rambam" translating Greek-philosophy into Hebrew invented new Hebrew words the old Hebrew language possessing no words to express abstract thought.

Maimonides did not worry. He had a good job as physician to the Khedive of Egypt ,a Mohammedan. In Cairo neither Jews nor Christians could get at him.

Recently Messrs. Ramsey and O'Bannion printed their "Tipton Daily Tribune" on excellent newspaper made from cornstalks. The Tipton Tribune is first in Indiana and second in the world to use the cornstalk paper. The Commercial News of Danville, Ill., used it first.

These newspapers are to be congratulated on their enterprise that may render great service to bigger

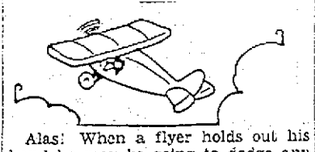
Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:51. Sun rises tomorrow 7:22.

One thing about the heroes in the old novels—they always paid off the mortgage.

When five or six thousand fine public school folks come to New Castle next December it will mean that every loyal citizen will be a host to the visitors. Make 'em feel like coming here and starting an industry—or something.

A high school debate team recently won the affirmative side of a forsenic encounter on the questionable proposition "Resolved that honesty is the best policy." Inclined as we are to doubt it, it must be so.



Alas! When a flyer holds out his hand he may be going to dodge any one of four ways.

An invention has been completed which opens automobile doors just by the sound of the horn when the driver gets to the door and blows the horn The sound sets loose something that sets something going and the doors go open. If some birds we see get near any of those doors we can see garage doors flying open in every direction if the mere blowing of a horn will open them. Most of those offenders do not even blow their own horns. In some places they yank those babies right into the jail house.

YOU CAN'T TALK SENSE IF YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT WORDS MEAN

There is just one way to discover the correct meaning of words. That is to consult a book called the dictionary.

People who trust to their imagination instead of consulting the dictionary are in danger of talking a great deal without saying anything.

Nearly all arguments are caused by the failure of two people to understand one another, and the reason they don't understand one another is because they do not trust a common authority for their definitions.

Almost everybody uses the word "falsehood" as a synonym for "lie". To say that a man utters a falsehood is a polite way of calling him a liar.

And yet a falsehood isn't a lie. There is nothing dishonorable about a falsehood. It is untrue, to be sure, but so is a fairy tale.

A falsehood is an untrue assertion; an error; a want of accuracy. And it may be uttered with the best of intensions. It may be the poor result of an effort to tell the truth.

A lie is a falsehood, plus. It is a falsehood uttered or acted for the purpose of deception. You can act a lie as well as speak it; the thing that makes it a lie is the intention to deceive.

The snake, the bird, the insect and the beast that wear protective coloration so they will blend into their background and deceive their enemies are liars. Nature made them liars. Which seems to establish the fact that the lie is a part of nature's scheme of things, even though the devil is the father of it.

Another word commonly misunderstood, or commonly used to express something not intended, is "moral".

According to the dictionary, the thing that is moral springs from "man's natural sense of what is right and wrong." You may think man has no such sense; that he must learn to distinguish between what is right and what is wrong. But if you wish to use a word intelligently, you must use it in the sense established and accepted by good usage. You can't make definitions to please yourself. The purpose of the dictionary is to establish definitions for all of us, so that we can understand one another.

If "moral" springs from man's natural sense of what is right and wrong, then there is nothing immoral about dancing, gambling, fighting, beer drinking or one-piece bathing suits. These things are shocking to good people trained to abominate them, but they do not violate man's natural sense of right and wrong. The savage honors another man's property rights and has standards of virtue, but nakedness doesn't shock him and he delights in his primitive dance.

Yet another word much abused is "friend". Is a friend an acquaintance with whom you can get along without fighting? Is he one who merely refrains from doing you hurt? No; he is one "who entertains for another such sentiments of esteem, respect and affection that he seeks his society and welfare". You "get along" with many people who aren't your friends. If they were your friends you would seek their society and welfare. And the fact that you don't go out of your way to be with them or make any special effort to advance their interests, is proof enough that they aren't your friends. To call them friends is to abuse this long-suffering mystery called the English language.

Sounds funny to hear a Republican say "you-all".

The Chinese are credited with a surprising number of remarkable inventions but knives and forks are not among them.

A great many newspapers in Pennsylvania have carried stories to the effect that ten state senators slept soundly while Gov. Fisher was delivering his message in the senate to the members last week. Well, while they were asleep they were not doing anything detrimental anyhow.

They have invented a talking machine that changes its own records. Now if some bright chap will contrive a machine that will know when to stop playing it will leave nothing to be desired.

There are a lot of bozos who think one light is all that is necessary on an automobile. If all those birds were fined the amount would be enough each year to pave a street or two.

The presidential campaign cost both parties combined about eighteen million dollars and as usual the Republican received more and spent more than the Democrats. The Dems still owe about a million and a half and the Republicans have about that much of a surplus. Oh row-dee-dow-dow!

A Pittsburgh lady wants a divorce from her husband because he will not work. Some men make big mistakes when they marry. They should marry wives that will work.

The report is out that most all the horses are gone around here Well there are still many parts of horses left—horse shoes or sumpin

We notice an airship named "Qestion Mark." That is a good name for an airship because there is always a question as to what it will do.

If the husband is the one who favors twin beds, the lady shores.

It is getting easier every day to get into jail and harder to get out unless it is for murder or some other horrible crime.

It is going to be safer to fly when the trees, telegram poles and high buildings are taken down.

An ex-bartender in Washington D. C. has a plan to enforce prohibition better than it is being handled. He would fine each drinker so much for the drink he takes, some more for the second and for the third drink put him in jail. That bird must have it in for the congressmen and senators. He used to mix 'em up in the senate bar and evidently knows a few things.

The national debt of the United States was reduced about a billion dollars last year. Well the United States was prosperous acording to that.

Adjoining the chamber in which congress mets in Washington there has been for years a lunch room where the members of congress got their sandwiches, etc. A health officer there declares this eating place is the dirtiest in Washington and it has ben done away with as an eating foundry. Oh, wham de doodle wham!

We have found good use for the old Christmas trees. We take all the branches off the tree leaving a bit of each branch about two inches long. In the spring we stick it in the ground and plant morning glories or some other fast growing vine about the base it it and soon there is a pillar of bloom. This is not making a silk purse out of a sow's ear but it's about as good.

Action Of High Court Awaited In Bootleg Conspiracy Case

Public Speculates With Interest On Effect If Buyer Of Liquor May Be Convicted Along With The Seller

When a Federal judge at Philadelphia held that a buyer of illegal liquor might be found guilty of conspiracy to transport his purchase, he started a countrywide argument as to what will be the effect if the supreme court sustains such a view of the law.

"More as a matter of policy than from strict regard for the logic of the situation," says the SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS, "Federal authorities have directed their prohibition enforcement efforts against the traffickers rather than against bootlegger and customer alike. Perhaps they would have obtained better results had they followed the latter course. Systematic prosecution is more likely to discourage the purchaser, who does not profit from the transaction, than to suppress the bootlegger, who follows the lawless trade for a living. * * * The court concludes that 'a conviction may be had of a buyer and a seller for conspiracy to transport liquor' where an order is given or an agreement exists and is followed by transportation, delivery and payment. Under that interpretation a great majority of liquor purchasers—as the traffic is conducted now—would be indictable."

"To some extent," as viewed by the PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE, "buyers have been hit through prosecution for having liquor in their possession, but the decision that under certain conditions the purchasers may be indicted with the sellers as conspirators will, if it holds, undoubtely lead to a new practice on the part of the enforcement officers. * * * Irrespective of what views may be held on the principle of prohibition, it will be generally agreed that enforcement of the law would be greatly accelerated if purchasers as well as sellers of the contraband goods could be punished. But the danger of abuse of such power would have to be recognized at the same time. A strict guard would have to be kept against the seeing of conspiracy where there was none."

"The decision may patch up one loophole in the existing law," according to the PROVIDENCE BULLETIN, "but it will take a lot more patchwork before prohibition becomes anything more than a costly and unsuccessful experiment." The Bulletin thinks that those who seek liquor "will decide, probably, to be more careful in making their purchases," and that "they will buy from bootleggers who are not located at a distance' from the place where the liquor is to be consumed. Judge Kirkpatrick implied in his important decision," continues that paper, "that an agreement to transport the liquor must exist before the conspiracy charge can be brought forward. He implied that if a purchaser simply called to the attention of a bootlegger the fact that the former might be 'in the market' for a supply of liquor, the purchaser would not be involved by conspiracy in the actual delivery of the liquor to his own home."

"The ruling may be classed," the TEXARKANA GAZETTE asserts, however, "as considerable of a victory for enforcement," and the Gazette continues: "If congress would amend the Volstead act, making purchase of liquor an offense, as well as sale of it, another step would be taken for better enforcement." The WATERLOO TRIBUNE wants to know: "Should the decision stand, when is the buyer not conspiring with the seller to break the law? If liquor is not home-made, it was transported. Having been transported, the buyer may be adjudged guilty of conspiring to transport, as the seller would not have transported without assurance that he could sell. Maybe an entering wedge has been shoved in. Maybe there is opportunity to reach the average buyer and make him guilty along with the seller in present law."

"If congress should enact such a law," in the opinion of the BIRMINGHAM NEWS, "enforcement officers would then have the dual duty of detecting the buyer as well as the seller. Whether or not the liquor buyer would be more impressed by such a law than the liquor seller is by the law as it now reads is a question possible of lively differences of opinion. Possibly other Federal courts may adopt the ruling of the Philadelphia judge and proceed to penalize the liquor buyer as well as the liquor seller. In case this is done, the dockets of Federal courts are likely to become congested."

"Whether the buyer is as bad morally as the seller—and hence should be brought within the penalties of the law," suggests the BALTIMORE SUN, "may be debated, but congress did not so declare. To say that it did seems to be another case of judge-made law. * * * It makes another crime, and one of which millions are guilty. But it is not at all clear that prohibition enforcement will be so greatly aided by the decision as to warrant calling it 'one of the most important developments' yet witnessed in preventing bootlegging. The buyer will be no easier to trace than the seller; whose activities have had so much to do with breaking down the law. A possible and interesting sequel of the decision, however, may be an amendment of the Volstead act, flatly putting the buyer and seller in the same category, which congress has often been urged to do."

The declaration of the lower court that "the mere purchase of liquor is not an offense" is discussed by the NORFOLK LEDGER-DISPATCH, with the statement: "In all probability, if this case reaches the supreme court, it will sustain the decision of the lower court holding that the purchaser was guilty of a conspiracy which led to the transportation of liquor. It probably will not pass on the 'obiter dictum' relating to the purchase of liquor voiced by the lower court. But if a case involving an alleged conspiracy between a seller and a buyer comes before it squarely, then as the old phrase of the lawyers has it, 'Let the buyer beware'." The CONNELLSVILLE COURIER holds that unless the decision can be broadened to include both classes of transactions "it will not very materially aid in the cause of law enforcement."

"Nearly every bootleg sale involves the transportation factor," maintains the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, and the SHREVEPORT JOURNAL concludes: "The court's decision may eventually be sustained, but meanwhile there promises to be a powerful fight against it."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

JUST ONE MORE.

There is a story going the rounds about the two Scotchmen who made a bet, as to which of them could stay under water the longest. They both were drowned. That is a nasty lie and displays a venemous character possessed by the originator, but Sir Harry Lauder has told a newspaper man what he vouches for a true story and remember—Sir Harry is "fra 'mang the heather."

Sir Harry said that a Peebles man emigrated to America, and a bootlegger sold him a case of "genuine" Scotch that aroused his suspicions, so he put the case in his flivver and drove around to an analytical chemist's.

The chemist analyzed the Scotch and said: "This stuff is wood alcohol —poison. If you drink it, it won't kill you, but it will blind you, sure."

The Peebles man nodded and smiled. Then he took up his case of Scotch and started cheerfully for the door. But the chemist said: "Surely, you are not going to drink that stuff. It'll blind you."

"Oh, no," said the Scotchman. "I won't drink it, never fear; but I know a blind man to whom I can sell it."

No so bad for one Scotch born.

THE LESSER JOYS

Laughter and love and mirth
And of friendships tried and true,
A brave-hearted one or two:
These are the joys of earth,
The best that this life can give
However we choose to live.

A garden of summer flowers,
Books and an easy chair,
Small pleasures which we can share,
Though little or great our powers
Are the joys of our toilsome years
When the end of the way appears.

Not fortune or fame or place
Continue their charm for long,
Not ever the arm stays strong,
The joy of the hunt and chase,
With its sharp, insistent cry,
Grows wearisome by and by.

And the bravest of hearts requires
Glad hours of the lesser kind,
The calm and the peace of mind
That are found at his own hearth fire.
In friendships and flowers and mirth
He gathers the joys of earth.

Beck Takes Stand In Defense; Seat Is In Question

Representative James M. Beck, Of Pennsylvania, Fights For House Seat

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8. — Rep. James M. Beck (R) of Pennsylvania, ex-solicitor general and widely known lawyer, may take the floor in his own behalf today when objections are raised to a report of the elections committee recommending that he be seated.

His right to succeed Senator-elect William S. Vare in the first Pennsylvania district, Philadelphia, was assailed by Democrats, who contended that he was not a resident of the state.

Although Beck has maintained law offices in Washington and a summer home in Seabright, N. J., he asserted that he had qualified in Philadelphia by renting an apartment and paying taxes.

The committee report favoring him was held over from last year, the term under dispute expiring on March 4. Beck was re-elected last November.

Reps. Kent (D) of Pennsylvania and Garrett (D) of Tennessee, were expected to lead the opposition, declared that a grave constitutional question is involved. Beck said that the turn of the debate would decide whether he would defend himself.

NEW YORK MOURNS DEATH OF RICKARD; BURIAL WEDNESDAY

funeral services will begin at two o'clock.

Hammond in Charge

After the services the funeral procession will wind its way to Woodlawn cemetery, where the promoter will be buried in the family plot where his wife and infant daughter are interred. Nearby is the grave of "Bat" Masterson, Rickard's pal in the old days on the western frontier.

The funeral arrangements were announced by Colonel John S. Hammond, vice president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, who yesterday was selected by the board of directors to carry on as acting general manager.

Because of Rickard's breadth of religious view and his many friendships with men of all sects and creeds, it was planned to ask a Catholic priest, a rabbi and a Protestant minister to co-operate in the funeral services. The names of Father Duffy, chaplain of New York's fighting 69th Rabbi Stephen Wise and Bishop William T. Manning were considered.

Arrives in New York

Banked with flowers and floral offerings worth thousands of dollars, the casket containing the body of the dead promoter was borne into the Pennsylvania station in the baggage car of the Florida special at exactly 10:17 a. m.

Just as had been his lot in life, Rickard found crowds in death. And, in substance, it was the same crowd that assembled around him in Jersey City, in New York, in Philadelphia, in Chicago, the scenes of his greatest promotional efforts, that sorrowfully saw his homecoming today.

Police Handle Crowds.

The terminal was jammed when the great bronze casket in which the sport king's body rested was carried from the train. They were all there, the gallery gods, the ringside seaters, the main eventers, the preliminary boys, the managers, the writers, the sparring partners, the trainers, the seconds, in brief the same figures that were seen at every fight staged by the master promoter.

There were numerous celebrities, men of big affairs and big purses, in the crowd also.

Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen himself was on hand to see that 40 of his finest officers handled the throng.

Canal Fulton Murder Car Has Been Found

Sheriff Ed Beck of Canton, Ohio, this morning telephoned Chief of Police C. C. Horner of the city police force that he was leaving at once for Youngstown, where the Oser car driven by the alleged murderer, had been recovered.

He stated that a man was also under arrest there as a suspect in the murder case.

He stated he would inform the local authorities concerning the matter as soon as he could arrive in Youngstown and determine whether or not it was the man wanted.

Breaks Window In Leasure Ave. Store; Seized By Police

Joseph Reiber, who conducts a store at 112 Leasure avenue, complained to the police about 2 o'clock this morning that a man had broken out a window of his store, with the apparent intention of breaking into the place.

Officers M. J. Young and Dukes answered the call and found a man very much under the influence of liquor, who had broken the glass out of the front door of the store. He could give no good explanation as to the reason for doing so and was held in the city jail until later this morning, when he was permitted to go. Sentence was suspended on his promise to pay for the damage done.

FIND FROZEN BODY UNDER STRAW STACK DURING MORNING

feet of a man. "Get up, what are you doing here?" said "Mose". The man did not move.

"I didn't wait any longer," said "Mose", but beat it down the hill to the mill as fast as I could run". Former Constable James Rae, who has been doing some work for Mr. Hartman was at the mill. Rae called Coroner J. P. Caldwell, who with County Detective William Fleming, went out to investigate.

Body Is Uncovered

Upon removing the straw, they found the body of a man, apparently around 70 years of age. His hair, which had been black, was strongly mixed with gray. He had a gray moustache, and would weight in the neighborhood of 160 pounds.

He wore two pair of dark pants, good underwear, a sweater and an overcoat. As the face had been somewhat flattened by pressing against the straw, the face being downward, it was impossible to determine accurately the nationality, but he was either an Italian or an American, it is believed. The body was frozen stiff, and had possibly been in the hay mow a couple of days.

"Mose" says that the straw was placed in the mow last Friday. No marks of violence could be found on the head or face but the body has not yet been examined. Indications were that the man had crawled under the straw to sleep. Strength to the belief that the body is that of an Italian is given by the finding of an old time tintype picture in a locket or case. The picture is that of an Italian woman, apparently about middle age and wearing long ear rings. The picture, oval in form, was encased in a brass frame which fit into the larger case. The case is one of those which were popular thirty or forty years ago.

Has Good Watch.

A good gold "Hampden" hunting case watch and chain was found in his vest pocket. Attached to the chain was a square gold fob about three-fourths of an inch square, ornamented by a star and crescent with, the star being a small red stone and two green stones in the crescent.

Among papers found were a report card of the City of New Castle schools, 1928-29. Name of pupil on card, Norman Green, address, 618 West North street, West Side school, Hannah M. Walker, teacher, R. G. Leslie, principal. This card was partly burned at the bottom as though it might have been used to light a pipe.

There was a visiting card with the words, "Compliments of Ida Repman, Jan. 21." Year uncertain.

There was also a circular outlining the employees' stock plan of the Pennsylvania railroad, dated July 31, 1923. There was an identification pocketbook, but the name had not been written in. Also two purses, one empty and the other containing five cents. Also a pair of glasses and a razor. The latter was in a red case with one end of the case missing.

There was also a receipt for $15 rent, given by T. E. Smith of this city to Jennette Black, dated Aug. 30th, 1927, a household expense account book and some newspaper clippings, including a list of New Castle fire alarm boxes and a clipping of "Hints and Dints" from The News. The clipping was a letter to the Hints and Dints man, dated Jan. 19, 1927 and signed "A Traveler".

From the articles found in the man's pockets it is presumed that he was from this city. The body was taken to the R. L. Boyd funeral home on North Jefferson street, where it is being held pending efforts at identification. It is believed that the man may have relatives in this city. Any person who believes that he or she can identify the body should call at once at the Boyd Funeral home.

Learn from science that the value of a 150-pound man "on the hoof" as farmers say, assuming that decency would prevent using the fat on the side is about 98 cents. His body contains enough lime to wash a small chicken coop, a little sugar, enough iron to make a ten-penny nail.

Nearly all the 90 odd elements are in man but in small quantities.

Somebody thinks he discovered Stradivarius' art of making violins, revealed in a letter written by Stradivarius to a priest in Cremona.

You might find a letter from Phidias describing his method of making statutes but that wouldn't create a Venus of Milo The Stradivarius letter won't produce Stradivarius violins, unfortunately.

In 1928 New York city spent for building $65,000,000 more than in 1327.

What will happen if New York ever has a real estate boom? New York city land has sold for as high as $30,000,000 an acre but that is cheap for some corners.

Hoover To Have Gaudy Inaugural

President-Elect's Requests For Simple Ceremony Are Neglected

BRILLIANT BALL TO CLIMAX EVENT

By CHARLES P. STEWART.
Washington Correspondent For Central Press and New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A very simple program for his inaugural was what President-elect Hoover left instructions when he sailed away on the man-o'-war Maryland last November.

The ceremony planned for him in his absence includes the gaudiest parade in the whole history of inaugural events, with trimmings in proportion, winding up with a ball of unprecedented magnificence—unless the new president refuses to attend it which naturally would take considerable of its edge off as an inaugural function.

Probably however Mr. Hoover will stand for the ball too if he acquiesces in the rest of the celebration. It would hardly be worth while to balk at that one item among so many festivities.

That Mr. Hoover will submit to the blow-out arranged for him—little as he may like such a carnival of fuss-and-feathers—is practically certain. It would be impossible for him to veto it without causing a great deal of hard feeling—an inauspicious beginning for his administration.

The truth is that what the new president wants weighs very lightly against the inauguration-manufacturers wishes—especially when he is several thousand miles away while they are concocting their schedule.

There was a lot of talk at the outset concerning the simplicity which must characterize the coming inauguration but nobody meant a word of it. Bit by bit feature was superimposed upon feature until the various committees on management had turned out just the article they originally were bent on.

Washington itself always clamors for a regular quadrenial coronation.

The capital of all cities in the country is geared up to make money from big crowds. Inauguration day brings such crowds of course and the bigger they are the bigger the rake-off.

I suspect the railroads of encouraging it also.

Moreover it is astounding how many folk fairly revel in parading past a presidential reviewing stand and congratulating themselves on playing their part in a historic "occasion"—governors of states, members of their staffs, army and navy officers, assorted politicians, "prominent citizens' from hither and yon—all sorts of people who it might seem reasonable to suppose would have outgrown such childishness.

As for the inaugural ball the society and official "sets" simply are crazy about it.

The men if anything are more so than the women.

The latter have reasonably frequent opportunities to wear their gladdest of glad rags anyway. Those of the sterner sex with gorgeous full dress uniforms—gold lace, plumed hats and clanking cutlery—are less often privileged to appear in all their splendor. The inaugural ball gives them their chance—and how they love it.

With all these influences at work the pressure for a rip-snorting pageant at these four yearly intervals is to have the president and the first lady themselves on the job. The parade is no good minus the president to review it. The ball is a frost unless the president and his consort are in attendance.

SUCCESSFUL METHODS FOR COMBATTING FLU AND COLDS

Follow These Rules—Do Not Fool With a Cold—Use Tried Safe Methods

Look out for colds—even mild colds in the head and throat.

Don't let them get down into the chest and lungs.

Don't expose yourself to damp or wet weather.

Don't go out if you are feeling sick. Influenza, grippe, pneumonia or other serious sickness often come from colds.

THE DANGER.

Cold, "Flu" and Pneumonia Germs multiply by the millions and attack the weak and the strong alike. Watch out for colds, they weaken your resistance. The greatest danger lies in that "simple cold." Kill that cold quickly.

It is of vast importance to clean out the entire intestinal tract, upper and lower bowels regularly. Keep the kidneys well flushed and freshen and strengthen the blood.

Experience of 1918.

The experience of the 1918 epidemic showed that one of the best and simplest treatments was to take a steaming hot cupful of Bulgarian Herb Tea.

Why take any chances, why not be prepared to fight off your cold or "flu."

The right thing to do now is to go to your druggist, get a box of Bulgarian Herb Tea. Kill off your cold. Take it steaming hot twice a week. It will heat up the chilled blood, increase the circulation and rid the bowels and intestines of poisons and germs. Every family will find Bulgarian Herb Tea (purely vegetable) a real blessing to have on hand in this time of need. Keep your system clean all winter.

See your druggist at once. Your health—perhaps your very life—may depend upon taking this simple precaution. Costs but a few cents.

If you have had the flu or a bad cold already, watch out for a recurrence. A cupful of Tea twice a week is your protection against attacks.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

TENTING IN THE SUN

"Suns and shades himself at the same time," repeated Peter. "Ridiculous! How can he?"

"Just like this," replied Pigeon. "Cousin Crowned Pigeon stretches himself out upon the pavement, lying on his side with his beautiful crested head flat upon the ground and one of his wings tucked snugly beneath him. But the other wing he raises and spread right over his body, and do you know, it makes the finest tent in the world. The hot sun cannot get through it, but the cool breezes can. And every quill feather stands out separately.

"How I wish my feathers would, but I can't make them spread apart to save my neck.

"Sometimes when cousin has grown tired of lying on the other wing he stretches this out, too, and holds both of his wings above the ground and not a breath of air nor a dancing sunbeam get by without first caressing him. Oh, he has a fine time of it, does this cousin of mine.

"And do you know if ever you saw him lying down like this you would never in this world think he was a bird; he does it on purpose."

"Does what on purpose?" asked the boy, puzzled.

"Looks like a moss-covered stone or a heap of withered leaves or a tree stump with a broken branch," chuckled Carrier Pigeon. "He knows that if folks thought he was a bird they would disturb him.

"Cousin Crowned Pigeon fools even the birds; they have to look twice before they see who he really is, but once they find out they peck at him until he gets up!"

Once again beneath his feathers Carrier Pigeon tucked his head and, remembering his promise to ask no more questions, Peter turned to walk away. He was surprised to hear Carrier Pigeon's voice calling him. Turning about he saw his friend looking at him from beneath his half-spread wing.

"Hey, wait a minute, Boy, can't you?" cried the bird. "I forgot to tell you something that is very important. Carrier Pigeons fly according to compass. Be sure and remember that.

"Why, if I ran into an electric current that was too strong for me my feathers would curl up and I would feel as if I was strung on wires, and do you think I could make any headway? I should say not!

"I do my best flying when I am traveling north and south, but whether you believe it or not, my best friend never takes that direction if he can possibly help it—he says it makes him shiver just to think of it — and he does his best duty as messenger when he can choose his own direction—east and west."

"SUN CAN'T GET THROUGH BUT THE BREEZES CAN"

Lies Ill Beside Dead Wife's Body For Four Days

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 8.—A man and his wife are dead of pneumonia with which they were stricken while living in an isolated farm house from which they were unable to call for help. The man, George Koontz, lay four days helpless on a bed beside his dead wife before George Chestnut, brother of his wife discovered the family's plight. The man was taken to the Cumberland county home at Carlisle where he died. A nine year old son, Harry, survives. He was apparently so frightened by the illness of his parents that he did nothing to bring help.

The family was destitute and there was neither food nor fire in the place when he arrived.

Sothern Is Opposed To Play Censorship

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 8.—"I am opposed to a censorship of plays", declares E. H. Sothern, the noted actor, who with Julia Marlowe gave the American theater some of its most memorable productions. Mr. Sothern is now making his first tour as a dramatic lecturer, and has been engaged to give a dramatic recital at Westminster College Thursday evening in the United Presbyterian church.

"I believe that public opinion will best correct any error of taste in the presentation of a play. The general desire is for clean and wholesome entertainment. Such has ever been the most prosperous in America. The play of unpleasant flavor soon expires. One will be told that much that is exhibited on our stage is frivolous. Well, very many people like what is light and trivial in the way of amusement, nor should they be condemned to perpetual solemnity; so long as what is gay is also free from offense.

"A censor might easily do more harm than good. In England and in some other countries, such an 'official has been a source of contention constantly. The privilege of free speech is not to be lightly interferred with. A really wise and capable censor would be almost impossible to find. His qualifications would have to be numerous and superlative. The position might become political, which I should think would be deplorable.

"I am for a free theater. The public and the press will take care that it is a healthy theater. I am for community theaters, where a management of the people will produce fine plays at a small price without regard to profit. I am for a children's theater, where children will learn to love the best drama, not baby-talk drama, but plays they will want to see again whenever they are finely played."

Mr. Sothern has selected four outstanding dramatic classics for his recital here. He will give readings and interpretations from "Hamlet", "Othello", "Lord Dundreary", and "If I Were King."

Beware of Bladder Weakness Getting-Up-Nights

Disturbed Rest Undermines Health, Saps Vitality, States Physician Who Recommends Home Treatment

Men and women who are constantly annoyed and distressed by Bladder Weakness or Urinary Irritations should take immediate steps to combat their trouble before it reaches a serious or perhaps dangerous stage!

Backaches, Headaches, pains in feet and legs, nervousness, restlessness, frequent but scanty urination with burning and pain, getting-up-nigths—these are some of the more troublesome signs of Bladder Weakness or Irritation that should have prompt attention.

No matter how stubborn your case may seem to be or how many different medicines you have tried without success—don't give up, and think your case hopeless or the natural consequence of advancing years, until you have tried the special private prescription of Dr. Southworth, a physician of nearly 50 years successful experience.

In order to reach the many thousands who cannot come to his office, Dr. Southworth has placed his URATABS in good, local drug stores—and invites you to try them without risk of cost, unless pleased. If URATABS bring you swift and certain comfort you will be happy. If they do not satisfy, they will cost you nothing—so, if you need this grand medicine, try it today! Eckerds and all good druggists.

Nearly Three Thousand Motor Vehicles Sold During Year In County

New Cars And Trucks Sold In 1928 In County Number 2,839

Approximately 4,800 Second-Hand Cars Are Also Sold

During the past year, 1928, 2,839 new motor vehicles were sold in Lawrence county, according to figures just compiled by Ray F. Hall, secretary of the New Castle Automobile Dealers association. Of this number, 2,573 were passenger cars while 266 were commercial trucks.

It is estimated by Mr. Hall that there were some 4,800 second hand passenger cars sold throughout the year and that the number of used trucks sold totalled at least a hundred.

Of the passenger automobiles, there were 37 different kinds sold in the county. The car having the greatest sales totalled nearly 550, while the next in line but a few more than 200. There were two makes of cars that sold but one in the county throughout the year.

In the month of June the greatest number of cars were sold. The sales of all of the various dealers totalled in the region of 350 while the fewest cars were sold in January. The sales in the latter month numbered less than 75.

Three dealers sold nearly half of the entire output of passenger automobiles in the county for the entire year. Each dealer in addition, sold approximately twice as many used cars as new cars.

Sell 266 Trucks.

With regard to the trucks sold, states Mr. Hall, the number was 266 for the year. One company sold approximately 100 and the nearest competitor having a sale of less than 50.

Twenty-one different types and makes of trucks may be purchased in the county, further figures reveal.

August apparently was the booming time for the truck business as 33 were sold. February was the lowest sales month for the trucks with a sales total of 14. There were six different makes of trucks that sold one during the 12 months.

All in all, the year was an excellent one in automobile sales for the county. A survey of the various totals of the different months indicates the change in conditions and in trade. January a slack month for passenger cars, is accounted for on account of the appearance of the new models and few sales prior to their appearance.

Painting Situation In Good Condition

According to representatives of the Union Painters of this city, working conditions in that craft are very favorable at the present time.

At the Jameson Memorial hospitl rapid progress is being made in the painting and decorating of the interior of that big building. Contractor Van Curin has 15 men at work in the building, of whom 14 are local workmen.

At the George Washington Junior High school, the Sturdy Decorating company of Cleveland, has a force of six men rushing the decorating work there, of whom three are local men.

This same concern has the contract for the painting at the chapel and Old Main at Westminster college in New Wilmington and will soon have a considerable force of men engaged on the work there. That building is about ready for the painters and this work will be rushed to completion as soon as possible.

Bottle Breakers Will Be Arrested

Police To Put Stop To Practice Of Breaking Bottles On Streets

"Breaking of bottles and other articles of glass on the streets is one of the worst menaces to traffic in the city at the present time," said Chief of Police C. C. Horner this morning.

"Apparently there are those, who have been making a practice of doing this, without thought perhaps, in some instances as to the dangerous consequences."

"We propose that whenever any person is caught doing this," continued the chief" to arrest them and punish them to the full extent of the city ordinances, which prohibit such things. The fines imposed will be plenty heavy."

"I hope that this will be warning enough to put a stop to this pernicious practice," concluded the chief, "and that when there is an accidental breakage of glass on the streets of this city, that the person responsible will take time to clean up the glass, so that it may be eliminated as the cause of automobile accidents."

The chief stated that action against those breaking glass on the streets was the result of numerous complaints received from all parts of the city.

Union High Plans To Prepare Play For New Auditorium

"The backbone" is the title of the play that the senior class of the Union High school plans to present in the new school auditorium within the next few weeks. The auditorium is not yet being used, but will be ready for occupancy by the time the play is to be given, it is believed.

The exact date and the cast of the class production have not been definitely set, according to school officials. This will be announced later.

Persons seeking to lengthen the span of life should get up a correspondence course of instruction in quicker leaping when crossing the street.

College Girls To Present Comedy

Miss Margaret Patterson Of New Castle In Charge Of General Arrangements

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 8.—General arrangements for the Westminster College Y. W. C. A. production of the musical comedy, "My Spanish Sweetheart," to be presented Saturday evening are being completed by Miss Margaret Patterson, New Castle and Miss Lois Wagoner, Sharon, officers of the Y. W. C. A.

Rehearsals of the entire cast of some 35 co-eds are being held each afternoon. Miss Ruby Guilliams, teacher of public school music, is directing the singing and music. A group of co-eds, some of whom are taking part in the production, are directing the dances.

The fact that all parts in the producion will be taken by co-eds will naturally cause considerable interest. Elaborate costumes and staging, all produced by the girls themselves, will also add much to the production. The committee which has designed and made the costumes consists of Emily McMurray, Canonsburg; Elizabeth Work, McDonald; Hazel McClelland, Edenburg; Anna McEwen, Pittsburgh; and Janet Nevin, Pittsburgh.

New Castle girls who will take part in the production are Edith Round, Ruth Lewis, Margaret McFate, Hazel Toepfer, Hazel Bergland and Frances Leohner.

Centuries hence the encyclopedias may mention Ben Franklin as the man who wrote the mottoes for Thrift Week.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. McKee's Kut Rate Store, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

Relatives To Care For Seven Children Orphaned In Tragedy

(International News Service)

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Jan. 8.—Samuel K. Hill who is alleged to have shot and killed his wife, Mary, and then ended his own life with the same revolver, was charged with assault and battery by his wife December 26, it was revealed today.

The charge, filed with Justice of the Peace Samuel K. Hunger, was postponed after Hill agreed to institute divorce proceedings. Immediately after Hill became ill, it was learned, and his wife returned. A reconciliation was believed to have been affected when the suit was never called for hearing.

Hill and his wife were buried Monday, the former from his home and the latter from a funeral parlor. The seven children made orphans by the tragedy will be cared for by relatives.

Poultry Raisers Meet Wednesday

Two Poultry And Egg Show Meetings In County Wednesday

Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock the first of the miniature egg shows of the county will convene at the farm of H. L. McCurley on the Petersburg and Deeringer road. This meeting is held under the auspices of the North Beaver Poultry club.

In the evening at 7:30 the second show, states County Agent Harold McCulloch, will occur at the Plaingrove consolidated school building. This meeting is sponsored by the Plaingrove Poultry club.

H. H. Kaufman, poultry extension expert from Penn State college, will address both meetings. The county agent is asking that each member bring one dozen of their finest eggs for display.

Mother-Slayer Is Placed On Trial

(International News Service)

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Eva Berger, 32, of St. Clair who strangled her eights months old infant daughter so that she might be free to go out and "have a good time," was placed on trial for first degree murder here Monday.

It was found difficult to get prospective jurors to assent to sending the woman to the electric chair, if found guilty. Most of the morning session was devoted to challenging the talesmen.

When the crime was first discovered it was believed that Mrs. Berger had been insane at the time she killed her child, but examination showed her to be sane.

Girl "Fire-Bug" Put In Asylum

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—Mamie Hecker, 15, who confessed that she set fire to a dwelling in North Versailles township last October, causing the death of Claire L. Peterson, 3, Monday was committed to insane asylum for the criminal insane at Laurelton, Union county, by Judge Ambrose B. Reid.

The girl was held for murder by a coroner's jury and indicted by the grand jury on the charge. An insanity commission reported to the court that the girl was a mental and moral obliquity and recommended that she be placed permanently in an asylum.

Your BROADWAY and Mine

BY WALTER WINCHELL

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—It happened in the Orange Juice sector the other night, where mendicants add to the traffic congestion. A fellow who didn't have to be so ugly, rebuffed a beggar with these words:

"You had better ask for manners than money," he growled.

"I asked for what I thought you had the most of," was the vicious reply.

AFTER ALL THOSE YEARS!

They were chinning about the plight of a Broadway man who for years fooled his wife. They dwelled on Long Island, but his business, he had her believe, kept him in Manhattan many nights. He always said affectionately: "If you need me, dear, you may phone me at Bryant 11111111 or Circle 00000." Now and then the Mrs. telephoned him at the number given, and, of course, he was there. But she never thought to check up on him and inquire what the place was or whose phone number was listed.

The various numbers represented apartments of his several flames, and not until one of them wanted to even things with him did the wife discover the long deception.

A FORM OF CRITICISM

And they are saying of a certain celebrity that the only time he turns down an invitation to a dinner is when he doesn't hear it.

Our Own Pulitzer SurPRIZES

The most ironic thing of the year was John Riddell's review in Vanity Fair of the late Frances Newman's book, "Dead Lovers Are Faithful Lovers." Riddell headed his burlesk notice: "Dead Novelists Are Good Novelists" and almost simultaneous with the release of the review the novelist died.

The best flicker was Emil Jannings in "The Patriot."

The ace play was O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" and the best pretender Lynn Fontanne, with Kate Cornell just as good.

The dandiest tome of verse was Samuel Hoffenstein's "Poems in Praise of Practically Nothing."

The most beautiful showgirl still is Gladys Glad of Mr. Ziegfeld's "Whoopee," who rates $300 per just to leave you limp. Murrell Finley of the same troupe may have the medal for the best poise.

The best performance of the year was Mae West in Night Court.

A tickle under the chin for Helen Kane, who is the town's weakness now, for her "Boop-boop-boop-booing" in "Good Boy."

A flower for Will Rogers' coat lapel because he chirped: "If Mexico wants a good presidential candidate let's send them Heflin."

A salute for the "Porgy" number of "Blackbirds," the all-sepia revue, in which spirituals are timed against "The St. Louis Blues."

A ditto for DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, the musical comedy book and tune-makers, who never have been associated with a flop. You'll adore their "Button Up Your Overcoat—Don't Catch Cold" number in the forthcoming "Follow Thru" show.

The Caricature Award is a tossup between William Auerbach Levy and Irving Hoffman. The latter for his Haidee Wright caricature in Theater Magazine.

A wreath is chucked at Lytton Strachey for his beautifully written "Elizabeth and Essex," which is the kind of history you love to read because there is no need to memorize it.

A pat on the back to the radio which, while providing an opportunity to hear the world' worst hams, has the thoughtfulness to supply a jigger with which you can cut them off.

The best sport was Edgar B. Davis, the sponsor of the million or so flop, "The Ladder" (if you care to spell sport that way).

To Ted Shapiro, Soph Tucker's accompanist, a kind word, because his latest chune, "If I Had You," is the most contagious melody.

The supreme accomplishment of the year was the fellow who got a night's sleep in any of the Broadway hotels. Next was Lindbergh's solo flight to Mexico.

DANDRUFF

A Sure Way to End It

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Steamship Sinks, One Man Drowned

One Drowned, Thirty Officers And Crew On Stricken Vessel Are Rescued

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 8.—The sinking of the steamship Roedelheim, Emden, Germany to Boston, with a loss of one life and the rescue of thirty officers and men by the steamship Sagauche, Gothenburg, Sweden, to Portland Me., and Boston, was recorded in a cablegram from Newfoundland received Monday by Rogers and Webb, Inc., local steamship agents. The Roedelheim went down in a heavy blow 1300 miles east of Cape Race.

The cablegram, which came from St. Johns, N. F., and which quoted a wireless message from the rescue ship to the Cape Race radio station did not give the details of the rescue.

Youngsters Scald Selves To Death

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 8.—Scalding water that they pulled off stoves on themselves, burned two little girls to death Monday in West Scranton. Two year old Anna Ford and Angeline Krist, 4, were the victims.

The accidents happened within a short time of each other and the victims died soon after reaching the hospital.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Doctor's Discovery Reduces It Quickly and Dizzy Spells Disappear

Thousands who have dizzy spells, sleeplessness, nervousness, shortness of breath, pains in the head and impaired energy have been told by physicians or insurance examiners that they have high blood pressure. The serious results are well enough known to check it at once. High blood pressure caused by overtaxing the heart often brings on serious conditions.

Norma reduces high blood pressure. Often one bottle will do it. Many have so testified. It is a doctor's prescription and is much used by women at the changing time of life who usually have blood pressure above normal. Ask for Norma at any drug store.

Many Get Back Young Appetite

Quick lunches, usually cold, gulped down so the "dinner hour" will not be over before you can do a little playing, is the best way to ruin your stomach, and you suffer from indigestion, heartburn, bloating, nervousness, headaches; and, worst of all, you get thin, pale and weak.

If you must eat that way, always keep a package of Pape's Diapepsin handy so you can chew one of the pleasant-tasting tablets after your meals. It keeps the food sweet so your stomach can digest it.

Follow the experience of thousands who again have a young appetite. All druggists recommend and guarantee Pape's Diapepsin to relieve indigestion and sweeten the stomach in 5 minutes.

Precautions against colds and "flu"

Do these two things:

1. Protect nose and throat
2. Keep system in good condition

There's no need to get panicky because the papers are full of news of an influenza epidemic. There's no use in isolating yourself because a lot of other people are sick with it. If you take two simple precautions every day—and then don't worry—the chances are you will throw off any cold or "flu" germs you are exposed to, and keep well.

We're not recommending that you dose yourself with a lot of medicines, either. Just observe two common-sense health rules which can be easily followed.

FIRST of all, make sure your system is in first class order. Don't let it get slowed up or sluggish. See to it that it functions perfectly. The easiest way to get run down and in a condition to pick up disease is to neglect this all-important matter.

Physicians agree that, particularly in times of epidemic, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable. Many doctors are therefore prescribing Nujol, as in no case does it cause exhaustion or weakening of the system in any way.

Nujol can't possibly upset you or disagree with you. For it contains absolutely no medicine or drugs.

Get a bottle today at your nearest drug store and start taking Nujol tonight as one simple way to keep fit and to protect yourself against influenza.

That's the first precaution. Now for the second. Keep your nose and throat well protected with Mistol.

When you get a bottle of Nujol, get a bottle of Mistol, too.

Dr. David says:

"I'm advising all my patients these days to keep Mistol on hand and use it regularly. The first thing in the morning before you go out. And again at night when you come home. Don't be afraid to use it freely. It will do no harm. And then stop worrying. You've done all you can to safeguard yourself.

"Put Mistol up your nose. There's a special dropper that comes in every package that makes it very easy to use. Just tilt your head back and drop it in your nose until you feel it in your throat. You'll notice the pleasant, cleansing effect at once. Mistol clears your head and makes breathing easy. It has a healing, soothing effect on the membranes and relieves any irritation or inflammation. It helps dry up a running nose. Use it, too, as a gargle. Mistol is good for a sore throat or hacking cough. And above all, protects the nose and throat against germs.

"Don't wait till you begin to sneeze or your throat aches. Take my advice and get a bottle of Mistol today. Every druggist knows it."

The combination treatment of Nujol and Mistol is a double safeguard against influenza. Start this wise two-fold precaution now. Don't delay.

Nujol and Mistol are both made by the same famous laboratories, of the finest quality materials and with the greatest skill possible. Both preparations are harmless. At all druggists. Aren't they worth trying?

Supreme Court Denies Petition In Sub Cases

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The supreme court denied petitions for review of three unsuccessful suits in lower courts to hold the federal government liable to families of members of the crew of the submarine S-51, which sank after a collision with the steamship City of Rome.

The suits were brought in behalf of the estates of Rodney H. Dodson, Edmund W. Egbert, and James D. Hazelden, Jr., lower courts held that such suits could not be maintained.

Attorneys for the estate of the three submarine victims claimed that defective equipment was the cause of the sinking of the S-51, alleging that the hull construction was such that a masthead light could not be carried at the height above the hull required by international sea law.

There's one keen mind in Congress, but it belongs to Mr. Keen.

"Narcotic Farms" Bill Needs Signature Of President Coolidge

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The signature of President Coolidge to the "Narcotic Farms" bill, which has just passed the Senate, will inaugurate a new experiment in the world-wide fight on the drug evil, it was declared by leaders of the fight here today.

The bill authorizes appropriations which are expected to follow for the building of two "narcotic farms" as a part of the federal prisons system. All drug addicts who can be cured will be segregated from other federal prisoners and treated as diseased persons on the farms instead of as criminals.

"I am confident that carrying out of this plan will not only make history in the fight on the drug traffic in the United States, but will set an example which other nations of the world will find hard to ignore," said Rep. Stephen Porter (R) of Pennsylvania, author of the measure.

"Already the American fight against the drug evil, and particularly against sanction of production and sale of drugs by foreign governments, has had effects. These foreign governments will now see that the United States is forced to build institutions to care for the addicts which they make by providing the drugs."

Baby Girl Found Frozen To Death; Mother Very Ill

Pitiful Discovery Made At Farmhouse Located Near Doylestown, Penna.

(International News Service)

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Jan. 8.—Discovery of a six-weeks-old baby girl frozen to death beside a half-starved ill mother in a lonely farmhouse near here, led Coroner J. J. Sweeney today to make a rigid investigation. Another daughter, two years old, was found in the farmhouse sick, hungry, crying and nearly frozen.

The dead infant was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Snyder of near Sundale. The husband is being sought in Philadelphia, where he was said by Mrs. Snyder to be "working". Snyder visits his home and family only twice a month, his wife stated. He has not been home since just before Christmas.

Wallace Eddinger, Noted Actor Dead

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—Wallace Eddinger, 42, widely known stage star died in Presbyterian hospital here early today of pneumonia.

Eddinger was stricken here last week while appearing in "The Beaux Stratagem," and failed to respond to treatment. The actor, who was a native of Albany, began his stage career at the age of six, and was known for having originated the title role in "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

Eddinger's second wife, the former Margaret Lawrence, whom he married in 1924, recently applied for divorce. She is also in theatrical work.

Greensburg Reports Below Zero Weather

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 8.—Near zero to zero temperatures were reported from Greensburg and nearby points today. In Greensburg the thermometer registered from four to eight above at 7 o'clock this morning and from some of the scattered sections near here the mercury was at zero or slightly below. No deaths due to the cold were reported.

Fire At Nantyglo Is $50,000 Loss; Theater Destroyed

Main Business District Of Nantyglo, Near Johnstown, Treatened By Fire

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 8.—The main business district of Nantyglo, near here, was threatened with destruction early today from a fire of undetermined origin which was discovered in the Star theatre.

The theatre building was leveled by the blaze and several dwelling houses adjoining were badly damaged. The damage was tentatively estimated at $50,000, with the belief that it will far exceed this figure.

Firemen from Conemaugh, Franklin and Ebensburg were summoned to aid the local fire department. The fire was under control at 6 a. m.

Hugged Too Tight Girl's Ribs Broken, Wants $5,000 Damage

MEADVILLE, Pa., Jan. 8.—According to court action taken at Erie, Mrs. Aida Porter, of Meadville, has brought action against John Schwartzman, R. F. D., North East, and seeks to collect $5,000 for alleged personal injuries resulting from a malicious attack upon her person.

Schwartzman, on December 6, last, seized the plaintiff in his arms and hugged her so tight that one of her ribs was broken, and two others injured, seriously, it is alleged in the statement of claim.

The woman avers that she entered the employ of the defendant on November 22, and that the attack occurred within two weeks after that time. Her injuries resulted in the expenditure of funds for doctor bills and also in preventing her from working since the time of the attack.

Well Baby Clinic To Meet Thursday

After almost a month's vacation, the well baby clinic which is conducted on the third floor of the New Castle Dry Goods company's store will again meet Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, it is announced this morning.

The clinic met Thursday morning of last week, but because many mothers did not know about it, only a few were present. It is hoped that this Thursday the attendance will be more normal.

Over 460 People Make Decisions

Total Is Swelled By People From Elm Street Y. W. C. A. Center

Including those persons reached in the colored visitation evangelism campaign 467 people of New Castle have made the decision for Christ, announced the Rev. Dr. A. Earl Kernahan this morning, following his meeting at the Elm street Y. W. C. A. last evenig which took place immediately after the meeting of the Highland United Presbyterian church.

"The campaign has started off well" commented the evangelist, "and I am sure that it will finish well although I am not given to making predictions. But with the willing group of workers who are in New Castle I am sure that a very creditable showing will be made."

This morning Rev. Dr. Kernahan addressed the assembly in the Senior high school. He was accompanied to the school by Rev. S. M. Maxwell of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church.

The 467 people who made the decision states the Rev. Dr. Kernahan represent the names brought into the meetings by the workers for Sunday. Monday evening's total is in no way included in this number.

Eleven Injured In Pittsburgh Blast

Huge Tank In Transformer Plant Explodes; One Man Seriously Hurt

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 8.—Charles Kelly, 35 one of the 11 men injured when a huge tank in the Pittsburgh transformer plant of the Allis-Chalmers company here exploded late yesterday was reported slightly improved in St. John's hospital today. Kelly suffered probable internal injuries and fracture of the skull when showered by debris while the others were less seriously hurt.

Damage was estimated at $25,000 by E. G. Mcarn manager of the plant who stated that excessive pressure on a valve on a small tank inside an impregnating tank probably caused the explosion. The impregnating tank is used in the manufacture of a substance for coil insulations.

Allege Wisconsin Governor Corrupt In Election Issue

La Follette Forces In Wisconsin Plan Ouster Proceedings; Too Much Money Spent

(International News Service)

MADISON Wis., Jan. 8.—While Walter J. Kohler, millionaire manufacturer of plumbing supplies and a novice at politics today occupied the executive office at the state capitol after simple inauguration service yesterday, forces led by young Senator Bob Lafollette planned to launch ouster proceedings against Kohler because of alleged excess campaign expenses in the race for governor.

The legislature which convenes today will be asked to take action in the case it was said.

Oil Painting By Pottery Designer

In the window of the Atkinson Paint and Glass Company on North Mills street there is displayed at the present time an oil painting which is attracting considerable attention.

The picture is that of a Spanish cavalier, booted and spurred, ready for fun or frolic, done with a most fetching touch of artistry. The painter is E. J. De Lan, chief designer of the Shenango Pottery.

In addition to his work as designer for the Shenango, Mr. De Lan finds time to work on paintings and his "Cavalier" is easily the best thing he has done.

School Attendance Now Near Normal

According to Principal F. L. Orth of the senior high school the attendance at the present time is nearly normal. He stated that only one member of the faculty is still out. This shows that the flu epidemic is passing out in New Castle.

Forgetfulness Is Disastrous Warns State Health Head

"The other day the newspapers carried the story of a young college graduate who left home last summer the victim of amnesia and today still forgets the past, failing to recognize his parents and close associates, which is sad indeed. On the other hand, there are many types of forgetfulness not dignified by a medical term or classification that are just as unfortunate and even worse," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health, today.

"The youthful amnesia victim in all probability will finally regain his former mental health. Not so, however, many others whose conditions grow out of forgetfulness. The pathetic part of it lies in the fact that the individual merely disciplined himself through intelligent interest in his own welfare, many of the crippling and fatal results would not have occurred.

"It is quite difficult to understand how people can be so forgetful as to drive themselves literally into invalidism or death. Nevertheless, this state of mind is so general as to make repeated warnings quite necessary.

"Here are some of the things that many people constantly and daily forget with dire consequences:

"1. Forgetting to eat just enough rather than too much food.

"2. Forgetting to exercise in the open air.

"3. Forgetting that eight hours sleep in a well ventilated room each night is the average individual requirement.

"4. Forgetting that worry devitalizes and sometimes kills.

"5. Forgetting that the annual physical examination is the detector of serious unsuspected conditions which in the early stages can be cured.

"6. Forgetting that health is the one supreme blessing and that when it is lost all is lost.

"To be sure, amnesia is a serious and heart-rending disease. But deliberate forgetfulness of one's physical welfare is infinitely more serious. How forgetful are you?"

Install Mahoning Grange Officers

Installation of the juvenile and subordinate grange officers of the Mahoning Valley grange will take place in the hall near Edenburg this evening at 8 o'clock.

The installation of officers incurs a great amount of work and drill and the team in charge of the work will be directed by Pomona Master David F. Kyle and Mrs. Kyle.

Decrease In Milk Supply Caused By Water For Cattle

Cows Will Not Produce While Drinking Icy Water, States County Agent

"With the arrival of real cold weather," states County Agent Harold McCulloch, "the milk production on various dairy farms in the county has dropped considerably. This is due in most cases to a very inexpensive thing known as water.

"I have had conferences with a number of Lawrence county dairymen," stated McCulloch, "who have mentioned the fact that the milk supply has decreased recently. In most of these cases, the barns have not had watering cups or indoor water for the cattle.

"If the dairyman does not have running water in the barn, the drink of the cows should be heated so that she will dring more. Cold water that is contained in an icy trough is not desired by a cow in large quantities.

"As milk is composed of practically 87 per cent water, it is little wonder that the milk supply from good milkers decreases when the water supply is not sufficient."

The county agent stated further that there is no remedy for the lower milk supply which is caused by winter water. The best and really only plan is to install an indpor water system or to have the water heated, the latter being more inconvenient than the average dairyman man manage.

One farmer in the county reported an increase of five gallons of milk per day since the installation of indoor drinking water for his cattle.

Wet And Dry Probe Plan To Get Hearing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The compromise "wet and dry" plan for a presidential investigation of prohibition enforcement will be given a hearing next Thursday by the senate judiciary committee, it was announced Monday.

Senator Edge (R) of New Jersey, wet leader, and Senator Jones (R) of Washington, dry leader, will urge favorable action. They have agreed to support a resolution authorizing President-elect Hoover to name a commission of nine prominent citizens to conduct the inquiry. The commission would report before January 1, 1930, on enforcement conditions, with suggestions for improving enforcement of the dry law.

This plan of inquiry was suggested by Mr. Hoover in his acceptance speech.

Penn. Boy Needed Help

Daniel Sullivan, 5447 Spruce St., Philadelphia, is a "regular fellow," active, full of life, and at the top in his classes at school. To look at him now, you'd think he never had a day's sickness but his mother says: "When Daniel was just a little fellow, we found his stomach and bowels were weak. He kept suffering from constipation. Nothing he ate agreed with him. He was fretful, feverish and puny.

"When we started giving him California Fig Syrup his condition improved quickly. His constipation and biliousness stopped and he has had no more trouble of that kind. I have since used California Fig Syrup with him for every cold or upset spell. He likes it because it tastes so good and I like it because it helps him so wonderfully!"

California Fig Syrup has been the trusted standby of mothers for over 50 years. Leading physicians recommend it: It is purely vegetable and works with Nature to regulate, tone and strengthen the stomach and bowels of children so they get full nourishment from their food and waste is eliminated in a normal way.

Four million bottles used a year shows how mothers depend on it. Always look for the word "California" on the carton to be sure of getting the genuine.

Epworth League Cabinet Meets Monday Evening

Cabinet Has Meeting At Home Of Mrs. Omar Mauck, Newell Avenue

Members of the cabinet of the Senior Epworth League had a business meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Omar Mauck of Newell avenue. There was a good attendance present. The meeting was in charge of the president of the society, Mrs. Myrtle Hamilton.

Plans were discussed for the drive to be made by this society for St. Luke's hospital at Cleveland, O. Some time ago this society received one thousand empty jars which were to have been exchanged for full jars of fruit or vegetables. At the meeting last evening they decided to store these jars until next fall. As their work for the hospital this year the members will ask people for dimes and they would like to have a total of one thousand dimes by the time their campaign is ended. The fruit which has already been collected for this purpose will be sent to the hospital.

Also at the meeting last evening the entire membership of the league was divided into four groups. Captains of the four groups, Paul Rishel, Mrs. Thelma Booher, Miss Helen Logan, Leroy Messner. During the next three months the missionary study book will be studied at the Epworth League meetings. Miss Grace Wallace is in charge. These groups will assist with the study of the missionary book and also in the campaign. Mrs. Myrtle Hamilton is in charge of the campaign for St. Luke's hospital.

On Thursday evening, January 17, the society will have a party in the church basement. Miss Helen Anderson, fourth vice president of the society, is in charge of the arrangements for the party.

Plans are under way for another party which will be later in the month. The losing side in the Bible contest conducted recently in the league are making plans for some event for the winning side in the contest.

Victory Luncheon Friday Evening

Plans are laid for a victory luncheon which will be held by the central union of the W. C. T. U., to be held in the Y. W. C. A. on Friday evening, Jan. 11. A number of prominent local speakers will be present.

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel: there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Stubborn Cough Quickly Ended by Famous Recipe

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that usually follow the "flu."

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Plan To Organize Parents-Teachers At Highland Ave.

Parents Asked To Visit Building On Thursday Afternoon; May Organize Then

The parents and teachers of the Highland avenue school will hold a meeting Thursday afternoon, Jan. 10, at three o'clock, which will be addressed by persons familiar with parent-teacher work. All parents are invited to come to the school at two o'clock and spend the hour preceding the meeting in visiting the school.

The national congress of parents and teachers functions locally in the parent-teachers association. The organization has had rapid growth during the last decade and as a part of the new awakening to the importance of the child's education it plans for more intimate co-operation of the home and the school.

Already there are three parent-teachers associations in New Castle, Oak street school, Rose avenue school and the West Side school. It is expected that the meeting at Highland avenue will result in such an organization there.

Consistory Legion Of Honor To Meet

The Consistory Legion of Honor will hold its first meeting of the present year Thursday, January 10, at the Scottish Rite Cathedral on Lincoln avenue. The meeting has been called for 8 o'clock.

Among the matters of importance coming up at this meeting will be the installation of officers and the distribution of the instruments for the drum corps, which will be made at this time.

Gasoline Dealers Meet January 15

Gasoline dealers of the county will meet in The Castleton on January 15 for the purpose of discussing the proposed legislation concerning the assessment and collection of gasoline taxes in the state. Several bills are proposed for the present session of the general assembly and it is these bills that will likely be discussed.

The meeting will open with a dinner, following which several speakers will be heard.

To Have Week's Special Meeting At Epworth Church

Beginning next Monday evening January 14, special evangelical services will be conducted in the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, Pearson and Epworth streets and will continue each evening during the week with the exception of Saturday evening.

The meetings will begin promptly at 7:45. The pastor Dr. S. L. Maxwell will be assisted in the music for each service by Bob Galbraith and his daughter from Brookville Pa, guitarists. These musicians are unusually talented and their selections will add much to the interest of the services.

Revival At Coaltown Meets With Success

Evangelist Hoover Conducting Services There Every Night But Saturday

Evangelist Hoover's revival services at the Coaltown Free Methodist church are meeting with a success greater than was expected according to Rev. M. E. Wolcott pastor of the congregation. Services are being held each night except Saturday night.

According to Rev. Wolcott many are attending the services to hear Evangelist Hoover preach the truth and many have been seeking the Lord.

Everyone is invited to the services.

Foreign War Vets Install Officers

Past Commander George Runkle Acts As Installing Officer At Program

At the meeting of Harry L. McBride post No. 522, Veterans of Foreign Wars, held Monday evening in the Legion Home, the recently elected officers were installed. There was a large attendance of the members. The installing officer was Past Commander George Runkle, who conducted the installation in an impressive manner.

During the evening it was stated that the post looks forward to a very successful year under the leadership of the officers installed.

Officers and standing committees appointed by Commander Orville Potter to serve during the year are as follows: Adjutant, A. A. Jones; publicity, William S. Lewis; executive committee, officers of the post; finance committee, John Stoner chairman, Clarence A. Leslie and Walter S. Smith; membership committee, George Thompson chairman, Jack LeRue and Mario Frabotta; entertainment committee, Ralph Montgomery chairman, John Walzer and A. A. Jones; poppy day, William H. Church Discovers Much In Visitation Campaign

A church makes many important discoveries in a campaign like that which is being conducted in New Castle at the present time, is the belief of the Rev. Dr. A. Earl Kernahan, the evangelist in charge of the campaign.

"A church makes a number of significant discoveries in visitation evangelism," declares Dr. Kernahan. "These discoveries tend to inspire the pastor, define the task of the church and bring in the Kingdom of God more rapidly.

"A church discovers a larger constituency than the members thought they had. We find that the pastor of a church of a thousand members would estimate that he had 600 in a community for whom his church was responsible outside of its membership. He is more likely to find that he has 1,500 or 2,000. There is always the tendency on the part of the church members to underestimate their constituency. The only proper way actually to know how many people there are in a community for whom a church is responsible is to take a religious census or survey of that community. This should be repeated every other year, or better, every year in a community of any size.

"A church discovers that there are many people ready to make the Christian decision. Some of these people are not suspected by anyone in the church to be particularly interested in religion. . . . If we would do less talking about church attendance to those who are not Christians and more pleading for Christian decision, we would go further toward both goals.

"A church discovers that her greatest power resides in the laity, that it is not necessary to bring in some professional evangelist; but that somebody who has been trained in inspiring the laity to do in a far more efficient manner what the professional evangelist used to do, will be of more lasting value. Laymen can talk in a much more intimate manner to their friends than to anyone else.

"A church discovers that there is no bad aftermath when it engages in this method of evangelism. There has been nothing spectacular or sensational; there have been no bizarre headlines in the newspapers. Those who have been deep in sin have been approached in the spirit of Jesus. Invectives have not been hurled promiscuously from the pulpit. Conviction has not been preceded by anger. The motto has been: 'Win a man, or leave him more friendly toward the church than when you found him.'

"A church finds that she has too big a task to perform to spend any time in narrow sectarianism. As the visitors go to work day after day, they find that their appeal has a sincerity when they tell folks that they have not come to ask them to be Methodist, or Episcopal, or Lutheran, or Congregationalist, or Presbyterian, or Baptist: but that they have come to invite them to become Christians and to join the church they prefer. The denomination is quite immaterial.

"A church discovers that we have come to a period in Christian history when people are not interested in dogmatism. One of the tragedies of the Christian church occurred when the leaders got all confused in a discussion of speculative questions during the first century of church history. They commenced to fight back and forth and tried to tell all of the truth as they saw it in some particular statement. They became dogmatic and while they were fighting about the proper way to wall Christian truths up in language, fearing that the truth cannot take care of itself, they lost the whole continent of Africa. The more recent various groups formed sects which were more interested in their creeds than they were in the people who were to accept them; and the whole world was overwhelmed with religious shibboleths. We will have none of that today. The thing that people are most interested in now is what does Christianity do for life? What virtue is there in following Jesus Christ as our standard bearer? People are not particularly interested in what somebody said about Jesus 500 years ago. They are interested in what Jesus has to say to them today.

"These are the discoveries that a church makes when sincerely, with all her heart, she arises from her pews and goes out into the community to apply the spiritual power which has been generated in her services of worship and teaching, to the task of winning men and women back to the Heavenly Father."

SAFE HUNTING

This country is far fram a wilderness and the hunting is not so good as it was in the days of Daniel Boone, but there is still enough of it to make the safety of sportsmen a matter of concern. Seth Gordon, conservation director of the Izaak Walton league, has compiled some suggestions for hunters that both beginners and veterans will note with interest:

A human life is worth more than all the game in America—see clearly before shooting.

Carelessness with firearms is criminal—play safe and avoid accidents.

Helpful recreation and the thrill of prime objectives always.

Observation of the law and eradication of the game hog are responsibilities no sportsman can evade.

A few fools with matches kill more game than many shotguns—prevent fires.

Only vandals destroy farmers' fences, injure their stock or disregard their wishes.

Real sportsmen never try their skill about farmyards, pastures and on trespass signs.

Saving ample seed stock, and feeding it during the winter time will perpetuate the sport.

A clear conscience at the end of the trip and an invitation to come again beats a full bag.

STILL CHILDREN

Psychologists, at least some of them, tell us that many men and women who are apparently grown up are not really grown up at all—inside. They suffer from "infantile fixations." Experiences in youth have left a deep impression, and color their actions in later years. Symptoms are the habit of forgetting certain names, headaches from no apparent cause and a tendency to dream.

The psychologists may be right. But they might go further. They might tell us truly that nobody quite grows up. We still have many of the foolish desires of childhood. Dignity or the fear of being laughed at or some sort of timidity restrains us from acting as much like children as we feel. Even at that there are few who are not subject to attacks of infantilism. If you want to prove it, ask their wives.

WOMEN WORKING

Statistics show at least one in every 11 women in the United States has a job. This means, of course, in addition to home duties or in place of home duties. The new ways of women, the increasing number who go to work outside the home, is bound to make an amazing change in life in America if it keeps on.

May Discontinue Swimming Classes

Lack Of Interest In Evening Instructions Cause; Will Decide Soon

Evening swimming classes will be resumed at the George Washington junior high school on Wednesday and Thursday nights. Membership in the classes has not been favorable for some time and it is now the intention of the George Washington supervisors to discontinue them on Thursday night if the attendance is not what it should be.

For Thursday night there are already 17 reservations, whereas there should be 30 at least, Emmett Gillespie, in charge of the evening swimming, states. The evening classes will be discontinued on that night if there are not more than 30 persons out for the instruction, he says.

For arrangements call the George Washington Junior High school, 3866, and ask for Gillaspie. Information of the classes can also be given by others in the office there.

Sunnyside School Attendance Drops

Due to the epidemic of sickness, but two children in the Sunnyside school, Slippery Rock township, were not absent nor tardy during the month of December, as shown by the monthly report of Miss Dorothy Edgerton, the teacher.

These two pupils who maintained perfect records during the month were Phyllis Gene Quinn, grade 2, and Raymond Victor Barnes of the first grade. These pupils have also perfect records for the entire year.

Many County Pensions Are Included In Omnibus Pension Bill Before Senate

By ARTHUR WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 8.—A large number of widows of Civil war veterans who reside in New Castle and nearby communities will receive pension increases through bills introduced by Congressman J. Howard Swick and contained in the omnibus pension bill now before the senate.

The pension bills contained in the omnibus measure represent increases of pensions requested by Congressman Swick last session which were not passed during that session. The Swick bills, along with pension bills presented by other congressmen, have been combined into one measure known as the pension omnibus bill upon which congress acts as a whole.

The omnibus bill has already been passed by the house of representatives and is before the senate.

With its passage by the senate and approval by the president, the following increases of pension are provided through bills introduced by Congressman Swick:

Elizabeth Walton, 88 years old, 1014 Winslow avenue. Widow of James Walton. Now receives pension of $40 a month. Increase to $50 a month asked.

Was Remarkable Way It Helped Aged Blacksmith

Claims Ten Herbs Banished Rheumatism, Stomach Misery And Other Ailments.

"Ten Herbs surely is a wonderful medicine—it helped me in a remarkable way," was the recent statement of Mr. L. H. Falkner, of Cabot, Butler, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this famous new medicine to crowds of men and women.

"I had been troubled with rheumatism for a long time," continued Mr. Falkner, who is 70 years of age and a blacksmith. "I had to arise about every hour of the night and of course that interfered greatly with my rest. I would have such severe cramps in my limbs and feet at night that often I would have to get up and walk around the room to get relief. I also was troubled with nervousness. I had severe headaches and dizziness. My stomach was out of order, and gas caused me to bloat. Biliousness bothered me. I felt tired upon arising in the morning and did not feel like working.

"I heard how Ten Herbs was helping others, so I started using your medicine. I am not troubled with rheumatism any more. I do not have to arise at night. Cramps are gone from my limbs and feet. Dizzy spells have disappeared. I have a good appetite and can eat a hearty meal without any bad after effects, such as gas and bloating. My weight is increasing. I sleep soundly all through the night and feel rested when morning comes. I can go ahead with my work as a blacksmith, like I have for the past 54 years. It is a pleasure for me to tell anyone how Ten Herbs has helped me."

When a medicine can help a man of 70 years like Mr. Falkner says Ten Herbs helped him, it must possess remarkable merits. Many throughout this section are using and endorsing Ten Herbs for disorders of the stomach and liver, kidneys and bowels. This popular herbal medicine also cleanses and tones up the whole system. Get a bottle today and see how much better it makes you feel.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Build Addition To Campbell Plant

Lumber Company Expands At New Wilmington; Other News Of Town

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 8.—Despite the cold weather, work has progressed so far on the extension building of the local Campbell Co., that the carpenters are now ready to roof the structure.

This new building has been made with tile brick and will be nearly half as big as the main supply shed. It will house machinery and will be used for making door frames, sashes and other such common building supplies.

The spirit characteristic of the local Rotary club prevailed at the banquet held yesterday evening at the New Castle Field club. The banquet was informal with no special speeches being made. It was tendered by the side of Captain Jack Thorne to the winning team of Captain Dr. Bill Clark as the outcome of an attendance contest.

White Elephant gifts are to be exchanged at the meeting of the Happy Hour society of the local Presbyterian church to be held at the home of Mrs. D. M. Means this evening.

The devotionals of the meeting will be in charge of Mrs. W. Criss and Mrs. Elliott will conduct the mission review. The hostesses are Mrs. Means, Mrs. Winger and Mrs. Fulmer.

Mrs. Alice Sommerville of Worthington is visiting her with her sister, Mrs. C. F. Minteer.

George Herriott, a student of Washing & Jefferson college, is enjoying an extended vacation at his home here because the prevalence of flu postponed the opening of school.

NEW AUDITORIUM IS ABOUT READY

Union High Plans To Use Part Of New Addition Next Week

Gymnasium Will Be Used This Winter, Although Not Completed

Plans are being made to open the new auditorium-gymnasium at the Union high school sometime next week. Arrangements have been made whereby occupancy of this section of the new annex that is now in the course of construction can be made considerably earlier than was originally expected.

Contractors have agreed to lay the soft floor of the new assembly room at once and postpone the laying of the hardwood flooring until next summer when school is not in session. In the meantime, or immediately after the softwood floor has been laid, basketball games and other functions can be given in the spacious hall. A seating capacity for almost 700 students will be provided.

According to the principal of the school, Roy F. Conway, a basketball game scheduled for the first of next week will likely be the event that will open the new gymnasium. The Union team, coached by L. H. Burnham, will meet Plaingrove at that time. The exact day has not been designated. Members of the senior class will also present their play in the new auditorium within the next few weeks.

Workmen are now making good progress in the other classrooms of the addition. Plastering is now being done. The entire annex, it is thought, will not be ready for a formal opening until late in the spring sometime.

VISITATION WORKERS REPORT 428 PERSONS WILL JOIN CHURCHES

day evening's canvass will be reported Tuesday evening at 6:15 in the Highland United Presbyterian church.

Give Success Stories

Prefaced by three short stories of the success that they had met, given by Mrs. George Stitzinger of the Epworth Methodist Episcopal church, William Bowman of the First Baptist church and Louis B. Round of the First Presbyterian church, the Rev. Dr. Kernahan again reminded the people to tell their pastors if they would be present at all the meetings of the campaign so that proper arrangements could be made at the church.

The stories of success which had already been met with in the campaign were short. Mrs. Stitzinger reported that with her husband, she had made eight calls Sunday afternoon and evening, and from those eight calls, 18 people were won for the cause of Christ. Two cases where a husband, his wife and three children were won were cited by Mrs. Stitzinger. William Bowman of the First Baptist church told about reaching an aged man with the word of God.

People Waiting

"People are waiting for the workers to call on them," declares Mr. Round. "I believe that this is the finest selling campaign that ever came to New Castle; it is carrying the business methods of the week days over into the affairs of the Sabbath. Thousands—yes, literally thousands are awaiting the call to God. It is up to the workers to see that those thousands are not dissapointed."

An appeal to be definite and to be much more persistent was made by the Rev. Dr. Kernahan, who also made the speech of the evening. By being more persistent and by speaking more persuasively, scores and hundreds could be won for Christ, the evangelist averred.

Never Interrupt

"Another suggestion that I would make would be this: when working in pairs, never interrupt each other," commented the Rev. Dr. Kernahan. "When one worker is talking and talking well, it is a poor policy for his partner to interrupt him. It shows both lack of poise in the work and also lack of confidence in the partner.

"Situations should be met quickly and easily, and in particular am I referring to the man who says to the workers: 'I need time to think.' Such a man does not need time to think: he needs courage to act, and as militant Christians you should supply him with that courage. And if they say 'I'll think it over,' why, give them something to think over. State the situation beautifully and clearly, for you are doing God's work and it must be done well.

"Another alibi that is often heard is: 'But we are about ready to move!' That should deter no man or woman who is sincere in this visitation campaign. There are many people who are always on the threshold of moving—but never move. I know a family who have been going to move for over ten years, but they still are in the same town.

Solution Easy

"One of the hardest things that a worker has to face in a campaign like this is the person who says that he will not become a church member because there are too many hypocrites in the church. But the solution to a problem like that is easily peculiarly easy when one remembers the facts of the case. As I told you Sunday afternoon, you should say to them: 'Yes, I know there are hypocrites in the church, but really now, does that deter you from becoming a member? Because someone else is wrong in their attitude towards church membership, does that mean that you also must be wrong: that you must forsake the church? No my friend, it does not. Because there are many unsuccessful fathers, would you damn the institution of the family? And in the complex existence of today, the church has become quite as important as the family as an institution.'

"Make the doubters—make those who are always casting stones, assume a practical attitude towards the church. Show them that in the first group of Christians ever assembled there was one who was a hypocrite. Show them that in the first twelve Christians—the apostles of the Christ—there was one hypocrite. And did that deter the other eleven? Tell them that! It is the strongest argument which ever has been presented. It is a living argument. It lives as much today as it lived almost 2,000 years ago. Remember that the authority of Jesus has great power over everyone.

Some Revolt

"Others you will meet who will say that they can be good without becoming members of any church. These people, I believe, are revolting against the institutionalizing of Christianity. They should be handled carefully, as should those people who say that they are not good enough to become members of any church. To those people you should say 'Neither am I, but I am trying.' All that you can do is to decide to become a little more like Christ.'

"'No, I do not feel like it,' is another stall that the workers will meet. They should be told that you did not come to ascertain how they felt, but to ask how they thought! Ask them to have an open mind. They are hard to win, but they can be won.

Carry On Work

"I beseech you to carry on this great work," exhorted the Rev. D. Kernahan in conclusion. "It would be tragic if there would be a decrease in the number present here at the church Tuesday evening after such an auspicious beginning. Carry on and tell the people of New Castle the beauty and wonder of the lovely path. Thousands of homes in New Castle need the power of God and tens of thousands need the sweetness of the true religion."

Announces Number

It was at this time, after a check on the cards held by the various pastors was made, that Dr. Kernahan announced that 428 people had announced that they would become church members. The Rev. Dr. Kernahan stated that it was his custom to announce only the gross numbers, and not the number of new members who would be received into each church.

Tonight the subject of the evangelist will be "The Reaction of the Workers." The campaign will continue throughout the week, concluding with the meeting Friday evening. Sunday, January 20, the new members will be received into the various churches of the city.

Burning Chimney Summons Firemen

A chimney burning out called No. 5 fire department and truck B from the Central Fire department to the home of George Marichar, 712 East Reynolds street at 2:50 Monday afternoon.

When the firemen arrived at the home they found that there was no need for action. Both companies were back in service again at 3:10.

GEORGE WASHINGTON HI-Y CLUB WILL MEET

Members of the George Washington Junior Hi-Y club will meet this evening at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. The meeting will be in charge of William Thomas advisor of the club and boys secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

This is the first meeting of the club since the beginning of the holiday recess period.

STATE OFFICERS ARE AMAZED AT FACILITIES HERE

Home Economics Association, Teachers of Modern Languages, Kindergarten and Primary departments, Art Teachers and Supervisors, Pennsylvania School Press Association, All College organization, County Superintendents and Assistant Superintendents, Educational Round Table, various Greek letter fraternity reunions, Past Presidents organization, College Teachers of Education, School Library Association, Society for Vocational Education. These and many others must have space for their meetings and luncheons, but as numerous as they are, Dr. Kelly is convinced that New Castle will be more than able to care for them.

Opens December 26.

The convention will open on December 26 and continue through December 27. This is a day earlier than the Reading convention but is necessary because Christmas comes on Wednesday and the convention always is over by Friday night. Hence the convention days in New Castle will be on Thursday and Friday.

An estimate of the number that will attend the convention would be in round figures 5000. Not all of these are official delegates. The House of Delegates which is the governing body contains approximately 600, one delegate for each 100 of membership in the Pennsylvania State Educational Association, the membership of which is just short of 60,000.

In addition to the House of Delegates however, the convention attracts several thousand teachers and principals, almost every superintendent in the state, about 100 commercial representatives, and hundreds of friends of education. All of these must be cared for and to do this it is necessary to ask the citizens to open their homes to receive guests. This was done successfully in the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School convention here and will no doubt be done equally as successfully for the P. S. E. A. convention in December of this year.

It will be the greatest educational gathering ever held in Pennsylvania for each year sees the convention increased in numbers. And because Pennsylvania is one of the greatest states in the union it can be truthfully said that this will be one of the largest state educational conventions in the United States in 1929, second only to the national conventions.

Lawrence County Women To Be Here

The convention will see two Lawrence county women here in an official capacity. Miss M. Emma Matthews of this county is the assistant editor of the Pennsylvania School Journal, a periodical with a paid circulation of 64,000.

Miss Matthews was selected for the post in a state wide search for the right person. The Journal advertised for applicants for the post, stating that the successful applicant must be a college graduate, a teacher of English in a high school one that specialized in composition, and capable of doing editorial work. Forty six applicants took the examination and out of the forty six Miss Matthews stood out as the best. She will have a group of school editors here, about 40 in number.

The other Lawrence county woman who will be here in an official capacity will be Miss Lucy M. Glass, who is a member of the State Department of Public Instruction. Miss Glass is in charge of Classes for Foreign Mothers and will stage a demonstration of her work here. For many years she was a school teacher in Lawrence county but left the teaching field some years ago to accept an executive position with the State Department of Public Instruction.

At noon today Dr. Charles R. Foster, the state president met with a small group of New Castle men at The Castleton and talked over plans for the convention. Dr. Kelly had to leave for Pittsburgh before the conference.

At this conference at noon Dr. Foster was again assured of the interest New Castle has in the coming convention. He reiterated his hearty endorsement of New Castle as the convention site and prophesied that the eastern people who will come here will be amazed at the completeness of facilities New Castle has to offer.

In the meantime, Dr. Green is going ahead with his survey of the city for private rooms for delegates. The teachers are co-operating splendidly in this matter and have already turned in several hundred reservations. These will be augmented daily by others and in a few weeks Dr. Green expects to be able to report that more than sufficient rooms are available for those delegates and guests who cannot be accommodated in the hotels.

Dr. Foster, the state president, is now the president of Indiana State Teachers college, succeeding Dr. John A. H. Keith who was elevated to the state superintendency when John S. Fisher became governor. Prior to that Dr. Foster was first assistant to Dr. Davidson superintendent of Pittsburgh schools, and his place there was taken by Dr. Ben G. Graham, former superintendent of schools here.

Dr. J. Herbert Kelly, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania State Educational association is a former member of the University of Pittsburg staff, but left university work to take the post with the state organization. His headquarters are in Harrisburg, where the association has its own building at the corner of Third and Pine streets.

Starting with but a few members, the Pennsylvania State Educational association has grown to a stupendous organization and numbers within its ranks almost every teacher in the state.

This will be the first convention of the state organization in New Castle since 1897, when the organization numbered but 400 members. The House of Delegates now numbers nearly six hundred and the convention of 1929 in New Castle will surpass that of 1897 in about the same ratio as the present membership surpasses the membership of that year.

New Castle will be prepared to handle this outstanding convention. Dr. Foster and Dr. Kelly believe this thoroughly, Dr. Green believes it, and with the hearty co-operation already shown, there seems to be no reason why this should not stand out as the peer of all previous state conventions.

Altar Boys Society Will Hold Party

A euchre is to be held in the church hall of St. Mary's Parish on Thursday evening of this week under the auspices of the Altar Boys Society of the parish. It promises to be one of the big events of the winter season in the parish. The committee in charge consists of Miss Mary Rocks, Mrs. Charles Fehrenbach, Mrs. Lee Stockman and Mrs. Charles Flynn.

WOMAN WALKS INTO SIDE OF AUTOMOBILE

Curtis K. Porter of Walmo, R. D. No. 3, reported to the police Tuesday that he was driving his car south on East street near North street, when Mrs. Louise South of East New Castle, walked into the side of his machine and was knocked to the street. She was taken to a physician and later to the New Castle ospital, where she was found to be suffering from severe lacerations of the left ankle. She will be able to leave the hospital in a short time.

MISSING GIRL IS LOCATED IN CITY

Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Longstreth, on Monday located and took into custody at No. 5 Sharp street, this city, Rose Mars, aged 16, daughter of J. Bert Mars, of near Chicora, reported missing from her home on Sunday. When the report was made to the police here, it was stated that it was thought she had come to this city. The search was inaugurated at once and finally ended at the Sharp street address where she was found. She is being held in the city jail for relatives, who are expected here to take her back home.

POLICE INVESTIGATE BROKEN THEATER WINDOW

Detective John Young and Officer Ritty were detailed to investigate the report made by the manager of the Dome theatre to the effect that a window of the ticket both of the theatre had been broken. Apparently nothing had been stolen. Further investigation of the case is under way.

BLYMYER MAY BE USED AS WITNESS IN OWN DEFENSE

myer is a most unusual client, and it is difficult to obtain information from him. I am not going to steer clear of the witch-craft angle of this case, However, not by any means."

The District Attorney, Amos W. Herrmann, in addressing the jury stressed robbery as the motive and avoided any reference to voodooism, witchcraft, sorcery or any of the other medieval rites that are alleged to have been practiced to an as yet undetermined extent in this quiet, peaceful Pennsylvania Dutch community.

Blymyer was a strong believer in witchcraft. It may be brought out in the trial that he was an ardent disciple of a seventy-year-old woman of Marietta, Pa., a toothless old lady who is said to have taught him the secrets of the black arts. She is reported to greatly resemble the popular conception of a "witch."

Denies Witchcraft Angle

Judge Ray P. Sherwood, presiding at the trial, denied there is any studied attempt to keep the witchcraft angle out of the case. He made this assertion when protests were made over his ruling that seats in the courtroom would be guaranteed only to two local newspapermen and three representatives of press associations, including International News Service. He explained he made the ruling in the interest of maintaining courtroom decorum.

All references to witchcraft were studiously avoided by both state and defense during the first day of the trial until the last five minutes of the session. Then, Clayton G. Hess, brother of Wilber Hess, who is jointly indicted with Blymyer and John Curry, suddenly blurted out the "witch angle."

"Blymer told me the day after the killing of Rehmeyer that he got the man—the witch, and that he alone was to blame for what had happened," Hess testified. It was indicated that Hess would be cross-examined today.

Defense Attorney Cohen, in discussing the case with the International News Service correspondent, said he intended to delve into the witch phase, adding however, that he would have to see what the state brings out.

Robbery Stressed

"The reason the commonwealth stressed robbery and not witchcraft as the motive," said Cohen "is that the robbery motive is the state's only chance of convicting Blymyer, as I see it.

"I may put Blymyer on the stand, I realize he might be his own best witness. From his lips could come a recital of how he was reared to believe in witchcraft and how it took hold of him and strangled his conceptions of right and wrong. Yet, by not placing him on the stand, the prosecution will lack a witness to the killing as the co-defendants, Curry and Hess, cannot testify in this trial."

Blymyer according to Cohen, is a poor client, not in a pecuniary sense, but because he is reluctant to discuss his plight and has very little to say regarding his delvings in witchcraft. "I'm having a hard time getting infor. .tion from him," Cohen admitted. "He is of a peculiar self effacing type."

Defendant Studies Jury

The state, it is understood, has thirty five witnesses ready to testify but perhaps only about fifteen will be called to the stand. The defense announced it has sixteen witnesses.

District Attorney Herrmann, in outlining the commonwealth's case to the jury, made not a single mention of witchcraft or the black arts. He said he would show "that death was caused by a combination of blows, strangulation and burning."

Blymyer, the gimlet-eyed black arts practitioner, is the cynosure of all eyes in the courtroom. He manifests no signs of nervousness. He sits quietly in his chair a few feet from the jury boxes, toying with a gray cap he holds in his lap, and intently watching the faces of the twelve men in whose hands his fate rests.

New Equipment For Senior High School Cafeteria

According to Mrs. Viola W. Healy who is in charge of the cafeteria at the senior high school, by the first of February the cafeteria will have complete new equipment. Both the kitchen and the cafeteria will be newly equipped.

New tables now been made by the Ben Franklin Trade school will be among the new equipments. Enough utensils have been ordered so that 200 can be fed at one time. Mrs. Healy who is also in charge of the Home Economics Course does the menu planning and the buying for the cafeteria. She has complete charge.

St. Mary's School Opens On Monday

Very Few Absentees On Account Of Sickness When School Resumes

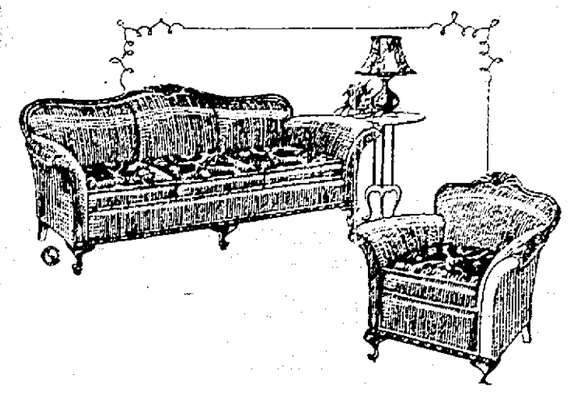
St. Mary's Parochial school opened Monday after an extended Christmas vacation, which was lengthened several days on account of the prevailing sickness among the members of the parish.

In the resumption of the school, very few cases of absence due to sickness of pupils or members of their families was noticed and the longer layoff from school work, is believed to have been highly beneficial.

PAINTERS ENJOY SMOKER AND FEED

The smoker, feed and business meeting of Local No. 24, Painters and Decorators Union, held last evening in the Trades and Labor Assembly Hall, was a decided success, being attended by fifty-eight persons in all. The committee in charge served a good feed and the meeting was generally conceded to have been one of the most successful attempted in some time by the organization.

A Home Plan for 1929



Everybody hopes to improve the appearance of the home, in some way, during 1929. During 1928 there were hardly a family in New Castle or hereabouts where it was not said, "We'll do that next year."

Well, next year is here now, and we wish to offer a suggestion for a plan.

Take one room at a time. Make a thorough survey of that room, decide just how you think it can be made more comfortable, more inviting, more restful, more livable.

Decide what piece, or pieces, should be replaced. Then get in touch with us and find out how much our Exchange Department, or Trade-In Department, can allow you for your no-longer-wanted pieces on a trade-in for new furniture that you will like.

You can make no better resolution for 1929 than that you will brighten up the home. We are here to help you— with good merchandise, with honest prices, with fair and square dealing, with credit if you wish it.

Sergeant Shaffer of the Sharon police department on Monday notified the local police department that a Ford coupe, 1926 model, Pennsylvania license 917-234 had been stolen from that city between 2:30 and 5 p. m. and asked the authorities of this city to be on the lookout for it.

RHEUMATISM IS QUICKLY OUSTED BY NEW KONJOLA

Sufferer Had About Given Up Hope Of Ever Being Well Again —Lauds New Medicine.

MR. MICKE MEEKY

What encouragement and hope are to be found in the endorsements that pour in, telling of the amazing results that follow the use of Konjola, the new medicine. Consider the experience of Mr. Micke Meeky, 531 East Washington Street, New Castle, Penn.

"I had rheumatism for months and months, and what I suffered cannot be described. I had pains all over my body. The agony was particularly keen in my legs and arms. My pains grew worse day after day.

"I was wondering what to do when a friend advised Konjola. Before I had finished the second bottle I was so much better that I knew that the finish of my rheumatism was not far distant. Six bottles—a treatment—banished every pain. If anyone has any doubts about Konjola, refer him to me. It will be a pleasure to put any sufferer on the right road to health."

Konjola is sold in New Castle, Pa., at the Love & Megown drug store and by all the leading druggists in this vicinity.

How to Get Rid of Vile Nasal CATARRH

Opex Opens up Catarrh Stuffed Nostrils in Three Minutes. Lessens Buzzing, Ringing and Singing in Ears and Destroys Deadly Catarrh Germs Says Authority

Head Colds Conquered in Few Hours

Inflammation in nose, throat and bronchial tubes rapidly disappears, snuffles cease and you can breathe freely through nose again.

Opex Opens Up Stuffed Nostrils In 3 Minutes

30 Days Free Trial

It's about time that someone with brains gave to Catarrh sufferers a simple, quick and sure remedy that not only soothes and heals the inflamed catarrh soaked membrane, but also promptly destroys the vicious germs that cause this disgusting disease.

The thousands of intelligent readers who have tried in vain to find something that actually will drive away every trace of loathsome catarrh, will be glad to know that Opex can now be procured at McKee's Kut Rate Store, who will be pleased to show you how simple it is with Opex to once and for all conquer catarrh and its stubborn symptoms.

Now all you have to do is to spray thru the nostrils over the entire sore, germ infested membrane, this purifying, germ killing vapor of Opex, reaching every nook, crevice and fold in the membrane, as no other remedy can and opening up in three minutes the stuffed up passages.

It seems like a miracle, but after you use Opex a few times each day for a few days, you will find that the sore, raw, swollen, tender membrane is completely healed; sniffling and hawking have ceased and the discharge of catarrhal mucous has stopped.

It is worth a whole lot of money to get rid of stubborn catarrh and to lessen buzzing noises in the ears, but Opex, which costs so little, will send its purifying, healing, smoke-like vapor just where it will do the most good—you can actually see it going in one nostril and out of the other.

Opex is sold for $1.00 with the distinct understanding that if you are not satisfied at the end of 30 days your money will be gladly refunded. Opex is delightful to use because of its wholesome fragrance. Keep your nostrils as clean as your teeth.

THE FIRE INSURANCE AGENT

—A Useful Factor in Every Community

In no other business does agent mean so much as in the fire insurance business as transacted by the Stock Companies.

More than a century ago these companies established relations with property owners through responsible local representatives.

The system has grown with the insurance needs of the country. Today hundreds of the best citizens of every state are in contact with the public as representatives of the Stock Companies.

In no other field is the agent entrusted with greater authority.

The Stock Fire Insurance agent has at his command all the facilities of the companies in engineering and research to make life and property safer. He has access to systematic hazard measurements; authentic information about proper building construction; the work of Underwriters' Laboratories in testing materials and devices, and other forms of service for the benefit of the insuring public.

In every community the insurance agents are prominent in fire prevention work. They have been faithful factors in the steady reductions that have been made in the average rate charged for fire insurance during the last twenty years.

The local agent is in position to know his client and his client's property. He is prepared to study the needs of each one—brings to each the special service required—and may save you money if you will permit him to use the many available facilities and will cooperate with him in improving your risk.

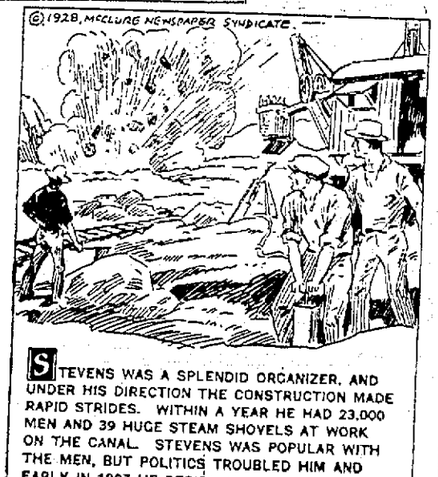
The Story Of The Panama Canal—Part 14
Military Rule In The Canal Zone

NEAR THE END OF THE FIRST YEAR OF WORK ON THE PANAMA CANAL, THE PUBLIC BEGAN TO CLAMOR FOR MORE ACTION, AND PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT REORGANIZED THE CANAL COMMISSION. CHIEF ENGINEER WALLACE RESIGNED, AND WAS SUCCEEDED BY JOHN F. STEVENS. IT HAD BEEN HARD TO GET AMERICAN LABORERS TO WORK IN THE TROPICS. STEVENS SOLVED THE PROBLEM BY IMPORTING WORKMEN FROM THE WEST INDIES, SPAIN AND INDIA.



STEVENS WAS A SPLENDID ORGANIZER, AND UNDER HIS DIRECTION THE CONSTRUCTION MADE RAPID STRIDES. WITHIN A YEAR HE HAD 23,000 MEN AND 39 HUGE STEAM SHOVELS AT WORK ON THE CANAL. STEVENS WAS POPULAR WITH THE MEN, BUT POLITICS TROUBLED HIM AND EARLY IN 1907 HE RESIGNED.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT THEN APPOINTED COL. GEORGE W. GOETHALS, OF THE UNITED STATES ARMY ENGINEERS, CHAIRMAN AND CHIEF ENGINEER OF THE CANAL COMMISSION. THE NEW CHAIRMAN WAS TO BE IN COMPLETE CONTROL OF ALL MATTERS IN THE CANAL ZONE, THUS DISPENSING WITH "RED TAPE", AND ENABLING HIM TO MAKE QUICK DECISIONS AND SPEED THE WORK. AT THE SAME TIME THE CANAL ZONE WAS PLACED UNDER MILITARY RULE.

COL. GOETHALS WAS A MAN EMINENTLY FITTED FOR THE JOB. HE HAD BEEN A STUDENT AND INSTRUCTOR AT WEST POINT, WAS EXPERIENCED IN THE BUILDING OF CANALS, LOCKS AND DAMS, AND WAS CHIEF OF ENGINEERS DURING THE SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR. UNDER HIS ABLE DIRECTION THE WORK ON THE CANAL WAS CARRIED ON TO ITS COMPLETION IN 1914.

New Castle High To Play Aliquippa Tonight

Locals Hope To Avenge Defeat

New Castle High Floor Team Faces Three Stiff Games This Week

GIRLS TO PLAY IN PRELIMINARY

By "EUGS" WALTHER

NEW Castle High school basketball team faces three stiff floor games at the home court this week.

Tonight Aliquippa High will appear at Senior High; Friday night New Brighton High is scheduled, and Altoona High has the Saturday night date here.

The New Castle girls' varsity will play the "Y" girls' team in the preliminary game tonight. The first game will start at 7:15 o'clock.

The red and black team tonight will seek vindication for the defeat of 23 to 17 suffered two weeks ago at Aliquippa. Coach Lippe has a fine combination at Aliquippa this year and the team is anxious to take another victory over New Castle High. In Jones and Harden the Aliquippa team is equipped with a pair of forwards who will cause New Castle quite a little trouble. At Aliquippa in the recent game Harden caged four baskets and was a big cog in the offensive attack of the valleyites. Another youngster, Lippe, brother of the coach, will also be a thorn to the locals.

Lippe Is Star

The younger Lippe caged four baskets against New Castle in the first meeting of the two teams and figures to be even better tonight. Miller is the Aliquippa center and Rebick is the other guard. Rebick was okayed by the decisions committee of the W. P. I. A. L. on last Saturday night at Pittsburgh and is eligible to play against New Castle High tonight.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh is doing considerable worrying these days and has about reached the end of the string. It is no secret that "Bridie" is very much displeased at the results of the games to date and has promised some very rude awakenings if the varsity team does not "snap out of it". New Castle High has practically the same team this year that won the W. P. I. A. L. championship in 1926 and were runners-up in 1927, but they do not seem to have the spirit this season, something is sadly lacking.

Must Do Better

It is understood that the varsity, composed of Johnson and Cuba at the forwards, Alexander at center and Sillman and Ostrosky at the guards, will be started tonight, but that if results are not gratifying that there will be plenty of changes. The boys have the ability to play real basketball, they have shown it at other times, but just why New Castle should lose three games at the start of the present season cannot be accounted for.

The locals held a long workout on Monday afternoon and the squad seemed imbued with a new spirit following that 16 to 12 defeat suffered at Ellwood City. The reaction is eagerly awaited tonight.

There will be plenty of music at the high school gymnasium tonight. The Aliquippa High uniformed band will make the trip to New Castle to support their team, and the excellent New Castle High uniformed band will also participate in the proceedings. It is planned to have the two bands combine in concert music prior to the game, during the intermission and also at various other intervals. The New Castle band will be under the direction of John Paton.

Girls to Play

The New Castle High maidens, following that brilliant 45 to 9 showing at Ellwood City last Friday night, will rank as favorites to defeat the "Y." girls tonight. Miss Ruth Boyd appears to have a fine combination this year, and with Miss Anne Ponion and Ruth Patton in trim the red and black lassies will, no doubt, present a strong line-up. Just who will compose the Y. W. C. A. sextet is not known. The girls' game will start at 7:15 o'clock.

As mentioned previously, the New Brighton High team, members of Section III of the league, will be met here on Friday night of this week. The New Brighton team this year figures to be near the top of the heap in the section three race, and with a veteran combination they should succeed.

Altoona Here Saturday

On Saturday night the Altoona High school team will invade New Castle for the first time, and New Castle High having defeated the Altoona boys at Altoona, 24 to 14, are going to try and repeat.

In connection with the New Castle-New Brighton game here on Friday night Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner announced that the New Brighton High Reserves would play the New Castle High Reserves in the preliminary game. The prelim will start at 7:15 o'clock.

It was announced by Gardner on Monday that the Erie East High dates for basketball have been switched, and New Castle will play at Erie East on January 26 and that Erie would play here on February 23.

Starting tonight there will be plenty of basketball for everyone at Senior High school. Don't forget about the new entrances to the Senior High gymnasium being located off Reis street and directly in front of the new addition. There are still quite a number of season reserved basketball tickets unsold. Reserved seats can also be purchased for individual games.

Temple Israels, Castletons Win In "Y" Contests

Temple Israel Defeats Highland 33-9; Castletons Beat Knickerbockers

The Temple Israel basketball team defeated the Highland U. P. team 33 to 9 in the New Castle Church league, and the Castletons defeated the Knickerbockers 23 to 21 in a hard fought City league game at the Y. M. C. A. floor on Monday night.

The Temple team had a lead of 11 to 7 at the end of the first half and increased their lead in the second half with E. Solomon dropping in six buckets and J. Solomon caging three. Jenkins was the only Highland player able to score from the field.

The feature game on the bill was the Castletons nosing out the Knickerbockers 23 to 21 in the City league contest. The game was exciting from start to finish and close in all periods. At the end of the first half the Knickerbockers had a lead of 14 to 13. The Hotelmen in the second half led by Wagner and Thomas soon drew into the lead. The result was in doubt until the final minute of play. Wagner, Howson and Thomas were the big guns for the Castletons, with Malle and Sergent the best for the losers.

The summaries:—

Can Dempsey Break Promise Made Man Now Cold In Death?

Late Tex Rickard Was Preparing Master Stroke When Death Summoned Him

Jack Dempsey Had Agreed To Fight For Title, Either In August Or September

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The ghostly voice of the dead spoke today and, even while all that was mortal of Tex Rickard was being transported to New York for burial, the promoter was giving, by pre-dated announcement, his valedictory to boxing and to the world. Stripped of all superfluities, his last message to the public was this:

"Jack Dempsey is coming back!"

With a relish that seems almost pathetic now, Rickard prepared his announcement of Dempsey's return for the February issue of the Ring and arranged for the distribution of these tidings over a countrywide area 10 days in advance of their release, which originally was scheduled for Friday. He was as pleased as a child with a new toy as he made a few revisions in the proofs of the story less than an hour before he entrained for the holiday that culminated in illness and then death.

He was going to make a pageant of this great event, this promise of his friend and idol to fight again that the heavyweight championship might again become a thing of real significance. He would run a special train to Miami Beach for the official signing, tentatively set for January 27. He would make a fiesta of this ceremony to show that he, of all the men in the world, had this day attained a triumph that would abide through the years. Dempsey was going to fight again!

But will he? He certainly had every intention of so doing until that husked hour on Sunday morning when the flame of one man's life winked, fluttered weakly and went out. Dempsey will not sign with Rickard now. For Rickard is dead and, with his passing went one of Dempsey's motivating forces for the gesture he was to make. That force was his loyalty to the promoter.

Dempsey Needs Money

Another force, of necessity, was money. Dempsey is only human, like the rest of us, and money is our counsellor. In the words of one of Rickard's closest friends, Dempsey was "offered money that would make any man come back."

A third force was the type of man he was to meet next summer in a final bout for the heavyweight championship. That man would have qualified in two matches, one involving Sharkey and Stribling at Miami Beach on February 27, and another between Paulino and Heeney later in the season, with the survivors of the two fights to meet in June. It is no star chamber secret that Dempsey feels he has a chance with any of the four mentioned.

Personally I don't see how Dempsey can fail to fight now, regardless of what he may be saying in his impulsive way. He has promised Rickard that he will fight and I think he may find that such a promise sometimes can be more binding than chains of steel.

"I want to let the readers of 'The Ring' in on a little secret. Jack Dempsey will come back this year."

Can Dempsey ignore the appealing delight with which Rickard was inspired as he sat down to pen those last words on earth?

"One cannot think of Dempsey except in terms of greatness. . . He is greater than any fighter now basking in the limelight. . . He came within an ace of regaining the championship in Chicago and, although he lost the verdict, there are thousands of fight fans throughout the world who feel that Jack Dempsey is the uncrowned world's heavyweight champion."

Rickard Was Delighted

Those are a few excerpts from Rickard's eulogy to the man who, to him, was more than king. Here are a few more:

"The return of Dempsey will cause the public to accept the appointment of a successor to Tunney as a genuine champion. . . Dempsey will fight only once and that one battle will be for me and it will decide the holder of the crown. . . He is the former champion, and, as such, he is entitled to more consideration than Sharkey, Stribling, Paulino, Heeney, Risko and the rest of the field. . . It is my plan to send Jack Dempsey against the winner of my heavyweight elimination tournament. . . This final bout will take place either in August or September, preferably the latter, all depending on how long Dempsey will require to get in trim. . . . But Dempsey is coming back to fight for Tex Rickard, to give the heavyweight class the punch it now lacks."

In the light of what has happened the document breaths with emotion. Dempsey! Dempsey! Dempsey! Exultantly the refrain pulses onward through this message. Rickard's last. It fairly shouts aloud its hero worship and glories in it.

I have said that Dempsey is only a human being, after all. He will be less than that if he reads this message from his dead friend and remains unmoved.

Class Games At Franklin High

The second half of the Interclass league games at Ben Franklin junior high got under way on Monday after school when the 7B-2 team defeated the 7B-3 team by a score of 11 to 4 and the 8B-1 team defeated the 8B-2 team 12 to 7.

Fifteen teams are entered in the league for the second half. There will be 50 games played by February 20.

Lincolns To Play Wampum Quintet

Tonight at the Wampum Opera House floor the Lincolns of the City league will endeavor to snap the winning streak of the Wampum Indies. The Indies have gone through an undefeated season to date.

The game is scheduled for 8 o'clock. The Lincolns are desirous of making a good showing at Wampum. The locals feel that a victory over the powerful Wampum team will put them in the spotlight of basketball circles.

Coach Keith VanFossan of the Lincolns requests the following players to report at the Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock for the trip to Wampum:—Captain "Bub" Jones, Gennock, Kulich, McClelland, Uhle, Bruce, Hill, Baptiste, and Parker.

The Lincolns are quite confident of making a good showing at Wampum tonight.

Tunney Mourns Death Of "Tex"

Gene Tunney, Retired Champion, Praises Tex Rickard As Greatest Promoter

TUNNEY MENTIONED LIKELY SUCCESSOR

(International News Service)

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Jan. 8.—"My sympathy goes out to Mr. Rickard's family," said Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, today. "I feel his death keenly as one of his myriad of friends. The world of sport undoubtedly has lost a genius. There probably never will be another promoter so capable of stirring the public interest. It might truly be said that whatever his hands touched turned to gold."

Tunney As Promoter

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Gene Tunney's name today was added to the growing list of prospective successors to Tex Rickard as general manager of the Madison Square Garden Corporation. Col. John S. Hammond, vice president in charge of hockey, has been named acting general manager pending the appointment of a permanent director general.

Here And There In Sports' Land

By ED. FRITZ

Colonel John S. Hammond, hitherto assistant to the late Tex Rickard, has been named acting general manager of Madison Square Garden, New York. The body of Rickard will lie in state Wednesday at the Garden, a building which arose as the result of Rickard's successful management. A private funeral service will be held from the Garden later in the day with interment in a Brooklyn cemetery.

Paavo Nurmi has been granted registration as an amateur athlete by the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U. He appeared before the association and announced he proposed staying in the United States for a year and took the opportunity to deny that he intends to turn professional.

If football rule makers want to quicken the game and make scoring more frequent, remove the guards. That is the advice of Lawson Robertson, trainer at the U. of P.. He says there are too many men on the line. He says their hard work does not bring them credit and makes the game more complicated by their presence.

Promoter Bill Jolly looked around for an opponent for Elmo the Mighty Monday night and found that Nick Polis could not box until the next show. This will give Elmo a chance to train hard for the bout as Nick won the last bout. Fast preliminaries are now being booked.

Babe Picato, local junior lightweight, could have returned to the ring but he said he could not get in the condition he desired so Babe was passed up and U. S. Carpentier will meet Chet Smallwood, who pounded Frankie Moran around the ring. The match was made last night and should prove a fast six-round bout.

Link Lowe, one of the few New Castle boys who reached the major baseball league, visited The News yesterday. Link is now employed in Detroit. He played here with a team that also contained the name of the late Charley Powers and Plummer Emery. Link is visiting relatives here.

Boston city council has delayed the election of its president, thus delaying a permit to the Boston National league baseball club to play Sunday baseball. Its action was taken following an attack on Emil Fuchs, president of the Braves, who charged attempted solicitation of bribes in connection with Sunday play.

Westminster Will Send Team Here To Play Rick Motors

McDonald Promises To Send Strong Reserve Team From Westminster Wednesday Night

The Y. M. C. A. has a big feature game lined up for Wednesday night at the local institution. The Westminster College Reserves will battle the Rick Motors of the city league. The Acmes and Indians meet in the preliminary game at 8 o'clock.

Graduate Manager Andy McDonald at Westminster has promised the "Y" officials to send a strong team to New Castle, including Kocheran and Rice, former Duquesne high stars; Long, Fisher, Hamas and Witherspoon. The Westminster Reserves this year are practically as good as the varsity and a good game is anticipated here tomorrow night.

The Rick Motors will have Andy Hartman, Franklin, Fraser, Coen, Genkinger, Volesko, Nolte and Nocera in their lineup and the Ricks in no uncertain terms say that they will defeat the collegians.

Dukes Prepare For Westminster Game

(By SEBASTIAN C. ISABELLA)
(Special To The News)

PITTSBURH, Jan. 8.—It will be a grand night at New Wilmington, Friday. Two of the best Tri-State Conference teams will be seen in action.

Coach Chick Davies of the Duquesne University will match wits with Coach Lawther of the strong Westminster team, champions of the Tri-State Conference League. The Westminster basketball team has been traveling at a fast speed, defeating some of the best teams in this district. The outstanding victory is that over Grove City.

The Dukes have not lost a game in seven starts. Lately the team is showing the effects of the victories. Eddie Losman, former forward and substitute center, quit the team when good players were needed. Joe Vernon, regular center, can not hold the pivot position without some relief. Brud Stephens, known to be the smallest player in college basketball ranks, is in need of medical treatment, having strained his side in yesterday's practice session. Captain Jock Rosenberg is suffering from a boil on his arm. Ben Lubic, Gancy Benedict, Collodi, and Zizza are the only players in fit condition.

Speaking to Coach "Chick" Davies about the coming setto. Chick had this to say, "they (Westminster) should beat us by at least ten points, but we will try to hold them to a close score."

The Duquesne University students are making plans to get to New Wilmington. The Dukes will be there with red and blue colors in the air, supporting their team to the last, win or lose.

Sharkey-Stribling Bout Will Go On

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling will meet at Miami Beach, Fla., in a heavyweight elimination contest, February 27, just as though Tex Rickard had lived, it was formally announced late Monday by Col. John S. Hammond, vice president and assistant general manager of the Madison Square Garden Corporation. The match had been closed as Rickard's last official act before the illness that resulted in his death from gangrenous appendicitis Sunday morning.

American Legionnaires To Have Special Guests At Banquet

Winners Of School Legion Medals Of Honor To Attend Banquet At Cathedral

Legionnaires Enjoy Sports Program With Emmet Rocco Featured At Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—At the regular semi-monthly meeting of the J. Wilbur Randolph post of the American Legion which took place Monday evening in the legion rooms, a larger attendance was noted than at any time during previous meetings for several years.

Matters of importance brought up at the business session were: That a large delegation from the Ellwood post would attend the banquet of the national commander at the Cathedral in New Castle February 12. At that time the honor guests of the local post would be the school pupils who won the legion medal of honor. Tickets to the banquet may be secured from Commander Ted Knauff or Adjutant Ed King.

Dr. Fred Swanson reported that the bugle and drum corps rehearsals are coming along nicely, but that more buglers are needed. Also that many were behind in paying for the American Legion flags, and the money is to be paid in as soon as possible.

In the membership drive team No. 1, captained by Hugh Holliday, is gaining rapidly on team No. 2 with a score of 347 points to 428. At the close of the meeting members of the entertainment committee presented an interesting sports program, with the well-known Emmet Rocco heading the bill. Lesser lights essayed to stage some boxing matches on the amateur platform, providing much amusement, after which cards and mess concluded a pleasant semi-monthly meeting.

MEETING CHANGED

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—The meeting of the W. C. T. U. which was scheduled to take place Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Adam Eiselin has been changed to the home of Mrs. James McKim on Fourth street, owing to the illness of the former. Members are asked to note the change in the place.

"Heaven" Discussed At Meeting Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—At the regular evangelistic service at the Christian church Monday evening Rev. Walker chose as his subject "Heaven". He spoke of the dimensions of that dwelling place, and as to whether people should recognize their loved ones there and stated that one went to Heaven until he or she was ready to enter.

Ted Jones, the singer, contributed a solo entitled "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears." Tonight the evangelist will speak on "Two Laws of Pardon." Preceding each service this week at 7 o'clock there will be stereopticon views on the life of Christ by Ted Jones.

Friendship Circle Class On Monday

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—Twenty-five members of the Friendship Circle class of the Methodist church enjoyed a monthly meeting Monday evening at the home of Mrs. H. H. Reynolds on Sixth street.

Members arranged for a social evening in the church on January 18. They also discussed ways and means of raising money for their pledge to the building fund. The treasruer reported that $65 had already been raised for that fund by the class.

The meeting concluded with the serving of light refreshments by Mrs. Reynolds, assisted by her daughter Miss Margaret.

Honors Birthday Of Her Husband

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—In honor of the birthday anniversary of her husband Mrs. Albert Kauffman entertained a number of friends at their home on the Ellwood-Zelienople road Saturday evening. Round and square dancing was enjoyed by the guests. The hostess served a fine luncheon at the close of the festivities.

Enjoying the event were Misses Helen Ketterer, Eleanor McDaniel Velma Bowers, Faye Gallaher, Gladys McDaniel, Charlotte Kaufman and Dorrothy Bowers; Messrs. CAR STOLEN

William J. McCollough had the misfortune of having his Whippet roadster stolen Sunday. Mr. McCollough has his usual parking ground when he comes to church and parks on side street near the high school, leaving his keys in the car. When he came out Sunday morning after service his car was gone. Neighbors living near the Presbyterian church noticed a car leaving, but paid no more attention to it only to know that it drove down Main street toward Beaver Falls.

Postponed Play To Be Presented January 14 Here

Booth Tarkington's "Seventeen" Being Given By Junior Class Soon Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—The postponed presentation of the junior class play, "Seventeen", by Booth Tarkington, which was to have taken place long before Christmas, will be presented Monday evening, Jan. 14. The postponement was necessary on account of illness in the cast and Miss Thomas, the coach.

Fourteen members of the class are in the cast and all have been rehearsing faithfully to make the play a success. The plot centers about the adolescent emotions of Willie, who wooes the baby talk lady with all the ardor of a youth of 17 years. To woo her in a fitting manner he steals his father's dress suit. There follows a series of amusing incidents and situations that furnish the humorous aspects of the play.

Mrs. James Kent Seriously Ill; Services Delayed

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 8.—The funeral services for James Kent of Marquis Stop, which were scheduled to take place today, were postponed for a day or two, owing to the serious condition of his wife, Mrs. Tina Houk Kent, who is critically ill with pneumonia.

Mr. Kent passed away at the local hospital on January 6 after a brief attack of pneumonia and grave hopes are being entertained for Mrs. Kent.

Any church team wishing to line up this cage squad are asked to write Lou Burtt, 663 South Irvine avenue, Sharon, or phone Sharon 599-J. Managers are asked to inclose dates in writing.

St. John's Church Congregation Meets

Church Council Is Authorized To Select Site For New Building

That the church council of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church is authorized to select a church site suitable for a new structure and that the church property, which is located on North Jefferson street, is to be disposed of at a price to be determined by the council and approved by the congregation of the church when their annual meeting took place Monday evening at the present church home on the corner of Neshannock avenue and North street.

To fill vacancies caused by the expiration of the terms of W. H. Brudin, Fred Schmidt and Harry W. Miles, deacons of the church, the following were elected: Fred Schmidt, H. W. Bruden and Albert Treser. Reports of the financial secretary, assistant financial secretary, treasurer and auditing committee covering the year 1928 were read and approved by the congregation.

The following resolutions were presented for the congregation's consideration and were carried:

1. All former action of St. John's church, New Castle, Pa., pertaining to church site or sites be rescinded.

2. The church council of St. John's church will be authorized to offer for sale our Jefferson street property at a price to be determined by the church council and approved by the congregation.

3. That we as a congregation do hereby authorize the church council of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church of New Castle, Pa., to suggest a site or sites for our new church building, which in their judgment they believe to be the best available for the future growth and development of said congregation.

No further business, the meeting was adjourned.

Consistory Legion To Install Officers

Instruments For Drum And Bugle Corps Will Be Distributed

New officers for 1929 will be installed and the members of the Drum and Bugle corps will get their instruments at the next meeting of the Consistory Legion of Honor which will take place Thursday evening, January 10, at 8 o'clock, announces Captain Melvin L. Craig, commander of the legion.

Captian Craig will be installed as commander of the legion because at a recent meeting he was re-elected to the post. Paul B. Welsh will be the new adjutant and Glenn Johnson the new finance officer.

Boxer Who Stopped Dillon Coming Here

Johnny Mason, "Dutch Windmill", To Meet Ted Estabrook Monday Night

SEVERAL NEW FACES ON FISTIC CALENDAR

Johnny Mason, Scranton, Pa., middleweight who knocked out Jack Dillon in the fourth round of a scheduled 10 round bout at Louisville, Ky., has been matched to box Ted Estabrook of Niles at the Jolly bowl, this city, next Monday night, according to announcement by Promoter Bill Jolly today. The match was consummated late Monday afternoon.

According to the Herald-Post of Louisville "Mason met Dillon and conclusively proved that he is master of Dillon with a clean-cut knockout." Before he finished the Louisville fighter, the Herald-Post states that Mason gave Dillon a severe beating and Dillon was on the receiving end from the start of the fight until Mason tossed the lethal sock.

On New Year's day, Estabrook also captured a fight as he defeated Chet Thomas, a Buffalo middleweight in a six round fight at Erie. According to Jolly the fighters will weight in at 160 pounds and are anticipating one of the best slugging matches of the indoor season. As Mason knocked out Dillon it goes to show he carries a terrific wallop.

MASON ALSO WON OVER NICK MARTIN

According to Johnny Creeley, manager of the "Dutch Windmill" he has defeated Buzz Griffith, Jack Papke, Wilson Wagner, Walter Dunham, Buck Easterling, Johnny Wagner, Haakon Hansen, Joe Delaney, Phil Hergert, Roy Wallace, Billy Ryan, Johnny Powers, Johnny Burns and has also knocked out Tommy Dunn and Nick Martin who has also milled here.

According to Creeley, Mason fights on the same order as the late Harry Greb and continues to toss punches from first to the last bill and proved such a sensation he boxed four times in four consecutive weeks at Dayton, twice in Louisville in two weeks and hopes to stop Estabrook when he clashes here.

Estabrook made a good showing in midwest rings during the fall and recently returned to his old haunts and had no difficulty beating Chet Thomas at Erie. He is a tall, well proportioned fighter who likes to fight on the give-and-take plan. Jolly believes he made a popular match when he booked the middleweights.

PEROTTA TURNS DOWN SEMI-FINAL

George Perotta was offered a bout with Nick Martin in the semi-final yesterday but Lank Warnock, his manager refused the bout as he thought George should have had the main bout. Promoter Jolly thought George should fight his way back to the top role and the promoter is now lining up a good match in place of the proposed Martin-Perotta bout.

Johnny Vivio, Pittsburgh and Lawrence Madge, Cleveland, welterweights, will box in another six round bout. Vivio has boxed here several times. Madge fought a sensational knock-down-drag-out affair a few nights ago at Cleveland. He is under the management of Johnny Avon and is said to be a fighter who never backs away.

TRYING TO LAND TRETINO OPPONENT

Matchmaker Jolly is casting his optics over the younger 160 pounders as he desires to use Lloyd Tretino, a New Castle boy in one of the four round bouts. An offer has been made to Jack Lumbert, Youngstown but as yet it is not known if he cares to tackle the husky local boy.

Bill Jolly yesterday said that providing he could secure a capable foe, one with a new face, to oppose Elmo the Mighty, the local favorite would adorn the bill again. Their little rift has been matched up and everything sets roseate for Elmo, according to Jolly. Elmo has uttered like sentiments concerning Jolly so they're "pals" again.

Craig Is Ordered Into Pittsburgh

Will Take Annual Physical Exam Required Of All Army Officers

Captain Melvin L. Craig, in charge of reserve officers work in this district, will go to Pittsburgh Tuesday, January 15, to take the annual physical examination which is required of all army officers.

Army officers are required to take two hours of physical training each week, states Captain Craig, because of the necessity of the armed forces of the United States to keep fit. This exercise usually consists of hand ball, volley ball, horseback riding or golf. There is no better way for men to keep fit during the cold winter months when golf courses are closed, than by using the local Y. M. C. A., states Captain Craig.

Round Table Group Will Meet Thursday

Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock the Community Chest Round Table Discussion group will have their weekly meeting at the headquarters of the Associated Charities, 8½ East street, it is announced this morning.

Routine matters will be discussed as well as any new cases that are presented for consideration.

MILLER SERVICE

Service is the easiest thing in the world to talk about—and we would rather show you than tell you.

The service you get from us as Miller dealers must be of the same high character as Miller Tires themselves.

In our opinion—there isn't a tire built that requires less service than Millers. But when the rare occasion does come—well, we would rather show you than talk about it.

N. Y. STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Both the industrial and the railroad stocks slipped off to a lower level of prices at the outset today. The downward move in the high-priced specialties which wound up Monday's session swing into action, carrying prices 2 to 6 points lower without much signs of a rally. At 363 Radio showed a loss of 6 points for the day and 47 from the high of the move.

In an effort to frighten the bulls, bearish traders raised the question of the possible raising of the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve bank this week. That would put a crimp in the unlimited supplying of funds to the stock market, and puncture the balloon of soaring stock prices.

Studebaker carried its new advance to 84½. The steel and copper stocks lost ground from the start. Anaconda rolling off nearly 3 points at 117 and U S Steel losing another point at 158¼.

The airplane stocks led a smart rally, Curtiss jumping 3½ points and Wright Aero 2½. Motor stocks also put up a stiff fight, and there was very little stock for sale at the bottom prices.

Montgomery Ward was strong in the mercantile stocks, pushing to above 142 on reports of a big increase in earnings in the last two months of 1928.

The rate for money was 7 per cent. Good rallies sent the market favorites moderately upward in the second hour.

Police Force Is About Normal Now

The police force is now about normal in regard to the number of members on active duty, after several weeks, in which the flu played havoc with the force and had almost a fourth of the total force off duty at one time. There are now but three members of the force on the sick list and it is anticipated that most of these members will be back on duty in a short time.

BUSINESS MEETING AT EMMANUEL BAPTIST

In connection with the regular Wednesday evening prayer meeting service of the Emmanuel Baptist church, there will be a business meeting of the congregation held.

Every member of the church is being urged to be in attendance as matters of importance to the congregation will be considered at that time.

The congregation has been without a pastor for some time and it is a result of this fact that will be up for consideration at this meeting.

Outsiders Can Attend Banquet

American Legion Commander's Banquet Event Open To Public

"The national commander's banquet to be held here on February 12 is not alone for members of the American Legion," said Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, chairman of the ticket committee, today. "On the contrary the legion is more concerned in getting outsiders to the banquet than it is its own members, for the legionnaire is interested enough to come without any undue persuasion."

"The American Legion is proud of the kind of men chosen to head it," said Dr. Rosenthal, "and in Paul McNutt, the present national commander, it presents an outstanding man. In private life he is the dean of the law school of the University of Indiana, an educator recognized in his own state as a leader, a soldier with a remarkable record, a speaker of more than usual abilities, and above that a real man."

Tickets are now on sale for the national commander's banquet and is is urged that the citizens of the city avail themselves of the opportunity. Not often does such an outstanding man come to the city and when he does, he should be greeted by a large crowd.

Police Trail Possible Suspect In Murder Case

Call From Home Near Cascade Park Investigated By Officers

Detective John Young and Officer Letera of the city police force last night investigated a call from a home near the Cascade park stop of the Harmony line, which indicated the possibility of the Oser family murderer from Canal Fulton, O. being in that district.

The call was to the effect that a man had stopped at this home, asked what time that the next car left for Ellwood City and had then called several numbers on the telephone, including one call to a girl here.

The officers checked up as far as possible, even to Ellwood City and Zellenople on the man and also on the calls, but found a number of discrepancies.

Owing to the fact that a reward of $1,000 has been offered for the capture of the murderer has made the case of more than unusual interest.

Cat And Kittens Adopt Back Porch Of Williams' Home

There is evidently something very motherly about Mrs. Charles Williams of 149 Miller avenu, which makes her home a place, where people and animals that are homeless, are attracted.

Last night, there was an attempt on the part of two men to leave a little baby on the front porch of the Williams' home.

This morning, when Mrs. Williams went out on the back porch, she found an old cat and four little kittens making themselves at home there.

Mrs. Williams has a little two month old baby of her own.

J. A. Dinsmore has filed in county court an application for divorce from his wife, Helen C. Dinsmore, on the grounds of desertion. They were married in August, 1923, and lived together until August, 1926.

Frank R. Rice has filed an application for divorce from his wife, Esther L. Rice, on the grounds of desertion. They were married in June, 1922, and lived together until March, 1927.

Ejectment Action To Get Storeroom

G. S. Young of Ellwood City has issued an action in ejectment in county court against R. W. Guy Company to secure possession of a storeroom at the corner of Lawrence avenue and Fifth street. The room was rented for $150 per month and it is claimed that there is two months rent due.

Red Cross Board Will Select 1929 Roster Tomorrow

Annual Meeting Wednesday Night; Will Elect New Chapter Officers

Members of the executive board of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, will meet for the organization's annual meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting will take place at Red Cross headquarters here.

One of the features of the session tomorrow night will be the annual election of officers. A new chairman, vice chairman, treasurer and executive secretary will be named to succeed the past year's officials at this time.

Annual reports of the chapter's service to this county during 1928 will be given by the secretary, Pat J. Dempsey, also. A full attendance of the board is requested.

Shamrocks To Play Harlansburg Five

Hugh Tucker, manager of the Shamrock basketball club stated today that Shamrocks would practice Wednesday night at the Lincoln-Garfield school.

Managers desirous of booking games with the Shamrocks should telephone Robert Burns, 4135-R, or write him at 620 West Weshington street.

The Shamrocks will open with McCandless Independents of Harlansburg January 18.

Has Not Yet Asked To Buy Two Machines

Although an appropriation was made when the 1929 budget was made for the purchase of new automobiles for the department of police, Mayor William Gillespie has not yet asked councilmanic colleagues to ask for the taking of bids. It is not yet known what kind or type of machines the police will ask for. It is said one of the cars is worn out and the other has practically outlived its police worth.

Unable To Remove Debris With Hose

Councilman David O. Davies stated yesterday that the suggestion made by a citizen regarding the flooding of the Neshannock creek ice for skating purposes had been received. He said however, that a former mayor, W. H. Dunlap, had had this attempted. About the only way to remove the debris would be for employes of the street department to dig the cans and other debris from the ice.

Soot Is Cause Of Fire Alarm

Soot catching fire and dropping into another chimney on the same house was the cause of the fire alarm Monday evening at 10:30, when No. 5 fire department and truck B from the Central fire department were called to the home of Jim Taddei, 410½ Division street.

No loss sustained and no action was taken. Both trucks were reported back in service again at 10:30.

Only Nine Scarlet Fever Cases Here

Attaches of the city health department today stated that only nine cases of scarlet fever exist in the city.

Plan To Construct Sewer This Winter

(International News Service)

JOLIET, Ill., Jan. 8.—Two persons, a young bride and groom, were known to have perished in a fire which destroyed the Orpheum Hotel Annex here today. Other bodies may be found in the ruins.

Three hours after the fire was discovered, and firemen had gained control, the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walker, both aged 22, were found in their room on the third floor.

A score of thrilling rescues were effected by firemen before the blaze was brought under control.

Dr. E. Kernahan Addresses Lions

Splendid Address On "Personality" Given Before Club At Noon Meeting

The Rev. Dr. A. Earl Kernahan, director of the religious visitation evangelism campaign that is being conducted this week by the church of New Castle, spoke to the members of the New Castle Lion's club on "Personality."

Among other things, Dr. Kernahan said that the conservation of personality is the greatest problem that now confronts us. "The biggest thing on this earth is a person, and the biggest thing about the person is his personality," he continued.

"It was not the fact that the blow of our army in the last World War was struck at the right moment, but because that it was the right kind of men who struck the blow that broke the powerful war machine of Germany. Such it is today. It is the right kind of men that make moves towards worthy ends, and not merely because it was an apportune time. We must need men today who recognize the fact that they have peculiar qualities of personality.

"When we spend the biggest asset that God has given us, personality," said the religious director—"we want to invest it where the biggest dividend is to be had. The church men, pays the biggest dividend on God's earth today."

Dr. Kernahan's splendid address was thoroughly enjoyed by the New Castle Lions.

Pearis To Attend Music Convention

Will Leave New Castle Wednesday Evening To Attend Chicago Meeting

Herbert Pearis, president of the New Castle Civic Music association and manager of The Cathedral, will leave New Castle Wednesday evening, January 9, for Chicago, where he will attend the annual convention of civic associations, sponsored by the Civic Concert Service.

The conference will last until Saturday noon, and Mr. Pearis plans to return to New Castle Sunday. At the conference the merits and demerits of the various artists will be discussed, as well as other things of interest to civic music associations. A brilliant opera program, to be presented by the tycoons of Chicago, will be given Friday evening as a climax to the event.

Flier's To Speak Over Radio Tonight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Major Carl Spatz, and the four other members of the crew of the army endurance plane, Question Mark, will speak over the radio tonight, commencing at 7 o'clock, the National Broadcasting company announced here today. The broadcast will be made from Los Angeles over a nation-wide network of 40 stations.

Blaze Occurs In McKeesport High

(International News Service)

McKEESPORT, Pa., Jan. 8.—When fire swept a basement cloak room of McKeesport high school today, 2,500 students marched from the school to safety.

The students, led by their teachers moved by rooms of two, without any semblance of disorder, according to the school authorities. They passed out into the school yard while firemen, after a half hour battle, subdued the blaze.

Wraps of several hundred students were destroyed, with a loss estimated at $5,000. Damage to the building was slight, firemen said.

JUST PUT YOURSELF IN OSSIE'S PLACE

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some News, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Roamed around to the rehearsal of the Festival Choral Society Monday evening in the Y. W. C. A. The attendance was not up to par, as you would expect these fluey days, but what the crowd lacked in size it made up in attendance. The vacation for the holidays seemed to inspire them to hard work and the way they went after the numbers rehearsed is a promise of success when the annual musical festival is held.

Rehearsals for concerts of such kind are a grind at best. Over and over and over they go, patching up a ragged spot here and there, trying out the bassos on some particularly hard passage, letting the tenors blow off a little steam on a couple of B flats, and then bringing the four parts together for another whirl. It's a job that requires patience on the part of the conductor and loyalty upon the part of the chorus. Both elements are apparent in the Festival Choral Society.

Even if they never gave a concert, if they never took in a dime at the door, if they never made a public appearance, such a society would still be very much worth while. The personal contacts, the increase of appreciation of music, the voice training, and the ensemble effects would repay them for their trouble. For after all they have the souls of musicians and just getting the opportunity to sing together is payment for their trouble.

But keeping all that music to themselves would be selfish. Those of us who have not the pleasure of being members, or who have not the voices to belong even if we wished, should have the opportunity of hearing them in concert. And this concert will be held some time before spring. When it is, you owe it to yourself to be there.

It's a job directing such a chorus, but the man who is doing it is pleasing enough for it, Prof. Paul Browne Patterson. His life has been spent in music and New Castle is fortunate in having such a director here.

Even an efficient conductor must have an equally efficient accompanist and this difficult task is done by Mrs. Paul Browne Patterson. The question in my mind is this. If the conductor ever undertook to criticize the accompanist in public, what would happen when they got home?

Never owned a pair of driving gloves in my life until yesterday but what I've missed in past years is more than made up in these. If they size driving gloves these are about size 27½, lined with the wool of several sheep, with the inside of the glove faced with horse hide, say about the hide from a small team. In appearance they have all the grace of a set of boxing gloves, but after nearly freezing three fingers Sunday evening, they are as graceful as they are comfortable and that's a heap.

Don't want this colyum to degenerate into a complaint receptacle but we have another one today, this time Jack Edgar, deputy prothonotary. Jack insists there should be a law passed making it a felony to print restaurant and hotel menus in any language but English. It seems that he got into several French restaurants on a recent trip and got nothing but eggs. No matter what he ordered, the answer was the same, eggs.

Nuther reaction to the early Cascade Park remembrances. City Detective Dwight Logan tells me that he was the first ticket taker ever employed on the lower gate. Dwight had just gotten back from the army, where he and George Muse had freed Cuba and then gone over and captured Aguinaldo, and having shed the uniform, wanted a job. He got one taking tickets at the park and took the first red ticket ever presented there. That was one-third of the strip ticket you got on the cars.

Service that is given free is sometimes appreciated less than something you have to buy. B. N. Hanlon, manager of the New Castle Motor Club has this experience every day. There's a rule, and it's a good one, that service to members of the club or any motor club in the country is free, but outsiders are expected to pay. Barney doesn't always enforce this rule and occasionally folks get the idea that it's a place where all service is free. A motorist came in Monday and wanted a set of license tags to be used today. "That's too soon" said Barney, whereupon the irate motorist wanted to know why the club didn't give twenty-four hour service in tags. And after the complaint it developed that the motorist carried no card. Not a bad idea to have one.

The City of Bordeaux in France has outsmarted the radio liar. Radio has taken the city by storm and the result was what you would expect. Owners boasting of the number of stations they got, the distance and what not. So great did the disturbances become that the city fathers erected a community antexnnae on the public square. Any radio enthusiast who starts to boast of the DX qualities of his set is invited to come down to the park where he gets two minutes to tune in with his set and prove its worth. The result is a decrease in the number of radio yarns.

New Police Officer Goes On Duty Monday

Carl W. Wallace, the latest member of the city police force, was sworn in Monday by Mayor William H. Gillespie. He went on duty with the afternoon or second trick and was detailed for his first police experience to the seventh ward with Officer Golis.

Penn-Ohio System Commended From Hundreds On Award

Congratulations from many sources on the safety record set up by the Penn-Ohio System, which won the award of the Brady gold medal, poured in on C. S. MacCalla, vice president and general manager; R. N. Graham, manager of railways, and Howard Shaner, safety supervisor, on their return Monday from New York where the medal was presented to Mr. MacCalla by the American Museum of Safety.

Among the congratulatory messages received by the Penn-Ohio men, none was more highly prized than that from Charles B. Scott, president of the Bureau of Safety of Chicago and a former president of the National Safety Council, who wired:

"Congratulations to you and the Penn-Ohio organization for receiving the Brady safety medal. This is a distinguished and deserved honor. I hope your good accident record will be maintained thoroughout 1929."

FIRST COME, FIRST SERVED!

Wife—I'll meet you at the theater at 8:15.

Murdered Woman Had Premonition Of Approaching Fate

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Mary H. Hill, slain by her husband, Samuel K. Hill, who then committed suicide, officially foresaw her own death. This was revealed here today when S. K. Hunger, justice of the peace, said that on December 9, 1928, Mrs. Hill filed two informations in his office, charging her husband with assault and battery and surety of the peace. The latter information charged that Hill had unlawfully threatened the life of Mary H. Hill, and from the manner and conduct of the defendant she feared that he would put his threats into execution. No hearing was held on the charges, because, Mrs. Hill agree to hold them in abeyance pending the outcome of a divorce suit which Hill had instituted in Greensburg, the county seat.

PUBLICITY

Uncle Tobe was taking the editor of the Plunkville Palladium to task.

"You say I was seen on a cracker box in front of the grocery store every day last week."

"Well?"

"Is that a slam?"

"What's the matter with you, Uncle Tobe? That's society news."
